Conduct of Students To Influence Voters

VOTING NOVEMBER 8

Zorn-Macpherson Grab Plan Is Raid on Taxpayers' Money in Every Part of State

Watch your conduct, students. It will go far in influencing the voters of the state when they cast their ballot November 8.

"You students," said Judge Harris, "can do much to make the defeat of the Zorn-Macpherson bill an overwhelming one.

Student Conduct Important Judge Harris cited the Oregon-Oregon State football game on November 5 as a time when proponents of the school messing bill will be stalking Oregon students in an attempt to pin some case of misconduct or violence upon them.

Judge Harris, a graduate in the class of '93, gave an interesting and accurate history of the school. He told of the hardships and sacrifices endured by Lane county people in raising the money necessary to build Deady hall.

A similar meeting was held on the Oregon State campus October 12, at which time mutual problems of the two bodies were discussed.

Members of the O. S. C. board include: C. V. Ruzek, D. T. Ordeman, Bob Glenn, and U. G. Du-back, dean of men, who acts in an advisory capacity.

Art Potwin, director of the student anti-merger campaign, introduced Judge Harris. Potwin also explained the method to be used by students in sending out 20,000 postcards to voters in the state, urging them to fight the attack on Oregon's schools of higher education.

Infirmary Not Passed Up by the Depression

Not to be outdone by the well-known depression, the stock of the infirmary dropped to a new low yesterday with only one student, Ejner Nielsen, on hand.

Dr. Fred N. Miller, of the University health service, blames the drop on the fine fall weather, but intimated that with the first drop of rain, the infirmary depression would break—for the worse.

Juliet Glen Commands Poetic And Melodic Line at Concert

By S. STEPHENSON SMITH How grateful to hear a singer who commands the poetic no less than the melodic line! Juliet Glen, lyric soprano, presented last night in concert at the Music auditorium by Mu Phi Epsilon, had a really distinguished delivery for French chansons and German lieder; and she was able to blend together the verse and the musical "line" without any apparent effort.

This is more than perfect diction, for Miss Glen can convey the feeling and mood of the poetry, at the same time controlling her tonal volumes and bringing forth the exact timbre of voice suited to each mood. She showed also a versatile command of a wide variety of material, in which she was admirably supported by John Stark Evans at the piano.

Football Rally at Station Sends Off Confident Team

A small but enthusiastic crowd attended the rally at the Southern Pacific station yesterday, when the football squad entrained for its game with Idaho Saturday.

Cecil Esby, head of the rally committee, expressed himself as extremely dissatisfied with the small number that attended, and urged that all students be present at future rallies as an indication of their support of the team.

A similar meeting was held on the Oregon State campus October 12, at which time mutual problems of the two bodies were discussed.

The two boards plan to work on a cooperative basis for the balance of the year.

Members of the O. S. C. board include: C. V. Ruzek, D. T. Ordeman, Bob Glenn, and U. G. Du-back, dean of men, who acts in an advisory capacity.

HERBERT HOOVER

By ARTHUR POTWIN PRESIDENT HOOVER'S administration has been confronted with more chaotic disturbances and more perplexing problems than have ever been encountered by a peace-time president.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT

By ROBERT T. OLIVER IT is generally admitted that this is a "Democratic year." Even those who foresee the election of Hoover at least admit that the Democratic strength this year is stronger than it has been at any time since 1912.

NORMAN THOMAS

By ROLLA REEDY NO WORD has been more abused and misunderstood than the word Socialist, and the fog may better be cleared away now than later.

President Hoover did not attempt to flatter his country and his people by smoothing over the difficulties, and attempting to ostensibly aid the appearance of the nation. Rather did he strike directly at their source, probing deeply into the heart of the wound to check the onslaught right where the trouble began.

Why should Hoover be defeated? There are two general reasons which any political scientist must endorse. One is that the Republicans for three elections past

Upon such a basis of understanding then I may outline the reasons why an intelligent voter should support the Socialist party and its candidate for the presidency, Norman Thomas.

Attack On Hall By Bowerman Creates Furor

Student Prexy Declines To Discuss Charges

FORUM MAY MEET

Campus Political Heads Expect Controversy on Committee Grabbing Accusations

By JULIAN PRESCOTT Out of the extra interest aroused in campus politics yesterday by the charges hurled at President Bob Hall by his vice-president, Bill Bowerman, rose prospects that the student parliament will be called into session at an early date.

When asked yesterday for a statement concerning the charges of reserving the important standing committee chairmanships for himself and of not consulting his fellow officers in other appointments, Hall declined to comment.

In the meeting of several student political leaders to discuss the charges, it was suggested that the present would be a good time to call the parliament together for its first meeting of the year.

The naming of organization presidents and other upperclassmen, who will be elected by each organization, as delegates to the parliament, received considerable favor as the method of selecting members.

The heads of the houses and dormitory groups were recognized as being in what is probably the closest touch with sentiment on campus problems. They were also held to be one of the most responsible groups on the campus.

Representation Is Same

No change in the distribution of delegates was considered. The plan of proportional representation for living groups and some of the special interests will undoubtedly be continued.

That student body officers should have positions on the floor was also considered advisable, as it was held desirable that they should be in a position to present arguments on matters of policy affecting the student government.

The question of what power the parliament should have come up, but no commitment was made. It appeared that the leaders would favor granting the power of determining major policies of the A. S. U. O.

It is expected that the first meeting of the steering committee of the parliament will be called within the next few days. A meeting of the representative body probably will be held next week to further line up students in the fight against the Zorn-Macpherson school-grab bill.

Fees Being Paid Slowly; Deadline Tomorrow Noon

An average of more than 50 students an hour must be taken care of at the University cashier's office between this morning and Saturday noon. This condition was caused by the unusually small number of students to pay their installment plan and out of state fees in advance of the deadline.

About 400 installments and 125 out of state fees were unpaid at 3 o'clock yesterday when the office closed. Since the office closes at noon on Saturday, only 10 hours remain in which students can make payment. The office is open from 8 to 12 in the morning and from 1 to 3 in the afternoon today.

Dad's Attendance Trophy Offered By O. Laurgaard

Tickets on Sale at Dean Of Men's Office in Johnson Hall

Living organizations will have another cup to compete for in addition to the A. W. Norblad and Paul T. Shaw Dad's day trophies that are given annually.

Olof Laurgaard of Portland, formerly president of the Oregon Dads, is offering a cup this year which will be awarded to the living organization on the University of Oregon campus that has the largest proportion of "Freshman Dads" over the Dad's day weekend, October 29 and 30.

With the new cup offered a student organization will have an opportunity to win two cups. The A. W. Norblad trophy is offered as first prize for the largest attendance and the Paul T. Shaw cup is given for the second best.

The dean of men's office stated that students wishing to purchase tickets for their dads may do so at any time in Dean Virgil D. Earl's office in Johnson hall.

Barbara Conly, registration chairman, will announce next week the list of students who will assist her with Dad's registration on Friday and Saturday, October 28 and 29. Four Emerald reporters to help cover the Dad's day affairs will also be announced by Ed Stanley, publicity chairman.

Amphibian Club Enters In for Comic Contests

Bobbing for apples may seem tame, but the members of the Amphibian club, which met last night, found it no easy matter to get a bite out of the illusive fruit in the deep end of a 60-foot tank.

The winners of this contest chose sides for a game of keep away. A contest in strokes for form was followed by a game of follow the leader, in which dives, both comic and difficult, were introduced.

Emerald Will Sponsor Straw Balloting Here

Paper To Be Forum for Student Opinions

IDEA IS APPROVED

Voting To Take Place Thursday Noon; Everyone Is Urged To Participate

The Oregon Daily Emerald next week will sponsor a straw ballot to determine campus sentiment on the forthcoming November election for president of the United States.

Three candidates will appear on the Emerald ballot, Neuberger said. They will be Herbert Hoover, present incumbent, Republican; Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat; and Norman Thomas, Socialist. Their names will appear on the ballot in alphabetical order.

Neuberger also stated that the Emerald would be strictly non-partisan in its stand and will take no sides.

The election itself will take place next Thursday noon. At that time one student will take ballots to each living organization, will supervise the voting at the lunch table, and then will return them to the Emerald office, where they will be counted.

Those students not living in houses or dormitories will be able to cast their ballots at the Emerald office in the school of journalism building, from 12 noon until 1:30 p. m. The students who will take charge of the voting at the various houses will be members of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism honorary, Emerald staff members, speech department students and others interested in the enterprise.

From now until election the Emerald will be a forum in which students can express their opinions. Statements and remarks of representative campus leaders will be published each day giving their ideas on the three candidates, and Neuberger says the Safety Valve will be thrown wide open to students sending in opinions on the presidential candidates.

Participation Is Urged

Sterling Green, managing editor of the Emerald, and president of Sigma Delta Chi, says his organization is eager to cooperate in the handling of the election.

This morning the Emerald is running the salient points in the speeches given for the three candidates last night. Arthur Potwin writes for Hoover, Robert Oliver for Roosevelt, and Rolla Reedy for Thomas.

"Remember! Thursday noon in your living organization or at the Emerald office! Your opinions are solicited in the meantime," was the statement of Neuberger last night in urging the students to participate in the straw balloting.

Presidential Candidates Are Discussed at Political Forum

That the 1932 presidential campaign has narrowed itself from four parties into two, on the basis of platforms, was the general opinion gathered by an attentive audience last night at the presidential forum presented by the University speech department.

Wallace Campbell, presenting the case for Communism and Candidate W. Z. Foster as first speaker, brought out this point in his address, and it was corroborated in greater or lesser degree by the other speakers: Rolla Reedy, speaking for Norman Thomas; Robert Oliver, for Franklin D. Roosevelt; and Art Potwin, for Herbert Hoover.

"The Democratic and Republican parties have almost one voice upon the principles of prohibition, tax remission and bonus," Campbell said. "The two minor parties, Communist and Socialist, alike declare present conditions highly unstable and call for a 'new deal.'"
