Cataloging at Library
Explained by Douglass

Students and members of the faculty who cannot find a particular book in the University library have at their disposal a supplementary catalogue of books which the Oregon State college library has received, since last fall, that the Oregon library lacks, Matthew H. Douglass, University librarian, stated.

The catalogue lists the books by authors only, and not by subject or title. If a patron of the Oregon library finds the book he wants listed among those at Oregon State, an attempt will be made to borrow it for him.

Mr. Douglass said that eventually he hopes that the O. S. C. and Oregon libraries will have joint catalogues of all their books.

In case neither the Oregon State nor the Oregon library has the book desired, there is still another file, consisting of slips sent by the University of Michigan library, naming the books which are in their library that the Library of Congress has not yet catalogued.

The interfraternity council at Minnesota university recently passed a resolution requiring a $2 fee of freshmen accepting dates during the regular winter quarter rushing week. The measure was designed to help fraternities defray the cost of rushee's meals and to eliminate the entertainment of freshmen who might accept with no intention of becoming a member of any fraternity.

Macduff Calls for Women Students' Grade Warnings

MRS. ALICE B. MACDUFF, assistant dean of women, issued a plea that all women students who received grade warnings at mid-term turn the slips in at her office immediately.

Mrs. Macduff mentioned that the blue warning slips were sent out after mid-term exams and should have been attended to at that time. She further called attention to the fact that this term is nearing its close and the purpose of the warnings is to show the student his position to allow him a chance to improve.

Women Opposed To Duplication in Group Personnel

New Big Sister Resolution Passed at Conference Of Three Bodies

Women students as a result of a recent conference between representatives of A. W. S., W. A. A., and Y. W. C. A. have decided to take a definite stand against over-organization on the campus and will oppose duplication of the personnel of different groups, and disapprove of emphasis in the living organizations of the question of grades, and a heavy freshman schedule of activities.

A resolution was also passed to the effect that girls chosen as Big Sisters be consulted before the appointment is made public. The new Big Sister policy will give fewer charges to each sponsor. An additional suggestion was made that the girls in the present freshman class name the women they would recommend for the positions of Big Sisters for the coming year.

The A. W. S. executive council ratified resolutions providing for an activities chairman on the council, suggesting to Mr. Onthank that a course in practical home economics and home management be instituted, and favoring a system whereby advisors will be available before the end of the winter term for consultation. It was also decided that such a conference be established as an annual affair.

Window Mistake Contest Will Close This Morning

The window mistake contest has attracted much attention judging by the interested groups gathered about it, Addison Smith of the Co-op said yesterday.

The contest will remain open till 10 a. m. this morning. Chances of winning a prize are still very good, Smith said, as some of the mistakes are noticeably only to keen observers.

Winners of the contest will be announced in tomorrow morning's Emerald.

Alpha Delta Sigma Pledges Four Men Wednesday Noon

Reymers, Sanford, Hall, Bush Received Into Advertising Group

Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity, has pledged four men, according to a statement made by Harry Schenk, president of the group yesterday. The men are Bob Hall, Mair Reymers, Auten Bush, and George Sanford.

The four men were pledged Wednesday at a luncheon at the College Side Inn, but formal announcement was withheld until yesterday. Bob Hall is a business administration major and a junior. He has done considerable work about the campus, and has gained prominence in campus advertising circles.

Mair Reymers is a junior in the school of journalism. He has been associated with the advertising of the Emerald for the past three years. Auten Bush, a junior in the school of business administration, has been connected with advertising work on the campus for three years, and at present is assistant advertising manager of the Emerald. George Sanford is a sophomore in the school of journalism. He did advertising work before entering the University, and is now a day editor on the Emerald.

TOO MANY HIGH GRADES GIVEN FOR FALL TERM

sity would be C, though for the fall term it was approximately C plus or B minus. The average under the old system was approximately 3.4, which would be equivalent to a C under the present grading method.

EX-KAISER PRAISES PROF
Professor M. H. Cochran of the history department of the University of Missouri, author of a new book, "Germany Not Guilty," received this letter from William Hohenzollern, once emperor of Germany.

"Sincere compliments and warmest admiration for your brilliant 'Germany Not Guilty,' in which you deal Prof. B. Schmitt a withering blow. There is not the slightest doubt about who were the real culprits that started the World War. They stand arraigned before the tribunal of history awaiting their verdict. The world crisis the Allies are suffering from is the punishment Providence is meting out to them for their crimes in 1914 and at Versailles in 1918."

The ex-kaiser's greeting was written in English on the back of a post card. Prof. Cochran is a graduate of Harvard and has been a member of the Missouri university faculty since 1928.

WINTERS NOT WARMING UP

Folk who think all winters, not only this one, are milder in these parts, simply have the wrong kind of memories, according to Gustave S. Lindgren of the United States Weather bureau in Albany, New York.

He considers this winter an exception, but he asserts that over a long period records show no climatic change.

"When I went to college," he says, "the daily task of breaking the ice in the water pitcher to wash sent chills down the spine. That was enough to make the weather seem cold the rest of the day. Now we have warmer houses, better clothing and food, are more athletic and are not so aware of the cold."

CLARK WILL SPEAK

Dan E. Clark will speak in Portland next Thursday evening at 8 p. m. at the Portland public library. His subject is Washington and the West. This talk is one of a series being given by the Portland public library in connection with the bi-centennial anniversary of Washington's birthday.

MASS HAPPINESS IS AIM

A plea that American colleges and universities take a more active interest in aiding good government was made before the Atlanta chapter of the Emory University Alumni association by Dr. Dumas Malone, editor of the "Dictionary of American Biography."

He urged that institutions of higher learning develop unselfish and outstanding leadership and bend their efforts to "solving the riddle of happiness for the masses instead of aiming at a selfish goal."

"Signs of an intellectual awakening are apparent in every university in the land," he said, "and from the chaos and moral anarchy of a disillusioned generation a new morality is arising, carrying with it a stronger sense of public responsibility."

"Accordingly, it seems that the university of tomorrow will play a larger part in the vital affairs of the nation. The social scientist, dealing with persons rather than things, and the humanist and philosopher, glorifying the mind and spirit, will come into their own perhaps at the expense of the sci-

DEPRESSION GETS OKAY

Economic depressions such as the world is now experiencing are necessary for the progress of civilization, believes Prof. E. G. Conklin, head of the biology department at Princeton university.

"Some of the weaker, according to the law of nature, 'will naturally die under stress of the times,' he declares. 'Others will not propagate their kind. The strong and hardy will survive and reproduce, and thus the human race will be strengthened.'"

MOSQUITOES CAN 'FALL'

The male mosquito's liking for "the wimmin'" may ultimately lead to the destruction of the pest in this country, it was revealed here when announcement was made that Prof. Elinu Thomson of the General Electric Co. has found a machine which reproduces the hum of the female mosquito so perfectly that millions of male insects were led to their destruction in the last summer.

The machine is one used in fusing quartz for an astronomical mirror. It was only by accident that Prof. Thomson noticed that the hum of the apparatus was drawing the mosquitoes from a nearby marsh. The heat of the furnace immediately killed the insects. If the principle is correct, mankind may ultimately be freed of the summer's worst pest.

SOME CLASSES HIGHER

That some members of the faculty and some classes should have higher than normal grade distributions is considered natural because of the nature of the courses, such as specialized subjects for upper division students. In these, however, it is expected that there will be a fairly even distribution of the higher grades and not a predominance of any one grade.

For the usual class in a required course, however, it is expected that the grade distribution this term will conform fairly closely to the percentages considered normal. This will mean that there will be a decrease in the number of A's and B's given and an increase in the number of D's and F's.

Group Heads of Philomelete Plan Executive Policy

New Idea To Bring Better Cooperation Between Different Bodies

That the Philomelete hobby groups will follow a new executive policy for the remainder of the winter term and the first of the spring term, was decided at a meeting of the group presidents Wednesday evening in the women's lounge of Gerlinger hall.

The presidents of the various groups will act as a council for the entire Philomelete organization under the proposed plan. Helen Evans, president of Phi Theta Upsilon, upperclass women's honorary, will be an ex-officio member. This executive group will arrange for all the activities, two of which are the Philomelete spring dance and picnic. This body will also serve as a clearing house for ideas and policies of the different groups.

"It's a move toward more intimate relations between the groups, with efficient cooperation in Philomelete," Miss Evans stated in speaking of the new policy that is to be tried out.

Officers of the council appointed by Miss Evans are: Kathleen McNutt, charm school group, president; Harriet Smith, arts and crafts group, secretary; Genevieve Dunlop, woman in her sphere group, reporter.

Each president was asked to prepare a resume of the activities of her group for this year which will be filed in the dean of women's office. Suggestions for the policies and plans for the groups for next year are also to be turned in.

Carrillo at McDonald
Dolores Del Rio is back once more in the cinema world. After two years of absence due to illness this glamorous star has returned to the screen in "Girl of Rio," which is showing at the McDonald today and tomorrow.

Leo Carrillo plays opposite Dolores in this picture which is laid in a little town on the Mexican border. Norman Foster plays the role of a young American who works in a pool room across the street from the cafe where Dolores holds forth with her flashing eyes and tinkling guitar. Carrillo is the self-styled host caballero in Mexico and albeit a villain. A picture laid in a scene such as this calls for lots of action, love in the moonlight, and shooting a la Mexico, all of which are generously supplied.

TAKES SUMMER POST

Chandler B. Beall, assistant professor of Romance languages, has just accepted a position at Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore for the summer session. This is Mr. Beall's seventh year there, and he will teach French and Italian.

A survey of the physical fitness of Syracuse university freshmen reveals that 62 per cent do not smoke tobacco and that 82 per cent do not drink intoxicating liquors, according to Dean Ernest Griffith. 11 per cent sleep six hours or less; 57 per cent sleep seven hours; 32 per cent sleep eight hours or more.

"Jealousy may be disposed of by listening to the prelude of the Meistersingers," said Dr. A. M. Ornstein, associate in neurology and electro-therapeutics at Pennsylvania. "Indeed, many ills may be soothed by music, so that perhaps we may find such people as medical musicians."

At Syracuse a five week senior guidance course is given to discover whether the seniors are familiar with the rules and traditions of the university. The tests are graded and used the following year in preparing the Freshman Bible.
