

Nobody's Business

By BRUCE HAMBY
 ONE of the members of the Emerald sports staff spent some time earlier this week searching through files for the longest runs of the season. The 105-yard gallop for a touchdown by Herb McCarty, University of Florida fullback, in the game with Sewanee is the longest this year. Park H. Davis, nationally known gridiron statistician, notes that this is the longest run made from scrimmage in many years.

McCarty dropped five yards behind his own goal line to put but was obliged to change his mind. He dashed for the open and completed his sensational run through the whole Sewanee team.

"We will have to go backward many years, in fact no less than 23 years," writes Davis, "to find a longer scoring run from scrimmage. George S. McCaa of Lafayette in a game with Swarthmore, October 15, 1909, preparing to punt from behind his goal, similarly was forced to run and raced the full length of the field, then measuring 110 yards, for a touchdown.

"The record run from scrimmage, 115 yards, was made by Wyllys Terry of Yale against Wesleyan in 1884. The field in that day also measured 110 yards.

"Benny Boynton of Williams in 1920 caught a Hamilton punt ten yards behind his own goal line and ran 110 yards to score. G. C. Gray of Oberlin in 1908 received a Cornell punt nine yards back of his goal line and also got away for a touchdown. The late Walter Eckersall of Chicago in 1904 raced 106 yards to score after catching a Wisconsin punt."

George Wilson, regular halfback for Idaho this year, got credit for the longest run in 1930. His 105-yard scoring run from scrimmage against Whitman that year, was the longest made in the United States. Last year Jack Burke ran back a kick-off 109 yards for a touchdown in the Mississippi-Alabama game.

When the Oregon varsity entrains for Moscow, Idaho, this week's end it opens an extensive traveling schedule, not as long as last year's but long enough for the players to see around 8000 miles of these United States. Following the Vandal game the Webfoots return to Eugene for a two-week stand. On October 29, Gonzaga comes here for its first appearance in Eugene. The following week Oregon and Oregon State play the annual "civil war" encounter.

The middle of the following week finds the Webfoots leaving for Los Angeles where U. S. C. forms the opposition. Twelve days later is the annual Thanksgiving day classic with St. Mary's in San Francisco.

The final game of the year is the inter-sectional contest with Louisiana State university on December 10. This game will be played in Baton Rouge, La. To date Portland is the most distant scene of battle for Callison's squad. Perhaps the breaks will come when Oregon rooster's have to listen to radio reports.

Dad's Day Attendance Trophies Are Up Again

The A. W. Norblad and the Paul T. Shaw trophies which are now on display in the Co-op window are again to be awarded to the house having the highest percentage of dads at the annual Dad's day celebration.

The winners last year were the Sigma Kappas, first, taking the Norblad cup, and second, Phi Mu, winning the Paul T. Shaw trophy.

Calland Drills Grid Squad Hard for Oregon Invasion

Idaho Ready For Webfoot Tilt Saturday

Vandals Confident After Stopping Montana

Conference Struggle at Missoula To Be Major Event of Moscow Homecoming

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Oct. 18.—Having done a highly creditable job of outpitting and outwitting one heavier opponent, the University of Idaho Vandals are ready for their next rival in the big-tonnage division. Last Saturday the Vandals upset the dope decisively at Missoula and defeated the highly touted

Leo Calland Montana eleven 19 to 6, bringing home their first conference victory.

This coming Saturday the Vandals face another heavier club, the powerful University of Oregon eleven, at Moscow in Idaho's homecoming. It will be the first time in about 10 years that Oregon has played in the Vandal home camp.

Smith Slowed Up
 Willis Smith, the little giant of the Idaho grid squad, who ran the Grizzlies ragged and scored two touchdowns to lead Pacific coast scorers, suffered an injury late in the game which may bother him for a few days. Bob Moser, sophomore tackle, is probably out of the Oregon game, and Max Elden, running guard, had a bad charley horse.

Howard McInerney, sophomore tackle, and June Hanford, two-year letterman at end, are also still on the bench. There is a possibility that Hanford will see action against the Oregonians but McInerney is still on crutches and probably will not even put on a suit until after the big game.

Sorry Mill's Out
 The Idaho team hit its stride in the Montana game and Coach Leo Calland expects the Vandals to give Oregon a stiff battle all the way. The record of the invaders is far more impressive than that of the Idaho team and the Webfoots will be rated as heavy favorites to win, but Idaho traditionally plays good football against Oregon.

Two of the best defensive fullbacks in the Northwest will show their wares to the homecoming crowd when Mike Mikulak of Oregon and "Big John" Norby, the Vandal line backer, go to work on each other. Norby is a halfback on offense and a mighty fine blocker, but when Oregon has the ball he will be playing in the fullback position to stop the Oregon power drives.

Professors To Speak
 Drs. O. F. Stafford, Harold J. Noble, and S. Stephenson Smith will be absent from the University next Monday and Tuesday. They are scheduled to speak at the teachers' institute to be held in Grants Pass.

240 Pounds of Crashing Power

Lads and lassies, meet George Theodoratus, 240-pound fullback for the Washington State college Cougars. He smashes the Oregon State college line at Corvallis this coming week-end. Saturday at Berkeley Mr. Theodoratus and his agile backfield pals, Oliver Arhelbide and George Sander, made things miserable for the California Bears, beating them, 7 to 2. (Journal cut.)

U. S. C. TROJANS TO FIGHT CONTENDERS FOR TITLE

35-0 score. Pitt also jumped into the limelight by trouncing West Point's cadets 18-13 in a thriller. Harvard and N. Y. U. have each been turning back strong teams all season with fair consistency. The Violets' stock jumped a point when they ran rough-shod over the big Georgetown squad last week-end, piling up a 93-0 score.

Tennessee and Kentucky are the standard bearers in the South, with Texas Christian, who boasts five consecutive victories, forming the opposition. The Tennessee hurdled their first major barrier last week in downing Alabama 7-3, while Kentucky was romping on Washington and Lee, 53-7.

Notre Dame Favorite
 In the Big Ten, Michigan and Purdue have kept their records without a blemish through a hard early season schedule. Each has two well-earned victories over conference opponents. Notre Dame will have to be considered this year. The Ramblers, although they have not as yet had a real test, have shown unlimited offensive power, rolling up 135 points in their first two games.

The two leaders here on the Pacific coast have not long to wait before their dispute will be settled. This Saturday foxy "Pop" Warner will send his highly-touted Stanford Cards against the powerful Southern California Trojans. As it stands now, the Palo Alto outfit are conceded the edge.

Yeomen, Fiji Teams To Vie In Final Meet

Intramural Swimming Tilt At End Tonight

Championship Fracas Set for 7:00 At Tank in Gerlinger; Stars To Meet

Intramural Swimming Finals
 Fijis vs. Yeomen, 7:30 o'clock. Gerlinger hall pool. No admission.

By BEN BACK
 Tonight at 7:30 p. m., the two finalists in the intramural swimming tournament, Fijis and Yeomen, will clash at Gerlinger hall to determine the winner of the 1932-33 swimming intramurals.

Both teams were winners in yesterday's semi-finals. The Yeomen conquered the Phi Psi mermen by a score of 26 to 16. The Fijis had an easy time romping over the Chi Psi team by a score of 28 to 14.

Blankenberg Stars Again
 The second of last night's meets was, by far, the most outstanding meet in the intramurals. Blankenberg again broke two all-time records which have stood for a long time. The new records are in the 60-yard individual medley and in the 120-yard medley relay. Both records were surpassed by three seconds.

The Yeomen also produced a star by the name of Kirby who won a thrilling race from two fast Phi Psi swimmers in the breaststroke. Both Cory and Lewis practically had the race won until the final 20 yards when Kirby, showing a marvelous burst of speed, flashed by them in a furious sprint.

Kirby and Blankenberg are matched together today in the 40-yard breast stroke event and this race should prove to be the climax of the meet. The team winning this race will probably win the meet. Blankenberg's time, in this event, is just a little faster than Kirby's but Kirby is bound to make a race of it with his sprinting.

Intramural Swimming Finals Will Be Tonight

Intramural swimming finals will take place in Gerlinger hall pool today at 7:30 p. m., with Phi Gamma Delta and the Yeomen clashing.

Anyone interested in swimming is invited to attend the meet. No admission will be charged. Gerlinger hall pool has a seating capacity for only 300 persons and in order to obtain a good seat anyone who is planning to attend is urged to come as early as possible.

Eggs For Ducats! Hay Makers Gets Grid Tickets Now

ARCADIA, La.—(AP)—Now a basket of eggs may be exchanged for football tickets. A sack of potatoes, onions or beans also will be accepted, as will canned fruits, chickens, peanuts, corn and corn meal, fresh greens and turnips or anything edible.

The plan has been put into operation at the Arcadia high school by E. R. Hester, principal, and R. A. Hassell, Jr., athletic coach.

Farm products accepted in lieu of cash at the gate will be used in the school cafeteria or distributed to the needy of the community, school authorities said.

P. E. Staff Members To Air Views on Olympics

Several speakers from the physical education department will give their views on the Olympic games at a special meeting today at 8 o'clock. The meeting which is to be held at 8 in the associated student hall in the Gerlinger building, is sponsored by the Phi Epsilon Kappa, national professional physical education organization, and the Women's Physical Education club.

Colonel Bill Hayward will give his views on the track and field events, Paul R. Washke will make a general talk on the games as a whole, Ernesto R. Knollin will describe the gymnastic and swimming events, while Janet G. Woodruff will give a talk on the women's athletics at the Olympics.

The meeting is also open to all physical education majors who will be urged to attend if possible.

Free Football Games Ordered at Bethany

BETHANY, W. Va.—(IP)—Football players at Bethany college are to be football players and not gladiators henceforth, according to an announcement made to the effect that no admission will be charged for any more of the college's home football games, nor for any other athletic contests.

President Cloyd Goodnight explained the action by saying: "We want our friends to see our team on the field because it is made up of bona fide college students and we shall not continue to parade them like prize horses at the county fair."

USE OF CARS TO REMAIN UNDER FACULTY RULE

means of identification of the cars. 3. Strict observance of all city, state, and campus traffic laws will be necessary if students are to be permitted the use of their cars. Severe penalties will be dealt to students for flagrant violation of motor laws.

Actual Limits Pending
 The portion of the statement of the state board of higher education which forbade the use of student cars on the campus referred in the greater part to existing conditions at Oregon State, where automobiles traverse the actual campus on roads among the buildings. This was the condition at the University until several years ago, when the roads running from 13th street to 11th street through the lane of buildings was closed due to excessive use of the roads by commercial vehicles.

Actual definitions of the bounds of the Oregon campus where driving will not be permitted are yet pending the meeting of the faculty enforcement board and consultation with Chancellor Kerr upon his return to Eugene.

Grins From The Grid

By O. W. (RED) SEVERANCE
 This is the first of a series of grid features by O. W. Severance, noted football official, for the Associated Press.

That master of gridiron psychology—Head Coach Robert C. Zuppke of Illinois—saves this favorite football story for gathering of old timers:

A tense air hung over the dressing room in the gymnasium at the Danville high school, Illinois, Zuppke relates, as the nervous members of the little visiting team from St. Joseph awaited those last trying moments before the Thanksgiving game that would decide sectional honors.

Finally the last enthusiastic well-wishers had been chased from the room and all the doors closed.

Slightly awed by the strangeness and size of the big gymnasium, the St. Joseph players fidgeted.

Their coach suddenly began a last stirring appeal.

"You've got to drive hard today," he barked at the flushed-faced group. "Tackle hard and tackle low. No letting up, for you've got us on size. Remember, never stop driving."

With the team whipped into a frenzy, he yelled, "Now are you ready to go out there and die for St. Joe?"

"Yea," the team cried, and as their captain flung open a nearby door the whole squad plunged through—to land head first in the icy waters of an indoor swimming pool. The captain had opened the wrong door.
