

Judge Harris To Give Talk On Moving Bill

Ten o'Clocks Dismissed During Assembly

WILL MEET AT IGLOO

Assembly Will Officially Open Last Drive To Defeat Grab Bill

Ten o'clock classes are out Thursday. The reason—the biggest assembly seen in many years will be held at McArthur court, at which time students and faculty members of the University will hear Judge Lawrence T. Harris, chairman of the executive committee of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, give detailed facts on the Zorn-Macpherson school moving bill which will come before the voters of the state November 8.

The assembly, sponsored by Eugene business men University alumni, will be of the greatest importance to every student on the campus. Art Potwin, alumni director of the student anti-merger campaign, said last night, for the future of all University men and women depends upon the outcome of the Zorn-Macpherson measure next month.

Judge Harris has been an outstanding worker in the fight against the school wrecking bill and is recognized as one of the most able speakers in the state. He will be introduced by Lynn S. McCready, cashier of the First National bank and finance chairman of the chamber executive committee. Other speakers on the program will be Bob Hall, A. S. U. O. president, and Art Potwin.

The assembly will officially open the last student drive to defeat the bill.

Plans for mailing 20,000 post cards to voters in the state will also be announced at Thursday's assembly.

All campus eating houses have been requested to close between the hours of 10 and 11 Thursday morning.

Alumni Promote New Organization

University of Oregon alumni and other friends of the University will dine tonight at the Osburn hotel at 6 and attend the rally later in the evening.

Plans to originate a permanent organization of Eugene and Lane county alumni will be presented and a president from Eugene will be elected. Committeemen from outlying districts will be chosen soon to lead the fight against the Zorn-Macpherson "juggling" bill.

Mrs. L. T. Harris, Mrs. Harvey Wheeler, Mrs. Arthur Quackenbush, Edward Bailey and Herald White compose the committee for arrangements for tonight. Skeet Manerud is in charge of the ticket sale.

Book Week To Benefit Campus, Town People

Associated Women Students are sponsoring book week, Monday to Thursday, October 24 to 28, to stimulate interest in current literature among campus and town people. Betty Jones has been appointed chairman, assisted by Janet Fitch in charge of publicity.

A room on the third floor of Gerlinger hall will be provided for reading with comfortable furnishings. It will be open from 1 to 5, the first four days of next week.

U.S.C. Trojans To Fight Many Contenders for National Title

By MALCOLM BAUER
For four weeks football teams from every corner of the country have battled for national recognition. Each week a bevy of potentially great eleven drop into the ever-growing list of defeated teams. Yet there is still a file of schools, which have been neither defeated or tied on the gridiron this fall.

There are more than 30 outstanding college aggregations, stretching from Los Angeles to New York, and from Michigan to Florida which have not tasted the bitter grapes of defeat nor been held to a tie.

Many Stand Out
Of the above mentioned undefeated and untied eleven, about 50 per cent stand out as serious contenders for the national title, now held by the University of Southern California Trojans. These teams, separated into their respective sections, are:

East—Colgate, Columbia, Pittsburgh, Fordham, New York university, Pennsylvania, Harvard, and Brown.

South—Kentucky, Tennessee, Auburn, and Texas Christian.

Middle West—Michigan, Purdue, and Notre Dame.

Pacific Coast—Stanford and Southern California.

East Has Strong Teams
The eastern contingent is the largest because of the great number of schools included in this section. Of the eight teams leading the race on the Atlantic seaboard, Colgate, Pittsburgh, N. Y. U., and Harvard are the most formidable.

Colgate has not as yet had its goal line crossed in four major tilts, and startled fans throughout the nation last Saturday by trampling the strong Lafayette outfit by a

On Pepper's First Play in a Conference Game This Happened

This picture shows Pepper Pepelnjak starting a 45-yard sprint that brought Oregon its first touchdown against the fighting Bruins from the University of California at Los Angeles. The Webfoots held a 7-to-0 advantage over the southerners until there were only four minutes to go. Then the Bruins began to advance over Multnomah field like a squadron of infantry. A long pass brought a touchdown, but Oregon still led, 7 to 6. Only 15 seconds were left to play when Mitchell Frankovitch, pass-heaving quarterback, whipped the ball 80 yards to Ransom Livesay, who carried the pigskin 70 yards through the dusk to victory, 12 to 7. This Frank Merriwell finish and Pepper's dashing run were the highlights of one of the greatest games ever played on the Pacific Coast.

Mu Phi Presents Miss Juliet Glen In Vocal Recital

Artist To Be Accompanied By John Stark Evans At Organ

Mu Phi Epsilon, women's national music honorary, presents Miss Juliet Glen, lyric soprano, in recital next Thursday evening, Oct. 20 at 8 o'clock in the University school of music auditorium. The event is being given for the benefit of the Mu Phi Epsilon scholarship fund.

Eugeneans are especially anticipating the concert as Miss Glen resided here in her childhood, and is the daughter of the late Irving M. Glen, who was the first dean of the University school of music. Miss Glen has spent much time in serious study both in the United States and in Europe under leading teachers, including Emma Calve of Paris.

John Stark Evans, University organist, is to accompany, Miss Glen.

Following the concert, the local acting chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, Mrs. W. W. Calkins acting as chairman, will be hostesses for an informal reception in the lounge of the music building, to which everyone is invited. Opportunity will thus be afforded for friends to meet Miss Glen.

The program for the concert is as follows:

Espy Announces Members of High Tradition Council

Cecil Espy, president of the senior class, late last night announced the personnel of the senior traditions council, an organization designed to mete out punishment to violators of campus traditions, working in cooperation with the traditions court named yesterday.

Mahr Reymers will head the organization. The other members will be Sterling Green, John Marrs, Herb King, Jean Grady, Chuck Gillespie, Orville Bailey, John McCulloch, Doug Wight, and Ed Cruikshank.

Dean Jewell Gives Talk on System of Future Education

Talks To Be Given Weekly By Various Members Of Faculty

Dean J. R. Jewell, dean of the school of education last night gave his views on the methods of future educational systems before a large congregation of students and members of the faculty at Gerlinger hall. This was the second of a series of lectures under the general heading of "The World Tomorrow" which are to be delivered by various members of the faculty for the next six Tuesdays. This movement is sponsored by the Students' Christian council.

Dean Jewell pointed out the fact that in the past pupils have been taught to remember great masses of facts, but the general trend now in the educational systems is to give more laboratory work, and to teach students to do things which require skill. Dean Jewell emphasized that "measurable skill is noticeable," but that knowing a lot of rules and facts is an obscure attribute in students. It is his belief that in the future educators will stress the acquirement of skill rather than gorging students with data.

Theatre Passes Won by 'Scribes'

Ed Stanley, senior in journalism, wins the Colonial pass this week for having turned in 20 stories to the Emerald. Barney Clark, freshman, was second, with a total of 16. Twelve was the largest number of stories turned in by one person last week.

For the best work of the week as night editor, Hubert Totton received a pass. He worked on Friday's paper.

Malcolm Bauer, assistant sports editor, took the prize for doing the most outstanding work of the week. This award was based on the recommendation of the crew at the press.

For the second consecutive week, Howard Brower won the pass for being the best copyreader on the Emerald. He wrote 21 heads, 10 more than last week's winning score. Betty Powell was second this week with 14 heads. Frances Rothwell took third place with 12 heads.

Senior Class Nominates 3 For Office of Vice-President

At the senior class meeting held last night in Willard hall three members were nominated for office of vice-president to succeed Marjorie Swafford who failed to return to the campus. The three students are Maryvelyn Bradford, Isabelle Crowell, and Marjorie Halderman.

According to the class constitution elections are held seven days after nomination, therefore Tuesday will be set as the date with the time and place to be decided later. John King will be in charge of the election board.

Virgil Langtry gave a report on the possible gift to the University which will either be in the form of a loan fund or a presentation of a bust of the late Dean John Straub, dean emeritus of the University of Oregon. The matter was laid aside for a future meeting.

A discussion was made on the continuation of the junior-senior dance. It was voted to continue the precedence and the date has been set for November 10 or 11.

Cecil Espy, class president, explained that the senior traditions committee composed of 10 members would cooperate with President Bob Hall's traditions court. These, he announced, he would name later.

ASUO Committee Says New Ruling Ineffective

Students participating in campus activities will not be effected this year by the recently installed ruling to the effect that class standings are necessary to engage in class activities, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of the judiciary committee of the A. S. U. O.

The new regulation stated that a student candidate for any office or position must have the standing of the class to which the appointment or election had reference. Under this ruling, many of this year's student office holders were ineligible for their present positions.

Steps were taken by the committee to amend the constitution of the university so as to keep it in conformity with the previous action of the committee.

Infirmary Has Charm Upon Football Players

The football players still seem to like the infirmary in spite of, or possibly because of, the beating they take. Art Clarkson refuses to be like Jim Gemlo, old individuality plus. Art goes to the infirmary every evening in order to get heat treatments for his broken shoulder, while Jim drifts in for ice to put on his injured optic. Otherwise the girls have the place to themselves.

Those having the run of the place for the time being are Helen Catherine Sargent, Gladys Burns, Gladys Backe, and Dorothy McMillan.

2 Graduates Now Teach at U. High

Two former University students are now teaching at the University high school. They are D. L. Leslie, supervisor of the biology department, and Joseph Holaday, supervisor of social science.

Mr. Leslie graduated from Oregon in 1930, and has been teaching in various public schools in the state.

Mr. Holaday graduated in 1929 and spent the next year teaching in Corvallis high. While in Corvallis he became acquainted with a great number of Oregon faculty, of which several have been transferred to Oregon this year. The last two years Mr. Holaday has spent teaching in Klamath Union high school, and when Easton Rothwell, former supervisor of social science at University high, received an appointment at Stanford, Mr. Holaday was given the position. He is also teaching a course in methods of teaching social science in the University, and at the same time working for a master's degree.

Wesley Club Hallowe'en Party Set for Friday

The Wesley club will have a Hallowe'en party Friday evening, October 21. The party will take place out of town, and those who desire to attend are asked to meet at the First Methodist church at 8 o'clock that evening.

Eula Loomis is general chairman. Violet Adams is in charge of decorations, assisted by Verne Adams and John Crockett. Students who attend are asked to wear old clothes.

Journalism Cast Cares Aside, See Show at Colonial

The journalism shack, usually crowded with busy workers, was bereft of diligent Emerald workers last night. Typewriters ceased their noisy chatter, and no crumpled wads of copy paper bounced vaguely in the region of the waste baskets. The telephone did not ring, or if it did it was due for disappointment—after 9:30.

Taking advantage of the generous hospitality of Glen Godfrey, promotion manager of the theater, who furnished passes, the journalistic threats tucked their pencils behind their ears and trekked en masse to the Colonial theatre, where "X Marks the Spot" was shown.

A. W. S. To Make Merry Tonight at 'Get Wise' Party

Committees Prepare Skits; Refreshments, Dancing To Be Features

Tonight at 7:30 the fun will start at the Associated Women Students' Get-Wise party, in the women's gym, when all freshman women will be entertained by their councilors, the A. W. S. council, the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and the W. A. A. council. It will be the last big group meeting of freshman women with their councilors, announced Jean Felling, chairman.

Everything has been planned to make the evening a success. Amusing and clever skits are promised by Helen Burns, chairman of entertainment. She has been assisted by Beverly Price, Betty Jones, and Edith Clement. Lois Greenwood, in charge of refreshments, guarantees delicious food. Dancing will also be a feature of the evening.

The affair will be entirely informal with campus clothes in order. Study tables in the various living organizations will be exposed to enable every freshman woman to come and enjoy this evening with other members of her class.

Librarian To Talk To Editing Class

Guides for locating material for theses, and short cuts for news writers will be the predominant features in the address to be given to journalism majors in editing class this morning by Miss Lenore Casford, circulation librarian at the University of Oregon.

So much difficulty has been encountered by students writing term papers in journalism classes that Miss Casford and Dean Allen have decided to demonstrate the correct methods to locate desirable material, and do so in the shortest time possible.

The use of card catalogues, periodicals, and such pamphlets as the "Readers' Guide" will be stressed by the librarian in her effort to acquaint the journalists with the inner side of the old libe-

Dad's Committee Chosen by Conly; Weed Made Head

Plan Information Bureau; Students Will Send Program

A sub-committee has been selected by Barbara Conly, registration chairman, to aid her in making provisions to welcome the University Dads who will attend the sixth annual Dad's Day on Saturday, October 29.

The committee consists of Margaret Weed, Charles Clay, Virginia Kibbee, Al McKelligon, Louise Barclay, and Walt Gray. This group will make contacts with each house organization to have students meet the Dads at the train on Friday and Saturday.

As a special feature that will be something new in the way of welcoming the Dads, Miss Conly is planning to have an information bureau at the depot to direct the Dads to the campus. To assist in making Dad's Day the most successful ever held, Tom Tongue, advertising chairman, said, "Don't take it for granted that the students have written to Dads, but check up on each member to make sure." Either the representatives or the committee appointed by house presidents should make necessary arrangements for the entertainment of the Dads during the times when there is no event on the campus program. Special arrangements for luncheons on Saturday and dinners on Sunday should be made.

Programs will be distributed this week to be sent to all the Dads by the students. The University has already sent an announcement of Dad's Day Week-end and a tentative program of its events to the Dads of the state. A large percentage of the Dads in all the houses will mean that the sorority, fraternity, or dormitory organizations will have a chance to cop one of the cups that are on display at the Co-op.

Marjorie Haas, banquet chairman, is working in conjunction with Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed and Paul R. Washke, has appointed two girls to assist her. They are Helen Raitenen on decorations and Mary New for the ushers.

Deady's 19th Century Style Subject for Reminiscence

By ANN-RED BURNS
Have you ever gazed reminiscently at Deady hall, likening it to grandmother's house where you used to make mud pies, and play Robin Hood out under the oak tree?

It is no wonder—for Deady, with its projecting cupolas and towers, is very like the stylish 19th-century homes. Indeed, it may have been built by the very same carpenter that put that squeaky door in grandmother's attic, way back in 1876.

If you ever arrive at the top of Deady (if it isn't necessary few people do it, 'cause it's four long flights up), you'll notice that the roof's high, with tall windows and

Use Of Cars To Remain Under Faculty Rule

Autos To Be Registered With Authorities

BAN ON CAMPUS USE

Committee Reserves Power To Revoke Permits for Due Cause

By DON CASWELL

In spite of the fact that prohibition of student autos was withdrawn by the state board of higher education at their meeting Monday, student use of cars will remain under the control of the University authorities, if plans for modified enforcement are put into effect.

The proposed plans would require students to register all cars with the authorities. It provides a weapon for the control and penalizing of students who abuse the liberties extended to them, and will make the strict observance of the traffic laws an important factor, with heavy penalties for flagrant law violation.

Enforcement Body Continues

As far as is known, faculty enforcement committees will continue, and will be the executive bodies in the new plans of modification. They will work in conjunction with each other, and act on all matters concerning problems of student driving.

However, with their work of passing on petitions for permits lifted, meetings would probably be necessary only to the extent of one two-hour meeting a week, instead of the three four-hour meetings which have been necessary to clear up the vast amount of work accumulated at the opening of school.

Spencer's Points Listed

Specifically, the important points to be offered to the committee by Carlton Spencer, chairman of the board, at the next meeting of the body are:

1. That permission to use a car be withdrawn in every case where it plays a detrimental part in a student's scholarship, discipline, social life, or general welfare. This will be invoked in connection with all forms of violation of campus regulations and traditions. All institutional officers and committees having the administration of regulations, or in any way connected with student welfare, will have the use of cars in mind. This will be particularly true of the scholarship committee, discipline committee, housing committee, and the like.
2. All students who desire to use their cars will probably be required to register them with the proper authorities of the institution. Some form of tag or sticker, will likely be adopted as a

L. F. Henderson At Idaho Reunion

Louis F. Henderson, professor of botany and curator of the herbarium, is at present in Moscow, Idaho, attending a reunion of the former students and professors of the University of Idaho. He is one of the oldest of the former staff members.

Professor Henderson, at the beginning of his career, taught botany in Moscow for 16 years, from 1893 to 1909. While there, he worked on the botanical arrangements for the world's fair in Chicago.

He came to the University of Oregon in 1925 and has been holding his present position since 1929. He is expected to return from Idaho by next Thursday.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Important Hoover for President club meeting this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Y. W. bungalow. All women of voting age on the campus are urged to attend.

A. W. S. invites all freshman women to attend the "Get Wise" party tonight at the women's gym at 7:30. All freshman councilors must be there and wear their badges.

Theta Sigma Phi meets today at 4 o'clock in 104 Journalism.

Master Dance will meet tonight at 7:30. All members please be sure to bring 50 cents.

The orchestra reception which Mr. Underwood planned to hold at his home tonight is postponed until next Wednesday on account of the mass meeting, down town. For the same reason, the rehearsal will begin at 7 o'clock instead of 7:30.

University orchestra rehearsal will be at 7 p. m. tonight and will be over at 8 in time for mass-meeting down town. All members are urged to be there.
