

Oregon Emerald

University of Oregon, Eugene

Willie Dunaway, Editor
Larry Jackson, Manager
Thornton Shaw, Managing Editor

EDITORIAL STAFF

Ralph David, Associate Editor, Stephen Kahn, Assistant Editor
Dick Neuberger, Sports Editor
Merlin Blais, Radio Director
Roy Sheedy, Literary Editor
Francis Fulton, Society Editor
Jack Bauer, Dave Wilson, Betty Anne Macduff, Editorial Writers
Rufus Kimball, Asst. Managing Editor
Jack Bellinger, News Editor
Doug Wright, Chief Night Editor

DAY EDITORS: George Sanford, Jesse Steele, Virginia Wents, Sterling Green, Oscar Munser.

SPECIAL WRITERS: Willetta Hartley, Cecil Keesling, Elinor Henry, Thelma Nelson, Esther Hayden.

COPYREADERS: Margaret Bean, Allen Holeman, Ralph Mason, Jane Opsund, Elsie Peterson, Bob Patterson.

REPORTERS: Francis Pallister, Julian Prescott, Donald Fields, Beth Bede, Clifford Gregor, Willard Arant, Maximo Pulido, Bob Riddell, Harold Nock, Almon Newton, Carroll Pawson, Bryon Brinton, Parks Hitchcock, Eloise Dornier, Genevieve Dunlop, Laura Drury, Sam Mushen, Madeline Gilbert, Victor Dallaire.

SPORTS STAFF: Bruce Hamby, Malcolm Bauer, Joseph Salsavsky.

RADIO STAFF: Jack Bauer, Roy McMullen, George Root, Bruce Hamby.

NIGHT EDITORS: Les Dunton, Bob Patterson, Myron Ricketts, Clark Williams, Doug Polivka.

ASSISTANT NIGHT EDITORS: Barbara Jennings, Catherine Watson, Alice Teitelbaum, Louise Stein, Lenore Greve, Adele Eltschman, Desmond Hill, Waldon Douglas, Marion Robbins, Mary Teresi, Delpha Hurlbert, Peggy Newby, Evelyn Schmidt.

ADVERTISING SOLICITORS—Caroline Hahn, Maude Sutton, Grant Theummler, Bernice Wain, Bill Russell, Mahr Beymers, Bill Neighber, Vic Johnson, John Vernon, Althea Peterson, Ray Foss, Edwirth Johnson, Mary Codd, Ruth Osborne, Lee Valentine, Lucille Chapin, Gil Wallington, Ed Messerve, Scot Clodfelter.

MARKETING DEPARTMENT—Nancy Suomala, executive secretary; Betty Mae Higby, Louise Beas.

OFFICE ASSISTANTS—Helen Ferris, Laura Hart, Beverly Price, Nancy Archibald, Louise Beas, Cordelia Dodson, Louise Rice, and Lucille Lowry.

SECRETARIES: Josephine Waffle, Betty Duzan, Marguerite Davidson.

The Oregon Daily Emerald, official publication of the Associated Students of the University of Oregon, Eugene, issued daily except Sunday and Monday, during the college year. Member of the Pacific Intercollegiate Press. Entered in the postoffice at Eugene, Oregon, as second class matter. Subscription rates, $2.50 a year. Advertising rates upon application. Phone, Manager: Office 214; residence, 2800.

COLONIAL ROUT DIRECTORATE

The above ten students, together with the faculty committee, were responsible for the success of last night's Colonial Rout. They are, left to right: Myrtle McDaniels, general chairman; Robert Hall, general manager; Rose Simons, music; Ethan Newman, orchestra; Kermit Stevens, properties; Jack Bellinger, publicity; Adrienne Sabin, refreshments; Harriette Chase, secretary; and Emma Bell Stadler, costumes.

FEET
—of—
CLAY.

By BOBAR

Whoops! We have a public. Feby of Clay, emerging from the embryonic state, is fast reaching the pinnacle of full flowered success. We have been told that we are in a condition. Ah us. Fans and fancies, especially the latter, are responding to our efforts to give Oregon bigger and better love lives. This was the first correspondent to hang our hides on the fence of public ire.

Dear Bobar: As an expression of a phase of student life, I think your column is unequalled. However, it is a phase which is best left unmentioned. For pure malicious and uncalled for discussions of and insinuations concerning personalities, it is indeed the most obvious and immature. The majority of straight thinking men and women on this campus are everywhere expressing their opinions of disgust and distaste, and to these I add my own most heartily.

Sincerely,
A STUDENT

P. S.—Please print. Now then, isn't that nice? It's indeed perfectly small to think that the straight thinking men and women of the campus read our column, because, to tell the truth, we didn't expect it. Well, anyway, this letter taught us a couple of new wrinkles in spelling. While we like to hear from the kids and all that, we can't print any more of these, because after all, this space is valuable. Aw, lay off of us, willya?

We almost forgot. We were going to give Creech a big send-off today but he tells us he already has a love life, low life or something — anyway we could not make it entertaining without his picture and we haven't got that, so we had to pick on a man who has been hiding his light under a blanket.

Snaky Scribe or something. Seeks Skirt Here's Bill Dunaway, the high mogul of this paper, who says that since reading about the Kappas he's just discovered what he's been missing. He has three suits, rosy cheeks, wears No. 9 brogues and can paddle a canoe one-handed. He practiced this "most likely to succeed" expression for two weeks, he says, because it's supposed to go on an application blank. Don't take that attitude seriously, girls, because Bill's still a boy at heart, just like Peters, Longacre and all the rest. "Sure I know how to act polite around the girls, I used to be Phi Psi prexy—well, didn't I?" Applications will be received at the Feet of Clay office. C'mon kids, let's give Bill a big hand, and do him up right.

What's this we understand about a certain Delta Gam who's been having fun with Mikulak, Pozzo, and Ted Pope? The daintiest member of her set—and all that, but since travelling around in this company we don't wonder that she's been hitting the Absorbine jr.

Some people won't learn. We understand that a certain Kappa

Sigarnett and his anchorite have deserted the 14th and Alder arc light and have now taken up in a big way the pastime of spook hunting among the vacant houses at the head of Kincaid St. Note: parties, we're getting tired of having to stick your names in this column.

And what's this we hear about the Chi-Os going leap year and trying to shame a certain Pi Kap into planting his pin, by the simple expedient of all the girls running up to him, planting one (not pin) on him, and congratulating him. A pretty pass indeed, when it takes a whole house to fix a gal up.

We could say more—but—aw, thas' all.

CAMPUS
CALENDAR

Phi Delta Kappa initiation this afternoon at Gerlinger hall at 3:30, following which there will be a banquet at Osborn hotel at 6:30.

Theta Sigma Phi will meet at 1135 Mill street for chop suey Sunday at 6 p. m.

Y. W. C. A. reorganization and nomination committee will meet Monday at 4:30 at the bungalow.

Y. W. C. A. worship group will meet Monday night at 9:30 at Susan Campbell.

Upperclass commission officers will meet Sunday at 2:15 at the Y. W. C. A.

Prof. Stephenson Smith will address the open forum at the Community Liberal church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. His talk will be the sixth of a series of forum discussions and is titled "The Ideology of the British Labor Party."

"I Cannot Tell a Lie"

"I'll talk on hell, not George Washington, at Sunday night's service in my church," says a pastor of Millburn, New Jersey.

And despite the proximity of the 200th anniversary of the birth of Washington, and the multitudinous celebrations centered around the hallowed event, we are inclined to applaud the stand of the reverend.

Too often and too loudly have we heard the praises of the great Washington sung from platform and pulpit. His merits have been magnified and his weaknesses concealed. From a brilliant mortal he has been transformed into a pitifully weak saint by well-meaning but unimaginative fools.

But we are more concerned with the current tendency to worship the name of Washington and forget the principles he upheld. His ideas of peace and brotherhood are cleverly distorted into warnings against entangling alliances. Blatantly patriotic societies chant the praises of the Father of our Country; but shrink from the ideals he heralded. Like ancestor worshippers of backward countries, they bow down to his fair name and blackjack the progressive movements he would have been the first to endorse. Patriots, laugh!

We admire Washington for the man he was—not the god we would have him be. If he gambled and drank we like him all the more. For it is his principles—not his personal habits—we revere. And we can best pay tribute—not with hymns or huzzahs or paeons of praise—but with devotion to the ideals of liberty and justice which he so courageously defended.

"My Day of Silence"

VIC MEYERS, well-known dance orchestra leader and candidate for mayor of Seattle, attended a Shrine club luncheon yesterday along with eight other candidates for the Seattle political post. But Vic stole the show from his rivals when he came dressed as Mahatma Gandhi and leading a goat. Into the hands of the chairman of the club luncheon he placed a card which read: "This is my day of silence."

Vic strikes us as material for the ideal mayor. He is too good a bet for the people of Seattle to pass up. A mayor with "a day of silence" is a prize worth having. In earlier campaign speeches Meyers has shown that he knows how to present the keys of the city to famous guests, he can make speeches on any occasion, and he dresses well. What more do you want?

Mayor Porter of Los Angeles thought he was pulling a great political coup when he refused champagne in Paris last year. Now he probably wishes he had taken the champagne. Mayor Baker broke all French tradition when he spoke on the grave of the Unknown Soldier in Paris. Mayor Jimmy Walker was being big-hearted when he came all the way across the continent to beg a pardon for Mooney from Governor Rolph. But he didn't do himself any good. Surely these men knew what they were about. What does Meyers have on them?

Vic Meyers stands alone as the man who can temper his "blah" with silence. Vic Meyers of the brown tuxedo who would save Seattle for the sake of his little child. He is the man of the hour. Seattle, don't pass him by!

A Ray of Hope?

THE full league of nations assembly will convene on March 3 to make one last effort to avert war between China and Japan. Upon the success of this extraordinary session depends not only the future of China and Japan but of the league of nations itself.

Dr. W. W. Yen, head of the Chinese delegation at Geneva, forced the issue when he asked the council of the league to call the full assembly. It is the most drastic step taken by that body since it first began work to secure a peaceful settlement of the difficulties in the Far East. But drastic or not, it is a step that could not be avoided if the league had any desire to continue effective operations.

We still have faith in the league. This is its first big test and though it has shown certain definite weaknesses it may yet be able to weather the storm. Japan has forced its hand to the limit by her aggressive tactics and refusal to arbitrate. But the calling of the full assembly may be the signal for the mobilization of world opinion for peaceful settlement. And, after all, that is the league's biggest weapon and the most certain way to bring Japan to terms.

If the assembly decides to use the only weapon at its command, the economic boycott, Japan cannot hold out longer. The United States would unquestionably join the league in its boycott to make it doubly effective. Victory would mean peace in China and the perpetuation of the league of nations.

The Safety Valve

An Outlet for Campus Steam

All communications are to be addressed to the editor, Oregon Daily Emerald, and should not exceed 200 words in length. Letters must be signed, but should the writer prefer, only initials will be used. The editor maintains the right to withhold publication should he see fit.

EMERALD IN ERROR

To the Editor: In today's issue of the Emerald I am quoted as saying: "Excitement about lives of citizens lost in other countries is absurd."

It should not be necessary for me to publicly repudiate this statement. To make such an utterance would not only be ridiculous on my part, but would indicate me to be entirely devoid of feeling.

In discussing Nationalism I pointed out that sentiment is usually more easily aroused over the loss of a few lives of nationals in foreign countries, than over the thousands of lives lost in industrial and automobile accidents within the nation.

Nor did I say nationalism is developed through the "misinterpretation of history." I merely mentioned the nationalistic emphasis in much of the teaching of history as a contributing factor.

JOHN R. MEZ

The STUDENT CHURCH

By GENEVIEVE DUNLOP

Patriotic topics are found in both the list of subjects for the student groups and the sermons of the ministers for this Sunday. Subjects of personality and leadership also find their way into the discussion subjects.

Methodist

Mrs. R. B. Porter will teach the University class which meets at 9:45. She will accompany her talk with scenes of India, where she spent five years in missionary work.

Dr. Edmund S. Conklin, head of the department of psychology, will address the Wesley foundation on "How Psychology Helps One to Understand His Own Personality." This meeting, which starts at 6:30, will be preceded by a social hour.

"The Price of Achievement" and "The Lost Art of Worship" will be the sermon topics for the morning and evening services, respectively. Rev. Cecil F. Ristow is the minister.

Community Liberal (Unitarian)

The Young People's group will meet in the church parlors at 9:30.

"What Is the Religious Philosophy as Distinct from that of Dictatorship or Monarchy?" is Rev. Ernest M. Whitesmith's topic for the 11 o'clock services. S. Stephenson Smith, professor of English, will speak at the open forum of the church at 8. His subject is "Ideology of the British Labor Party."

First Christian

The Loyal Berean class, which meets at 9:45, will consider the topic "Jehovah or Baal: Elijah the Prophet." Mrs. R. M. Day teaches the class.

"Desirable Qualities in National Leaders" is the subject for the 6:15 meeting of the Young People's Christian Endeavor. Jon Kilowatz is to lead the discussion.

Rev. S. E. Childers will preach on "Christ's Rule for Happiness" at the morning service, and in the evening on "Great Characters."

Congregational

"The Real George Washington" is to be considered by the members of the student forum at 6.

At the morning service Rev. Clay E. Palmer will preach on "The Mystic's Experience with Beauty."

Central Lutheran

The sermon for the morning service will be "Crumbs in Bread." Rev. P. J. Luvaas is the preacher. The evening meeting will be devoted to a Lenten service which starts at 7:30.

Baptist

The topic for the C. O. S. class, which meets at 9:45, will be "Walking with Jesus." Miss Mildred Johnson will teach the lesson.

The B. Y. P. U. meets at 6:15 with Ruth Frazier as leader. A discussion of Millet's picture "The Angelus" will be the feature of the evening.

Dr. W. H. Rogers, pastor of the Hinson Memorial church of Portland, will preach both sermons at the Baptist church this Sunday. The morning topic will be "The Unavoidable Issue." In the evening he will speak on "Twice Born Men."

United Lutheran

Ralph Leudtke of Vancouver, Washington, president of the Columbia district Luther league, will be honored at a reception given by the Luther league at 5. Leudtke will address the local group at their meeting at 6 p. m.

"The Religion, an Influence on Washington and the Background of the American Republic" is the topic on which Rev. Frank S. Beisel speaks at the morning sermon.

Episcopal

A consideration of "Divorce" will be the program for the Student council. The group meets at 7 p. m. in the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall.

Holy communion services will be held at 8 and 11. At the latter Rev. Howard R. White will preach on "George Washington, Churchman and Christian."

Presbyterian

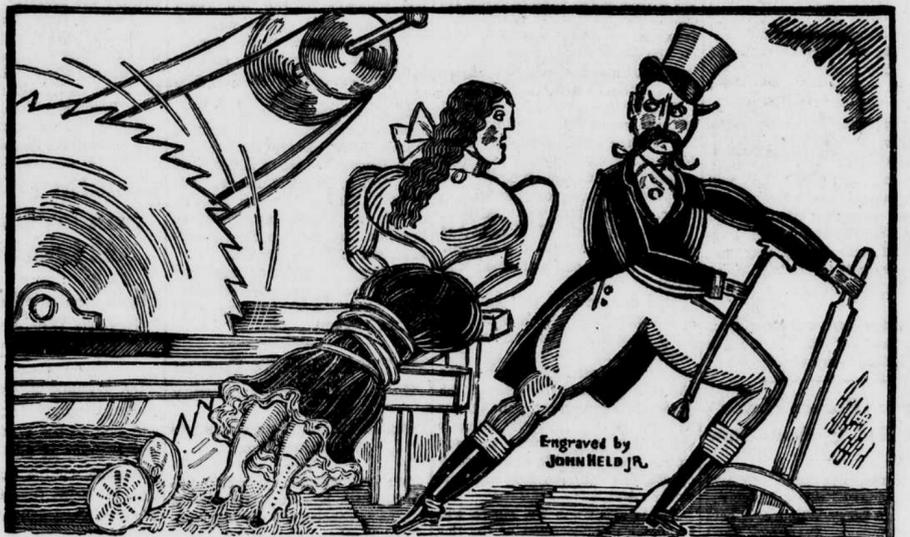

Alice B. Macduff, assistant dean of women, is to give her views on "What I Think are the Most Important Things in Life," to the freshman group which assembles at 9:45.

The upperclass group is beginning a series on "What Religion

Let Me Save You Money

Rent Your Tuxedo From

UNIVERSITY TAILOR
1128 Alder Phone 2611

"SO, MY PROUD BEAUTY, YOU WOULD REPULSE ME, EH?" barked DALTON

"I would indeed," said the fairest flower of the campus. "And how!"

"What is there about me, gal, to bring this disfavor down upon my head?" Joe College demanded.

"Your manner, sir," she answered him haughtily. "The man who wins my heart must wine and dine me at only those reputable eating places that advertise in the Emerald."

Food and drink may be purchased from:

- Lee Duke Cafe
- College Side
- Seymour's
- Taylor's
- Cottage
- Green Parrot
- Gosser's
- Marine Grotto
- Anchorage

state

oregon emerald