

Oregon Cities League Meets Here Today

Convention To Be Held In Condon Hall

Delegates To Be Entertained by Chamber of Commerce At Osborn Hotel

To outline a legislative program affecting Oregon cities for the coming sessions of the legislature, and to set up a working relationship between the League of Oregon Cities, and the bureau of municipal research, in the school of social science, in the campus, are the two main purposes of the meeting of the League of Oregon Cities, which is being held in Eugene today and tomorrow.

Preliminary arrangements have been made by Dr. Philip A. Parsons, of the sociology department. On Thursday afternoon the convention will convene at 101 Condon, followed by a dinner for the delegates at the Osborn hotel, where they will be guests of the Chamber of Commerce, and service clubs of Eugene. The Friday morning meeting is scheduled for 302 Condon, and the afternoon session is to be held in room 101.

In the past the league has been interested in forestalling legislation that interferes with effective activities in city offices, and will again turn its attention toward such bills.

Among suggested topics for discussion, as listed on a circular sent out to members of the league, are the following: "Maintenance of state highways through cities," "Collecting city assessments with general taxes," "Refunding of bonds of cities and towns," "Issuance and sale by cities and towns of tax anticipation warrants to provide funds for the payment of bonds," "Consideration of legislation imposing penalty and increased interest rate on delinquent instalments of bonded assessments," and "Unemployment relief."

Officers of the league are, William M. Briggs, Ashland, president; and J. L. Franzen, Oregon City, secretary. Delegates from the various cities over the state are expected to attend.

The glee club this year consists of 28 voices, and, according to Mrs. Beck, will do some intensive work in the rehearsals during the next few weeks. Announcement of the date will be made soon.

EUGENE STUDENTS MAY DRIVE FOR FAMILY USE

(Continued from Page One) preted to mean that such students may not drive cars for any purpose connected with the University or with their status as students therein.

"They may not drive to the University, or to any branch or department thereof, or to any event or function held under the auspices of the University, or the student body or any group of students. They may not drive a car for any social purpose, or for pastime. These enumerations are not exclusive, but are illustrative of the principle that students living in Eugene shall be bound by the same restrictions applicable to other students.

"Local students will not be subject to penalty for driving the family car on family business at the order of the parent, if such business has no reference to the student's connection with the University.

Dad's Committee Photographs To Be Taken Today

Members of the Dad's day committee are to meet at George H. Godfrey's office in Friendly hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock to have the group picture taken. Those who are to be present are Marjorie Haas, Barbara Conly, Helen Burns, Tom Tongue, Ed Stanley, and Hal Short.

After the pictures are taken the committee will hold a meeting to outline the duties of each member. The meeting place has not yet been selected, but it will probably be the College Side.

Dad's Committee To Discuss Plans For Annual Event

Hal Short Urges Everybody To Work on Program For Coming Affair

Hal Short, student chairman, will meet with the Dad's day committee this afternoon to discuss and outline the duties in the campaign to bring Dads to the campus October 29.

Preliminary announcements have been sent out to all the Dads, according to George H. Godfrey. Hal Short urges all the students on the campus to follow these announcements by writing to their dads, thus taking on some of the responsibility in the campaign.

Tom Tongue and Ed Stanley are working with George Godfrey on the advertising and publicity. Tongue will probably announce his plans on carrying a house organization campaign on writing to Dads this afternoon. Barbara Conly will select her assistants this afternoon to help with the registration. She is working with Dean Virgil Earl, while Marjorie Haas is carrying on work with Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed and Paul R. Washke.

Gordon Fisher, art student, has been selected by George Godfrey to do the cartooning. This is Fisher's second year as cartoonist for the Dad's day program.

CHARITY PLAN GETS COMMITTEE APPROVAL

The Morning Oregonian said it did not believe the game should be taken off either campus. The Corvallis Gazette-Times charged that the Oregonian and the Emerald were in league on the matter and added that the suggestion was probably compounded in the Oregonian offices. This charge was based on the fact that Neuberger is an employee of both papers, and was made despite the fact that the Oregonian and the Emerald have expressed widely variant opinions on the matter.

Those present at the executive council meeting were Bob Hall, chairman; Dean James H. Gilbert, Karl W. Onthank, Ronald H. Robnett, Alexander G. Brown, Otto Vonderheit, Marguerite Tarbell, Ellen Sersanous, Dick Neuberger, Professor Herbert Crombie Howe, and James Travis.

It was announced that the publications committee would meet at noon today at the Anchorage.

Methodist Group Chooses Theme For Coming Year

Dr. Sheldon Leads Series Of Meetings Sunday Morning at Ten

"Seeking a Life Philosophy" has been chosen by the Wesley foundation, students' organization of the Methodist Episcopal church, as their theme for the coming year. This theme will be used as a guide in selecting discussion topics for both morning and evening services and for all other activities that the club will carry out during the year.

Dr. Henry Sheldon, chairman of social science, is leading a series of meetings on "World Religions" at 10 o'clock each Sunday morning under the sponsorship of the Wesley club. The evening meetings begin at 6:30, preceded by a social half-hour at 6 o'clock.

The evening services take the form of a student led discussion, a talk and discussion led by some faculty member on some subject of current importance, or some special meeting such as a vesper service. Fireside meetings begin at 8:30 on Sunday evenings.

The student council, the organization's executive group, consists of Donald Saunders, president; Philip Dale, vice-president; Marguerite Davidson, secretary; Verne Adams, treasurer; Howard Ohmart, financial secretary; Mary Louise Martin, drama and deputations; Violet Adams, art; Jack Bellinger, promotion; Eleanor Wharton, music; Eula Loomis, social; Francisco Tubban, Student Christian council; Wally Campbell, firesides. Dorothy A. Nyland is director of student activities at the Methodist church.

Philomelete Club Will Meet Tonight

Prose and Poetry group of Philomelete will hold its first meeting tonight at 9 at the Alpha Xi Delta house. Eleanor Wharton, president of the group, invites all women students interested, especially freshmen, to be present for this first meeting.

Tonight's meeting will be a social gathering for informal discussion of details of the program for the coming term. Tentative plans laid at a council meeting Monday include a study of the poet Masefield, one of the world's most versatile authors.

Betty Anne Macduff and Margaret Pollitt, last year's president, will be sponsors for the group this year. Ernest G. Moll, assistant professor of English, will act as one of the advisers.

Members of the group urge that new students understand that the study of literature is approached very informally, not with a classroom method.

Gwen Elsemore became chairman of the division finance committee, Eldress Judd, chairman of alumni, and Mary Klemm, a member of a special program commission.

McDONALD — "Mr. Robinson Crusoe."

COLONIAL — "The Crooked Circle."

STATE — "My Wife's Family."

REX — "Wayward," and "All Quiet on the Western Front."

"Mr. Robinson Crusoe" Doug Fairbanks, the daddy of screen acrobats, brings a new and entertaining interpretation of De-foe's classic in "Mr. Robinson Crusoe," which will be at the McDonald today, Friday, and Saturday. Equipped with only enough clothing to make it possible for him to appear before the camera, he sets out to make the best of things on his "desert isle." Doug is not at all discouraged by the obstacles in his life, and with the aid of his faithful dog, he finds the way to a happy existence. We cannot help chuckling with Doug as he has the time of his life in the elemental jungle surroundings. The modern Crusoe's accomplishments in the way of providing against a rainy day are a delight to see.

"The Crooked Circle" Combining the elements of an exciting mystery, a light romance, and an enjoyable comedy, "The Crooked Circle" should be one of the most entertaining pictures to be seen at the Colonial for some time.

James Gibson and Zasu Pitts in the spook scenes furnish a goodly amount of mirth-provoking action, while Ben Lyon and Irene Purcell furnish the romance.

"The Crooked Circle" is the first of a series of 20 first run films from World Wide studios which will be shown at the Colonial this season. World Wide is the only large studio from which the Fox theatre chain has not contracted for the total of this year's productions.

Kellogg To Give Science Lecture Tuesday Evening

Lecture To Be on Anatomy And Habits of Whales

Dr. Remington Kellogg, assistant curator of mammals at the United States national museum at Washington, D. C., and research associate and paleontology of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, will deliver a public address on "The Anatomy and Habits of Whales" in room 101 of Condon hall next Tuesday evening.

Dr. Kellogg is collaborating with Dr. E. L. Packard, dean of the school of science recently transferred to Corvallis, in the study of a fossil discovered several years ago by Dr. Packard on the beach near Newport.

Dr. Kellogg is spending several weeks in the West examining and identifying mammalian fossils, and is devoting considerable time to the preparation of sketches of Dr. Packard's discovery, which has been in Condon collection for a number of years.

The Washington scientist, according to Dr. Packard, has spent several years studying the problem of aquatic adaptation, with special reference to marine mammals.

"The whale," explained Dr. Packard, "is a representative mammal, not a fish, which in adapting itself to changing environment has become in some respects fish-like." The lecture is given under the auspices of the local chapter of Sigma Psi, and a special invitation is being extended to the Sigma Psi club of Corvallis.
