

Nobody's Business

By BRUCE HAMBY
 ONE triple-threat ball carrier in a backfield is quite common. Two lads who can pass, kick, and run the ball in the backfield is not unusual. Even three is permissible. But four... that's something!

That's just the situation on the U. C. L. A. eleven. Four hon-Howard Bobbitt est - to - goodness triple - threaters in the flesh. Where Bill Spaulding got them, no one knows. They are: from left to right: "Jumping Joe" Keeble, the fullback; Walt Clark, sophomore right halfback; Robby Decker, Clark's running mate; and Mike Frankovitch, quarterback and Bill Bowerman's rival in love.

All these young lads have the reputation of being able to crash the line and circle ends with more than ordinary ability. All four can punt for an average of 40 yards. And their strong point... all four... is passing.

Messrs. Hughes, Morgan, Nilsson, Bailey, Wishard, Frye, Clark, and Bobbitt are going to have a busy afternoon today when these boys start handling the ball.

Members of Oregon's varsity squad have something to look forward to at the end of the regular season besides final exams. How would you like to take a 2,500-mile jaunt way down South to Louisiana? That's just like getting strawberry shortcake for dessert after a dinner of baked beans and wienies.

Hugh Rosson must have felt the boys from Eugene were entitled to a nice train ride as a reward for their efforts, both to date and in advance. Just why he picked Louisiana State university is a mystery. Maybe he blindfolded himself and stuck a pin in a map.

Remember Oregon's inter-sectional game with Florida a few years back? That was the time when Bobby Robinson and Chuck Williams, colored aces, had to be left home because of race prejudice in the South. They had plenty of company, though, with Austin Colbert left here because of grades, Bun Stadleman and Johnny Kitzmiller on crutches with broken ankles, and a few other members of the varsity off the squad for minor reasons.

The weather was so hot in Florida the day of the game the boys played minus jerseys; in other words, with only shoulder pads to protect their bodies from injury. And to add insult to injury, the Florida rooters had decorated the stands with Orange and Black bunting in honor of the visitors.

Maybe it will snow this year. Just mentioned this to add to the anticipation of the team. The lucky rats!

Lewis Urges Students To Use Lost and Found

Students are failing to make use of the University lost and found department, according to Donald Lewis, superintendent of grounds and buildings. Many students have inquired for lost articles, but very few have come in up to the present time.

Whether the students finding lost articles are neglecting to turn them in or whether they are failing to find them is unknown. Mr. Lewis suggests strongly that more use be made of the lost and found department by students finding lost articles.

Master Dance Group Hears Bok as Speaker

Modern dancing was the topic discussed by Miss Dorothy Bok, guest speaker at the Wednesday evening meeting of Master Dance. The meeting was in honor of Miss Ruth Bloomer, new faculty advisor, at the Alpha Phi house.

In her talk, Miss Bok traced the history of the modern dance down to the present, laying emphasis on the influence of Isadora Duncan. Refreshments were served following the discussion.

Washington State-California Game Headliner In South

"Bill" Ingram Picks Bears To Win Today

California Coach Follows 'New Psychology'

Southern Team Lacks Reserve Strength in Game With W. S. C.

By KENNETH PRIESTLEY
 UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Berkeley, Oct. 14—(Special)—"Bill" Ingram picks California to defeat Washington State's formidable football team here Saturday afternoon at Memorial stadium.

And thereby hangs a tale. Not so long ago the favorite pastime of football coaches was to pick opposing teams to win, thinking thereby to sneak up and knock said opponents over with a sickening thud.

But no more. The "new psychology" is to pick your own team to win.

First "Clipper" Smith selected his Santa Clara team to turn back California. And they did.

"Slip" Slips

Then "Slip" Madigan predicted some of the same for the Galloping Gaels. "Slip" slipped a little on that one, but at least a tie-score left him with still somewhat of a reputation as a prophet.

Through all this Ingram, the silent sailor, sat back and said little or nothing except possibly, to agree with "Clipper" and "Slip."

But now comes "Babe" Hollingberry to add his word that Washington State will defeat California. Ingram, tired of agreeing with everybody, is inclined to be argumentative on that point, and comes out roundly with the statement that California, not Washington State, will win.

Teams Complete Drills

This refreshing note in the week's news of Bear-Cougar hostilities was struck today as the Golden Bears had virtually completed their pre-game preparations. Ingram bases his optimistic attitude on the showing made by California in the 12-to-12 tie with St. Mary's, the fact that all through the season he and the Bear squad have been looking forward to the W. S. C. game as the first for which they would make thorough-going and specific preparations, plus the fact that the Bears have looked well during the past week of light but exacting work on offense and defense for the Cougar game.

The only possible fly in the Golden Bears' ointment is lack of adequate, trained, ready-to-play reserve strength. The Bears are well-equipped with material, but minor injuries have retarded the development of the squad as a whole, although a number of individuals, including the entire first string, have made rapid strides during the past 10 days or two weeks. Ingram is satisfied that his first team is his strongest combination, but he is doubtful about many of the players available for replacements.

ORIGIN OF TERM, PIGGER, FOUND TO BE LOWLY ONE

satisfaction of an interest in the culture of swine.

At last the dreadful truth became known. They found that the student was making these visits not in the interests of livestock, but because the farm harbored a lady light o' love, in whom he was greatly interested.

And so whenever the student left on his venture to College Crest, his hallmates would remark that he was out seeing the pigs again. Finally this term was applied to any student who consistently sought the attentions of a co-ed.

The phrase was shortened and adapted to cover a phase of college life about which Webster seems slightly inadequate. Little did the student realize that in his trips to the farm he was founding an Oregon institution which 30 years later would be the incentive for two thousand males with durable lungs to rise from their seats at a football game and make the welkin ring with a mighty roar of "Pigger-r-r" when a student was discovered sitting with a co-ed.

Dr. and Mrs. Cloran Returned From Europe

After a year spent in touring the United States and Europe, Dr. and Mrs. Timothy Cloran have returned to the University. Dr. Cloran is professor of Romance languages. Dr. Cloran told the interviewers upon his return that he was greatly impressed with Italy under the dictatorship of Mussolini. He last visited Italy in 1898. Paris, he said, appeared to be the most prosperous. He previously visited Paris in 1898, 1904, 1905, 1906.

They Start Their Stuff Today

The Leaders

ALTHOUGH the race for the national grid title is already three weeks old, and many formidable elevens have fallen by the wayside in early season games, a large array of undefeated aggregations still crowd the front ranks.

Following are 29 outstanding teams who have neither suffered a loss or been held to a tie in games played so far this season:

men to get out and campaign but do not tell them what is considered ethical in campus politics. They believe, as is expressed in Wall's statement, that the first year men and women are naturally eager to win their first election and lose sight of the lack of propriety of some methods.

The opinion is held that political leaders of the various groups should take full responsibility and not only urge their constituents to activity but also to coach them in campaign methods that have received campus disapproval.

The charges of corrupt practices were presented in a letter published in the Safety Valve column Wednesday. The communication was submitted by Herb King. In it he proposed that the elections be held in some room where the voter could have privacy while marking his ballot. The election in question was held in the lobby of Johnson hall.

Student body officials replied that class elections had always been held in the corridor of either Johnson or Villard hall and that in the last two years has there been any particular protest. The objections last year were directed more at the activity on the streets and around the polls rather than at that right at them.

Sigma Delta Psi Explained To Aspirants

Varsity Letters Used To Pass Tests

Local Chapter of Athletic Society Has Fifteen Members On Campus

Sigma Delta Psi, athletic honorary, is an organization that is open to all men interested in a wide phase of athletics. Any student who has a C average in scholarship and who is physically fit is eligible to pass the 12 required tests for membership it was stated yesterday by Russ Cutler, physical education instructor.

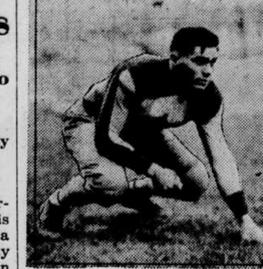

At present there are 15 active members in the fraternity, they are: Erwin Laurance, M. S. Keliher, Orville Bailey, H. M. Lewis, Tallant Greenough, Paul Lafferty, R. E. Hegdahl, E. D. Harding, R. W. Voegtly, Edward Bolds, Robert VanNise, W. M. McCay, W. A. Palmer, Paul F. Bale, and Ladd Sherman. Larry Winters and Phil Staats have passed all tests but have not applied for membership.

The events required are: 100-yd. dash, 11 3-5 seconds; high jump, 5 feet; 16-lb. shot put, 30 feet; baseball throw or javelin throw, 130 feet; 20-ft. rope climb, 12 seconds; posture, 120-yard low hurdles, 16 seconds; broad jump, 17 feet; one mile run, 6 minutes; front handspring, handstand, 10 seconds; fence vault, chin high; 100-yard swim, 1 minute, 45 seconds.

A varsity letter may be accepted for the passing of any event except swimming. Two letter limit. Out of 225 men who have attempted these tests there have been only 17 who have completed them, and have the privilege of wearing the official key. Although there is a large percentage of men who have failed to pass the tests, all tests have sometime or later been broken.

All men are urged by Mr. Cut-and Wishard, ends; Capt. Morgan and Nilsson, tackles; Frye and Clark, guards; and Hughes, center. Bill Spaulding had not announced his starting lineup early tonight. His starting backfield, however, will most likely include four triple-threaters. They are Bobby Decker, Mike Frankovitch, Walt Clark, and Jumping Joe Keeble. All of these first-stringers are flashy sprinters, and every one can kick and pass.

A crowd of between fifteen and twenty thousand is expected for the game. One-third of the proceeds goes to the fund for Portland's crippled children.

first time, going into the fray. Wilder, the one-armed back, caught a 25-yard pass and then added another 20 to it on his own accord. The Indians tried another pass, and it was intercepted. Milligan then scampered 60 yards for the final touchdown, and Whit Arey added the extra point. The game ended a few minutes later.

Game Ends In Downpour

During the last quarter, the game was played in a downpour of rain, and the field was ankle deep with mud.

Virtually the whole yearling squad saw action, and Coach Schulz expressed himself as well satisfied with the team's performance. Shy Huntington refereed, with Watt Long doing duty as umpire, and H. G. Mason as head linesman.

Donut Dope

Monday's Intramural Schedule
 S. P. E. vs. Yeomen at 4:00 o'clock.
 Sigma Pi Tau vs. Fijis, 4:45 o'clock.

Donut athletes will take a short rest until Monday at which time they will again swing into action. So far, the S. P. E., Yeomen, Chi Psi, Phi Psi, Fijis, and the Sigma Pi Tau outfits are still in the running and each one is a contender.

Monday's list of events include two meets between the Yeomen and the S. P. E. teams at 4:00 o'clock and at 4:45 the Sigma Pi Tau team will battle it out with the Fijis for the privilege of entering into the semi-final bracket.

At present the Phi Psi and the Chi Psi teams are in the semi-finals due to their wins in the Thursday meets. Who the opponents to these two teams are to be will be decided on Monday.

During this last week the outstanding star was the Fijis, Tom Blankenberg, who cracked two all-time intramural records in one meet. This Blankenberg, by the way, holds quite a few records in the breast-stroke. Blankenberg was disqualified from the Olympic team because he had previously been a life guard and no athlete receiving a remuneration in any sport in the games was barred from competition.

Reissmuller, of Chi Psi, was also an exceptional swimmer. He proved this when he beat Ned Simpson three times in succession. Reissmuller, in his racing dives, goes in a trifle crooked, probably to aid him in gaining momentum under water.

The Sigma Pi Tau's two big point winners are Hegdahl and Schenk. Hegdahl, the better of the two, won two first places and also was on the winning relay team.

The Yeomen have no outstanding star but have very well-balanced group of swimmers who can take good care of themselves in any meet.
