

131 Members in Polyphonic Choir States Boardman Work on Programs Slated For Fall Term Well Under Way

This year 131 students are enrolled in the Polyphonic choir, among them some of the best singers in the University, states Arthur Boardman, head of the vocal department of the University. This choir was first organized three years ago and has met with repeated success every year since then.

Organization of a polyphonic choir is essentially the same as that of a "mixed chorus," with a few minor differences. Within the choir, various groups, such as duets, trios, and quartets are formed, which offer the participating students opportunity for development.

To facilitate practices, the choir is divided into two groups, which are combined when performances are given. Arthur Boardman is director, and Roy Bryson is assistant director.

The personnel of the first division follows: accompanist, Betty Wilson. Women: Florence Wing-Fulton, Grace Burnett, Arlene Soasy, Dorothy Parks, Lovisa Youngs, Rose Simons, all of Eugene; Esther Wilcox, Freda Stadler, Jane Kanzler, Virginia Hilen, Charleen Purcell, Eleanor Wharton, Louise Marvin, all of Portland; Kathryn Marsh, Louise Thomas, Margaret Stauff, of Marshfield; Alvild Erickson, Rainier; Betty Evanson, Medford; Lous James, Vale; Irwanda Bateman, Ashland; Lucy Spittle, Astoria; Mary-Jean Warner, Albany; Norma Chinnock, Grants Pass; Loree Laird, Pleasant Hill; Kathleen Hughes and Catherine Firebaugh of Oakland, California; and Patricia Sherrard, Palo Alto, California.

Men: Clifton Iversen, Kenneth Kienzie, Kenneth Roduner, Victor Bryant, Eugene Pearson, Gifford Nash, all of Eugene; William Sievers, Bill Connell, Gene Love, all of Portland; John Spittle, Astoria; George Barron, Ashland; Edwin Beach, Lexington, Oregon.

The student board of directors includes Gifford Nash, president; Jane Kanzler, secretary-treasurer; Eugene Pearson; and Victor Bryant.

Art Faculty Work Shown Informally At Gallery Exhibit

The art and architecture schools announce the opening of a faculty exhibit in the gallery of the art department on Thursday, October 20.

The displays will be taken solely from the staff and will present the various types of their work. Informality is the key-note of the exhibition and it promises to be of great interest to students because it represents work done purely for enjoyment and not for display purposes.

Tryouts for Club Plays To Be Held

Tryouts for parts in the Westminster association plays are scheduled to start in Westminster house this evening at 7:30, and will be continued on Thursday evening.

All students interested in any type of drama are urged to participate in these competitive tryouts. Comic, melodramatic, farcical, and tragic talent is desired.

Gwendolyn Caverhill, chairman of the contest, has announced that the capabilities of each contestant will be taken into consideration, and plays will be chosen to conform to the talent discovered in each participant.

The plays produced by the Westminster House association are to be put on in nearby communities throughout the year.

Gilbert Speaks on Oregon Tax Ballot

James H. Gilbert, dean of the college of literature, science and the arts, addressed the Social Science club of the faculty on "Tax Measures on the Oregon Ballot" at dinner at the Faculty club last night.

The Social Science club has in its membership most of the instructors in social science, as well as many others who are interested. H. G. Townsend, professor of philosophy, is president of the club. Jesse Bond of the school of business administration and secretary of the organization, gave the number in attendance as much larger than any other meeting for the last two or three years.

Courses Added For Educational School Majors

More Subjects Required by New State Law for Teachers

Several four hour courses in the school of education have been reduced to three hours by Dean J. R. Jewell, the head of the school, who has been transferred to Eugene from Corvallis. Dean Jewell explains that the state law requires more courses for a teacher's certificate than does the University course in education; therefore, in order to allow more time to the education majors to meet these requirements, this change has been made. However, says Dean Jewell, this change will not work a hardship on the students but rather on the instructors who handle these courses.

Dean Jewell also points out that there is a great deal of difference between the departments of education at Eugene and Corvallis. The University education majors learn to teach academics. These are based purely on an acquired knowledge, and the student can easily be tested to show what he knows. On the other hand, the Corvallis student in education has to learn to teach vocations which are based on practical ability and can be tested only by actual handwork.

'Movie' Evenings To Begin at YMCA

Returning to the "movie evenings" of the war-time days when it was built, the University Y. M. C. A. hut will be the scene of the first of a series of free motion picture programs next Thursday evening.

The motion picture entertainments will be staged during the balance of the year under the auspices of the "Y" cabinet, which has placed Jay Wilson in charge of arrangements.

Thursday's program will begin at 7:30. It will not be a stag affair and co-eds, with dates or without, will be welcome, according to Wilson.

Three reels furnished by the General Electric company will be shown this Thursday. A two-reeler, titled "The World of Paper" traces the evolution of writing surfaces from the dawn of history, closing with a trip through a modern paper mill. The other reel is "The Conquest of the Forest," and presents vivid scenes in the logging country of Oregon and Washington.

Dr. Sheldon Will Talk Next Sunday

Dr. Henry D. Sheldon, chairman of social science, will continue his series of discussions on "World Religions" at 9:45 Sunday morning at the First Methodist church. This is the second of a series of discussions on comparative religions that is being sponsored by the Wesley club.

Other topics that will be taken up in succeeding meetings are "Confucianism," October 23; "Zoroastrianism," October 30; "Brahmanism," November 6; "Buddhism," November 13; "Judaism," November 20; "Mohammedanism," November 27; and "Christianity," December 5.

The evening meeting of the Wesley club, which begins at 6:30, will be in charge of Howard Ohmart, financial secretary of the club. Eleanor Wharton, music chairman, will be in charge of the worship service, which will be preceded by a social half-hour at 6:00 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. Fire-side hour will be at the home of Frederick K. Davis, 1193 Pearl street, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR DAD'S DAY CELEBRATION

(Continued from Page One) all students take it upon themselves to send these cards to Dads along with their own invitations. Later in the week programs will be given to the students with the hope that they will be sent home with a second invitation to the Dads.

The A. W. Norblad and Paul T. Shaw cups will again be awarded to the two organizations having the largest percentage of attending dads. Last year the prizes were won by Sigma Kappa and Phi Mu. Alpha Phi and Chi Psi tied for third place.

Although Saturday is the official day set for Dad's day, the committee urges all dads to stay over for Sunday. According to George Godfrey, faculty advertising chairman, motion pictures will be taken of students and dads of the house organizations with the largest percentage of dads.

Part of Saturday's program will consist of registration, a mass meeting of all dads at 10 o'clock, luncheons in all houses and dormitories. At 2 p. m. the dads will be guests at the Oregon-Gonzaga football game. After the game they will proceed to the banquet, which is at 6 o'clock.

To provide entertainment between halves of the football game, Cecil Espy, rally chairman, and his committee is working on a stunt program.

MOVIE NOTES

By WILLARD ARANT COLONIAL - "X Marks the Spot." McDONALD - "The Crash." STATE - "The Girl From Calgary." REX - "A Passport to Hell."

Colonial "X Marks the Spot" is an exciting story of modern newspapering methods as practiced on metropolitan dailies; including a "hot" columnist, a hard-boiled managing editor, and a reporter who solves a sensational crime. The title is taken from the "X" used in newspaper illustrations to designate the spot which the paper wishes to point out to its readers, and should not be construed as indicating a gangster story.

Unclaimed Tennis Shoes To Be Sold Here This Week

Tennis shoes, old and new, of all sizes, shapes, and descriptions, but all without owners are to be sold this coming Wednesday and Thursday in the main dressing room of the women's gymnasium. The sale, which is being sponsored by Hermian, women's physical education honorary, will be open from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 2 to 6 in the afternoon of both days.

The sale, although an annual affair, is the first in two years. Because of the number that have been allowed to collect the variety will be greater than in years past and consequently more bargains have been predicted. "It'll pay to get tennis shoes," remarked Juanita Young, assisting with the sale, "You may think you don't need them now but you never can tell what you'll be taking in gym next term or the term after."

Prices will be 25 and 50 cents. Many of the shoes have been worn only once during the physical examination upon entrance into the University, are never worn again and left in the basket at the end of the year. All suits so left are subject to fine and forfeit but to be absolutely fair all shoes for sale have been kept at least a year so that the owner might claim them.

The girls in charge of the sale will be Thelma Brown, Juanita Young, Elizabeth Hahner, Dorothy Goff, and Dorothy MacLean, Rose Smith, and Doris Payne.

Jenkins Writes Article The October number of the Oregon Publisher, official publication of the Oregon State Editorial association, which appeared recently, has an article on important conclusions about advertising and reading habits emerging from the depression. It was written by Frank Jenkins, editor of the Eugene Register in 1930.

Registration for Deputation Work Will Open Today

All Students Interested in Speaking Urged To Sign With Manager

Registration for the speaking features for the deputation work to be conducted by Dean Parsons of the school of applied science will open this afternoon at three o'clock. Ted Pursley, manager of the speaker's bureau, announces.

All students interested in speaking are given an opportunity to take part in programs to be arranged for communities in Lane, Linn, and Douglas counties. The manager of the speaker's bureau will be in his office in Friendly hall from 3 to 4 each Tuesday to receive registration. The office is located at the northeast entrance to the building. At other times students may sign up with John L. Casteel, instructor in the speech division.

A skit to demonstrate parliamentary procedure has been prepared. Several men will be required for the demonstration. There is also a demand for 10 to 15-minute humorous talks and 15 to 35-minute serious speeches which may take the form of discussions of economic or political questions or instructive talks on scientific problems. For those interested in humorous debates, opportunities will be offered.

Oregon Members Attend YM Council

Dr. Nelson Bussing, professor of education; Eugene Stromberg, executive secretary of the student Y. M. C. A.; Rolla Reedy, president of the campus "Y"; and Jack Bellinger, northwest field editor of the association, attended the regional conference of the northwest field council of the student Y. M. C. A. which met in Portland last week-end, October 14, 15, and 16.

Reedy, who is president of the northwest field council, presided over the meetings of the organization. Dr. Bussing, who is chairman on the executive council, presided over the meeting of that group.

Dr. Elam Anderson, president of Linfield college, concluded the three-day meeting with a talk on "International Relations in the Far East." Dr. Anderson has spent many years in the Orient.

Patronesses Are Feted Mrs. A. F. Sether and Mrs. C. A. Burden were guests at a dinner given Thursday evening in their honor at the Delta Zeta sorority. Both Mrs. Burden and Mrs. Sether are patronesses of the house.

Rumor on Campus Regarding "Cuts" Has No Authority

Rumors that a new University regulation regarding cuts was in effect were allayed yesterday when investigation revealed no official knowledge of the basis of the report.

The rumor, announced in many fraternities and sororities, was to the effect that there was a new ruling which stated that three cuts in a term in any University course were sufficient to flunk a student.

No knowledge of such an all-campus ruling was expressed by the executive, registrar's or personnel offices, although certain courses and departments have local rulings regarding attendance.

Scabbard, Blade Will Give Award

An award will be presented to the outstanding freshman in each drill period, it was decided by the Oregon Company of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary fraternity in military science, at a meeting last week. Basis for the award will be determined later.

The newly elected officers of the group took their posts at the meeting. They are: Forrest Paxton, captain; Rudy Crommelin, first lieutenant; Bill Wright, second lieutenant; Ned Kinney, first sergeant.

Other active members of the company are Frank Harrow, Howard Kemper, Bud Smith, John Hare, John McCulloch, Art Clark, and Leroy Smith.

Emerald's Staff To Get Free Show At Colonial Bust

Gratis Admission Offered After 9:30 To View "X Marks Spot"

All members of the Emerald editorial staff, from proofreaders up to editor-in-chief, will be admitted free to the Colonial theatre after 9:30 this evening to the showing of "X Marks the Spot," described by Glen Godfrey, promotional manager of the theatre, as "one of the big newspaper pictures of the year."

This was made possible by an arrangement between Sterling Green, managing editor, and Godfrey.

The only stipulations, Green announced, was that all copy for Wednesday's edition be turned in, copy-read, "headed up" and delivered to the press before 9:30 p. m., and that all members of the staff who intend to go to the show receive from him a notice to the effect that the bearer is a member of the staff.

O.S.C. Students Hear About Consolidation

The Corvallis chamber of commerce has been sending out speakers to address the students of O. S. C. during the past week concerning the Zorn-Macpherson school-moving bill.

All living organizations on the college campus have been subjected to lectures propounding certain features of the bill. Elmer Buckhorn, president of the student body, has appointed a committee of eight junior and senior students to handle the meetings.

Just what is "rough cut?"

THE tobacco that is cut best for pipes might be termed "whittle cut" or "rough cut," like Granger. It requires a type of tobacco different from the tobacco used for chewing tobacco or cigarettes. Then again, Granger is made by Wellman's Method. Granger has a pleasing aroma. It is slow burning and cool. Just try it!
