

JURIST TO SPEAK AGAINST MERGER MEASURE

Bowerman Assails Hall's Conduct of ASUO Government

Vice-president Charges Prexy 'Grabs' Posts

Bill Says He Was Not Consulted on Choices

WANTS NEW DEAL

Quarterback Wanted To Head Athletic Group; Avers He Was Made Music Chief

By PARKS HITCHCOCK

Charging that Bob Hall, student-body president, had appointed himself head of all the important A. S. U. O. committees, Bill Bowerman, vice-president of the student-body and varsity football quarterback, last night issued a statement to the Emerald in which he assailed what he termed were the president's "autocratic" methods.

"Hall has appointed himself chairman of all the major student-body committees and has given myself and the other officers scarcely any voice whatsoever in the conducting of the government," Bowerman said. "He is chairman of the executive council, the publications committee, the athletic committee, and the student relations committee."

4 Committees Not Headed

Continuing, Bowerman charged as follows: "There are only four committees which Hall does not head. These are the finance committee, of which Jim Travis is chairman; the forensics committee, of which Cap Roberts is chairman; the building committee, of which Otto Vonderheit is chairman; and the music committee, of which I am chairman.

"I realize that the constitution specifies that the president shall head the council, the publications, and the student relations committee, but why Hall should extend his authority to include jurisdiction over the athletic committee is beyond my comprehension."

Asked for Job Bowerman continued: "Before the committees were appointed last spring, I asked Hall to consider me for the head of the athletic committee, inasmuch as that was the line in which my major interest was centered. His answer was to appoint himself. I was named head of the music committee. I know nothing about music, and considered it poor judgment on Hall's part to name me to that position.

"Since Hall has been in office he has not consulted me about one appointment. I have not been given any consideration in the managing of the affairs of the government. The first thing I knew about the personnel of the homecoming, rally, and Dad's day decorations was when I read about them in the Emerald."

Dictating Is Charged

Bowerman continued: "I was elected vice-president of the student-body by the students. I do not think I will be fulfilling my obligations to my constituents if I

Freshman Game Tickets Available Here Tomorrow

Tickets for the Frosh-Rook game Friday night in Corvallis may be obtained in Eugene between now and Friday at the Co-op store, Ronald Robnett, assistant graduate manager, announced yesterday.

All tickets sold here will be honored at only one gate at Bell field, leading to an Oregon rooting section. Tickets will be sold for 55 cents, including tax. They will also be available in Corvallis.

Rally To Be Held Today for Idaho Bound Gridsters

Espy States Final Plans For Entrainment Rally At Station Today

Every member of every living organization on the campus is asked to be at the railroad station at 4 o'clock today to join in a giant rally when the football team entrains for Idaho, according to Cecil Espy, chairman of the rally committee.

"When the band takes control at 4 o'clock, we want to hear 2,000 voices break into 'Mighty Oregon,'" Espy stated. "We also urgently request that the Order of the 'O' cooperate with us by appearing in force, as their presence materially aids the enthusiasm of the crowd."

It is announced that there will be no serpentine. Students are requested to use every method of conveyance available in order to get to the station. The important element is to be there at 4 o'clock. The committee complimented the Skull and Daggers, sophomore men's service honorary, for their excellent cooperation at all the rallies held this fall.

Masefield Poetry Will Be Discussed by Moll

Ernest G. Moll, instructor in literature, will discuss "Salt Sea Ballads" from Masefield at this evening's meeting of Prose and Poetry group of Philometele to be held at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house at 9.

This is the first of a series of meetings at which Masefield's many types of poetry will be read and discussed. All members and others interested are urged to be present for Mr. Moll's introduction to a study of Masefield.

New Officers Elected For Philometele Group

The "Woman in Her Sphere" group of Philometele met Tuesday night at 9:00 o'clock at the Chi Omega house, and elected officers.

Mae Schnellbacher of Eugene was elected president; Eleanor Norblad, Astoria, vice-president and Dorothy Hackney, Portland, secretary.

Plans for a "get acquainted" party were made for November 1. Twenty members were present at this meeting.

Gleemen Introduce Oregon Loyalty Song at Mass Meet

"We Have Heard You, Alma Mater" is the title of the new Oregon loyalty song introduced last night for the first time by the Eugene Gleemen at the mass meeting held in the Eugene armory.

Words for the song, which has been completed and utilized to serve as a plea for the conservation of the University, were written about three years ago by James H. Gilbert, dean of the college of literature, science and the arts. The music was composed by John Stark Evans, professor of music and director of the Eugene Gleemen.

The completion of the song occurred a few weeks ago when the existing conditions of impending danger to the University prompted

Mr. Gilbert to urge Mr. Evans to write the music. The words of the song recognized the debt owed by the University to the pioneers that founded it, and the obligation to carry on and conserve the institution that came as the result of their sacrifices.

The four verses of the song follow:

I
Pioneers have builded nobly
Seeking truth that men be free;
We will keep what they have left us
Sacred for the years to be.
We have heard you, Alma Mater
And reverer you when you call,
We will grasp the torch of learning

Oregon Emerald Business Heads Unfold New Plan

Stores To Be Convinced Of Advertising Value In School Paper

A plan to convince Eugene merchants of the effectiveness in advertising in the Oregon Daily Emerald was unfolded by the Emerald business staff last night.

The new idea is to have students and faculty members present patronage cards to the local merchants while making any purchases. The legend printed on each card reads: "Your advertising placed in the University of Oregon Daily Emerald brings results. Our patronage is an appreciation of your cooperation with the Emerald and the University." The card slogan is, "Influencing 3,500 Moderns."

Five thousand cards have been printed and will be distributed to all living organizations on the campus, independent students and faculty members. The object of this drastic decision is to have every student present a card to the merchants whenever a purchase is made.

The purpose is to get more advertising in the Emerald and to show appreciation to those advertisers who have cooperated with the Emerald and the University. To make this effective, it is necessary to have 100 per cent cooperation on the part of the students.

In urging the students and faculty to use these cards, Harry Schenk, business manager, said, "It is absolutely essential that these patronage cards be placed and used, otherwise the Emerald will be forced to undergo a drastic change." A list of all present Emerald advertisers will be posted in the living organizations so that students will be able to know who the advertisers are when they make purchases.

By next June from 25 to 50 thousand patronage cards will be printed. A similar idea to this plan is being used at the University of Washington. From reports, the system has increased local advertising to an astonishing degree.

YW Hobby Group To Study Persia

Persia, exotic land of mystery and allure, will be the theme of tonight's Y. W. World Fellowship meeting at the bungalow, starting promptly at 8:45. Betty Jones, with a year's residence there as a background, is to speak on "Student Life in Persia."

Miss Jones, now a junior at the University, spent the past year at Ahwaz, in southern Persia, where she obtained first-hand information regarding the people and customs of the country. These she will describe tonight, and relate her own experiences there.

Helen Binford, who spent a summer abroad recently as a special Y. W. representative, and has charge of the group for the year, invites anyone interested to attend.

Art Department To Exhibit Work Of Faculty Design

The art school faculty exhibit opens tomorrow at 4 o'clock in the gallery of the Art building. Mr. Lance Hart of the art department extends an invitation to all students to attend. Those who had the opportunity to attend a pre-showing were greatly impressed by the unusual designs and the exquisite and imaginative rendering of the display.

YWCA To Flood School Next Week With Donut Sale

Dunking Will Be Leading Activity Beginning Next Tuesday

Dunking will lead campus activities next week with the installation of National Donut season Tuesday, when donuts will be the order of the day in celebration of the partial removal of the car ban or anything else appropriate.

With the war-cry, "Dunk a donut," members of the Y. W. C. A. will be out in an organized body Tuesday to bombard the campus with Mayflower donuts, at five cents for two bombs. Donuts, however, may be bought without plans of dunking, according to Louise Barclay, chairman of the campaign.

Committee of Sigma Xi To Discuss Program

The executive committee of the local chapter of Sigma Xi, national science honorary, will meet today at 4 o'clock to discuss the program for the coming year.

The meeting will be held in the office of Professor L. F. Henderson, professor of botany, who is chairman of the committee. The other members are Dr. F. L. Shinn, professor of chemistry, and Dr. Rosalind Wulzen, of the biology department.

Plans To Defeat School Grab Bill Put in Operation

Higher Education Friends To Fight Legislation Through Mail

Today's mail will carry thousands of letters and postcards to voters in Oregon urging them to vote 317 X No on the Zorn-Macpherson school-moving bill. These same letters were last night used by Eugene citizens and University students and faculty members to gain admittance to the army where one of the biggest mass meetings ever seen in Eugene was held. The meeting was called by Eugene businessmen for the purpose of discussing plans for fighting the destructive school-scrapping bill.

The letters now going over the state are addressed to friends, relatives, and business associates of members of last night's audience. When 20,000 cards are sent out next week by University students one of the biggest mailing campaigns in the state will have been completed.

Speakers on last night's program were William Tugman, managing editor of the Eugene Register-Guard, and Edward F. Bailey, Eugene attorney. Both have been leaders in the fight against the proposed merging of institutions of higher education.

Numbers by the University of Oregon band, the Eugene Gleemen, and Abbie Green's orchestra completed the rally.

First of Series of Free Movies To Be Tonight

The "movie-minded" of the campus may indulge their taste without expense at the Y. M. C. A. hut tonight when the first of a series of free motion-picture programs is to be given. All students, including co-eds, and members of the faculty are invited to attend.

The program, which is to begin at 7:30, will feature two subjects, "The Conquest of the Forest," a pictorial story of the Northwest lumber industry, and "The Story of Paper," a graphic history of the materials on which mankind has written from the Neolithic age to the 20th century, will be shown.

Political Talks To Be Given By Speech Group

Four Parties Scheduled For Discussion

EVERYONE INVITED

Reedy, Campbell, Potwin, Oliver Will Tell of Merits in Each Platform

Because this is a presidential year, and next month brings a presidential election, the speech department will sponsor a presidential forum tonight at Villard hall at 8 o'clock.

Four speakers, each prepared to present the platform of a presidential candidate, will tell those present of the qualifications of each man. Three of the prexy candidates in particular—Herbert Hoover, Republican; Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat; and Norman Thomas, Socialist, are expected to receive the bulk of the attention. Each speech will be approximately 2,500 words in length.

Speakers Listed

Wallace Campbell, graduate student in sociology, will speak for W. Z. Foster, Communist; Rolla Reedy, senior in education, for Thomas; Robert T. Oliver, graduate student in English, for Roosevelt; and Arthur Potwin, former student in business administration, for Hoover. All four speakers have had former practical experience in oratory.

Campbell was formerly a varsity debater, and represented the University at the Pacific Forensic league meeting last spring. Reedy is varsity debater and orator, and campaign manager for Wilson, candidate for congress. Arthur Potwin was also a varsity debater and orator and is taking active part in student opposition to the Zorn-Macpherson school-grab bill. Robert T. Oliver is graduate assistant in the speech department and former varsity debater of Pacific university.

Twelve Minute Talks

Each speaker will be allowed a period of 12 minutes for presenting his arguments and will speak in the order named above, which was determined by drawing. Announcement of chairmen will be made later. Open forum is to follow the speaking.

All those interested are urged to come as the forum will present opportunity to hear all angles of the present political situation clearly and impartially discussed.

Burg Will Speak At Matrix Table

Amos Burg, one of Oregon's youngest and foremost explorers and a student in the school of journalism here five years ago, is to be the guest speaker at the Matrix Table banquet, annual affair of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary. The date for the banquet has not been definitely decided upon yet, but it will take place probably during the first week of December.

Burg's talk will be illustrated by lantern slide pictures, showing native dances from all around the world, provided this film is ready at the time of the event. As an alternative, he will show films taken in the Yukon region and will tell about his experiences in paddling down the river in a canoe. He and his companion are the first white men known to make the trip.

Mrs. Allen Has Article Published in American

Mrs. Allen W. Allen, wife of Dean Allen, head of the school of journalism, is the author of the serial, "The Beret From Paris," which is now running in the American Weekly. The first installment appeared two weeks ago.

This is Mrs. Allen's first long story, though she has had short stories published in the Household, Target, Midland, and Frontier magazines.

Reading Contest For Class of 1935 Will End Friday

The closing date of the freshman reading contest has been moved from Monday of this week to Friday, to enable those who may not have seen the announcement in Saturday's Emerald to hand in their essays. This contest, which was sponsored by the library and the Co-op book balcony, offers a first prize of $30 worth of books from the Co-op to last year's freshman who makes the best presentation and shows the best planning in his extra-curricular reading. A second prize of $20 in books, and a third prize of $10 are also offered.

Tradition Day To Mark Opening of High Court Reign

Wayward Frosh To Be Told Of Prevailing Customs On Oregon Campus

Beware, frosh!

Today is tradition day. Every Thursday for the rest of the school year, will be designated as such for the purpose of acquainting all new students with traditions on the Oregon campus. During this day, members of Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's honorary, will stalk the campus in search of wayward yearlings, who see fit to violate any of the clauses in the Oregon code of freshman ethics.

The movement, sponsored by Bob Hall, president of the associated students and chairman of the senior court of traditions, was started, not as a means of meting out punishment to careless freshmen, but as a medium through which the few remaining traditions, which have been handed down from generation to generation on the University of Oregon campus, may be preserved. In reprimanding offenders, the sophomores will not carry a threat of immediate punishment, but if the standards laid down are not conformed to in due time, the wrongdoer is subject to being haled before the senior court of traditions which is scheduled to hold its first session of the year a week from today. For the remainder of the year, the court will meet once a week.

Today the men wearing skull and dagger emblem will be on hand to explain to new students all the virtues of wearing green tids; saying "hello" to every one on "Hello Walk," the location of which has been changed from that on the west side of Deady to the walk which extends from the library to Villard on the west side of Pioneer Square; and refraining from smoking on the campus, pigging at athletic contest, walking under an umbrella with a girl, carrying a girl's books on the campus, permitting a mustache to adorn the upper lip, stepping on the Oregon seal in front of Villard hall, sitting on the senior bench, and wearing cords, moleskins, tuxedos, or hats.

Schuyler Southwell Tells of Extensive Travels in Orient

By CYNTHIA LILJEQUIST
"The East had always held a strange fascination for me, so of course, I was mighty pleased when I had the chance to go. The unusual thing about it was that as I drew nearer the mystery did not vanish but deepened. It sort of impelled me to find out everything."

Schuyler Southwell, fifth year student in the architecture school, was speaking. Last spring he won the Murray-Warner essay contest, a trip to Japan and China, on his essay, "The Interplay Between Oriental and Occidental Architecture."

"My lot consisted of $500 cash. I decided to live as frugally as possible and shoot the sum on studying architectural galleries, and by places of interest. Accord-

Judge Harris To Talk Before Assembly At 10

Zorn - Macpherson Bill To Be Discussed

CLASSES DISMISSED

All Faculty and Students Urged To Attend, Hear Plans For Final Drive

All doors of the University of Oregon, with the exception of the one at McArthur court, will be closed at 10 o'clock this morning. The Igloo doors will be open to receive students and faculty members who will assemble to hear Judge Lawrence T. Harris, chairman of the executive committee of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, give plans for fighting the Zorn-Macpherson school moving bill which is on the November 8 ballot.

Judge Harris will not give a resume of the facts and figures concerning the bill, but will explain to students the part that they must play in defeating the measure. His talk will officially open the final student drive against the school grab bill.

Knows University History

Judge Harris is well informed on the school situation. He graduated from the University in 1893 in a class of 12 people. Since that time he has followed constantly the growth and development of the institution. His record in political affairs of the state has been an outstanding one.

When elected to the legislature in 1901 Judge Harris secured for the University its first increase in appropriation. In 1903 he was chosen speaker of the house in the legislature, after which he served 10 years on the circuit bench of the second judicial district. In 1915 he became a judge in the supreme court in which capacity he served until 1924, when he resigned to practice law in Eugene.

Since the first developments on the Zorn-Macpherson bill Judge Harris has been one of the strongest opponents to the measure in the state and has done much excellent work in combatting proponents of the school grab.

Bob Hall, president of the A. S. U. O., will call the assembly to order. Art Potwin, alumni director of the student anti-merger campaign, will introduce Judge Harris in the absence of Lynn S. McCready, finance chairman of the chamber executive committee.
