Hal Hoss To Talk At Political Meet

Oregon students, who have evidenced more interest in national, state and local politics this year than ever before as shown by the large registration figures on the campus, will be given a chance to take in a real political gathering next Thursday evening, when the Young Republicans organization of Eugene will meet to hear Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state and a candidate to succeed himself.

The meeting will be held at 6 o'clock at the Lee-Duke cafe, and all students interested in joining the organization or in hearing Mr. Hoss are requested to get in touch with Bob Fisher, president of the group, at telephone 1200. Any call after 7 o'clock in the evening will reach him.

Faculty To Show 'Outward Bound'

"Outward Bound," the audible cinema version of the famous New York stage success, will be the next offering of the faculty club at the Colonial theatre Thursday.

The picture is said to be even more effective than the stage play, since atmospheric effects are more easily obtained by the camera and microphone. An all-star cast, production of the highest type and the gripping story combine to make this an outstanding film in every way, it is stated by S. Stephenson Smith, chairman of the faculty cinema club.

The picture will have three showings as usual, the first starting at 2 o'clock.

about the pines, and this was perfectly natural, as he had collected plants all along on his previous trip. So we began looking for a possible site as we approached Marshfield, and continued this search uninterruptedly as we reached the north bank on leaving the ferry. After proceeding about twelve miles we came to land that just answered his description, so we both got out of the auto and examined the bank carefully for about 100 yards, he to the left, I to the right.

"After repeating this five times in the rain, we came to a spot and he exclaimed, 'There it is!' It was the very plant, as I found the branch from which he had broken the twig. A few hasty glances, and I saw it was not a new species, but a most peculiar hybrid!

"That this may now be understandable to the botanist, I must

Campus Will See Students Dashing To Seven O'clock

EARLY campus visitors need not be unduly alarmed by thinking that their watches are an hour slow if they should perchance see several students tearing towards Villard hall about 6:45 these bright mornings.

The reason for this radical departure from accepted campus custom is that the 1 o'clock class of the Introduction to Literature class has been changed to 7 in the morning.

Members of the class will have grounds for contesting cruelty on the basis of non-support due to the fact that several of them have to miss their breakfasts. Shaving is definitely out of the question.

use some technical terms," he explained. "One species, the kinnikinnick (arctostaphylos uva-ursi) has uncute or wedge-shaped leaves less than an inch long; its flowers are pink, and its ovary to the fruit is glabrous, or smooth. Arctostaphylos columbiana has wider, oval, lighter colored leaves, one to two inches long; the flowers are white, the ovary or young fruit, is hairy to woolly. The first is a creeping plant; the second is an upright bush, two to six feet high.

"This hybrid was trailing but about a foot high. It had oblong, dark colored leaves about one to two inches long, varying to long wedge-shaped; the flowers were white-pink, and the ovary hairy; there was no sign of fruit. I have never seen nor heard of such a hybrid manzanita before, but this is more a hybrid than a new species, but just as remarkable."

League Assembly Seeks Armistice

GENEVA, April 18.—(AP)—The League of Nations assembly committee of 19 today decided tentatively to form a mixed commission of Japanese, Chinese, American, British, French and Italian representatives at Shanghai, to exert every effort to bring armistice negotiations between the Japanese and Chinese to a successful conclusion.

The committee was unwilling to fix a date for Japanese evacuation and remained divided upon the extent of the authority to be given the proposed mixed commission.

Irish, Spanish, Swiss and Czech members of the committee of 19 wished to empower the commission to fix an evacuation date, but Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, opposed that plan, saying the United States might object.

The final formula now rests with the drafting committee.

Ristow, pastor of the First Methodist church, will present his answer to this question before a meeting of the campus chapter of the League for Industrial Democracy. ### GRAYSON ELIGIBLE, CAMPUS OFFICIALS CLAIM son was a member of the Jefferson squad and was given No. 154, but a complete investigation through clippings and files failed to bring out any evidence that Grayson actually had participated in the race.

Sterling Green, now assistant managing editor of the Emerald, who was No. 155 on the Jefferson squad in 1928, says he is certain Grayson did not participate. Virgil D. Earl, who ran off the meet that year, says he does not remember Grayson competing in particular.

Dick Neuberger, editor-elect of the Emerald and Oregonian correspondent, went through the files and was unable to find any stories telling that Grayson actually had seen action in the meet, which was held on April 28, and wired George R. Grayson, father of the athlete, to that effect.

It is rumored that Grant is the school protesting Grayson. Should it be proved that he did participate in the Oregon meet, the Jefferson flash will be ineligible for track this year. Upon the ruling of the league will depend the fate of the entire Jefferson team, for Grayson is its keyman. He recently ran the 100 in 10 seconds flat, and holds the state low-hurdle record. Experts confidently predict he will hit 9.9 before the season is ended. Grayson also is an outstanding football player, leading the Portland league in scoring for two successive years. He is a triple-threat halfback.

Senate O.K.'s Million Dollar Cut in Dry Fund

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—The senate today almost unanimously approved a million dollar cut in the $11,000,000 prohibition enforcement fund but the prohibitionists rallied to overwhelm two proposals for deeper reductions.

Senator Johnson (R., Calif.), stirred up the first prohibition battle of the session with a proposal to cut the enforcement fund to $5,125,000, "in the interest of economy."

Dry leaders assailed the drastic cut and after a brief flurry defeated the motion, 42 to 17.

Ban on Short Selling Vital, Whitney Affirms

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP) Testimony the New York stock market would have been forced to close when England went off the gold standard if short selling had not been prohibited temporarily was given to the senate banking committee today by Richard Whitney, president of the exchange.

The statement was drawn from Whitney near the close of a long day of spirited cross-examination, but the stock exchange president would not agree the ban on short selling was ordered because of a fear the bears would demoralize the market.

He insisted the prohibitory rule was adopted to make the shorts buy to cover and thus provide a bolstering factor in the market.

"Sky Devils" at McDonald
Howard Hughes comes to the fore again. This time it is "Sky Devils," a comedy thriller of the World War vintage. Spencer Tracy, William Boyd (of the stage) and Ann Dvorak, latest of Hollywood's late sensations play in the title roles.

All the thrills of a picture of this type are used and many more. An unusual feature is the insertion of a cute little "Rumble Seat" scene during the height of the excitement while bombs are bursting far below.

When one "dumb cluck" meets another "dumb cluck" in the hotel room of a sweet little bit of nonsense in France during the war there is bound to be something doing. The two "dumb clucks" get into all sorts of scrapes over their "almost won and lonely." The audience is alternately snickering, shaking and—ah—er—shall we say blushing?

Ann Dvorak handles her role well; she not only affords a real treat of silken legs and whatnot but she has a smile that knocks 'em all out. Additional comedy is furnished by half-pint George Cooper who only asks for an airplane and a couple of bombs to play around with to put any audience in delirium tremens.

Characteristic of Hugh's directing, "Sky Devils," has a huge array of spirited cross-examination, which is impressive and breathtaking.

"Miss Leading Lady," is the title of the picture which is coming to the McDonald Wednesday for two days.

"Guilty Hands" at Colonial

"Guilty Hands," starring Lionel Barrymore, is as the title suggests, a mystery picture with a corking murder in it. In this picture Barrymore is conceded to have reached a new height in cinema circles.

New Tax Program On Gas, Electricity Eliminates Levies

Auto Magnates Say Tariff On Motor Industry Is 'Blow at Wages'

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP) A billion dollar tax program differing in several important particulars from that submitted to the house ways and means committee was sent to the senate today by Secretary Mills of the treasury.

An optimistic outlook for governmental economy, the secretary reported, had enabled him to eliminate entirely the taxes he had proposed on gas and electricity and to recommend a federal gasoline tax of three-fourths of a cent rather than one cent a gallon.

The automobile industry told the committee, through George M. Graham of the Rockne Motors corporation, its spokesman, that the tax would be "a direct blow at the nation's wages."

Leading figures in the automobile business including Edsel Ford, Walter P. Chrysler and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, were present as Graham attacked the tax of three, two and one per cent respectively on pleasure cars, trucks, and tires, parts

"Smart Women," featuring Robert Ames and Mary Astor, is coming Wednesday for two days.

Prof. Dunn To Address Masons in Portland

Frederic S. Dunn, head of the Latin department, will address the Mid-Day lodge of A. F. & A. M. at a dinner in Portland tonight on Masonic origins and will assist the lodge in organizing a system of research and investigation.

While in Portland Mr. Dunn expects to address the Classical club of teachers on the subject, "From Temple Pediment to Cathedral Canvas." This address will be a repetition of one which he delivered last June before a joint meeting of the NEA and the American Classical league. The theory of the relation of classical art and more recent art which Mr. Dunn will present is an interpretation developed by him.
