

A.W.S. Loan Fund Gives Students Aid

Cash on Hand Now Equals More Than $1100

Foreign Scholarship Aid Will Be Dropped; Other Activities Are Continued

Three years of hard work by executives of the Associated Women Students are now helping scores of students to remain in school. Starting from scratch in 1929, the aggressive successor to the Women's league has built up a cash fund of $1175, all of which is now available to students at nominal cost for short term emergency loans.

No high-powered "drives" have been staged to win this very considerable sum from a harassed student body. It has been cleverly and painlessly extracted through "mum sales," "Dime Crawls," "Kodak Kapers," theatre programs, and other activities planned and pushed by the leaders of the A. W. S.

Scholarship Fund Dropped

Outside the creation of the $1100 loan fund, the A. W. S. treasury has been able to finance a year's course of study for two foreign scholars, at a cost of $750 apiece. This expenditure has been discontinued this year in the belief that the needs of our own students are paramount as far as the disposition of funds is concerned.

Ronald Robnett, assistant graduate manager, became financial adviser for the A. W. S. at the same time that class budgets were placed under the supervision of the Associated Students' executives.

Officers Listed

Present officers of the A. W. S. are Louise Webber, president; Emmabelle Stadden, vice-president; Caroline Card, secretary; and Katherine Briggs, treasurer. These executives are planning a year of activity which they hope will add $600 to the emergency loan fund.

"Our 'mum sales have already begun," said Miss Webber last night. "The first Dime Crawl will be held on November 9, and plans are now being made with local theatres for shows sponsored by the A. W. S."

Women Organize Club for Hoover

For the purpose of arousing an interest among the University women in the re-election of Herbert Hoover, for president, a club was organized Tuesday evening at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow, by Mrs. D. H. Near, of the Eugene women's Hoover-Curtis club, by authority of the National Republican committee.

Virginia Wentz was elected president of the group; Emma Bell Stadden, secretary; and Marguerite Tarbell, and Valeria Talcutt committeemen. One more committeeman is to be appointed by the president.

Dance Petitions Have To Be Filed

Petitions for all house dances must be filed with the dean of women's office at least one week before the occurrence of the event. It was announced yesterday by Alice B. Macduff, assistant dean of women.

The names of at least three couples of patrons and patronesses must be included in the petition. The official list of appropriate patrons may be consulted in the dean of women's office by social chairmen who wish to select patrons.

Cosmopolitans To Have Get Together

All students and faculty members on the campus will be invited to attend an informal reception given by the Cosmopolitan club on Tuesday evening, October 25, from 8 to 10 at the International house. This is an annual affair, and will be the first event sponsored by the Cosmopolitan club this year.

According to Miss Thelma Nelson, publicity manager, the reception is for the purpose of acquainting students with the work of the organization whose goal is to create better understanding among people of all nations.

Lois Greenwood, president of the club, will act as general chairman of all committees, and Helen Binford is in charge of the program.

Degree in Sociology Received by Sheldon

Henry Sheldon, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1924, has received a Ph.D. degree in sociology at the University of Wisconsin, and is now occupying the position of research fellow in statistics at Wisconsin, according to word received on the campus.

He is the son of Dr. H. D. Sheldon, chairman of lower division social science on the campus. He took his master of arts degree in history from Oregon in 1926. For the past year he has been teaching in an Indiana college.

Student Drivers Appear Again on College Campus

A faint revival of the good old days before the ban was observed on the campus last night. Forty-four cars lined one side of the street between Friendly hall and Oregon. Many more were parked before College Side and Taylor's, and the men's and women's houses showed a goodly number.

Inspector Rhinesmith's Essex was present as usual, but failed to inspire its wonted terror. Timidly at first, but with ever-increasing boldness, the student driver is beginning to emerge from his lair, and it looks as if he would be returning en masse at the end of the Thanksgiving holidays.

Bishop Sees Old Pals in Showing Of Culver Movie

A one-man homecoming was staged here last night when Chuck Bishop, sophomore tackle, attended the showing of "Tom Brown of Culver" at the Colonial theatre. Bishop graduated from Culver Military academy in 1931, shortly before the picture was filmed there.

"The show follows life at Culver very closely," Bishop said. "I have sat in 'bull sessions' with all the fellows shown there. That is just as it really is."

"Sure, we drilled like that. This picture shows everything but the long hours of studying and the athletics."

All members of the cast were Bishop's classmates or his instructors, with the exception of the few leading characters.

The exterior scenes were taken on the campus and not on sets, Bishop said. They are a highly accurate portrayal of the life at the military school.

The film will be showing at the Colonial tonight also.

Story by Allen in Oregon Motorist

"The Fourth Road to Oregon," an article by E. W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, appears in the last issue of the Oregon motorist. In it, Dean Allen describes the route he and his family took on the way home from California this summer.

They came up through deserts and pueblo lands of the southwestern part of the United States, seeing Imperial valley, below sea level, the Salton sea, and a desert "where 107 degrees in the shade was called a 'relief from the heat,'" among other interesting things.

A search for variety on the long trip to Oregon brought the Allens through this interesting country. They had gone over the Pacific, Redwood, and Coast highways many times. They were looking for new sights and they found them.

Committee Named For Senior Gifts

Inadequate research on the part of class members has resulted in the "tabling" of the senior class' proposed gift to the University of Oregon, and the appointment of a standing committee for investigation of the disposal of the seniors' assets, amounting to $1,100.

This committee, composed of Virgil Langtry, James Travis, Dorothy Esch, and Charles Stryker, will look into possible suggestions for the class gift, and report at the next meeting, at which time a vote will be taken.

The two suggestions being considered at the present time are a bust of the late Dean Straub and the donation of the money to the loan fund.

Spanish Class Formed By Mrs. Juan B. Rael

A Spanish class is being organized by Mrs. Juan B. Rael for a small group of children whose parents are interested in having them learn the language by means of conversation and play.

Mrs. Rael has consented to teach Spanish to pupils at the request of several parents. The children will meet at her home at 1740 James street, near Columbia at 25th, after school hours for one or two afternoons a week. Mrs. Rael's children speak Spanish and will meet with the group to take part in its activities.

Young Democrats Will Meet at Eugene Hotel

Enthusiastic young Democrats on the campus, within the ages of 18 and 35, will be given a chance to show their party loyalty tomorrow night at the first meeting of the young democratic league of Eugene. This gathering has been called for 8 o'clock in the grill room of the Osburn hotel, and anyone, regardless of previous party affiliations, is urged to attend.

The Eugene organization will be a branch of the state and national Young Democratic league. It is planned to be a permanent organization and is not a duplicate of the Roosevelt for President club.

Graduate School Enrollment Shows Slight Increase

Incomplete Figures Reveal 180 Registered, Drop Shown at O. S. C.

While all of the other divisions of higher education in Oregon are now organized under the state board of higher education have fallen off from 18 per cent to 30 per cent in enrollment, the fraction of the graduate school left on the campus at Eugene shows a 6 1/2 per cent increase over 1931-32, according to figures given out by Dr. George Rebec, dean of the graduate school.

Of the three former divisions of the graduate school of the University, only two are left this year with the removal of pure science from here to the Oregon State college. At the close of the fall term, last year, registration in those divisions and departments which are still left at Eugene was 169, of which 95 were men. To date, this fall, the enrollment, though not entirely completed, is 180, of which 106 are men.

The natural science division, now situated at Corvallis, does not share the prosperity of the departments left at Eugene, but shows a decrease, this fall, from the 47 graduate students enrolled last year, to 37 registered at present, as reported by Mr. E. B. Lemon, registrar of the Oregon State college, to Dean Rebec. Of these 37, Mr. Lemon estimates that 27 were transfers from the University; eight of these, while registered in the school of science at Corvallis, are actually on the University campus, acting as graduate assistants in the departments at Eugene, a plan devised to keep down the cost of instruction here, without interfering with the standards of work.

Pre-Legal Smoker Set For 8 o'Clock Tonight

Preparations are completed for the pre-legal smoker this evening at 8 o'clock at the Craftsman club. This is the first meeting of the year and the committee in charge invites all students who have intentions of being law majors as well as pre-legal students.

Dean Morse of the law school will give a short talk. Preston Gunther, president of the law school student body, and Otto Frohnmayer, editor of the Oregon Law Review, have been invited to attend.

George Hibbard, chairman of the affair, stated that a few short skits will furnish the entertainment. Refreshments will follow after the meeting.

Emerald Of the Air

Louise Rice, pianist, and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon trio have been engaged by Benson Allen, musical director, to entertain Emerald-of-the-Air listeners over KORE at 4:15 this afternoon.

Tune in every Thursday at this hour and enjoy a diversified musical program of campus talent.

JUDGE HARRIS TO TALK BEFORE ASSEMBLY AT 10

(Continued from Page One) 10 to 11 o'clock and eating houses, barber shops, and clothing stores will likewise be closed during the assembly. Firms cooperating with the assembly committee are the College Side, Taylor's, Green Parrot, The Cottage, The Oregon, The Toastwich, Oregon pharmacy, Lemon-O pharmacy, University pharmacy, and the Campus grocery.

Heads of houses are requested to urge all members of their organizations to attend the assembly.

VICE-PRESIDENT CLAIMS PREXY 'GRABS' POSTS

(Continued from Page One) sit by and watch the president run what virtually amounts to a dictatorship. If Hall is to be a second Mussolini, let him say so, and I will meet him on those terms.

"My personal opinion is that the president of the student body should delegate some of his work to other officers. If a vice-president is unnecessary, why elect one? To date my only duties have been to attend meetings and take charge of the mechanical responsibilities of the elections."

BH Asks Consideration

Said Bowerman as he continued: "One of the reasons which Hall gave for the slipup in the freshman election amendment fiasco last spring was that he had considerable work to do when he returned from Los Angeles. Why, then, does he try to run the whole show in the student body?"

"I would like to be given some consideration in the making of appointments. To date I have received none. I feel, that as vice-president of the student body and chairman of the music committee, I would like to have some voice in student affairs. I hope that Hall will at least mention the matter to me when he makes his next major appointment."

"In conclusion, I would like to say that I have nothing whatsoever against Bob Hall personally. I am his friend and hope to continue to be. I only hope that he will not try to make the running of the student body a one-man job."

Freshman Girls Frolic At Annual Get-Wise Meeting

Last night at the Women's gym freshman women and their counsellors were entertained by A. W. S. at the annual get-wise party. From 7:30 until 8 dancing, climaxed by a grand right and left, was enjoyed.

A skit entitled "Straightening Up the Freshman's Mind" was the feature of the evening. Dorothy Parks acted as master of ceremonies. The many branches and activities in campus life open to freshman women were represented by girls, dressed to fit their roles, reciting appropriate jingles.

Donuts and cider were served after the skit, while everyone informally danced and talked. The affair was a highly informal success.

Jean Failing was general chairman for the affair.

GLEEMEN INTRODUCE LOYALTY SONG AT MEET

Ivy-covered walls of buildings Mottled sunshine, shifting shade Cast enduring spells about us Which with years can never fade.

We have heard you, Alma Mater And we love you when you call As you whisper through the fir trees 'Round historic Deady hall.

We have sensed your noble purpose, We have glimpsed your shining goals, And we'll fight like Spartan soldiers When you call for valiant souls.

We have heard you, Alma Mater, And we surge to meet your call, And we'll battle for your honor, That your fame shall never pall.

Oregon, our hopes are with you, Seeking laurels bright and new, Spreading fame on land and ocean, Till the dream of years comes true.

We have heard you, Alma Mater, And we thrill to hear you call, We will rise to hail you mighty With a soul transcending all.

MOVIE NOTES

COLONIAL — "Tom Brown at Culver."
McDONALD — "Movie Crazy."
REX — "Washington Masquerade."
STATE — "Flying Fool."

Colonial
If you're patriotic, you'll like this. Flags wave, bands play, trumpets toot, and Tom Brown makes good in a rather large way at Culver. Just the same, and more seriously, it was a distinct relief to see this show. Not a sub-deb sequence was there, and only an occasional lapse into sentimentality.

Slim Summerville did a fine job as the reminiscing restaurateur. H. B. Warner (why do I always want to call him Warwick Deering?) was father and a serious, understanding characterization he gave, Richard Cromwell remembered from "Tola'ble David") did good work of his part as Tom Brown's roomie; and Tom Brown played himself as only he could do it. You'd like to see this, not only because it reminds of the days you couldn't live without the Rover brothers, but because, as once said, it is a distinct relief.

McDonald
"Movie Crazy" turned out to be a little strenuous, but a good evening's fun—Merton of the Movies has been done before, but this time we are beholden to the Lloyd variations for our fun, rather than to the story. It's his screamiest picture in years.

Here's a bit of statistics—the audience was clocked for one continuous laugh of 17 minutes duration. This beats the old Laurel and Hardy record by four seconds, set in their laugh episode. Believe that? Or should we "yell"? This sort of thing can't be carried too far. We suggest a rule against shows being funny enough to keep us from hearing the next crack.

Kellogg Delivers Address Before Science Meeting

Dr. Remington Kellogg, assistant curator of mammals at the United States national museum at Washington, D. C., and research associate of paleontology of the Carnegie institution at Washington, delivered a public address on "The Anatomy and Habits of Whales" at Condon hall Tuesday evening.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the local chapter of Sigma Xi, national science honorary, and a special invitation was extended to the Corvallis chapter.

Dr. Kellogg, who is recognized as the outstanding authority in the United States on whales, living and dead, has spent two weeks on the campus reconstructing and sketching a fossil discovered several years ago on the Newport bench by Dr. Packard.

The Washington scientist explained that the fossil found by Dr. Packard is the head of a prehistoric whale some ten million years old. The dimensions and description, according to Dr. Kellogg, are to be published at a later date in a Carnegie publication.

Dean Schwering will discuss "The Social Side of College" before the freshman group at the Westminster house at 9:45 Sunday morning.

Such problems as those arising from the ceremonies of dating, the financial side of dating, and the reason freshman girls are given such a rush, will be considered by the dean.

"The most striking feature to me was the harmony between the buildings and the landscape. I found out later that the colors and contours of the temples and finer buildings had been planned to blend in with the surrounding country. It made the buildings look as though they felt at home.

"Much of the architecture expresses the philosophy of the people. One sees ancient altars before which century after century of men have knelt. Herein lies the poignant charm of the East. The new civilization has preserved the past with a reverent affection. 'Honor thy father and thy mother,' is the inborn creed of all Orientals.

"The jewel of the whole was Peking, which stands resplendent

Education Board Plan To Select New Secretary

E. E. Lindsay May Resign Post; Business Man To Be Appointed

Directly in line with previous moves to put the administration of higher education in Oregon on a more nearly strictly business basis, a business man of executive ability rather than an educator will be employed to fill the post of secretary of the state board of higher education to succeed Dr. E. E. Lindsay, it was learned from authentic sources today.

Dr. Lindsay, who will be retired either next July or earlier, pending further action of the board, was employed June 26, 1930, at a salary of $7,500 a year and was given a three-year contract.

Lindsay Resignation Expected

However, despite the fact that his term as secretary would not ordinarily expire until June of 1933, the board may deem it feasible to make the change prior to the termination of the contract, and in this case his resignation would be expected, it is reported.

By giving Dr. W. J. Kerr, chancellor of the institutions of higher learning, complete authority in administration, which action the board took in Portland Tuesday, the secretary is automatically relieved of many of his powers and the position thus relegated to one of relatively minor importance in the process of directing the various institutions.

This action, interpreted as a direct move against the secretary's activities, was followed yesterday with information that Lindsay's resignation would be requested if not forthcoming.

Two moves were also taken by the board to promote further economy in its operation. An attempt will be made to secure the new official at a lower salary, a $4,000 a year figure having been suggested as ample for the position. In case a competent man can be secured for this sum a saving of $3,500 would result.

As a further gesture toward economy, a complete reorganization of the offices of the state board of higher education in Salem pends the appointment of the new secretary, it was learned. Thirty-one persons are being employed by the offices of the board at the present time in addition to operation of business offices at all five state institutions of higher learning. Such reorganization, eliminating many offices and centralizing control in Salem, would result in material savings, it is thought.
