

AUTO BAN OUT, SAYS NEW RULING OF BOARD; MEETING IN PORTLAND TEMPEERS MEASURE

Four Aspirants To Scholarship Are Announced

Rhodes Council Makes Selections Public

CAMPBELL ON LIST

Harrington, Hayter and Dunbar Complete Quartet Slated For Competition

Four Rhodes scholarship candidates were announced late last night to represent the University of Oregon at the state eliminations in Portland in December.

These four students qualified from a group of 14 applicants who took the examinations Sunday afternoon in the graduate school office in Johnson hall.

Portland To Be Scene

At Portland the four candidates will compete against other students selected from the state at large, at which time a state committee will choose a group to represent Oregon at the district try-outs.

These scholarships are open to men students who have completed their sophomore year and give the winners an opportunity to attend Oxford for three years, or two years at Oxford and the other at an approved university in Great Britain or Europe.

Rebec Heads Committee

The committee members who were in charge of the University selections were Dr. George Rebec, dean of the graduate school, chairman; S. Stephenson Smith, associate professor of English; Andrew Fish, associate professor of history; Dr. A. R. Moore, professor of biology; and Dr. E. A. Polard, assistant professor of German.

Dean J. R. Jewell To Give Lecture

The second of a series of eight lectures under the main topic, "The World Tomorrow," will be delivered by Dean J. R. Jewell tonight at 7:00 in the upstairs of Gerlinger hall.

Last week Dr. Nelson L. Bossing gave an introduction to the general topic of these lectures. Tonight Dean Jewell, who is the new dean of the school of education, will speak on "Education Tomorrow."

The lectures are sponsored by the Student Christian council. Eileen Hickson will be the leader of the meeting.

Unusual Recital Presented Sunday by John Stark Evans

In a softly lighted auditorium John Stark Evans presented a very unusual and individualistic program yesterday. The audience which filled the hall almost to its limits was made up of little children and many Eugene families, as well as many University students.

Aside from the beauty of the music which Evans plays, it is equally fascinating to watch his hands seeking the treble keys and stops; to watch his feet running lightly over the bass pedals.

Sunday's programs included for the most part lighter classics, but the final number, "Symphonic Poem—Les Preludes," was unusual, in that though of great depth it still held the listener's interest by its variation of moods.

Senior Class To Nominate Another Vice-Presy at 7

A senior class meeting will be held this evening at 7 o'clock in Villard hall for nominations of candidates for the office of vice-president to replace Marjorie Swafford, who has failed to return to the campus this year.

Cecil Espy, president, stated that a discussion will take place to decide on the senior class gift to the University. The class will select 10 prominent men for the senior traditions council to uphold and have the University traditions respected by all students on the campus.

24 Out of 29 Law School Graduates Pass Bar Exams

Dean Morse Congratulated By Justice of U. S. Supreme Court

University of Oregon law school graduates who took the state bar examinations in July, made an exceptionally fine record this year. Of the 29 Oregon students taking the examinations 24 passed.

From a field of 97 candidates of the entire state 50 were admitted to the bar. Among the successful attorneys were two women, Della Avery of Portland, and Ruth M. Mellinger of Newberg.

In commenting on the outcome of the examinations, Dean Wayne L. Morse, of the law school, said he is much pleased with the record made by the Oregon students because there is a decided move on the part of the national bar examiners to restrict the number of individuals who are admitted to the bar.

Dean Morse has received a letter from one of the justices of the supreme court saying, "I wish to congratulate you on the splendid showing that the students of the University of Oregon law school made at the recent bar examinations."

"The percentage of failures among the applicants from your school was very small in comparison with the whole class. I am convinced that your school is doing its full part in elevating the standard of the Bar of Oregon from a scholastic, legal and ethical standpoint."

Onthank Talks Before Campus Housemothers

The problems of budgeting time, organizing notes, reading effectively, and in general studying efficiently will be taken up by Dean Carl W. Onthank when he speaks before the freshman group of Westminster house Sunday morning at 9:45.

All interested students are invited to attend the session.

Treaty signing is their long suit. Right here we find the minister from Japan (left), Gen. Nobuyoshi Muto, and the premier of the new state, Manchuko, Chenk Hsiao Hsiu, signing a treaty in which Japan formally acknowledges the new state in the Far East.

Installment Fees Due at Cashier's Office in 5 Days

Out of state students and those paying fees on the installment plan have but five days to make payment at the cashier's office, it was announced yesterday by E. P. Lyon, cashier.

About 500 students are being accommodated by the installment plan, and 200 students have to pay non-resident fees this term. Only a small number of these have made payment.

Students are urged to pay early in the week to avoid the inevitable rush Friday and Saturday. The office closes Saturday at noon, and those who cannot be accommodated by that time must pay a late fee of 25 cents per day for every day of delinquency after that time.

Every year, the last minute rush has resulted in many students being turned away when noon made it necessary for the office to close in order to balance its accounts.

Traditions Court To Enforce Rules

A traditions court to act on cases of violation of campus customs was named last night by Bob Hall, student body president, to halt the increasingly flagrant flouting of time-honored rules of conduct.

The court will consist of Bill Bowerman, vice-president of the student body, as chairman; Charles (Cap) Roberts, senior man on the executive council, as clerk of the court; Orville Bailey, president of the Order of the O; Walt Gray, president of Skull and Daggers, and president of the National Student Affairs committee, who will be named soon.

Cecil Espy, president of the senior class, has announced that he will appoint a committee of ten prominent seniors, called the senior traditions council, to mete out punishment. The appointments will be made at the senior class meeting tonight.

Freshman Women Will 'Get Wise' Tomorrow

Tomorrow night at 7:30 the fun will start at the freshman women's get-wise party at the women's gym. Jean Failing, general chairman, has announced that arrangements for the affair are complete for a hilarious good time.

Members of the A. W. S. council, Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and W. A. A. council will act as hostesses. Freshman women will enjoy the skits, dancing, and food, and have a real get-together with their councilors.

Kinney Chosen Chairman For Homecoming

Post One of Outstanding Responsibility

FEATURES ARE NEW

Homecoming Game To Be on OSC Campus But Dances, Rallies Will Be Held Here

By JULIAN PRESCOTT Appointment of Ned Kinney as chairman of the Homecoming committee was announced yesterday by Bob Hall, president of the A. S. U. O.

Kinney's naming to this post, which carries with it the outstanding student activity responsibilities of the fall, has been expected for more than a week, and the official announcement merely confirmed the predictions of student leaders.

No statement that would allay uncertainty as to signs, dances, rallies and the many other things that go to make homecoming the big annual affair could be made yesterday by Kinney. The decision to hold the festival in connection with the Oregon State game in Corvallis presented problems that have not yet been ironed out.

"Since homecoming will not be held in conjunction with a game on this campus, many new features will have to be worked out," Kinney said yesterday. "The committee expects to develop plans that will make the annual festival as attractive to students and alumni as it has been in the past. Just what they will call for cannot be said now."

Program Here Full "Of course, there will be dances, rallies and opportunities for reunions between alumni and students. As to signs and the bonfire, we cannot say just yet."

Bob Hall, in announcing the appointment of Kinney, made the following statement: "It is hoped that students in the dormitories and houses will encourage all alumni to come here for the dances and reunions. It is quite likely that awards will be made as in the past for the house having the most grads back."

"Making the affair as large and as attractive as in the past will be difficult under the conditions to be (Continued on Page Two)

YWCA Weekly Vesper Services Start Today

The weekly Y. W. C. A. vesper services for women students begin this afternoon at 5, for the first time, under the direction of Alma Lou Herman, chairman, who will handle the program during the year.

Anyone may attend this quiet half-hour of relaxation at the bungalow, which features music and appropriate readings. During the initial program today Marie Saccomanno and Norma Lyon will give musical selections. Attendance at this service is counted on activity hours.

The chairman will act as leader today, assisted by Eleanor Wharton and Jean Lewis. Elizabeth Scruggs is group adviser. The services will be a weekly feature of the Y. W., coming every Tuesday at 5 o'clock.

Italian Mayor Sends Letter of Appreciation

A letter of appreciation and friendship from the mayor of Florence, Italy, was received at the office of the dean of women today. He thanked the university for its message to Italy and its leaders sent through Miss Nella Roster, an Italian student on this campus last year.

He also sent his message of goodwill and friendship to the United States through the university, trusting that the exchange of students would bring a better understanding for world peace.

Radcliffe Co-eds Were Distracting In Earlier Days

The following gem was discovered yesterday by the "Decade" column editor, Elinor Henry, in her research into old Emeralds. It was too good to cut to fit the column, so it is given here in its entirety. It is from the Oregon Emerald for October 10, 1912.

"Co-eds Banned From Library" "BOSTON, Oct. 5. — Radcliffe college girls are no longer allowed the complete freedom of the Harvard library. They may enter not more than six in a group and they must be 'segregated' in a special room."

"Here are the leading reasons as the Harvard library head has found them: "More than six girls make a crowd."

"They chatter so much they disturb the other workers."

"They litter the tables and desks with hats, handbags, and papers."

"They crowd out learned professors."

"Worst of all, they distract the pages or attendants so that it is almost impossible for others to get books on time."

Plans Completed For Annual Dad's Day Celebration

Large Banquet To Be Held In Men's Dormitory; Cups Offered

On Saturday, October 29, dads of the state will assemble on the University campus to observe the seventh annual Dad's day. It is expected that this year the aggregation of Dads will be the largest ever to gather for this event.

Arrangements have been made for the first time to have the banquet in the men's dormitory instead of in McArthur court. Owing to the fact that the dormitory has better facilities for banquet preparations, dads will be given the opportunity of having a hot meal. The committee is striving to make the affair one of the most elaborate ever held.

There will be a reduction in the price of banquet tickets. The committee in charge includes Hal Short, student chairman; Marjorie Haas, banquet; Barbara Conly, registration; Helen Burns, secretary; Tom Tongue, advertising; and Ed Stanley, publicity.

Yesterday Tongue sent out registration cards to all student organizations. It is requested that (Continued on Page Three)

Military Society To Have Banquet

National Scabbard and Blade day will be observed by the Oregon company of the national military honorary with a banquet at the Anchorage October 27. The banquet will also be the occasion of the formal pledging of Lt. Col. A. O. Waller and Major Delbert Stanard.

Col. Waller is signal officer of the Forty-first division. Major Stanard is commander of the medical detachment, 186th infantry.

The committee in charge of the affair is headed by Ned Kinney, first sergeant of the company. Other members are Howard Kemper, Bud Smith and Rudy Crommelin.

Business Ad Directory Busy, Due to Transfers

The business administration library is busy! "There are more books in circulation than ever before," says the librarian, "and it is undoubtedly due to the many upper classmen transfers from O. S. C. The freshmen," she explained, "do not use the library as much as the upperclassmen."

The business administration library is a reserve library except for a shelf of "7 day books" which are novels that would be of interest to business administration majors.

All Students Given Permission To Drive 'With Reservation'

Kerr and Family Will Be Honored By Big Reception

Twenty-five Eugene club representatives gathered last night at the chamber of commerce to discuss plans for a reception for Chancellor Kerr and his wife to this city. Mayor Elisha Large, who called the meeting together, announced last evening that plans had been formulated for such a reception, the movement being sponsored by the chamber of commerce and the city council members.

The date is still tentative, he said, but everyone is to be invited and there will be absolutely no speeches.

Band Members Earn Their Fare Says John Stehn

"You fellows who play in the band have it easy. I wish I could get all my expenses paid every time I went to Portland to see a game."

"Oh, yeah?" "That's what any band member would have said if somebody had made that envious remark to him last week."

Facts released last week by Band Director John Stehn relative to the band's activities in Portland during the Washington weekend show clearly that the horn-toters and piccolo-pluckers earn everything they get in the way of railroad fare and hotel expenses.

At that time the band had an actual playing time of nine hours while they were in Portland. Distance covered on the hoof aggregated more than 10 miles.

Here's the imposing list of appearances from 4 p. m., Friday till 10:45 p. m., Saturday: five street parades and serenades, seven radio programs, and two theatrical programs. Oh, yes, and one football game!

If you're thinking about joining the University band, young man, you'd better trot up to the dispensary and let the doc check your arches, lungs, heart, and general endurance. It's a tough life!

O. K. Burrell Gives Talk O. K. Burrell, assistant professor of business administration, gave a talk on bond prices at a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club today, at the Osborn hotel.

Ucla Bruin and USC Perched In Tie for Coast Supremacy

Four years of conference competition for the U. C. L. A. Bruins culminated in a tie for first place in coast conference standings this week. The Bruins' third conference victory in that time gives them a tie with Southern California, Stanford, and Washington to lead the league list.

The Bruins found themselves on top of the heap after a stunning 12 to 7 upset of Oregon at Portland. A 77-yard run by "Pants" Live-say, Bruin halfback, after catching a pass thrown from behind his goal line, gave the Uclas victory in the last 10 seconds of play. The defeat eliminates Oregon from the conference race.

Washington State sprang another reversal of dope by a 7 to 2 victory over California at Berkeley. A 49-yard punt return by Ollie Arbelvide, sophomore quarterback, gave the Cougars' margin for the upset.
