

Hall Appoints G. S. Turnbull On Committee

George Godfrey Replaced On Publication Council

Plans for 1933 Oregana, Campus Year Book, Discussed at First Meeting

Professor George S. Turnbull of the school of journalism was appointed to the University publications committee yesterday by Bob Hall, president of the student body. Mr. Turnbull was chosen to succeed George H. Godfrey, whose transfer to the informational service from the school of journalism deprived him of a place on the committee, the constitution specifying that there shall be one member of the journalism school on the group.

At the first meeting of the committee yesterday noon, Professor Turnbull was introduced formally to the other members. Also on the group are Hall, who is chairman; Virginia Wentz, editor of Oregana; Dick Neuberger, editor of the Emerald; Orlando Hollis, professor of law; Bill Bowman, vice-president of the student body; Alexander G. Brown, alumni secretary; Hugh E. Rosson, graduate manager; and Ronald H. Robnett, assistant graduate manager.

All except Rosson and Brown were present at yesterday's meeting, which was held at the Anchorage. Plans for the 1932-33 Oregana, campus year book, were discussed throughout the meeting.

Lending Library On Co-op Balcony Popular Feature

The one-dollar rental plan introduced by the Co-op book store a short time ago has proved highly successful, according to Miss M. I. Roberts, who is in charge.

More than 104 students have already signed up and there is a steady stream of new applicants every day, attracted by this new and economical feature.

The new plan permits a student free use of the rent library for one year upon the payment of one dollar. He may take out as many books as he wishes during the year, providing he takes them one at a time. Three cents a day will be charged for any time the book is kept over a week.

Among the newly arrived on the shelves, several of which are in the rent section, are William Faulkner's "Light in April" in the first edition, a fictionalized historical novel; "Anne Boleyn," by E. Barrington; Warwick Deering's novel of the depression, "Smith"; and a book by Zella Fitzgerald, F. Scott Fitzgerald's wife, entitled, "Save Me the Waltz."

Betrothal of Miss Chapman, Bob Hall Told

Cupid's diaries, hidden in the napkins, announced the betrothal Wednesday evening of Miss Marion Chapman to Robert Hall to 16 girls assembled for a bridge dinner at Miss Chapman's home.

News of the engagement was announced simultaneously at the dinner table of Mr. Hall's fraternity, Sigma Pi Tau. Members of the fraternity serenaded Miss Chapman and her party later in the evening.

Both students are seniors in the University and have been active in campus activities. Miss Chapman is president of Phi Theta Upsilon and a member of Mortar Board. Mr. Hall is president of the Associated Student body and a member of Friars.

A miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Eugenia Van Cleve, who recently announced her engagement to William Pittman, was held at Mrs. Creasy's Silver Latch tea room Tuesday evening by Marguerite Tarbell and Margaret Lawry. Members of Delta Gamma were present.

Pledges of Alpha Gamma Delta and the housemother, Mrs. Lange, were entertained with a line party at the McDonald theatre Wednesday evening by members of the sorority. Miss Elsie Peterson made arrangements for the affair.

R. C. Young Buys Weekly News at Gold Beach, Ore.

Former Student Worked Way Through School on Register-Guard

The Curry County Reporter, weekly newspaper at Gold Beach, Oregon, has just been purchased by R. C. Young, student in the physics department at the University in 1927. The publication was sold to Mr. Young by the Macleay Estate company.

This newspaper establishment is located at the county seat and is the only one published within the county. Its one competitor is a small paper, which carries little advertising, published at Bandon and distributed at Port Orford.

"The principal source of income for the Curry County Reporter," its new owner stated, "is legal stuff, as this is the only paper in the county of legal standing."

Mr. Young had no journalistic training at the University, but he paid his schooling expense by working in the composing room of the Eugene Register.

Exchange Dinners Numerous in Week

Exchange dinners were the order this past week and figure prominently in the campus social activities. On Wednesday evening Sigma Chi entertained for Alpha Omicron Pi; Alpha Delta Pi for Sigma Nu; Alpha Tau Omega for Alpha Chi Omega; Kappa Alpha Theta for Delta Tau Delta; Phi Gamma Delta for Gamma Phi Beta; Phi Kappa Psi for personal guests; Kappa Delta for Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Alpha Phi for Chi Psi.

On Thursday evening Chi Omega entertained for Sigma Nu; Delta Gamma for Sigma Chi; Beta Theta Pi for Kappa Kappa Gamma; Theta Chi for Pi Beta Phi; Phi Delta Theta for Kappa Alpha Theta; and Pi Kappa Alpha for Kappa Delta.

Miss Vivian Leaming became the bride of Theodore Jensen on October 7, at a ceremony performed in Portland. Mr. Jensen attended the University a few years ago and was affiliated with Beta Theta Pi. The couple will reside in Portland.

A banquet honoring their alumni was held at the Pi Kappa Alpha house Wednesday evening. Dean Gilbert, Professor Rae, Professor Horn, and Dean Morse were guests in addition to the Eugene alumni. A meeting was held following the banquet.

Miss Ida Pope Making Appointment Survey

Miss Ida M. Pope, secretary of the appointment bureau in the school of education, is traveling in the East making a survey of the number of appointments given to graduates of education courses in the various universities of the country.

At the present she is in Columbus, Ohio, after having visited the University of Minnesota and Chicago university. Miss Pope will also visit the universities of New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, and Northwestern before returning about November 1.

Mrs. Biggs Is Visiting Granddaughter Here

Mrs. Alice M. Biggs is on the campus visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. Paul Hartman, nee Statyra Smith, student in drama.

Mrs. Biggs, who was formerly a high school teacher at Bellingham, Washington, came to the journalism shack yesterday afternoon, where she renewed her acquaintance with George Turnbull, professor of journalism, who was a pupil of hers at Bellingham.

Mu Phi Epsilon Entertains For Patronesses

Active members of Mu Phi Epsilon, women's musical honorary, entertained for their patronesses last night at the Delta Gamma house with an informal reception. Mrs. John Stark Evans and Mrs. Rex Underwood presided at the tea table. A musical program during the evening was arranged by Peggy Sweeney and was composed of piano solos by Edith Grim; selections played by the Mu Phi Epsilon string quartet comprising Mrs. Josephine Chapman, Miss Miriam Stafford, Miss Martha Patterson, and Peggy Sweeney; and violin solos by Peggy Sweeney.

The marriage of Miss Jean Leonard to James Bratie was solemnized in Portland on October 8. The couple attended the University, where she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta and he of Sigma Chi. They will live in Ridgefield, Washington.

The wedding of Miss Henrietta Steinke to William Bruce was performed in Eugene on September 10. Both are now attending the University and working towards their master's degrees. Mrs. Bruce edited the Oregana in her senior year and was a member of Sigma Kappa. Mr. Bruce was a member of Delta Tau Delta.

Smith Presents Plan To Develop Oregon's Mining

Loan From Reconstruction Finance Corporation To Start Work

Dr. Warren D. Smith of the geology department, in an address to the Western Oregon Mining association at Roseburg last Saturday, presented a program for the development of Oregon's mining industry.

A fund is to be established, according to Dr. Smith's proposal, by procuring a substantial loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, supplemented if necessary by an additional sum from the state.

A capable mining board, composed of outstanding individuals in the mining industry and professors from the state college, would be named by the governor to pass on all loans made to mining companies applying for federal aid.

"Since about three-fourths of the geology department is now at Corvallis," said Dr. Smith, "most of the research programs would be developed there, with whatever assistance the University might be able to give."

U.S.C.-Loyola Tilt Has Long History; Dates Back to '89

St. Vincent's Name Is Used By Loyola in Early Days

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—When Southern California and Loyola meet in football Saturday afternoon in the Olympic stadium, to most of the fans assembled the game will mark the opening of intercollegiate athletic relations between these two institutions.

But to old-time football followers, Saturday's battle will mean the resumption of one of the southern's oldest football wars, for Southern California back in 1889 started its intercollegiate football career by thumping St. Vincent's college, forerunner of Loyola, by a score of 40 to 0.

Up until 1909, teams of Southern California and St. Vincent's staged some of the hardest fought games in southland football history. Following the auspicious introduction of football in the Trojan athletic curriculum by the victory over St. Vincent's in '89, the Catholic institution came back to win its first victory over S. C. by a 14 to 2 score in 1892.

In 1896 St. Vincent's scored its greatest victory, a 22 to 0 affair. Trojan fans of today, proud of their championship squads of recent years, may blush if reminded that their tetam of '96 went through a long, arduous three-game schedule against St. Vincent's, Occidental college and Throop Polytechnic institute without scoring a point.

Southern California came back the next year to win over St. Vincent's 34 to 0, scoring its last victory in history over this team. In 1902, the Catholic boys won, 10 to 6; they fought to a 0 to 0 tie in '05, and in the last game in '09 the Trojans were nosed out 8 to 6. Dean Cromwell, veteran S. C. track mentor, was the coach of the last Trojan eleven to meet St. Vincent's.

In going back into the history of Southern California and Loyola in football, it is found that instead of just starting gridiron relations on next Saturday they will be merely resuming a grand old feud, with St. Vincent's appearing under a new name. As Southern California and St. Vincent's met nine times in the good old days with four victories each and one tie, Saturday's game will be the play-off of a football warfare going back 43 years.

College Teacher Goes 'Tarzan' in Dizzy Tree-tops

URBANA, Ohio (IP)—A former college instructor who turned Tarzan 18 years ago is swinging high this week in the limbs of a 100-foot elm over the Mad river near here.

He is back in the tree tops again after a lapse of three years because he had been furnished with a new rope to replace the one that rotted in 1929. He used the rope to gain entrance to his lofty perch.

"Tarzan" is Orrin Sternberger, 75, former instructor in art at Wittenberg college. Eighteen years ago doctors told him he would die within a few months from tuberculosis.

The instructor decided that he would spend his last few months close to the nature he loved. So he entered the wooded area near here and built himself a hut high on the tree.

Recently a resident of this city learned of the old man's lack of approach to his hut, and bought him a new one.

The new rope arrived this week. Sternberger fastened a threat to an arrow and sent it over a limb near his hut. Then he drew the rope into a pulley and soon had pulled himself up where he is now "at home" again.

Thomas for President Club To Send Material

In a meeting held last night, the Thomas for President club made plans for the distribution of literature and the arousing of student interest in the campus-wide straw vote to be held soon.

The group discussed the party platform and Rolla Reedy gave a brief speech on the difference between the Socialistic plank and that of the two major political parties. The club will hold the next meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Hut at 7:15 next Thursday.

MOVIE NOTES

By WILLARD ARANT
COLONIAL — "The Crooked Circle."
McDONALD — "Mr. Robinson Crusoe."
REX — "All Quiet on the Western Front," and "Wayward."
STATE — "Broadway to Cheyenne."

James Gleason, who co-stars with Zasu Pitts in the first run mystery fare, "Crooked Circle," now on at the Colonial.

"Mr. Robinson Crusoe" How would you act if you were the only human being on a South Sea Island? If you can't answer that question, see "Mr. Robinson Crusoe" at the McDonald today or tomorrow and let Doug Fairbanks answer it for you.

Doug voluntarily casts himself on an uninhabited island to settle a bet with his companions who continue with their yacht to a tiger hunt, leaving Doug to succeed as well as he can in his primitive surroundings. Equipped only with a toothbrush as he swims away from the boat, Doug throws that back and proceeds with nothing of civilization save his knowledge of modern mechanics.

Assisted by his dog, a monkey, a goat, and a parrot, he succeeds in a marvelous way to have a good time of it. Doug is soon visited by a native of a neighboring island. He names him Friday and tries to tame him, but Friday escapes at about the same time Doug discovers the presence of a young native girl. Friday being gone, he names her Saturday.

The comedy resulting from Fairbanks' interpretation of the classical story is one that can be thoroughly enjoyed by anyone, regardless of age or position.

"The Crooked Circle" "The Crooked Circle," a first run picture playing at the Colonial, defies classification and must therefore stand in a class by itself.

It starts out with the mysterious atmosphere of a "shocker," then has a tendency toward a crook drama, and suddenly becomes a laugh-provoking farce comedy along the lines of "The Gorilla."

which was written by the same author, Ralph Spence.

Before the merriment gets well under way, however, mysterious incidents are injected into the plot which gets more baffling as it progresses. In addition, a romantic plot runs thinly through the whole play.

The chilling and thrilling moments are cleverly balanced with the comedy relief and heavier drama in such a way that the interest is kept at a high pitch most of the time.

Dr. Nelson L. Bossing To Address Y Meeting

Dr. Nelson L. Bossing of the school of education will leave today for a trip to Portland where he will address a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana. Dr. Bossing is chairman of the executive committee of this organization.

From there he will go to Longview, Washington, where he will speak before a meeting of the Southwestern Washington Teachers' association. He expects to be back by Tuesday.

You Spend 2 Million

Yes, sir! You spend $2,704,488 a year while you are in school. That's quite a lot, and then when you go and spend over 75% of it right here in Eugene—it's a heck of a lot!

The estimated patronage given by the student body to Eugene business exceeds two million dollars every year. There is nothing wrong in that. In fact, it is a mighty good idea. Eugene does a lot towards helping and supporting the University of Oregon.

When you do buy, though, read the advertisements in the Oregon Daily Emerald. Buy only from the advertisers and you will be sure of a square deal. Remember—buy more often in Eugene, but only from the ADVERTISERS.
