

WEBFOOTS, O.S.C. TO CLASH TONIGHT

Japan Boycott Held Essential In Settlement

Faculty Members Think U. S. Must Take Action

International Cooperation Is Needed at Present, Authorities Say

By JULIAN PRESCOTT

Concerted action on the part of the United States and members of the League of Nations to force deliberative settlement of the Sino-Japanese embroglio is held imperative by authorities on international relations and economics on the University faculty. They see in an economic boycott an effective means to that end.

In statements released yesterday President Arnold Bennett Hall, a nationally quoted authority on political science; Dr. R. C. Clark of the history department, who has made extensive studies of the United States foreign policy; Dr. Harold J. Noble, assistant professor of history who has specialized in oriental history; Dr. Victor P. Morris, professor of economics, and Dr. John R. Mez, professor of political science and economics, emphasized the need for concerted action to uphold international cooperation as opposed to international anarchy.

The statements were made yesterday in response to a request by the Emerald for prepared opinions on concerted action involving the United States and other leading nations. They follow:

Nations Should Act

Dr. Hall—"Whether the United States should join with the League of Nations in the institution of an economic boycott to force Japan to adhere to the covenant policies and other treaties raises a problem of first importance. I believe the time has come when the nations of the world are ready to take collective action to prevent any nation from obtaining illegal gains by aggressive warfare.

"The importance of preventing nations from violating established treaties is so essential to the effective system of international jurisprudence that I believe that America could well join with the League of Nations in a program for collective boycott to deprive Japan of any of the fruits of any action involving violation of existing treaties, provided, of course, the same ends cannot be achieved by a less drastic action. If the agreement between nations is clear-cut and goes no further than to prevent any advantage going to Japan as a result of unlawful aggression and violation of treaty rights, I believe it would be a move in the ultimate furtherance of international peace. For the United States, however, to undertake any action except in unanimity with the League of Nations would, in

(Continued on Page Four)

Soviet Program Expounded In Publicity, Mueller Avers

To the Russians one of the most important aspects of the five-year plan is letting the rest of the world know about it. This is brought about mainly through the Society for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries, an official organization which sends out publications in English, French, German and Russian so that the world may know what is going on among the Soviets. On the desk of Professor John H. Mueller of the sociology department are several such publications which he has been receiving from time to time.

"Evidently with the intention of getting a subscription out of me," Dr. Mueller remarked.

The chief organ of the Soviet Union Society for Cultural Relations is V. O. K. S., devoted "to a review of economic and cultural construction in the Soviet." Put out twenty times a year, it contains illustrations and articles under such headings as "From

Leads Discussion

Karl W. Ontank, dean of personnel administration, who led a discussion on "Family and Morality in the New Civilization" at the Y hut last night. Mr. Ontank's talk was the seventh of a series of discussions on "The New Civilization."

Ontank Advises Preparation for Wedding Success

Marriage for Love Said To Have Been Carried To Extreme

"Better instruction, preparation, and planning for marriage are the aids most needed for carrying out a better program of family life in the modern age," declared Dr. Karl W. Ontank, dean of personnel, when he spoke on "Family and Morality in the New Civilization" last night at the Y hut.

"It is necessary to sit down and give thought and effort to the problems of marriage if it is to be made a success," he said. "Failures in marriage are largely caused by factors that could have been foreseen and avoided. Movies and literature of the present time are commonly not calculated to prepare young men and women for happy marriages, and to overcome this there should be more of the right kind of instruction available in the home, schools and other social institutions."

The romantic marriage can be said to have been carried to an extreme in modern times, Dr. Ontank thinks. "Love is not enough. Too many young people fail to realize the inevitable social situations that will have to be met."

"The new ideal of marriage is based on more than economics or the sex relations alone," Dean Ontank said. "It includes a respect for individuality, education and adjustment between the parties, and a wholesome attitude toward the expression of affection."

Dr. Ontank sees no objection to marriage before the man has completed his professional training.

(Continued on Page Two)

Aid To Be Given Needy Students By Astor Grant

Protestants of Oregon To Receive Help

Great Grandson of Astoria Founder Donates Fund; Hall Announces

Lord Waldorf Astor of England, great grandson of John Jacob Astor, founder of Astoria, has given a trust fund of $5,000 to the First Presbyterian church of Astoria to be used for aiding students of that church in obtaining college or university education.

The announcement was made here yesterday by Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University, who received details of the grant in a letter from Dr. D. J. Ferguson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Grant Is Large

The grant, one of the largest ever made in the state for this purpose, was made following a personal visit of Dr. Ferguson to the Astor estate in England last summer. Both Lord Astor and Lady Astor expressed great interest in Astoria, and both have been invited to visit the city by the chamber of commerce. Lady Astor is a well known member of parliament, while Lord Astor has been prominent in the house of lords.

The trust fund, according to the deed sent by Lord Astor is "for the purpose of assisting young persons under the age of 25 belonging to the First Presbyterian church of Astoria."

(Continued on Page Two)

Strange Clowning Will Feature Mad Hatters Banquet

The lovers of Lewis Carroll will come together in a glad reunion tonight at "The Mad Hatter's Banquet," unique affair being sponsored by the Wesley club.

The dinner will begin promptly at 6:30. Wallace Campbell, variety debater, will take the part of "The Mad Hatter" and act as toastmaster. The topics for toasts are taken directly from quotations from "Alice in Wonderland."

John L. Casteel, director of the speech division, will talk on "I Wish You Wouldn't Squeeze So," Margaret Atwood, president, will speak on "Which Way? Which Way?" "Will You, Won't You Join the Dance?" will be Jack Bellinger's topic, and Lois Margaret Hunt will give a toast on "I'll Soon Make You Dry Enough."

A skit entitled "The Mad Hatter's Tea Party" will be given by a group of students, and Don Caruth will sing "The Lobster Quadrille," "Pig and Pepper" and "Beautiful Soup," songs taken from Carroll's book. The part of "Alice," both at the banquet table and in the skit, will be taken by Mary Louise Martin. Tickets are on sale at the Co-op store.

Janet Fitch Elected Head Of French Honorary Club

Janet Fitch was elected president of Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, at a recent meeting. Arthur Ireland was elected vice-president; Gwen La Barr, secretary; and Barbara Leiter, treasurer. The retiring officers are president, Barbara Barker; vice-president, Arthur Ireland; and secretary - treasurer, Florence Holloway.

The new officers will take office the first of spring term.

PORTER SPEAKS

R. B. Porter, secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., spoke to the student body of the Eugene Bible college yesterday afternoon on the subject, "A Faith for Today."

Wednesday he led a worship service for the School for Leadership Training, an organization sponsored by the churches of Eugene. His topic was, "The Celebration of Childhood."

Silhouette Artist Describes Intricacies of Faculty Film

Figures Cut Out for 'Prince Achmed' and Posed in 300,000 Scenes

"Prince Achmed," Faculty club cinema this week, will be presented at the Colonial Saturday afternoon, at 1:15 and at 3:15, by request of many who did not see it Thursday.

"Prince Achmed," the Faculty club film shown yesterday at the Colonial, was not made at Harvard, but in Germany, it was discovered yesterday. The New York Times for February 22, 1931, carried a story and an interview which explains many of the intricacies of such a production.

"Mrs. Reiniger, a German silhouette artist," the article says, "and several assistants, including Walter Rutman, who designed the expressionistic settings for 'The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari,' devoted three years of almost unbelievably patient labor to the preparation of 'Prince Achmed.'"

"Figures were cut out in cardboard and sheet lead, articulated, and posed in 300,000 individual scenes. The completed film, an animated silhouette, presents a romantic love story from the 'Arabian Nights,' introducing Achmed, Aladdin, the Princess Dinarzade, the Magic Horse, the Sultan, and the fairy Peri-Banou. In some of the processions and court scenes 50 or 60 characters are shown against shadowy backgrounds of Oriental splendor."

Mrs. Reiniger, in an interview, described the painstaking construction of the film.

"At first I drew a picture of Prince Achmed," she said, "and after we were all convinced that he must look just so, I silhouetted him. Then I built him out of cardboard, wire, and thin sheet lead, so that he might fulfill all of his functions in the shadow play in a natural and convincing manner. I articulated him—gave him a movable head, neck, shoulders, chest, abdomen, hips, legs, upper and lower arms, knees, hands and feet, fastened these together with

(Continued on Page Two)

AWS Stage Show Adds Phi Mu Trio To Entertainment

Freshman Girls To Feature Act at Colonial Theatre On March 2

The Phi Mu trio composed of Lucy Ann Wendell, Mary Margaret Lott, and Margaret Osborne, has been added as a feature of the stage show the Associated Women students will present in connection with the screen production of "The Gay Diplomat" at the Colonial theatre Wednesday, March 2.

The three women are all freshmen on the campus. Lucy Ann Wendell sings in the Polyphonic choir and Margaret Osborne is a member of the women's quartet which broadcasts over KORE.

Sally Adelman will sing several solo numbers. She has featured for numerous campus dances including the Krazy Kopy Krawl, Junior Prom, Frosh Glee, and the Soph Informal. Tap dancing will be done by Louise Marvin who danced at the Krazy Kopy Krawl, Co-ed Capers, in the Junior Vodka last year. She will be accompanied by Jane Holt.

Under the direction of Margaret Hunt and her committee of Catherine Coleman and Helen Skipworth a dramatic skit is also being planned as entertainment.

Non-Credit News Writing Course Offered by School

Subject Designed for Community, Club Correspondents

Announcement of a non-credit course to be offered by the University in news writing designed especially for club and community correspondents will be made in the February issue of the Oregon Community News, monthly publication of the University leaflet series, which will be off the press soon.

The fee for the course of 10 lessons is $3. The better stories will be published with editorial comment in the Community News. Criticisms and instructions will be sent directly to the students.

The Oregon Community News is published for the purpose of affording the communities throughout the state a closer relationship and more direct contact with the activities and accomplishments of each.

Dean Philip A. Parsons, head of community service work at the University, has prepared sample constitutions and by-laws to be sent upon request to the various communities, and has been making visits to the various communities, and has been making inquiries for consultation regarding organization of new communities, community club house plans, and other involving problems of the community.

Willamette Teams Will Meet Oregon In Split Debates

Centralization To Be Topic Of Contests in Eugene And Salem

The University forensic squad will engage the Willamette university debaters in verbal conflict today on the question: "Resolved, That congress should enact legislation providing for the centralization of industry."

The dual meets, one in Salem and one here, will be conducted on the split team plan; that is, three men from each school, neither knowing on which side of the question they will be called upon to debate nor whether they will debate at all, as only two men compose a team, and will be sent to the meets.

When the representatives meet the six men draw for sides and the contest will proceed with one Oregon man and one Willamette man on each side. Cross questioning will also be one of the features of this innovation.

The Oregon speakers who will figure in the contest here in 110 Johnson hall, at 4 o'clock, will be Otto Vonderheist, Stephen Kahn, and Walt Evans. George Bennett, Cecil Espy, and Rolla Reedy will make the trip to Salem.

The freshman debate teams of the two schools will also meet, the affirmative in Salem and the negative will compete here in room 110 Johnson hall at 3 o'clock.

Charley Sees Red And Makes Plea For Communism

On the band-wagon.

These Communists give me a laugh.

I've heard 'em rant and rave and tear their hair. I've blushed at the invectives they've hurled at the capitalists, and the infamy of which they've accused the government.

But you gotta give 'em credit. They do know how to muscle in on the big doings. Sometimes it's showing their women sympathizers under mounted cops' horses to make the headlines. Sometimes it's feeding starving strikers—with soft soap. And sometimes it's picketing Morgan's office on Wall street.

They pulled a fast one yesterday. Crashed the meeting in the Bronx at which Tom Mooney's 84-year-old mother was to speak, and took the spotlight—probably got the "Bronx cheer," too, but they're used to that.

Don't lynch the Communists. Give 'em enough rope and they'll hang themselves.

Humanely,
WEBFOOT CHARLEY.

Oregon Cities' League Opens Meeting Today

Several Hundred To Be Guests on Campus

Luncheon, Banquet, Game Included on First Day's Program

Several hundred Oregon city officials are guests on the campus today as the two-day conference of the League of Oregon Cities opens this morning at 9:30 in Gerlinger hall. Plans for the day include a luncheon at 12:10 at the men's dormitory, and a banquet at Hendricks hall at 6, after which the officials will attend the Oregon-O. S. C. basketball game in a body.

Wm. M. Briggs, city attorney of Ashland, president of the league, will open the meeting. Elisha Large, mayor of Eugene, is to welcome the guests. President Arnold Bennett Hall will give the first talk of the conference, "Cooperation Between the University and the League."

Cooperation Is Planned

It has been Dr. Hall's plan for a number of years, according to Dr. Calvin Crumbaker, associate professor of economics, to set up an effective working organization on the campus to cooperate with the municipalities of Oregon.

At 10 a. m., Frank P. Farrell, city attorney of Medford, will speak on "Court Decisions and New Legislation of Interest to Municipalities." There will be a short recess at 10:30.

The principal discussion of the

(Continued on Page Four)

Two-Fifty Offered To Co-ed Looking Like Rollins Model

"Have you seen her on the campus?"

If you have there is gold in it for you. Gamma Alpha Chi, women's national advertising honorary, is sponsoring a contest in connection with the Fashion dance to be given March 5 at Cocomo Grove.

The contest will be to find the girl who looks the most like the picture on the Rollins' hosiery poster that has been distributed on the campus. Both the person finding the girl and the girl who is chosen as resembling her most closely, will receive a two and a half dollar gold piece. So if the depression has hit you start hunting for a dark haired girl with a piquant face and slanting eyes.

The contest will open at noon today and will close at noon Thursday, March 3. Those making an entry will fill out the coupon in today's Emerald and leave it in the box in the entrance of the old library.

It is important that the hour be filled in, since two people may make the selection and the one turning in the girl's name first will be given the preference.

The winner of the contest will be announced at the leap year dance. The judges will be Mrs. Alice B. Macduff, Mrs. Spencer Collins, and W. F. G. Thacher. No one connected with Gamma Alpha Chi may make an entry.

Historical Campus Scenes On Exhibition at Library

A group of pictures of campus scenes and the faculty of the University of Oregon in the "old days" is on exhibition in the show case on the second floor of the library.

The majority of these pictures are taken from the collection of pictures made by Lenore Casford, periodical librarian.

Roberts Will Play; Oregon Hopes For Victory Brightened

President

William H. Briggs, president of the League of Oregon Cities, which meets on the campus today for a two-day conference. City problems will be discussed at the sessions.

Religious Groups Will Have United Meeting Sunday

Dr. E. W. Warrington To Be Principal Speaker At Gerlinger

For the first time in several years all student religious organizations will hold a united meeting Sunday evening at 5:30 in Gerlinger hall, it was announced yesterday by Margaret Atwood, president of the Student Christian council, which is sponsoring the meeting. Dr. E. W. Warrington, professor of Oregon State college is to be the speaker.

"No one can formulate the future of religion for it is a growing thing," he once told his class in religion at the State college, Miss Atwood, a former member of the class, stated. She characterized him as broad minded, and an excellent discussion leader in urging the members of the different denominations to attend the meeting.

Warrington, who is a professor in the education at the state college, conducts large classes in religion. He formerly was secretary of the Y. M. C. A. on that campus.

(Continued on Page Two)

Writing and Yellow Cat Are Interests of Oldest Student

By ELINOR HENRY

Don Diablo stretched his lazy yellow body on the reporter's coat and looked at her out of large amber eyes as she interviewed the oldest student on the campus, Mrs. Elma T. Havemann, who isn't so old after all.

True, her hair is soft silver and her daughter, Elma Doris is a junior in Romance languages, but she is young for all that. Her hobbies are writing and Don Diablo.

"Cats do clever things," she said, "but they never do them when you want them to. We had one cat for 16 years before we got Don D. We missed him so, we didn't think that we'd ever have another. But we took Don D. to give him a home, and he runs the family now."

Mrs. Havemann lives with her husband and daughter in Eugene

Game Time Advanced to 7:45 o'Clock

Robertson Definitely Out; Rest of Team Is in Fine Condition

GAME TIME CHANGED
Tonight's game will start at 7:45 o'clock, instead of 7:30 as has been the rule in the past, Ronald H. Robnett, assistant graduate manager, announced last night.

By BRUCE HAMBY
Basketball hostilities between Oregon and Oregon State reopen here tonight as Coaches Bill Rein-

hart and Slat Giff send their teams out for the third of the annual state series on McArthur court floor at 7:45. The Webfoots hold the edge with two victories over the Aggies.

Oregon's hopes for a third victory and a third place in the northern division standings took a turn upward last night when Coach Reinhart announced that Charles (Cap) Roberts, big center, would be able to play tonight.

Roberts has been confined to bed for several days with influenza. Yesterday he reported to McArthur court for a short workout. While he still will be weak from illness, his presence on the floor will be a big help to Oregon's chances.

Jack Robertson, sophomore forward, is definitely on the sideline list with a badly sprained ankle. Robertson turned his ankle Wednesday night in practice. Trainer Bob Officer and Bill Hayward worked on it all day yesterday and, while the swelling has gone down somewhat, it is certain that he will not be able to play more than a few minutes if he gets in at all.

Windy Calkins Ready
The remainder of the team will be in first class shape for the crucial contest. Captain Winsor Calkins, who has been limping with a weak ankle, should be able to go to top speed. Hank Levoff and Jim Watts have managed to survive the season so far without injury.

Either Cliff Potter or Gib Olinger will start in Robertson's place tonight. Homer Stahl will be on hand in case Roberts is not able to last through the game.

The Corvallis team will be at full strength tonight for the first time since the opening of the sea-

(Continued on Page Two)

Ken Fagans

Oregon's hopes for a third victory and a third place in the northern division standings took a turn upward last night when Coach Reinhart announced that Charles (Cap) Roberts, big center, would be able to play tonight.

Roberts has been confined to bed for several days with influenza. Yesterday he reported to McArthur court for a short workout. While he still will be weak from illness, his presence on the floor will be a big help to Oregon's chances.

Jack Robertson, sophomore forward, is definitely on the sideline list with a badly sprained ankle. Robertson turned his ankle Wednesday night in practice. Trainer Bob Officer and Bill Hayward worked on it all day yesterday and, while the swelling has gone down somewhat, it is certain that he will not be able to play more than a few minutes if he gets in at all.

Windy Calkins Ready
The remainder of the team will be in first class shape for the crucial contest. Captain Winsor Calkins, who has been limping with a weak ankle, should be able to go to top speed. Hank Levoff and Jim Watts have managed to survive the season so far without injury.

Either Cliff Potter or Gib Olinger will start in Robertson's place tonight. Homer Stahl will be on hand in case Roberts is not able to last through the game.

The Corvallis team will be at full strength tonight for the first time since the opening of the sea-

(Continued on Page Two)