Campus Golf Star Defeats Civic Champ

Johnston Whips Boyer In Oregon Amateur

Portland City Title-Holder Downed, 3 and 2 in Opening Round

PORTLAND, May 25—(Special)—Oregon took a firm grip on golfing honors yesterday, when J. Wilson Johnston, senior in biology, defeated Tab Boyer, Portland civic champion, in the first round of the Oregon State Amateur Golf tournament.

Johnston shot the difficult Waverly course in one under par to defeat Boyer, 3 up and 2 to go. The defeat of Boyer was one of the major upsets of the tourney, as he was conceded to be one of the leading contenders for the crown, held by Frank Dolp of Waverly. Johnston shot brilliant golf during the entire round, being particularly effective with his irons.

The other upset of the day was provided when Dr. Cliff Baker, little known Portland medicogolfer, eliminated Eddie Hogan, former Pacific Northwest Amateur title-holder, and runner-up for medalist honors in the present tournament, by 1 up.

Johnston in addition to his athletic activities, is a member of Scabbard and Blade, military honorary, and holds a captain's commission in the campus R. O. T. C.

Other results included: Ray Isaacs, of Alderwood, beat Leslie Leal, of Eugene, 3 and 2.

Russ Burdett, Inverness, beat Bill Shafer, Eugene, 5 and 4.

Grand Jury Action On Curtis Awaited

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 25.—(AP)—Speedy grand jury action in the "enormous deception" perpetrated by John Hughes Curtis, hoax negotiator, was near tonight as negative developments impeded the progress of the man hunt for the kidnapers and killers of the Lindbergh baby.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck was ready to lay the Curtis case before the Hunterdon county grand jury tomorrow and W. C. Pender, attorney for Curtis conceded there was little doubt his client would be indicted. Any indictment, however, would not be reported formally until Saturday.

Dr. John F. Condon, the ransom payer, remained in New England while one of the clues he supplied police collapsed. "Jafsie" had picked out a picture as the likeness of "John," to whom he paid $50,000 April 2. Investigation of the subject disclosed, authorities related, "no possible connection with this case."

vault are slightly more problematical. He has to reach 13 feet 6 inches to qualify, and several times this spring he has faltered at that height. Demaris must throw the javelin 195 feet to get past the barrier. He has attained better than 210 feet, but at present is nursing an injured hip and may not be at his best at Seattle. Edwards is not so consistent a performer as his freshman rival, but on several occasions has done 197.

Washington State had a great freshman team this year, and Colonel Hayward thinks it will send three outstanding entrants. They are Kenneth Leendertsen, middle-distance; and George Thodoratus and Dunker, shot-putters. Thodoratus is the young football Goliath who hits so violently from the fullback position.

Genung Selected As the cream of the crop, Hayward picks Eddie Genung, University of Washington; Moeller and Jessup.

Although he names 30 athletes to qualify to represent the upper left-hand corner of the nation in the American tryouts, Hayward believes all the Northwest participants will find the going considerably tougher at Los Angeles. The colonel has been trainer of four Olympic teams, and realizes the formidable competition which awaits any young men who attempt to crash the ranks.

Cougars Thwarted Again; Bet They're Mad Up There

By DICK NEUBERGER

THOSE POOR Washington State college Cougars must be mad enough this morning to eat their baseball bats. Just when it looked as if they were headed for the championship of the northern division, Oregon's down-trodden Webfoots had to rise from the proximity of the cellar and smack them between the eyes, 3 to 1. Besides being little more of less majesty in the opinion of the Washington State enthusiasts, the Webfoots' achievement kicked the Cougars out of the league lead and relegated them to a tie with the University of Washington.

Now Washington State will have to start all over again to regain the one-game advantage it had before the Oregon boys came to Pullman. Licking the Cougars in their own lair must have been like flaunting a red-flag in the face of a bull. The Webfoots also deprived Washington State of the baseball pennant, so the Pullman fans must have stomachached gall and wormwood as Oregon scored its victory.

Osborne Edwards was the lad who overthrew Buck Bailey's troupe. He gave them only three hits and figured prominently in the three-run rally Oregon precipitated in the sixth inning.

This being the penultimate Emerald of the term, and the athletic year rapidly coming to a close, it seems as good a time as any to record the superlatives of the Oregon sports year, from June to June. Here they are:

Biggest news story and most important event—Resignation of Dr. Clarence W. Spears and appointment of Prink Callison as head football coach.

Most sensational victory—Over New York university in football, 14 to 6.

Next most sensational victory—Over Washington in football, 13 to 0.

Most disappointing event—Football massacre suffered at hands of U. S. C. Trojans, 53 to 0.

Biggest surprise of year—Basketball victories over Washington State college.

Outstanding individual performance—Mike Mikulak's defensive game against the University of Washington.

Next most outstanding individual performance—Hank Levoff's great play in Washington State basketball series here.

Most consistent athlete—Winsor Calkins, captain of the basketball team.

Most improved athlete—Cap Roberts, center and captain-elect of the basketball team.

Outstanding football player—Mike Mikulak.

Outstanding basketball player—Cap Roberts.

Outstanding baseball player—Ken Scales.

Outstanding track man—Paul Starr.

Most remarkable performance for endurance—Paul Starr's five great races in Oregon State relay meet.

Most encouraging series of events—Victories of freshman football team.

Most enthusiastic football fan—Bill Morgan's father.

Most enthusiastic baseball fan—Alexander G. Brown, Belden Babb, Rush Hughes and Art Morris tie in a dead-heat.

Topic of most interest—This autumn's football team.

Most perplexing gossip topic—The starting football lineup. Who'll be in it?

The official all-star baseball nine of the southern division was selected yesterday by the coaches. Four California men were chosen, three from Southern California and one each from Stanford and Santa Clara. The only unanimous choice was George (Buck) Buchanan, Trojan pitcher, who set a new league record with 10 victories in 11 starts.

Football players to make the grade were Orv Mohler and Garrett Arbelbide of Southern California, and Ed Kirwan of Cal. Rudy Rintala, Stanford half, made the second nine. The teams:

Hayward and 15 of his Webfeet tracksters will head north at 6:20 p. m. today en route to Seattle where they will compete in the annual Northwest conference track and field meet, and the northwest division Olympic games tryouts, which are being held in conjunction with the conference competition this year. The track events this year will run in distances measured by meters in place of the usual English system. The events will include the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes, the 400-meter run, the longer 800-meter, 1500-meter, and 5000-meter runs, in place of the 100, 220, 880, mile, and 2-mile. They are Clarence and Ralph Hill, distance runners, Ed Moeller, discus star, Bobby Robinson, pole vaulter, and Warren Demaris, yearling javelin thrower. All of these men are outstanding performers in their respective fields and are hoped to have little trouble in making the marks necessary for qualification.

Americans Beaten In British Tourney

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 25.—(AP)—Another American quest for the British amateur golf championship failed today as the three survivors of an original delegation of 11 went down to defeat in the third round.

David Martin, stocky young California champion, was the first to fall. He played two rounds today, defeating Bernard Drawin, the English golf writer, 2 and 1 in the morning. He lost his touch in the afternoon and fell before H. Shaw, a 25-year-old Manchester player, 2 up.

Charles Sweeney, golf partner of the Prince of Wales and captain of the Oxford team, lost to T. A. Bourn, well known English player, 1 up. His brother was eliminated by A. J. Peech, also 1 up.

Sigma Delta Psi Tryouts Attract Sixteen Athletes

Decathlon Meet To Be Held On Hayward Field Saturday

Sixteen aspirants so far have signified their intention of taking part in the Sigma Delta Psi decathlon meet, which will be run off Saturday, May 28, on Hayward field, commencing at 2 p. m. All prospective participants in the event must sign up by tonight, according to Russ Cutler, director of the meet.

The list of the entrants contains the following: Marion Hall, Mark Temple, Rudie Hegdahl, Charles Marshall, Elmer Brown, Bill George, Ladd Sherman, Bob Chilton, Tallant Greenough, Ed Harding, Bob Voegtly, Marshall Wright, Orlo Newcomb, Art Clarkson, Orville Bailey, and Bob Parke.

Ten events will be on the program for the day—100 yard dash, 120 yard low hurdles, broad jump, high jump, shot put, javelin, baseball throw, football punt, mile run, and 20 foot rope climb.

The competition will be staged like a regular track meet, with five points being given for first place, three for second, and one for third. Cutler stresses the idea that a participant may successfully pass any of the tests required for entrance into Sigma Delta Psi without placing in the decathlon.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. John Stark Evans Tuesday evening, Tau Delta Delta, women's underclass music honorary, initiated seven new members and installed officers for the coming year.

Those initiated were: Mrs. A. E. Roberts, prominent Eugene musician and teacher, as honorary member, and Lois Howe, Beth Simmerville, Jeanette Turner, Linda Hango, Loree Laird, and Inga Arneson.

The following officers were installed: Wilberta Wilson, president; Edwina Anderson, vice-president; Louise Rice, secretary, Elsie Eschebeck, sergeant-at-arms; and Maxine Hill, program chairman.

Unemployment Relief Bill Pushed Forward

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—Senate Democrats pushed their $2,400,000,000 unemployment relief bill forward today despite President Hoover's emphatic opposition to its provision for a $500,000,000 public works bond issue.

The bill was formally introduced after receiving the unanimous approval of the combined Democratic steering and policy committees. It was referred to the banking committee.

Chairman Norbeck announced that committee would begin consideration of the bill next Wednesday and probably hold brief hearings at which administration officials and proponents of the measure would be called.

Oregon Mile-Relay Team Has Chance To Win Title

(This is the third of a series of articles by Commodore Hamby.)

By BRUCE HAMBY

The last of the running events and the most thrilling of all track and field races is the mile-relay. This is usually the last race on every track meet program and for the reason that everyone stays to watch it.

Practically every team in the conference has an equally fine quartet in this event. Washington and Washington State are rated about on a par above the rest of the team, however, due to their excellent performances this season. The Husky quartet, composed of Webber, Condon, Galer and Genung, are favored to take first, followed by W. S. C.

The Oregon team, composed of Sherwood Burr, Rosy Rollwage, Johnny Marrs and Art Holman, may pull a surprise and beat out both the Huskies and Cougars for a first. Against the Huskies here two weeks ago Washington barely edged it out. 3:22 or 3:23 is considered excellent time, and all three of the above mentioned teams have done it. Oregon State and Idaho have strong teams to enter in the Northwest meet.

Oregon's chances for a first or second in the 110-meter high hurdle race are unusually good this year. In Hubert Allen and Mason McCoy, Coach Hayward has two men capable of doing the high barriers in 15 flat. The qualifying time for the Olympics is 14.5, so both will have to speed up if they expect to get into the big meet. McCoy won at Oregon State last week in 15 flat, after Allen, who was leading him, fell and dropped out. If Allen had continued he would have broken the 15 mark easily. Bracken of Washington and Lemp of Idaho are the men Allen and McCoy will have to beat for a first. All four of these men are on a par, so choosing a winner is practically impossible.

Last year Allen failed to get into the finals when he stumbled in a qualifying heat. At the time he fell he was leading the field and was doped to place high. McCoy, only a sophomore, is rapidly developing into an outstanding hurdler.

In the 200-meter low sticks Art Holman of Oregon, if he is entered, Bracken of Washington, and Dunkin of Oregon State are the leading contenders. Bracken has beaten Holman, who in turn, has defeated Dunkin. Holman's second in the Washington meet was in a .25.8 race, and last Saturday he won in .24.8. Pick your own winner. The lows are not an Olympic event, so only college runners will compete.

In yesterday's article mention of Clarence Hill, Ralph's brother and also a former Oregon star distance man, was left out. Clarence is on the campus with Ralph and both will make the trip north. Both will enter the 5,000-meter grind, and should be the class of the field.

Memorial Week-End Not Closed to Dances

Memorial day falls on Monday. This happens only once every six years and the students of the University are being allowed to celebrate the occasion.

This week-end, which would normally be a closed week-end because of the coming final examinations, has been opened to dances. The reason for this change was the fact that there will be no classes on Monday, Memorial day.

It was also pointed out by Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, that there is no University ruling that students can not go home for the week-end. It is left to the student's discretion as to whether he may take a vacation so near the end of the term.

Wesley Club To Hear Talk on Journalism

Jack Bellinger, news editor of the Emerald, will talk at the Sunday evening meeting of the Wesley club on "Looking Forward in Journalism," it was announced yesterday by Philip Dale, vice-president of the club.

This is the last of a series of discussions on vocational topics that have been sponsored by the Wesley group during spring term. The meeting will be preceded by a social hour at 5:30, at which refreshments will be served.

John L. Casteel, director of the speech division, will continue his series of discussions on "Finding Pathways to an Adequate Conception of God" at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

Orangemen Score 9 Runs Before Northerners Count One

PULLMAN, Wash., May 25.—(AP)—A hard-hitting Oregon State nine knocked Washington State college's pennant chances askew by winning their conference game, 9 to 5, here today.

Washington State, long on top of the conference heap, however, still has a mathematical chance to win the northern division championship.

The Cougar hurling staff gave lots of hits away and the rest of the team played bean bag with the ball to amass eight errors. Oregon State scored nine runs before Washington State counted once. The Cougars loaded the bases in each of the last three innings, but could get only five runners home.
