

Bronco Nagurski. Doc's Backs. Cougars Here.

By DICK NEUBERGER

If you want to hear about a really great football player, get either Doc Spears or Jack O'Brien to tell you about Bronco Nagurski. Both Doc and Jack agree that the big Ukrainian boy who played tackle and fullback for Minnesota deserves to be ranked as one of the foremost figures in American football.

Bronco Nagurski

Bronco was only an awkward high school lad from International Falls, Minn., when he first turned out for football under Doc Spears. He had not even been an exceptional player in high school, but under Doc Spears' expert guidance he developed not only into a great fullback but also as an All-American tackle.

The next two years, 1928 and '29, Bronco alternated his time between the line and the backfield. He so distinguished himself at both stations that numerous experts disagreed as to which post he was better suited.

Bronco was not the only great backfield performer developed by Doc Spears. There have been many others. Doc has turned out more

Huskies To Meet Vandals In Other Conference Clash at Seattle

The Huskies must win to stay in the running for the championship. Because they are only one-half a game ahead of Oregon State, a slipup against Idaho would shove the Orangemen into second place.

Washington's chances were hampered slightly yesterday when Kline Swygaard, veteran forward, was forced to turn in his suit because of bad health. His loss leaves a gap that will be hard for Coach Hec Edmundson to fill.

There will be no southern division games tonight, but all four clubs play tomorrow night. The league-leading Trojans of Southern California will face U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles, and Stanford and California will clash on neutral territory at Oakland.

than his share of All-American ball-toters. There was Herb Joesting at Minnesota, whom many consider to have been the equal of the mighty Nagurski. Others were Fred Hovde, the brainy quarterback, and Harold Almquist, brilliant halfback. At West Virginia there was Pete Barnum, and at Dartmouth Doc Spears developed two of the greatest backs of New England football history—Jim Robertson and John Shellbourne.

He Invades His Home Town Today

Prince Gary Callison, coach of Oregon's freshman basketballers, who takes his team south to Medford, where he was high school coach for so many successful seasons. The Yearlings will meet the Medford high Friday and Saturday nights.

Ducklings Leave for South To Play Medford Hoopsters

Callison Takes Ten Men for Two-Game Series With Tiger Five

By MALCOLM BAUER

Ten strong, the frosh hoopsters leave for the south this morning where they will tangle in two games over the week-end with the strong Medford high school aggregation. "Prink" Callison, freshman mentor, who before coming to Eugene coached the Medford team, has high hopes of returning with two wins at the expense of his former proteges.

The yearlings have been showing marked improvement in the last few practice sessions, and with Sylvan Campf back in the starting line-up, they should work wonders. Campf injured his shoulder in the first rook game, but has been in uniform for the past week. He should see plenty of action against Medfordites.

In the other forward position, Callison will probably use Ralph Terjeson, who has been played both as a forward and as a guard so far this season.

The guard berths will undoubtedly be filled by Bill Berg and Roland Rourke. Rourke has been playing regularly all season and is the ranking Duckling sharpshooter. Berg started his first game against the rooks here last Friday, and his performance since then have been so outstanding that he has earned a permanent place on the starting five.

Miller Improves Bob Miller will start at center. The big fellow has shown a lot of improvement lately, and seems to be coming out of his scoring slump. At the first of the season he was dropping them in from all angles, and always is a dangerous man under the basket.

Chuck Clay, who has been filling in for Campf at forward, Wilson Siegmund, J. E. McClain, Bud Thomas, and Arne Lindgren make up the squad of reserves who will make the trip.

Following these games only one week remains before the frosh tangle with the O. S. C. rooks in the final games of the season for the ancient rivals.

Water Polo Frays Slated After Main Events in Afternoon, Evening

The Oregon varsity and freshman swimming teams will embark by bus tomorrow noon for the hostile shores at Corvallis, where they will engage in water fights with the Beaver swimming teams. About twenty varsity natators and twenty yearling swimmers, accompanied by Captain Jack Hewitt, the coach, and First Mate Roy Brown, student manager, will make the trip to the foreign port.

The Ducks will meet the Rooks at 2 p. m. tomorrow, with both aggregations slated to battle in a water polo fray immediately after the meet events. The varsity swimmers are to show their stuff at 7:30 p. m. and will engage in a water polo battle afterwards.

The varsity aquatic stars who will go on the journey are Wally Hug, Francis Oglesby, George Pratt, Bob Needham, Paul Lafferty, Ferd Fletcher, Jim Brooke, Fred Anderson, Charlie Foster, Don Stevenson, Sam Nigh, Ladd Sherman, Leo Laurin, Bob Anderson, Homer Goulet, Mervin Rodda, Cliff Culp, Stan Kidder, Bishop.

The frosh who will go to Corvallis are Jean Privat, Jim Ringrose, Ned Simpson, Glen Gummess, Mark Thomas, Linder, Willie Paul, Fred Fowler, John Hine, Bob Hart, Dick Moorehouse, Clay Sherman, John Zehnhauer, Bill Gearhart, Bob Chilton, Ray Stewart, Bill Catlow, Roland Galsayer, Charles Best, Carl Heidel, Lloyd Humphreys.

Peter's Lodge Committee To Prepare Cabin for Use

Breakfast Will Be Given Sunday For Party of Eight

Members of the Peter's lodge board will spend the week-end at the cabin in order to clean the grounds and renovate the inside so that it may be in good condition for groups wishing to use the lodge in the future. It was announced by Louise Weber, chairman.

The Peter's lodge committee is composed of Louise Weber, Helen Binford, Muriel Kolster, Marguerite Tarbell, Edith Peterson, and Jean Failing. Ann Baum, A. W. S. president, plans to join the party.

Kalisky Noses Out Johnson in Pellet Wallopers Meet

Upsetting the dope bucket and kicking old man percentage all over the table, Joe Kalisky, varsity tennis star, put Bob Johnson, touted as a possible champion, out of the running in the quarter-finals match in the Y. M. C. A. ping-pong tourney yesterday.

Kalisky retained a chance at the Co-op trophy awarded yearly to the best spheroid bouncer on the campus by emerging victorious out of a terrific seven-game match.

Others to advance into the semi-finals were Ingram Kjosness, Don Eva, Julian Apil, and Bob Street.

Kjosness disposed of Myron Pinkstaff with ease while the diminutive Apil, sole representative of the Filipino experts left in the running, was overcoming Harold Philip.

Eva, general chairman of the tourney, had greater difficulty in whipping Herbie Simmons, but managed to edge him out in the last of a seven-game match. Street drew a bye into the round.

With the completion of the quarter-final round, Eva announced the pairings for the finals. Kjosness will meet Kalisky, Eva will tackle Street, while Apil draws a bye.

With the defeat of Johnson, the second favorite went by the board. Max Rubenstein, defending champion, was defeated in one of the opening rounds.

Oregon Faculty Members Revealed as U. S. Officials

Four Departments Represented in Government's Who's Who

The 1932 edition of the "Who's Who in Government," an encyclopedia which contains the biographies of over 15,000 high government officials in the United States, includes four members of the faculty of the University.

The faculty members whose names are included in the new book are as follows: Dr. James D. Barnett, chairman of the department of political science; Dr. R. C. Clark, head of the history department; David E. Faville, dean of the school of business administration, and James H. Gilbert, dean of the college and head of the economics department.

These men are also members of the legislative service and reference bureau of Oregon, having received their appointment from Governor Meier.
