Alpha Phi Entertains Tonight

Alpha Phi will entertain this evening with an informal dance at the chapter house using blue iris and candlelight to add charm to the rooms. Colored flood lights will enhance the beauty of the terrace.

The patrons include Mrs. Alta Wall, Dr. and Mrs. Schwering, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gage, Mr. and Mrs. George Hopkins, and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Rae.

Wesley Club Gives Banquet

Members of the Wesley club entertained the seniors at a banquet Friday evening at the First Methodist Episcopal church. The decorations followed a silhouette idea, with "Outward Bound" as the motif. Ships in black and white added atmosphere to the program, which had been arranged by Jack Bellinger, in charge of the banquet.

Donald Saunders, president of the organization, was toastmaster, and Professor Charles G. Howard was the principal speaker. Other toasts were given by Helen Carlson, Jack Bellinger, Dorothy Nyland, Wallace Campbell, and Margaret Atwood.

Musical selections were given by Nellie Franklin, Frances Brockman, and Edith Grim.

Engagement Is Announced At Dinner

The engagement of Alice Griswold to Milo Marlatt was announced Thursday evening at dinner at the Sigma Kappa house and at the Sigma Pi Tau house. Miss Griswold is a junior in business administration and Mr. Marlatt is a senior in architecture. Both are from Eugene.

While Sigma Pi Tau serenaders sang the sweetheart song at the dining room windows, the girls at the Sigma Kappa sorority unrolled tiny parchment scrolls with the names of the betrothed. The table was decorated with pink roses, and each girl found a corsage of Cecil Broomer roses at her place. Members of the fraternity were entertained for dessert and dancing.

The wedding date has not been set.

Junior-Senior Banquet Will Be Sunday

The annual Junior-Senior banquet given by the Y. W. C. A. will be given Sunday morning at Gerlinger hall. The room will be decorated with flowers. Amie Sten is toastmistress of the banquet. Toasts will be given by Marian Chapman, Ann Baum, Daphne Hughes, and Margaret Edmunson.

Musical numbers will be given by Sally Adleman and Marie Neese. Jean Failing is in charge of the banquet.

Alpha Delta Pi Entertains

Colored flood lights, flowers, and palm trees are being used to beautify the setting for the formal to be given tonight at the Alpha Delta Pi house.

The patrons are Mr. and Mrs. Max Adams, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Packard, Mr. and Mrs. Arne Rae, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hobi, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Warner, Mr. and Mrs. George Hopkins, and Mrs. Lucy Perkins.

Barn Dance Feature of This Evening

Phi Kappa Psi will entertain this evening with a barn dance to be given at Stevens' barn near Springfield. Decorations will be carried with a hard-time idea featuring a slide and bales of hay for benches.

Patrons include Professor Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hardy, and Mr. and Mrs. MacKilt-rick.

Buffet Supper Is Event Of Evening

This evening at the Delta Gamma house they are entertaining with a buffet supper and dance from four until seven. Yellow flowers will be used about the rooms, and will make a background for the spring organdies which will be worn by the girls.

The patrons are Mr. and Mrs. Rex Underwood, Dr. and Mrs. Schwering, Mrs. Katherine Yerex, Mrs. Rose Osborne, and Mrs. L. Russell.

Kappa Delta Will Entertain

Kappa Delta will entertain Saturday evening with a spring informal dance at the chapter house. Lavender flood lights and palms will decorate the rooms. Freda Stadter is in charge.

Patrons and patronesses will be Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Shumaker, Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Pallett, and Mrs. Alberta Powell.

Radio Dance Given This Evening

Pi Kappa Alpha is entertaining tonight with an informal radio dance at the chapter house.

The patrons include Mr. and Mrs. Prink Callison, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cutler, and Mrs. Malcolm Macduff.

Delta Tau Delta Entertains

Delta Tau Delta is entertaining this morning with a breakfast dance, at the chapter house, which will be followed by a picnic at Riverside park. Flowers of various hues will decorate the rooms of the house.

Patrons include Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gage, Lieutenant and Mrs. Kelly, and Dean Faville.

Bill Graeper is in charge.

Spring Formal Is This Evening

Gamma Phi Beta entertains with a spring formal this evening at the chapter house. Painted lattice work will produce a flower-garden effect in the house, and a fountain with many flowers around it is being used in the mill-race.

Patrons are Mrs. Josephine K. Stewart, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Dale, Dr. and Mrs. Delbert Stanard, Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Dunn, Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Schwering, Mrs. Malcolm Macduff, and Mrs. Bruce Borgart.

Susan Campbell Hall Entertains

Palms and many colored spring flowers were used about the rooms of Susan Campbell hall last night for their spring informal dance. Snowballs were placed in huge masses, and produced a very interesting effect.

The patrons were Mr. and Mrs. Kelley, and Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Schwering.

Rock Garden Idea Used For Informal

An interesting rock garden idea was carried out at Hendricks hall last evening for their dance. Green lattice gates served as an entrance.

The patrons included Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Van Loan, Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, Jack Hewett, Mr. and Mrs. Leighton, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schumaker.

Marion Henderson was in charge of the informal.

Short Squibs of the Week-End

Miss DeEtta Robnett entertained Wednesday evening with five tables of bridge at Tiny Tavern honoring Kathryn Fry. Guests included faculty women, and others interested in education.

Dean and Mrs. Eric W. Allen entertained the editing class at their home on Thursday evening. Every spring a party is given this class, and a very informal social time was had. Refreshments were served for about twenty-five guests.

Mrs. Sally Allen entertained members of Gamma Alpha Chi at tea Thursday afternoon at her home on Birch Lane.

Sigma Nu Semi-Formal Is Friday Event

One of the features of the week-end was the semi-formal which was given by Sigma Nu last evening at the chapter house. The decorations featured a spring idea with Scotch broom and many flowering shrubs. Colored lights in the mill race produced a shadowy effect on the house, and the sprays from the fountain falling over the flowers was very colorful.

The patrons and patronesses included Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. Will V. Norris, Major and Mrs. R. H. Bosch, and Mr. and Mrs. Barton E. Briggs.

The hobo convention was announced to two members of the house dressed in typical hobo garb who went to the various sororities to present the girls with invitations written in red ink on tattered bits of paper inclosed in tin cans which were covered with red cloth. Their patrons include Dr. and Mrs. Caniparoli, Mr. and Mrs. George Hopkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morris.

The Prison dance, an event of last night featured such decorations as iron bars, cells, and gallows in the yard. It all produced a very different effect. The patrons included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cutler, and Dr. and Mrs. John McKinnon.

Thielsen To Give Last Voice Recital

After a career as one of the most brilliant student singers in the music school, Nancy Thielsen is graduating and will appear in her farewell recital at the music auditorium next Tuesday evening.

Miss Thielsen has been one of the most popular soloists with the Polyphonic choir. She took the soprano role in the presentation of Verdi's "Requiem" last spring, in the "Messiah" last Christmas, and again in the Portland concert given by the choir in April.

She has also been very active in campus drama, taking the leading role in "Holiday" last year and again in "Twelfth Night." She studies music with Arthur Boardman.

duced a shadowy effect on the house, and the sprays from the fountain falling over the flowers was very colorful.

The patrons and patronesses included Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. Will V. Norris, Major and Mrs. R. H. Bosch, and Mr. and Mrs. Barton E. Briggs.

Hobo Convention and Prison Dance Given

Social events taking place at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house this week-end are the upper class Hobo convention which is to be given tonight, and the Prison dance of last night which was given by the under class members.

The Hobo convention was announced to two members of the house dressed in typical hobo garb who went to the various sororities to present the girls with invitations written in red ink on tattered bits of paper inclosed in tin cans which were covered with red cloth. Their patrons include Dr. and Mrs. Caniparoli, Mr. and Mrs. George Hopkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morris.

The Prison dance, an event of last night featured such decorations as iron bars, cells, and gallows in the yard. It all produced a very different effect. The patrons included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cutler, and Dr. and Mrs. John McKinnon.

The new initiates are: Janet Young, Kathryn Perigo, Mary Schaefer, Margaret Bean, Genevieve Dunlop, Shirley Sylvester, and Eloise Dorner.

Constitutional Amendments

In accordance with the A. S. U. O. Constitution, the following constitutional amendments, which will be voted upon at the class elections next Tuesday, must be printed in the Emerald twice. This is the second publication:

Election Rules Given
An amendment to strike out section 11, article 7, and in its place insert—

1. Within three days after registration week of the fall term the president of the A. S. U. O. shall appoint a nominating committee composed of one sophomore and four freshmen, on which committee the sophomore member shall serve as chairman.

2. This committee shall nominate two candidates for the office of president; two for vice-president, two for secretary, and two for treasurer.

A list of the nominees so selected shall be published, by order of the chairman, in the Emerald as soon as the nominations have been made.

3. Within five days after the publication of the list of nominees the vice-president of the A. S. U. O. shall call a meeting of the freshman class for the purpose of allowing further nominations from the floor.

When the nominations have been closed, the meeting shall proceed to the election of officers.

4. Voting is to be by written ballot. One ballot is to be given each registered freshman who presents a properly signed student body ticket.

Eligibility Defined
2. Amendment to strike out clause 1, of section 2, of Article III, and in its place insert the following:

Clause 1. Candidates for the office of president, vice-president, secretary, executive man, and executive woman must have completed at least seven and not more than nine terms at the University of Oregon at the time of nomination; and at the beginning of the fall term of the year in which nominated must have completed at least two terms out of each two preceding years in attendance, or have completed four terms in not more than two years' attendance.

Duty on Lumber Urged In Revenue Measure

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(AP)—The senate began consideration of the $3 a thousand feet import tax on lumber tonight after retaining the oil and coal tariff levies in the revenue bill. The four cents a pound tax on copper will be taken up after lumber.

Senator Jones (R., Wash.), opened the drive for the lumber duty, explaining lumber was the major industry of great sections of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. Of 125,000 usually employed in the industry, he said, 100,000 are jobless. It is in behalf of them I am appealing," Jones continued.

WSC DOWNS VANDALS

PULLMAN, Wash., May 20.—(AP)—Washington State college track and field men defeated the University of Idaho, 77 to 54 in their annual meet on Rogers field today. Three school records were broken, the Cougars getting two new marks and Idaho one.

TALKIE TOPICS

—CHRONICLING—
WHAT'S HERE AND WHAT'S COMING

Colonial—"Reaching for the Moon," with Douglas Fairbanks. Showing for the last time today.

McDonald—"Disorderly Conduct," starring Spencer Tracy and Sally Eilers. Today only.

Rex—"Rainbow Trail," featuring George O'Brien. Today only.

State—"Law of the West," with Bob Steele. Last time today.

By RALPH MASON
Miriam Hopkins at McDonald

Jack Oakie and Miriam Hopkins play the leading roles in "Dancers in the Dark," but just why it should be called by that particular name is somewhat of a puzzle.

There are all kinds of dancing, but there is decidedly no dancing done in the dark. Be this as it may, the show still manages to haul down several good laughs from time to time and may be considered as good and satisfactory.

"Dancers in the Dark" is a motley collection of parts from a musical comedy, a gangster thriller and a behind-the-scenes tale of a night club. All these elements are artistically woven in to a story that passes through the whole gamut of human emotions to a very satisfactory ending.

Oakie, as the jovial orchestra leader, pulls some good stuff most of the time, but his goofy smile sort of ruins his best parts. Miriam Hopkins, who is the blonde taxi-dancer with some mixed love, plays her role with great capability, but one is always worried for fear that Mr. Hyde (that monster that toyed with her not long ago) will come in and ask her for a dance.

William Collier Jr. plays a semi-important part as one of the men Miss Hopkins falls for. His good looks carry him along but his acting is not extra. Eugene Palette, that voluminous play-boy of the screen, plays in his usual line. This time he has an adorable platinum blonde after him, but he eludes her successfully, much to his credit.

Much of the success of this picture is due to the direction which saves the multiplicity of action from hopelessly confusing the plot. "Disorderly Conduct," with Sally Eilers and Spencer Tracy, comes today only at the McDonald. This picture teems with action and excitement, dealing with the adventures and romance in a policeman's life.

Jackie Cooper, that lovable little star of the screen, is appearing with Charles "Chick" Sale in "When a Feller Needs a Friend," at the McDonald Sunday for two days.

Fairbanks at Colonial
Douglas Fairbanks has laid aside his athletic roles where he clowns around in historic costumes and appears tricked out in a white shirt and collar in "Reaching for the Moon," which is showing at the Colonial for the last time today.

Bebe Daniels, Jack Mulhall and Edward Everett Horton are the supporting members of the cast which makes this a fast moving, dynamic action film with lots of comedy a la Horton style.

"City Lights," starring Charlie Chaplin, is coming Sunday for two days.

Bob Steele at State
"Law of the West," starring Bob Steele, is showing at the State for the last time today. "Law of the West" is playing first run in Eugene.

Joyce Compton and Beryle Mercer are starred in "Lena Rivers," which is coming Sunday for a two-day run.

O'Brien at Rex
George O'Brien is the featured player in "Rainbow Trail," which is showing currently at the Rex for the last time today. "Lady with a Past," featuring Constance Bennett, is the attraction coming Sunday for two days.

Colonial Preview Tonight
Theatregoers will be treated to another "Owl Matinee" at the Colonial tonight, when Charlie Chaplin in "City Lights" will be shown at a special preview at 10:45. Persons coming at 9 or after may stay and see both shows, while those who wish to come for the special preview will be admitted to the theatre after 10 o'clock at a low admission rate.

Do You Have The Jitters?

AN EMERALD REPORTER!

Don't scream when you see an eye winchelling through your key hole, it's just another EMERALD REPORTER!

Don't smash that bug crawling through your notebook—it's AN EMERALD REPORTER!

Turn to the Emerald for the news of the campus—it will have it. The Emerald staff spends on the average of ten hours a day, five days a week gathering the campus news and getting it ready for publication.

The Emerald is a well-balanced collegiate newspaper. Not only does it contain all the campus news, but through an affiliation with the Associated Press, it carries daily the highlights of world events.

Drama and book reviews, a society column, movie criticisms, a well-balanced sport page, a thoughtful, energetic editorial column, and caustic comments from Webfoot Charley—all go to make up a really fine collegiate newspaper.

If you're wide awake—you'll read the Emerald!
