Colonial Rout Is Most Notable Event of Week-end

Ordinary campus social activities will retire into the background Friday night as students and faculty alike prepare to celebrate the George Washington bi-centennial by attending the Colonial Rout, backwoods frolic and dance to be held in Gerlinger hall.

A delightful program and decorative scheme has been worked out by S. Stephenson Smith, faculty director, and Miss Myrtle McDaniels, student chairman for the affair. Famous characters of Colonial times will be impersonated by professors and students, strolling singers will render typical ballads of the period, the Sons of the Whiskey Rebellion will vocalize in true backwoods fashion, and stately dames and gentlemen will dance the Virginia Reel.

Despite the fact that the program is the result of much study and careful planning, every effort will be made to maintain an atmosphere of absolute informality. Costumes are optional, and guests may come with or without dates.

Many Dances Slated For Saturday Evening

Saturday night will again be crowded with fraternity and sorority dances, due to the fact that the all-University Colonial Rout on Friday leaves only half the week-end open for other affairs.

Among the dances listed are formals given by Chi Omega, Alpha Chi Omega, Phi Sigma Kappa, Delta Gamma, and Kappa Alpha Theta, and informals scheduled by Sigma Pi Tau, Sigma Chi, Alpha Upsilon, and Oregon men's hall.

Miss Mary Lou Muncy is in charge of the Kappa Alpha Theta formal dance to be held Saturday at the chapter house. Patrons and patronesses will be Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rosson, Mrs. Grace Russell, Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Seashore, and Mrs. R. Talbert.

The Osburn hotel has been selected as the scene of Phi Sigma Kappa's formal dance Saturday. Dick Givens heads the committee in charge.

A formal banquet for guests and patrons and patronesses will precede the formal dance to be given Saturday evening at the Chi Omega house. The table and house will be decorated with cut spring flowers for the occasion. Patrons and patronesses will be Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Horn, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Ernst, Mr. and Mrs. Marion McClain, and Miss Florence Thompson.

A winter carnival idea will feature the informal dance of Sigma Chi Saturday. Skis, snowshoes, toboggans and other winter sports paraphernalia will be used as decorations. Patrons and patronesses will be Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cutler, Dr. E. C. A. Lesch, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Casteel, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reinhart. Ned Kinney is in charge.

The Alpha Upsilon chapter house will be transformed into a Parisian underworld scene Saturday for the informal "Apache" dance scheduled for that evening. Guests will wear appropriate costumes. Patrons and patronesses will be Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lomax, Mr. and Mrs. Max McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan McCollom, and Mr. and Mrs. Eyer Brown. The dance committee is headed by James Henderson.

Sigma Pi Tau will hold an informal dance Saturday night at Lee Duke's cafe. Harry Schenk heads the committee for the affair, assisted by Cleland Wall-singer and Louis Pista.

FEET OF CLAY

By BOBAR

DATE WAR RAGES!

"Being neglected," cries Schenk!

"Who, us?" bellows Strainer!!!

Battle, which has been brewing for days flamed forth last night between eds and co-eds of the campus. Harry Schenk, leader of the stand-patters, when interviewed last night, claimed, "We are being neglected! Is this leap year, or not? Why do we sit home night after night while they (the gals) have fun?"

Betty Strainer, leader of the insurgent party, says, "We are sick and tired of all this business. Leap year or no leap year, we intend to stand up for our rights!"

When the two were brought together at the Feet of Clay office, together with their camp-followers, the strife broke forth anew. All hopes of arbitration were abandoned late last night, as both sides entrenched for battle.

"What good are pants?" asks Penland.

"Aw, go hire a hot house," Baum's retort.

John Penland, lieutenant of the stand-pat faction, claims the battle will be fought to the bitter end. "We men are at a fighting pitch," is his claim.

"Nuts," Majordomo Baum retorts. "What'd'you mean, men? This thing can not last," she said last night. "We intend to hold out till the last man!"

"Flower of manhood trampled," storms Jones.

"Flower—Hah, that's rich!" says Ansley.

Chuck Jones and his husky adversary, Ansley, came near to blows, eyebrows being batted at a furious pace during their meeting yesterday evening. "You big so and so," yelled Ansley. "Madame," said Jones, "be a gentleman!"

"Aw," says Travis, "lay off!"

"You were the cause, you wretch!"

James Linn Travis got picked as a special adversary by the blond baby from the Alpha Chi house. In this, the only decisive encounter of the evening, Travis got skinned. "Pacific resistance is our only hope," was his claim when interviewed following his encounter. "Remember the Maine!" countered Sersanus. Travis, felled by this, made no retort, and the match went to the gal, six love.

"We're bein' rooked!" claims Gregg.

"That ain't the half," says Tarbell.

Tarbell and Gregg exchanged a bloody barrage of glances during their engagement. Gregg, staunchest of staunch, stood up well under punishment, but so did Tarbell. Late last night neither would admit anything. "Wait and see," was the ominous tidings from the front. Several hits, everybody ran, errors, migosh.

Refugees from the battle-torn area will be given faculty protection by mailing a request for the same to the dean of women's office. How long the fight will last is not known, but sensational developments are promised by both sides.

Snapshot Section Of Oregon Still Lacking Material

THE DEADLINE for snaps for the Oregoniana has been extended because of the fact that an insufficient number of pictures to fill the eight-page snapshot section of the year book have been turned in, Jack Bellinger, school year editor, announced last night.

The chances are good that prints that are turned in will be used, Bellinger said, as over three-fourths of those that have been sent in have been selected for the snapshot section.

Oregon Courtesy Book Will Be Completed Soon

March First Set as Last Date for Asking Etiquette Questions

"The Oregon Courtesy Book," campus etiquette guide, is rapidly nearing completion, Helen Evans, co-sponsor of its publication, announces.

Sections contributed by Philomate hobby groups, which are aiding Phi Theta Upsilon, upperclass women's service honorary, and Skull and Daggers, sophomore men's honorary, in the project, will be ready for compilation by the end of the week.

Questions still find their way into the query box placed in the College Side for student use by the two organizations. Answers to questions inserted until March 1 will appear in the "Courtesy Book."

Four samples of questions asked during the last week are found below.

1. At a formal reception, such as the one preceding the Senior ball, should the man precede or follow the girl down the receiving line?
2. In making introductions is it proper to say, "Miss X, Mr. Y" or vice versa?
3. When two couples meet and the girls know each other, how should the introduction be made? Also, in the case of two men knowing each other and one man and one girl?
4. How long before a formal reception should invitations be sent out?

TALKIE TOPICS

By RALPH MASON
Heilig — "The Final Edition," featuring May Clarke. Showing till Friday.

Colonial — "Five Year Plan," showing for last time today.

Rex — "Bad Company," starring Helen Twelvetrees. Showing today and tomorrow.

McDonald — "No One Man," featuring Carole Lombard and Paul Lukas. Showing for the last time today.

Lombard at McDonald
"It's good," she said—and we quite agree.

Carole Lombard and Juliette Compton appear in dazzling gowns and the things they don't do to get their men. Paul Lukas and Ricardo Cortez are the men in question but which wins who, and who has which is variable. Here's a typical shot, moonlight and dreamy music, a garden scene—and then "You do that exceptionally well," from Lombard. Action is well governed and progresses evenly and pleasingly.

The theme for the picture is based on the purport of Rupert Hughes' novel, that "no one man is sufficient to satisfy and occupy the heart of any woman." To hear the man-hunters coldly declaring that they are looking for 100 per cent men, and that they are tired of 75 per cent men, is rather disconcerting to some of us, but after a time something happens which atones for this uncomfortable remark.

A certain breeziness permeates the entire film, which has shots of Palm beach, sur-boards, soft moonlight, polo, and a babies' ward in a hospital with real two-toned babies.

An unusually funny comedy featuring the sly villain, the brave hero and the winsome maiden and the Keystone cops is included in the bill.

"Girl of Rio," comes for a two-day run tomorrow with Dolores Del Rio and Leo Carrillo in the featured roles.

Russian Film at Colonial
All sides of Russian social life and industry are strikingly presented in "The Five Year Plan," which is showing for the last time today at the Colonial.

Russia, which has 160 million people, and is two and a half times as large as the United States, is shown in its atom with an accompanying lecture in English. This picture is emphatically not intended for amusement, rather it attempts to explain what Russia is really working for.

Scenes of huge grain elevators and power plants, long strings of tractors working 24 hours a day, 500,000-acre farms, and modern apartment houses for workers show in a graphic way just what the "Five Year Plan" is.

"Bad Company at Rex
Helen Twelvetrees and Ricardo Cortez are starring in "Bad Company" which is showing at the Rex for today and tomorrow. This film is a gangster picture with lots of rapid action. Good lines fall mostly to Cortez and there are many of them.

Dr. E. Pendle To Teach Principles of Economics
Dr. Elmer Pendle of the University of Oklahoma, who is now on the campus on a leave of absence, will teach the course, principle of economics, next term. Professor Pendle will temporarily take the place of Dr. Donald Erb, who is going to Stanford as a visiting professor from the University.

Dr. Pendle is an alumnus of the University, having graduated in 1921. "I am proud to be a product of this institution," he said, "and I am glad to be back and be of service to her."

Keeping ahead of the second hand

To keep telephone service in step with the swift pace of American life, Bell System men tackle many an absorbing problem, find many an ingenious solution.

For instance, they decided that precious seconds could be saved by a change in long-established operating routine. The operator used to repeat the number called by the subscriber—now she indicates that she understands by saying, "Thank you." To appreciate the importance of the second thus saved, just multiply it by the 40,000,000 conversations handled by operators on the average day.

In the telephone business, major improvements that save the subscriber's time and give him better service often result from just such apparently minor changes.
