

Cinder Contest Between State Foes on Slate

Oregon-O.S.C. Big Meet To Be Saturday

Webfeet Hold Slight Edge; One up on Athletics From Corvallis

Oregon's "big meet" is scheduled for this Saturday when Colonel Bill Hayward will take his Webfeet cinder-men to Corvallis to tangle with Alonzo Stiner's Orangemen. Early season records of the two squads are about even with the Webfeet holding a slight edge in comparative scores, having held the championship University of Washington aggregation to a 77 to 54 score while the Beavers bowed to the Huskies, 92 to 38. The Oregon State squad staged a comeback last Saturday, however, when it held the strong W. S. C. squad to a 71 to 60 score.

Gil Bergerson

The Webfeet already hold one victory over the Aggie on the track this year, having won five events to three in a dual relay meet three weeks ago. The Oregon Staters have hopes of avenging this defeat Saturday with the aid of their strong entry list in the field events.

Come Through, Al

Although the Beavers have a number of good runners, the backbone of their squad lies in the field events, particularly in the weights. Bergerson in the shot put, Anderson in the discus, and Everett Davis in the javelin throw have all been consistently throwing further than any one else in the northern

Senate Heads Renew Relief Compromise Tilt

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—Senate leaders renewed efforts today for a compromise federal relief program and hurriedly gave assurance of action as a warning of a third party movement was sounded on the floor of this issue.

The warning, from Senator Borah (R., Idaho), who has been frequently mentioned in connection with third party possibilities, drew a prompt reply from Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, that congress would provide for the jobless before adjourning.

Bill Would Eliminate First-Class Postmaster

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—Charging the postoffice department had been used primarily for political purposes by the Hoover administration, Representative Maas (Republican, Minnesota) today introduced a bill to abolish all first-class postmasters and salaries.

Maas said the work of the postmasters was done by their assistants or the superintendents of mail.

Asserting in a formal statement the measure was in the interest of economy and would save $10,000,000 a year, the Minnesotan added it "will eliminate the worst feature of the spoils system in political patronage."

Greed, Atheism, Are Denounced by Pope

VATICAN CITY, May 18.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI warned the world today against greed, atheism, communism and nationalistic imperialism, threatening anarchy and terrorism in this time of "spiritual and economic distress."

Treaties and conferences are in vain, he said in an encyclical, unless "there triumphs moral law based on God and conscience." Speculators had caused much woe and from "so much economic distress" communists and "enemies of all social order" profited.

DOLLAR FUNERAL HELD

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., May 18.—(AP)—Impressive funeral services were held today for Captain Robert Dollar in the First Presbyterian church while 2,000 persons stood outside and heard the services through amplifiers.

Sylv's Caught Paavo at Last; They're Married

AHO, Finland, May 18.—(AP)—Paavo Nurmi, Finland's great distance runner, married Miss Sylvi Laaksonen, today at a private ceremony attended only by relatives and close friends. The wedding climaxed a friendship of many years. Miss Laaksonen, popular in Aho, said she would not object to Paavo's continuing his running career, "so long as he doesn't run after the girls."

Nurmi is under suspension by the International Athletic Federation on a charge of having accepted excessive expense money. An effort is being made to obtain his reinstatement that he may compete for Finland in the Olympic Games at Los Angeles this summer.

Baxter, Bryant, Barron Soloists In 'The Creation'

Bryson Names Students To Take Lead in Choir Concert Sunday

Christine Baxter, Victor Bryant, and George Barron will fill the coveted solo roles in the presentation of "The Creation" to be given by the second division of the Polyphonic choir next Sunday, it was announced yesterday by Roy Bryson, choir director.

The second division of the choir, numbering 140 voices, is to close a successful year with Hadyn's famous oratorio. The program will be held in the music auditorium, beginning at 3 o'clock, with no admission charge.

Miss Baxter, soprano soloist, has been a student of Arthur Boardman's for two years, coming here as a post-graduate from the Fresno State Teachers' college. Sunday's performance will be her first appearance as soloist.

It will also be the first appearance for Victor Bryant, tenor, who has studied with Arthur Boardman for the past year; but George Barron, basso, is a veteran of several years standing. He has been three times a soloist with the Polyphonic choir, including the Portland concert of April, and has appeared in two recitals.

Robert Gould, organist, will accompany the choir.

"The Creation," which rivals Handel's "Messiah" for oratorio popularity, has not been performed in Eugene since it was given by the Eugene Oratorio society two years ago. A capacity crowd is expected to hear the program Sunday, judging by the number of people who were turned away from the crowded auditorium when the Polyphonic gave its last concert, at the end of winter term.

Candidates Oppose Consolidation Plan

Events assumed a different outlook in the proposal of the Marion County Tax Equalization league to move the University to Corvallis, with the announcement yesterday by James Burdett, newly elected president of the State Tax Equalization and Conservation league, that he was personally not in favor of the consolidation move.

Burdett emphatically denied the recent statement by C. C. Hulet that he was prominently identified with the movement and stated that he could see no value in physical consolidation.

"It seems to me it is an extravagant plan which would increase rather than decrease the burdens of the taxpayer," he said. The matter has not come up in the state league, according to Burdett.

Alfred E. Clark, candidate for the United States senate, and James W. Mott, candidate for congress, who were in Eugene with Burdett, were also both outspoken in their declarations that they are opposed to the proposed plan.

Two Grads Running

Among the candidates seeking political nomination at the polls tomorrow are two Oregon graduates, Walter Dillard, '00, present county clerk, and candidate for reelection to that office, and Frank B. Reid, who graduated from the University law school in 1928, and is out for the office of district attorney.

Hall Will Deliver Address at Igloo Sunday, June 12

Commencement Feature To Be Fine Arts Building Dedication

Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall will deliver the University baccalaureate sermon Sunday, June 12, in McArthur court on the subject, "Not by bread alone."

The place for holding the service has been shifted from the Methodist church to McArthur court in order to accommodate a larger crowd, it was explained. All city churches have been invited to suspend their regular services in order that the congregation may be able to attend the baccalaureate. Special music for the occasion will be provided by the polyphonic choir.

A feature of this year's commencement program will be the dedication of the new Fine Arts building as a memorial to the late Prince L. Campbell. The exercises will be held Saturday afternoon, June 11, and distinguished visitors, authorities on art, and members of the state board of higher education will be present.

The historic flower and fern procession is planned for the women's

Battalion Parade Last Appearance Of Monkey Suits

The battalion ceremony held yesterday afternoon marked the last wearing of the R. O. T. C. uniforms for this year. At 8 o'clock this morning the military department will start taking in the uniforms and returning the money deposited on them at the first of the year. They may be returned any day from now until the end of the term.

Sergeant Conyers, veteran army officer, who has been stationed here for many years, stated that the battalion ceremonies show a great improvement each year.

"Years ago," he said, "it was no uncommon sight to see a student break ranks to tip his hat to a girl friend. This improvement is largely due to the great improvement in the senior officers in command."

The military department has announced the promotions of senior officers. Captain Clifford S. Beckett is to be a colonel.

Captains James O. Hughes and Joseph W. Johnston are to be lieutenant colonels, while new majors will be Captains Charles K. Bishop, Ira W. Brown, Wayne H. Emmott, Robert Gaylord O'Melveny, and George H. Pratt.

Two-Piano Program Feature Of Tonight's Student Concert

Eight Students Will Display Pianistic Talents in Concert

Eight piano students of Jane Thacher are to appear in a two-piano recital at the music auditorium this evening. It is announced from the music school. A recital program consisting almost entirely of two-piano numbers is unusual enough, but the program tonight includes two compositions that are outstanding even in the two-piano field.

Mrs. Maude Stehn and Margaret Atwood are to open their group of selections with Ravel's "Mother Goose" suite. These are a series of short compositions, originally written as piano duets to amuse some young friends of the French composer. They have become universally popular and have been played by many of the world's leading symphonies.

Included in the suite is one musical episode descriptive of the old fairy tale of "Beauty and the

Lindbergh Laid Trap for Curtis Police Reveal

Subtle Maneuvers Lead To Confession

Long Island Bootlegger Also Aided Unmasking, Authorities State

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 18.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh took the lead in a subtle series of maneuvers to obtain the hoax confession from John Hughes Curtis.

The complete story as revealed today showed that Colonel Lindbergh first set the trap for Curtis Thursday night when he was informed by radio his baby had been found dead. He casually requested the Norfolk "intermediary" to accompany him back here where the police finished the job.

Another queer angle entered the case when it was learned from Mineola, N. Y., that Inspector Harold R. King of the Nassau county police escorted a Long Island bootlegger to Hopewell Tuesday morning to aid in the unmasking of Curtis. He said this unnamed man confronted Curtis with a charge of "double crossing" in another matter, but Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf denied this move was necessary.

The bootlegger's story as related to Inspector King accused the Virginia shipbuilder of accepting a substantial sum of money from him last December with an under-

Oscar Wilde Play Ready for First Showing Friday

'Lady Windermere's Fan' To Be Presented at Guild Theatre

Dress rehearsals and final touches to the stage setting occupy the two days that remain before "Lady Windermere's Fan" will be ready for campus presentation by the Guild theatre players on Friday night.

The town has been frantically searched by members of the technical staff to obtain properties to furnish the three entirely different sets which the four-act comedy calls for. Although the original production had the "gay nineties" for a background, the University presentation will have a modern setting.

Members of the technical staff, announced by George Andrieni, director, are: Crissie Burlingame, stage manager; Burt Coan and George Moser, lighting; Geneva Barr and Lucille Stewart, properties; Marjory Schaefer, costumes. The gay comedy of English society, considered Oscar Wilde's

Highway Board Awards Wallula Road Contract

PORTLAND, Ore., May 18.—(AP)—Construction of the Wallula cut-off, an important link in the transcontinental highway system, was assured today with the award of contracts for the work by the Oregon state highway commission.

Construction of the cut-off has been under discussion for years and has long been wanted by the federal bureau of roads because it ties in with transcontinental traffic.

The cut-off, the commission said, will shorten the distance between Portland and Walla Walla 60 miles and between Portland and Spokane 40 miles. Federal aid money will be used on the project.

Charley Bets On Borah Against The Holy Father

Papal or Progressive?

Prayer, penance and mortification are needed to save the world, declared the pope yesterday, OK, sez I, but I'd rather have thought, cooperation and action. Less spiritual, but more practical.

The holy father called for eight days absence from entertainment; the proceeds to go to the poor. Borah asked for half a billion to feed the hungry. And backed up his request with a third party threat. Score one for Borah.

The pope blamed the mess on nationalism, unequal distribution of wealth, revolt against God and communism. Which are as fine a bunch of reasons as any I've heard.

But wasn't Christ a communist? Historically, WEBFOOT CHARLEY

Politicians' Plans Disturbed as Ban Is Put on Dances

PLANS of political bosses and aspirants for class offices went astray yesterday when it was announced from the office of Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, that mid-week political dances are taboo.

It seems that the University has a ruling that the social calendar is open to dances on week-ends only. This does not ban all political meetings.

Music also is not barred. But this music may not be used for dancing.

Advisers To Help Students Fill Out Possible Courses

Tentative Schedules Aimed To Settle Doubts About Changes

To clarify any misunderstanding on the part of students in regard to courses next year, advisers have been delegated by the University administration to confer with all freshmen, sophomores, and juniors for the next ten days.

Since the recent shake-up in the curriculum of Oregon State college and the University of Oregon, many erroneous reports have been circulating concerning the courses to be offered next year. Fewer changes will take place than these reports imply, asserts Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration.

Since the students were not certain what courses could be obtained here next year, faculty advisers at a meeting last Thursday decided to devote two weeks before the end of school to clearing up all doubts.

Blanks have been sent out to all advisers, on which the students' study program for next year will be made out tentatively. These blanks may be retained by the students and will save them time registering in the fall, when it will be necessary only to obtain the adviser's signature if the courses remain unchanged.

Special office hours will be kept by all advisers until May 27. Appointments may be made with department secretaries or with the advisers themselves.

Representation In Student Forum To Be Discussed

Law School, More Groups May Be Represented In Parliament

Final petitions from organizations wishing representation in the student parliament will be heard by the rules and credentials committee in an open meeting in 104 Journalism building at 5 o'clock this afternoon, it was announced yesterday by Wallace Campbell, chairman.

The problem of faculty representatives in the parliament will be considered and it is expected that a decision will be reached both as to number of representatives and who they will be. Some talk of having two faculty members in the parliament has been heard.

Representation for the law school student body and for graduates will also be considered. It is hoped that these groups will be heard at the meeting. Further petitions from honoraries will possibly be heard.

Sigma Delta Chi Again To Sponsor 'The Front Page'

Sigma Delta Chi will again sponsor tonight its showing of "The Front Page," fast-moving newspaper picture which packed the house last night at the Colonial theatre.

The feature of last night's performance was the hit made by the feature numbers presented by the journalistic fraternity. The Max trio, three lasses who fairly exude rhythm, scored a real hit. This act was followed by Theta Chi boys, a pair of specialty artists, who almost stopped the show. Four encores were demanded, and it was several minutes before the audience was quiet enough to permit Rush Hughes, master of ceremonies, to go on with the show.

The performance will be retained intact tonight, with members of Sigma Delta Chi handling the ticket sale.

The feature picture, presenting Adolphe Menjou as the suave editor of a hard-boiled newspaper, Pat O'Brien, Mary Brian, Edward Everett Horton and Slim Summerville, was likewise well received.

Houses Are Urged To Fight Measure

A plea for activity by the Interfraternity council and its member organizations to forestall the initiative measure for consolidation of the University of Oregon and Oregon State college, was made at the meeting of the council yesterday by Alexander G. Brown, alumni secretary.

The expense of providing additional classrooms and housing facilities at Corvallis was cited by Brown as one of the arguments against the action. He also pointed spirit of the University student body in event the consolidation was carried through.

Plans for the Interfraternity council dance to be held Wednesday night at the Beta Theta Pi house were developed. Preston Gunther, secretary, was named chairman of the committee in charge. Other members are Al Brown, Walt Evans, and John Creech.

Senate Votes Out Beer for Revenue

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—The billion-dollar tax bill was firmly closed today by the senate against beer for revenue, but tonight its four tariff items presented a new obstacle.

In overwhelming and decisive votes, the first beer tests since national prohibition, the senate refused to legalize either 2.75 or 4 per cent beer as a means of financing a $1,500,000,000 public construction bond issue.

Reaching the tariff provisions—oil, coal, copper and lumber—the members debated for hours as leaders took careful polls. Retention of all four items was predicted at adjournment tonight with a vote due tomorrow.

Music of Today' Is Lecture Subject

Abbie Greene will offer some hot jazz numbers as a feature of "the lecture on 'Jazz, the Music of Today,'" given by S. Stephenson Smith in Villard assembly at 11 this morning.

The relation of jazz music to modernistic art and literature will be discussed by Mr. Smith in his lecture and together with the features of jazz music and blues singing by Sally Adleman, promises to be of genuine interest.

As each person enters he will pay a dime, which will be used to help finance the Oregon tennis squad's trip to Seattle this weekend to meet the University of Washington team.
