

Herndon Wins First Prize in Hilton Contest

$50 Awarded for Talk On Law Question

Thompson, McKeown Get Second, Third Places Last Night

Roy Herndon won the first prize of $50 last night when seven men spoke at Guild hall in an endeavor to capture one of three prizes offered in the annual Hilton speaking contest.

Avery Thompson, Salem, was awarded second place and received $25. A prize of $15 went to Joe McKeown, judged third best speaker of the evening.

Arguments were given on the question: "What is the proper interpretation of the following provisions in section 3 of article 7 of the Oregon constitution—no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any other court unless the court can affirmatively say that there is no evidence to support the verdict."

Herndon's talk was outstanding for its analytical reasoning. The coolness of manner of the speaker added to the convincingness of the facts. Thompson and McKeown also presented splendid arguments.

Judges for the event were James W. Crawford, circuit judge of Portland and president of the State Bar association; W. H. Brooke of Eugene; and S. M. Calkins, Eugene attorney. Judge Crawford was the principal speaker at a dinner held at the Osborn hotel preceding the contest.

The other four speakers on the evening's program included Otto Frohmayer, Wu Tang, Charles Donloff, and Howard Green.

Skyscraper Idea Used at Banquet

Tower, frame-work, and foundation of the Y. W. C. A. "skyscraper" were described by officers of the organization at the annual membership banquet last night at the Anchorage.

Pledging the cooperation of the new cabinet in an attempt to broaden the religious interest of the Y. W. next year, Aimee Sten, president, portrayed the tower of the skyscraper, used as the theme of the banquet.

Considered as a tavern, cathedral, or factory, the organization can build its own structure, Miss Margaret Edmundson, executive secretary, said in filling out the frame work.

A brief history of the advisory board, its work and future plans were presented by Mrs. Fred Miller, member of the board. Helen Chaney, president during the past year, introduced the speakers. Music for the program was provided by Louise Rice.

Confidence Voiced By Mellon in Talk

LONDON, April 14—(AP)—Hailing a new era, Andrew W. Mellon, America's ambassador to Great Britain, tonight told the Pilgrims society there was nothing in world conditions so unprecedented as to justify a lack of faith "in our capacity to deal with them."

This was the first public address as ambassador of the man who made millions in business and then administered the United States treasury under three presidents.

He spoke before a distinguished audience of 400 or more, including the prince of Wales, Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, and Lord Derby, who presided.

Before his address the ambassador drank toasts in champagne to King George and the president of the United States, in accordance with his previously expressed intention to conform to the customs of the country to which he had been named ambassador.

Those Englishmen who had hoped for some indication that Mr. Mellon's mission to Great Britain was to arrange the revision, perhaps the cancellation of war debts, were disappointed.

HONORARY TO MEET Pi Lambda Theta, education honorary, will meet Tuesday, April 19, at the Westminster house at 7:30. Mrs. Susanne Holmes Carter, county superintendent of schools, Jackson county, will talk on "My Dwelling and Yours."

The Old and the New

Cal Young, first football coach at the University of Oregon 39 years ago, congratulates Priak Callison upon the assumption of his new duties. Young was a speaker at the mammoth banquet honoring Callison at the Eugene hotel last night.

Many Gather to Pay Tribute To New Head Football Coach

Callison Honored at Huge Banquet at Eugene Hotel Last Night

Approximately 350 persons gathered at the Eugene hotel last night to pay tribute to Prince Gary Callison, new head football coach at the University of Oregon. The attendance consisted of townspeople, University officials, and football players. All the speakers on the program lauded the new mentor and expressed the utmost confidence in his ability to produce winning eleven.

Prior to the start of the formal program, the entire football team was introduced. Dean James H. Gilbert and Judge Lawrence T. Harris made the principal speeches, both men praising Oregon's new coach. Brief talks were made by Bill Morgan, captain-elect of the team; Brian Minnaugh, student body president; Dick Neuberger, editor-elect of the Oregon Daily Emerald; Bill Reinhart, head coach of basketball and baseball, and Bez Williams, shy Huntington, and Cal Young, ex-coaches here.

Tom Russell, president of the Eugene chamber of commerce, was toastmaster. Entertainment was provided by the Oregon band, under the direction of John H. Stehn; Vic Meyers' jazz orchestra and a group of Oregon co-eds who presented a lyrical skit entitled, "Julius Caesar."

In addition to the players, the entire coaching staff also was introduced—Jack O'Brien, Gene Shields, Johnny Kitzmiller and Irv Schulz being named before the audience. Because he is confined to Pacific Christian hospital, Colonel William L. Hayward was forced to miss his first football banquet in 29 years, but he sent a message to be read to the group. In his honor several songs were sung by a member of Meyers' band.

Congratulatory telegrams also were read from Captain J. J. McEwan, who preceded Doc Spears as football coach here, and Leo Calland, head coach at Idaho.

'Beggar's Opera' Choruses Picked

Choruses for the "Beggar's Opera," which is to be presented in May by a group of faculty members and students, have just been chosen, and rehearsals will start today at 4 o'clock in Villard hall.

The choruses announced are composed of many well-known on the campus for their participation in musical events. Ken Rodner, who will sing a tenor solo, "Let Us Take the Road" to the tune of Handel's "Rinaldo"; Andrew Fish, Clifford Constance, Robert Horn, John Spittle, Robert Guild, Vinton Hall, George Harrington and Victor Bryant will perform as Mac-heath's gang. S. Stephenson Smith, who plays a speaking role in the "Opera," will also be in this group.

The "ladies of the town," directed by Marie Meyers and Gifford Nash, and Virginia Hilen, Margaret Hammebacher, Norma Chinnock, Esther Kaser, Lorraine Beardsley, Irma Logan, Marjorie Marcus, Mary Jean Warner and Myrtle McDaniel promise novelty in singing and dancing.

Speaking Class Gets Experience

The class in extempore speaking, of which Robert T. Oliver, graduate assistant in the speech division, is instructor, held a banquet at the Anchorage last night in order to give the members practical experience in after-dinner speaking.

Jim Wells, freshman in the law school, was toastmaster. The other men present, and the subjects of their speeches follow: Dick Near, "Which Is the Front?"; Homer Gould, "How Paul Bunyon Would Tell of a Trip to California"; Harry Lucas, "Fishing"; Hank Levoft, "The New American Bar"; Bill Berg, "Is a Third Party Needed?"; Lloyd Humphreys, "Paul Bunyon"; Dan Brassel, "War"; Keith Powers, "Is Handshaking a Business Asset?"; Ralph Williams, "An Imperial Potentate Enters Oriental Politics"; Ted Wittnebel, "House Renting"; and Bob Erickson, "Symphony in Five Dimensions."

John L. Casteel, assistant professor and director of speech division, is planning a similar banquet for his classes some time next week.

House Pairings For Canoe Fete Are Announced

Sigma Hall and Phi Sigs To Work Together

Ten Entries Listed for This Year's Water Spectacle; 2500 Expected

CANOE FETE PAIRINGS

Omega hall - Kappa Kappa Gamma. Alpha Upsilon-Kappa Delta. Sigma Pi Tau-Alpha Delta Pi. Pi Kappa Alpha - Hendricks hall. Phi Kappa Psi-Alpha Gamma Delta. Sigma Alpha Epsilon - Sigma Kappa. Kappa Sigma-Zeta Tau Alpha. Beta Theta Pi-Phi Mu.

Sigma hall-Phi Sigma Kappa. House pairings for the Canoe Fete were made yesterday noon, with Brian Minnaugh, student body president, drawing the names by lot in a public ceremony on the library steps at 10:45.

For what is believed to be the first time in Canoe Fete history, two men's organizations will be paired together in the building of a float. There being two more men's houses entered than women's, it was necessary to hold a preliminary drawing to decide which of the masculine groups should be included with the women's houses for the drawing. As a result, Sigma hall will cooperate with Phi Sigma Kappa in preparing an entry.

Including the queen's float, which will appear first in the procession, 10 entries will be seen in the water spectacle on Saturday, May 8.

Approximately 2,500 people witnessed the Canoe Fete last year and approximately the same number are expected to occupy the bleacher seats this year.

Beards To Gather Tonight at Sophs' Whiskerino Hop

All Varieties To Be Judged At Cocoanut Grove During Shuffle

Red beards, black beards, blue beards, grisy beards, fancy beards, beards of all shapes and sizes will be gathered at the Whiskerino Shuffle tonight when the sophomore class gathers at Cocoanut Grove to dance.

Mike Mikulak and his band of vigilantes will be on hand to see that all the sophomores have hidden features, announced Brute Stauffer, co-chairman with John Adams for the dance. Music will be furnished by Abbie Green's band.

There will be a 50 per cent reduction for those with facial herbage. Those with beards will be admitted for 50 cents while those minus them must pay $1. Contrary to a previous announcement there will be no ticket sale. Tickets must be purchased at the door.

Houses are asked to make table reservations early by calling either Brute Stauffer or John Adams.

The highlight of the evening will be the judging of the beards during an intermission. Prizes will be awarded for the longest, the reddest, the blackest, the blondest, the most unique and the least beard. It is understood that no dyeing is permissible.

The judges for this contest will be Helen Burns, Helen Lee Stanton, Adrienne Sabin, Rosemarv Bertois, Marion Vinson, and Betty Zentner.

Patrons and patronesses are Doctor and Mrs. Robnett, Mr. and Mrs. Arne Rae, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Horn.

Sport clothes are absolutely necessary, Stauffer declared.

Electric Lights Installed In Cal's Summer Home

PLYMOUTH, Vt., April 14—(AP)—The kerosene lamps by light of which the late John Coolidge administered the oath of office as president to his son, Calvin, nine years ago, no longer will serve in the Coolidge summer home.

Modern workmen, skilled in modern methods of lighting, today began the task of supplanting the domestic illumination of another era. They are wiring the century-old farm house and will install a small electric plant.

Intelligence Test For New Students To Be Held Today

THE psychological examination required of all freshmen and transfer students entering the University this term will be administered at 4 o'clock today in room 101 Condon hall. Every entering student should be there, for failure to take the examination will automatically result in cancellation of registration. Any student wishing to repeat the test may do so by calling the personnel research bureau before 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Queen Aspirants To Be Introduced In Campus Parade

Roadsters To Carry Ten Candidates at 12:40 Next Wednesday

Ten princesses of beauty, candidates for the regal throne of Junior Prom Queen, will be introduced to the student body next Wednesday, April 20, when 10 sleek roadsters will bear the nominees through the campus to the accompaniment of blaring horns, between 12:40 and 1 o'clock.

Every candidate will be seated up on the back seat of her automobile, Lindbergh fashion, and the cars will be plainly placarded with the names of the candidates, announced John Hare, who will make arrangements for the providing cars and organizing the procession, and Isabelle Crowell, chairman for the election of the queen.

The parade will form at 19th and Alder, move down Alder street, through the campus on Thirteenth, up past the men's dormitory, and back again.

The candidates are Mary Ellen Bradford, Frances Drake, Dorothy Hall, Mary Lou Muncy, Thelma Rice, Edith Sinnett, Freda Stadler, Marjorie Swafford, and Mary Jean Warner.

Senate Prohibition Vote Assured by Leaders

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—Prohibition hearings regarded as a prelude to a senate vote on the issue before a committee today with a packed audience of women spectators applauding attacks on the liquor laws.

Most of them were members of the women's organization for national prohibition reform which is meeting here. One of the witnesses was Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the organization. The friends of prohibition will be heard later.

Both wet and dry senate leaders have agreed on a prohibition test at this session. It is expected to be on a proposed constitutional amendment probably similar to that already defeated in the house. There also are a number of measures pending to legalize beer.

Sixty Will Go to Newport Today

Sixty students will leave today and tomorrow morning for the annual Wesley club retreat, which will take place at Newport this weekend. The general theme for the event as announced by Donald Saunders, president, is "Religion, the Dynamic of Creative Living."

Rev. Cecil F. Ristow, pastor of the First Methodist church, will deliver a sermon on the beach Sunday morning. Sunday afternoon the students will visit the light-house and return to Eugene in time to stop over at Corvallis to be guests of the Oregon State college Wesley Foundation.

Dr. E. W. Warrington, professor of religion at Oregon State college, who recently spoke here at a meeting sponsored by the Student Christian council, will be the speaker at the Corvallis meeting.

Charles G. Howard, professor of law, John L. Casteel, director of the speech division, and Dorothy A. Nyland, director of the Wesley foundation, will be discussion leaders at the affair. In the absence of Mr. Ristow, Max Adams, University pastor, will preach the sermon at the morning services of the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday.

LOMAX IN PORTLAND

Alfred L. Lomax, professor of business administration, will attend a meeting of the foreign trade board to be held at the Benson hotel in Portland today. The board will convene to plan spring term examinations for those interested in foreign trade.

Green Will Be New Managing Editor of Paper

Neuberger Makes First Emerald Appointment

Minnaugh, Duniway, Shaw Comment Choice of New Head

The appointment of Sterling Green of Portland as managing editor of the Oregon Daily Emerald for the 1932-33 school year was announced last night by Dick Neuberger, newly-elected editor of the campus newspaper.

Sterling Green

Shaw, present respective holders of the editor and managing editor posts. The appointment also was commended by Brian Minnaugh, student body president.

Neuberger said he and Green would start next week to form the organization for the coming year. The upper staff members will be appointed as soon as is expedient and they will be consulted before the other positions are appointed.

Green has had experience on several weekly newspapers and has made a remarkable record in two years on the Emerald staff. While not in school last year, Green es-

Construction Head Issues Call for Yearling Class Support

Actual construction work on the Frosh Glee, annual all-campus free dance, slated for tomorrow night, was launched yesterday under the supervision of Hartley Kneeland, construction chairman. First steps on the erection of the novel orchestra platform were completed successfully, but Kneeland stated that he would need a more enthusiastic response from class members in the further construction work.

Down-town merchants have cooperated in advertising for the dance, which is to be a strictly sportswear affair, and an unusually large attendance is guaranteed by Walter Gray, general chairman for the dance.

Decorations have been arranged through a Portland novelty firm and will be handled under the direction of Jeff Howard.

The dance this year will inaugurate the spring season and will be carried out along the yachting motif. This year is the first time that the Glee has been given in the spring and is hoped to set a precedent for a novel tradition.

A formal welcome has been extended by Howard Steib, class president, to the campus as a whole.

The dance will commence at 9 o'clock. The music is by Abbie Green and his "Midnite Sons."

Tuttle To Talk Before Congregational Church

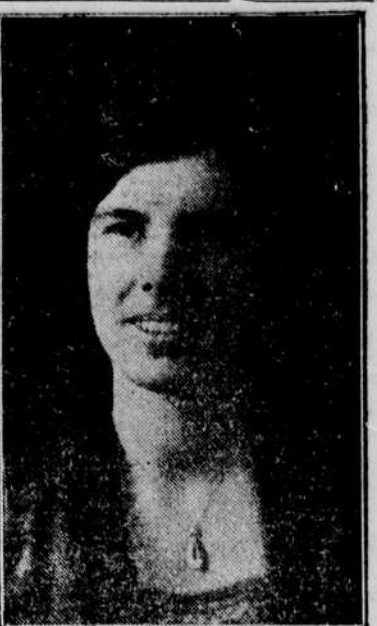

Professor Harold Tuttle of the school of education will address the Congregational church Sunday morning at 11 on the topic, "The Discovery of Happiness—A Revision of the Puritan Tradition."

Dr. S. H. Jameson, professor of sociology, will speak at the 10 o'clock hour on the topic, "The Influence of Tradition on Religious Ideas."

Seven Men Must Come Before New Tradition Court

THE FOLLOWING men are requested to appear before the court of traditions today at 12:35 at the men's gym: Bob Johnson, Tom Thompson, Stanley Klein, Dick Neuberger, Tallent Greenough, Grant Thummel, George Linn. Members of the court of traditions are also asked to be present at this time.

Peace Worker

Miss Eleanor Doddridge Brannon, associate secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, who spoke last night at International house, yesterday morning at 11 o'clock before Dr. John R. Mez's class in international organization and world politics, and Wednesday night at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow.

Abolition Possible For All Weapons, Believes Speaker

Eleanor Brannon Talks on Disarmament Problem At Open Meeting

"The abolition of all aggressive weapons is within our reach," declared Eleanor Doddridge Brannon of Washington, D. C., associate secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, in a speech on "The Challenge of the World Disarmament Conference" yesterday morning in Guild theatre before an open meeting of Dr. John R. Mez's class in international organization and world politics.

"This was proposed by the Italian delegation and endorsed by many others," Miss Brannon said. "It would mean that all nations do away now with preparations for poison gas and germ warfare, with military aircraft, battleships, submarines, heavy artillery, and tanks. Such abolition would be a long step toward real disarmament."

Miss Brannon gave several imperative reasons for the success of the World Disarmament conference.

"If competition in armaments is allowed to continue," she said, "it will inevitably end in another world war. Then, too, the gigantic waste of money spent on arms, amounting last year to four and one-half billions of dollars, for all nations, is driving us all deeper into the slough of economic depression and despair."

Another reason is that the Allies' failure to redeem their pledge of disarmament made to Germany in 1919 has caused such resentment there that, unless this conference begins to carry out the pledge, the Germans will insist upon re-arming to the level of the nations which surround them.

Miss Brannon also stressed the necessity of the United States becoming a member of the League of Nations.

The campus International Relations club had Miss Brannon as a guest at its first regular meeting of the term last night at International house.

Gathering Places Of Nazis Raided

BERLIN, April 14—(AP)—Police raided 150 gathering places of the National Socialist "storm troops" today carrying out President Von Hindenburg's order for dissolution of the organization.

Adolf Hitler told the Associated Press in an interview that the government's order would not put an end to the existence of the storm troops.

"We'll be back 600,000 strong," he said. "Our storm troops were suppressed once before when we had only 20,000. When the ban was lifted we had 60,000."

"I tell you that we'll get eight to nine million votes in the Prussian elections on the 24th. Together with Hugenberg's Nationalists we'll take over the power and the ban on the troopers will be lifted."

In a statement to his troopers Hitler denounced the order of suppression as "a last blow of despair" by the government, and named April 24, the date of the Prussian diet election, as "retaliation day."

"Our answer," he said, "will not be a parade but a sweeping finishing stroke. As long as I live I belong to you and you belong to me."

'O.K.' Meyers Great Fellow, Campus Learns

Vic Becomes Collegiate After Interview

Personality Mayor Tells of Campaign, Queries About Football

By CAROL HURLBURT

"O. K." Vic Meyers, personality mayor from Seattle, made his famous answer and with it turned collegiate... the result a free dance last night at Cocoanut Grove, through the courtesy of Joe Sims, owner of the Grove, to which every member of the campus was invited.

It all grew out of an interview. Bill Duniway and I tore down to the Eugene hotel to meet Vic. He's a great guy. Took us up to his room, showed us his press clippings, told us about his campaign, smoked a cigarette with us, (in fact, he lights one cigarette from another) asked about our football team. And then Russ Dickson appeared upon the scene. The Betas wanted a serenade.

Serenade? What's That? Vic didn't seem to know what a serenade was. "How would you work it?" he asked. "Wouldn't there be too much noise that time of night?"

"Which is the largest fraternity house on the campus? Why couldn't you get some students there after dinner and we could play for them before the dance tonight at Midway?"

Fine! "What about Cocoanut Grove?" suggested Duniway. So Cocoanut Grove it turned out to be. You know the rest. What a man! But what kind of a man, you ask. What does he look like? What did he say?

He looks like a Spaniard, swarthy, very black hair, heavy black eye-brows, a black mustache that should be the envy of every college senior, a nose that looks like a prize-fighter's, short square hands, blunt finger-nails. Wore a well-tailored light grey suit, striped; soft blue shirt, bright blue figured tie. Picture of a cosmopolitan, interesting.

Registration Open For U. O. Voters

Students eligible to vote at the coming primary election will have the opportunity to register at booths at Johnson hall Monday and Tuesday, it was announced yesterday by Brian Minnaugh.

The registration will be under the direction of Orville Bailey and Melvin McConnell. These men will be deputized by County Clerk W. B. Dillard, it was said by Minnaugh.

Members of the speakers committee will visit all living organizations within the next few days to tell of the process of and need for registration as a voter. The time for the visits will be announced later.

State law provides that to be eligible to vote a citizen must be registered with the county clerk of the county in which he is a resident. Students who are residents of other counties than Lane may vote here for state and national officers, but will not be eligible to for local officers of Lane county.

House Libraries Will Be Founded

Lists of preferred books and magazines will be compiled by each living organization for use in establishing libraries in all residences, it was announced yesterday following the meeting of committees representing the Oregon Mothers and campus groups.

A composite list of books and magazines based on the preferences of the individual groups will be used in purchasing books and subscribing to periodicals, it is planned. This would make obtaining wholesale prices possible, it is believed.

The tentative plans call for periodical libraries in each house, permanent collections of books in the residences and possibly a set of books to circulate from the library among the living groups.

Members of the Oregon Mothers committee are Mrs. F. W. Bond, president; Mrs. Walter Cook and Mrs. J. F. Hill, all of Portland. Mrs. Alice B. Macduff and Dean Karl Onthank represent the faculty on the committee.
