

OREGON FACES OLD RIVALS AT MOSCOW TODAY

Students Favor Emerald Plans For Straw Vote

Thursday Noon Is Date Set for Balloting

PARTISANS APPROVE

Representatives From All Corners Of Campus Express Their Opinions

By JACK BELLINGER

Awakened to the political issues of the day, students from all corners of the campus have expressed themselves in favor of the all-campus straw vote that the Emerald plans to sponsor next Thursday noon.

Republicans, Democrats and Socialists, alike, have all approved the straw ballot, glad that their own groups will have an opportunity to match strength with that of opposing political organizations.

A. S. U. O. President Speaks

The president of the associated students has said: "Let's have student co-operation with the Emerald in order that the poll will be a success and we can have an adequate basis of determining what the campus thinks on national political issues. Inasmuch as all the other leading colleges and universities are using the straw vote, I am glad that we have the opportunity of expressing ourselves and balancing our judgments with the opinions expressed on other campuses."

Virginia Wentz, editor of the Oregonian and president of the women's "Hoover for President" club, stated: "It is a fine journalistic step. The students today are the voters and leaders tomorrow. It will be interesting and worthwhile to note youth's feeling and opinions on political matters, especially this year, and it will give the students a chance to express their viewpoint by voting, when otherwise they could not."

Idea Meets Favor

"The straw vote will do more to arouse student interest in political affairs than anything else," said Eugene Allen, head of the Democratic students' group on the campus. "I am heartily in accord with the idea and glad that the Emerald has made such a straw vote possible."

Speaking for the "Thomas for President" club, Wallace Campbell, president of that group, made the following statement: "For a long time the average college student has been known as a 'political moron.' The Emerald now gives him a chance to at least show an interest in politics. Whether or not it is an intelligent interest only the straw vote can tell."

Sten Approves Plan

Almea Sten, president of the Y. W. C. A., said: "The Emerald straw ballot will lead, in my opinion, to the development of thinking voters capable of judging candidates on a basis of worthwhile qualifications. I think it is an excellent plan."

"We speak of a 'youth movement' in politics, but it is not a 'youth movement,'" explained Rolla Reedy, president of the Y. (Continued on Page Four)

Streiff To Talk on Socialism Before Students Monday

What is socialism? Are Socialists "reds and revolutionists?" Are they opposed to private property? What is the difference between socialism and communism?

These are a few of the questions Albert Streiff will answer in his talk on "What Socialism Is and Is Not," at Villard hall Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Streiff was Socialist candidate for governor of Oregon in 1930 and is this year running for congress in the second congressional district.

Following closely upon the campus political forum of last Thursday and coming just prior to the Emerald's straw vote on the presidential candidates, this educational talk is expected to find an especially politically-minded campus.

Plans Drawn Up To Enforce New Automobile Law

Students Driving Autos To Register Them at Start Of Each Term

Plans for the modified enforcement of automobile control were drawn up here yesterday at a joint meeting of the faculty enforcement boards of the University and Oregon State college.

Motor vehicles driven by students will have to be registered at the beginning of each term, and windshield stickers will be provided for registered cars. Driving on the campuses during school days is forbidden. Traffic violations will place students in a position to be penalized, and all phases of student driving problems will come under the supervision of the enforcement boards as currently organized.

Refund to Be Made

Provisions will be made for the refund of the $1.00 automobile registration paid by students prior to the modification of the ruling. Announcement regarding this plan will be made later.

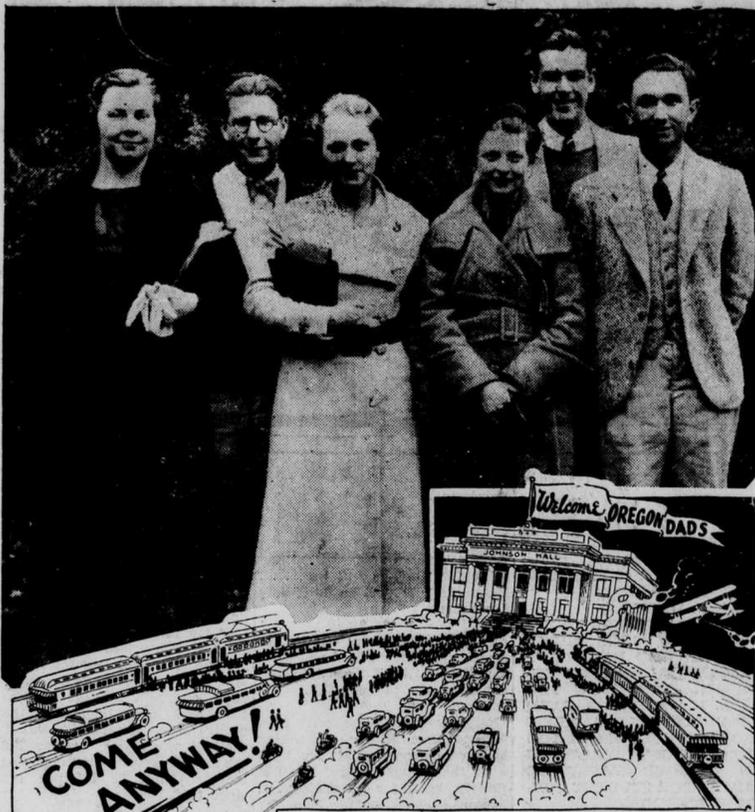

The provision that motor vehicles will not be allowed on the campus on school days does not, at the present time, exclude cars from the streets adjacent to the campus at Eugene, nor from the parking space near the administration building. If necessity (Continued on Page Four)

Program of Northern Music Will Be Offered

John Stark Evans, University organist, offers the next of his series of Twilight organ concerts which he will play at 5 o'clock Sunday, October 23, in the school of music auditorium.

The program follows: "Air—Suite in D" by Bach; "Melodie" by Ole Bull; "Improvisation—on four Danish folk tunes" which includes (a) Christmas song, (b) Requiem to the dead—written on the battlefield, (c) Frithiof's farewell, (d) National song—King Christian; "Last Night the Nightingale Woke Me" by Kjerulf; "Midnight" and "To the Rising Sun" by Torjusen.

This Committee Will Welcome Dads

Above are members of the student committee directing activities that will make the annual University of Oregon "Dad's Day" the best yet October 29. They are Barbara Conley, San Francisco; Ed Stanley, Portland; Helen Burns, Portland; Marjorie Haas, Tacoma; Thomas Tongue, Hillsboro, and Hal Short, Astoria.

Fate of Schools To Undergo Supreme Test in Two Weeks

WHAT CAN THE ALUMNI DO TO DEFEAT THE ZORN-MACPHERSON BILL?

Outlined in the following article is a two-fold program, which, if carried out by every alumnus and alumna, will aid materially in defeating the costly and destructive Zorn-MacPherson bill, which strikes at the University and all higher education and which will saddle heavy tax burdens on the people of Oregon. Concentrated action by all alumni is material to secure the definite defeat that this bill deserves.

By ALEXANDER BROWN

As the zero hour approaches, at which time the fate of the University of Oregon and all higher education in the state will have been decided by the voters on November 8—just two weeks off—alumni, friends of the University, and Eugene townspeople find themselves confronted with the all-important task of going into the field of battle against the school-wrecking Zorn-MacPherson bill with but one motive—to contact every voter possible and assure the continued existence of the University of Oregon.

A two-fold program has been outlined for alumni residing in all parts of the state to follow during this last part of the campaign. First: every alumnus and alumna should write at least 10 letters to friends residing in other parts of the state, urging their support of the University and their active opposition to the school-moving measure. Second: every alumnus and alumna should, during the two or three days prior to election, phone or personally call on at least 10 persons in their community, urging the same support of the University and their opposition to the vicious bill which seeks to rob the state of its accredited schools of higher education and (Continued on Page Three)

One-Day Vacation On Thanksgiving Declared Definite

Only one day will be allowed University students this year for Thanksgiving vacation, it was announced by the University administration yesterday. Regular classes will be in session again the following day, Friday, November 25.

Campa Shoppe Starts New Dance Season

Dancing was ushered in by the campus students last night at the newly remodeled and revamped Campa Shoppe at 12th and Alder streets.

The new dance grill, operated by Fred Fowler, was formerly the Cocoanut Grove, destroyed by fire last June. The Campa Shoppe has an excellent floor and is decorated in light green.

Large Alumni Gathering Due At Homecoming

Visitors To Meet Before Game Saturday

SESSION IMPORTANT

Frosh-Rook Football Game Friday Night, Bonfire, Rally Are First Two Events

Replies being received at the alumni office from various former University students who have been designated as official representatives for the annual alumni meeting in Eugene on November 5, indicate that the majority will be on hand. This meeting will be held at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning in order that it may be concluded early enough for those attending to go to the game at Corvallis.

Interest is being shown in the Frosh-Rook game scheduled for Friday night, November 4, in Eugene. The annual bonfire rally will merge into this game, and plans are being made for an after-game meeting which will give the alumni their first chance to get together.

Two Opening Events

The bonfire rally and the game will be the opening events of the Homecoming week-end. Saturday morning will be devoted to the annual meeting with adjournment in time for alumni to join the students in making the Corvallis trip by special train in order to avoid traffic difficulties in Corvallis.

After the game, the special train will return immediately to Eugene, and several living organizations are planning alumni reunion dinners. The alumni reception will be held Saturday night in alumni hall and will be followed by a dance.

Meeting Important

As a last minute indication of the alumni's loyalty to the University, the alumni meeting will be (Continued on Page Three)

Circulation Drive For Emerald on; Rewards Offered

Campus Organizations To Compete; Parents and Students Canvassed

The Emerald circulation staff has started a campaign among the campus living organizations to have students subscribe for the Emerald and have the publication sent home in order to increase reader interest among the parents.

Efforts are being made for a successful drive to keep the parents in closer contact with the work and activities of the University. Each organization has a representative to take up the subscriptions and money. Grant Thuemmel, circulation manager, stated that prizes will be offered for the most subscriptions taken in by the organizations. All issues that have been missed this term will be made up during the winter quarter. Subscription rates are $1 per term, $1.75 for two terms, or $2.50 for the entire year.

House representatives are asked to turn all subscriptions and money to Thuemmel or Ronald Rev, assistant circulation manager.

Yeomen To Have Meet For Unaffiliated Men

The Oregon Yeomen will hold a short business session Monday evening at 7:30 in the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall. Any unaffiliated men on the campus is invited, according to Ethan Newman, president of the organization.

Plans for the fall's activities which include a smoker, dance, open house, and other matters will be up for discussion.

At the same time Newman announced that an office for the organization has been opened in the "Y" hut and that some one will be there every afternoon to give out information and answer any inquiries. A bulletin board has been put up to accommodate anyone who wishes to leave a note for other members.

"Pigger's Guide" To Be Circulated During Next Week

That most useful of all handbooks, the "pigger's guide," will be off the press and ready for circulation next week, it was announced yesterday by Ronald Robnett, assistant graduate manager. Publication has been delayed through difficulties in preparing the faculty directory.

The student directories will be on sale at the Co-op as in past years.

Committee Plans For Visit of Dads Nearly Complete

New Features Introduced By Students To Make Affair Unusual

Dads, you are expected to attend the sixth annual Dad's day reception to be held on the University of Oregon campus a week from today, Saturday, October 29. As the Dad's day week-end nears, plans for the reception are rapidly being completed. All students who have not yet sent out invitations to their dads are urged to do so.

Many Eugene business men have given their assurance that they will cooperate to give the dads a rousing welcome and make their visit a pleasant one. It is planned that all living organizations will give their support to entertain the dads.

Barbara Conly, with her registration committee, will be at the trains to welcome the dads as they come in. She has arranged a new plan in the form of an information booth where dads will be told how they may get to the campus. This is the first time that this idea has been adopted.

Saturday morning will be occupied with dad's registration and a mass meeting of all the dads at 10 o'clock. At noon, they will be guests at luncheon in all the living organizations.

At 2 p. m., they will occupy the guest section of the grandstand during the Oregon-Gonzaga football game on Hayward field. Cecil Espy, rally chairman, promises some features between halves. After the game, the dads will convene at a banquet at 6 o'clock in the men's dormitory.

Y.W.C.A. Donut Sale To Open Next Tuesday

Tuesday will see the advent of National Donut season, big annual project of the Y. W. C. A., with an intensive sale of the campus, business organization, and social groups. Louise Barclay, general chairman, reported that plans for the drive are moving swiftly, and that by Tuesday all arrangements will have been made.

George Korn, of the Korn bakery, has been devoting his time to promotion of the campaign, and through his efforts and interest, four dozen freshly baked Mayflower donuts were distributed at the Emerald office for sampling Wednesday night. Two donuts are to be sold for five cents.

Why I Will Vote for Thomas

By THORNTON GALE (Assoc. Editor, Oregon Emerald) NORMAN THOMAS is probably the most erudite of the three leading candidates for president of the United States. His cultural background and knowledge of economic and social problems is greater than that of either Herbert Hoover or Franklin D. Roosevelt.

There is little to choose between the platforms of Hoover or Roosevelt. Boiled down and stripped of the apparent differences, due mainly to excess verbiage, they essentially represent the same thing. In short, an attitude of "let well enough alone."

The mention of socialism, except by a few parlor agitators, usually brings forth streams of vituperative recrimination. Except in certain select circles, its popularity among the cogniscenti was as brief lived and uncertain as the Empress Eugenia hat. People are wont to confuse socialism with radicalism, communism, and other isms.

Victory No. 1 Objective Of Invading Team

Webfoots Seek Initial Conference Win

TWO STARS ARE OUT

Capt. Morgan and Mikulak Left Behind; Vandals Hope To Reverse Dope

MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 21—(Special)—Grid fans from over the entire Inland Empire were congregating in Moscow tonight for the annual Idaho homecoming celebration, featured by the Oregon-Vandal conference football game tomorrow afternoon.

Tomorrow's game will be Oregon's first appearance in Idaho for several years and football enthusiasts are eagerly awaiting the chance to see Frink Callison's big eleven. The Webfoots are favorites to defeat Leo Calland's eleven, but the Vandals' fine showing against Montana last week makes them a serious threat.

Bill Morgan Out

Both teams will be weakened by the loss of star players. The Webfoots came North minus the services of Capt. Bill Morgan, all-coast tackle, and Mike Mikulak, outstanding defensive fullback.

Willis Smith, Idaho's "one man offensive" and a vital cog in the Vandal attack, has recovered from a slight injury caused by crashing into a players' bench, but will not be at top speed. Four other first-string players who hit the same bench are also slightly off color.

Oregon Heavier Team

The Webfoots' chief advantage lies in the average weight of the two elevens. Oregon's line outweighs the Vandal forward wall by more than 20 pounds. From end to end Idaho's line only hits around 180, to the Webfoots' 200. Oregon's starting backfield, with Kostka included, averages around 190 to Idaho's 175.

The main reason for the stand of loyal Idaho rooters that Oregon will have a close battle is the 6-to-0 score to which the Vandals (Continued on Page Four)

Open Forum Will Argue Prohibition

"He Which Gave Counsel to the Jews," is the text of the fifth in a series of six character interpretations of New Testament personalities to be given by Frederick K. Davis before the upperclass group at the Westminster house Sunday morning at 9:45.

This is "the secret story of him whom Calaphas mistook for God, resulting in the crucifixion of Jesus."

The open forum at 6:30 will be in the form of a Socratic debate of the question, "Is Prohibition Reform Needed?" Bill Gearhart will present the arguments of the dries, and George Bennett will support the wets.

There will be an opportunity for general discussion following the presentation of the arguments. The social hour follows at 7:30, and refreshments will be served.

Why I Will Vote for Hoover

By DICK NEUBERGER (Editor, Oregon Emerald) THE CASTING of a vote in the November election would be a two-fold privilege to me. The first and most significant pleasure would be voting for Herbert Hoover, who comes before his countrymen seeking re-election as president of the United States. The second would be voting against Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose vacillating stands and demagogic appeals have characterized every speech he has made since his nomination in August.

Few presidents have encountered more difficulties than Herbert Hoover. The present inhabitant of the White House has conducted a valiant fight against a crisis that enfolds the civilized world. His entire administration has been punctuated by constructive action.

Herbert Hoover is conservative. He is what the country needs in an hour of distress. Mr. Roosevelt has been distinctly radical in his stand on numerous topics. History proves to us that the majority of radically-inclined candidates who have won to office have altered their declarations considerably after inauguration. Can we intrust the reins of government to a man who may not fulfill his promises?

For months the Democrats have assailed Hoover for the financial distress throughout the nation. Yet they ignore New York state, governed by their candidate, where poverty has been as prevalent as in any other commonwealth.

The plans of Hoover are practical. He would not drain the national budget dry by planting trees and building postoffices to provide employment. "Post-office prosperity" is not included in his platform.

Hoover's constructive plans are too numerous to enumerate here. Two of them come readily to mind, the home loan bank, and the debt moratorium. Their bene- (Continued on Page Four)

Frosh Group Cabinet Will Meet in Afternoon

Frosh retreat for the Frosh commission cabinet of Y. W. C. A. will be held today at the home of Mrs. A. H. Norton from 12:30 to 5 o'clock. Installation of cabinet officers will take place then, presided over by Cynthia Liljequist, last year's president.

Discussion and purpose of the commission is to be given by Marcia Sieber, national secretary; plans for the year will be arranged. Tea will be served by Mrs. Norton, and closing worship services will be led by Maxine Goetsch.

Four Music Students

Grace Burnett, soprano, and Eugene Pearson, baritone, will represent Eugene over KGW Sunday at 10:15 p. m. in the Atwater Kent audition contest. George Barron, basso, and Edwin Beach, tenor, also students of the University will represent Ashland and Lexington, respectively.

Why I Will Vote for Roosevelt

By BRUCE HAMBY (Sports Editor, Emerald) I AM voting for Franklin Delano Roosevelt this fall, because I believe the nation needs a change. There is small doubt that a new president could do much worse than our last one, and I feel that Mr. Roosevelt is the type of man that could best revive the falling pulse of American business.

He has had valuable experience in directing the most populous state in the Union, and has contacted all the problems with which he would be confronted when president of the United States. Mr. Hoover was an academician when elected, a man who was far better at the surveyor's line than the bread line. He had highly theoretical views upon the nation's ills when a man with real practical experience was needed most. He was floated in upon the tide of the Republican party and the charm of his name as an "engineer."

Mr. Roosevelt is not a paragon at modern governmental methods.

However, he knows how to handle a situation when it arises, and can meet more people far more gracefully than the reticent Mr. Hoover. He is a better speaker, a more graceful social man than Mr. Hoover. And one of the largest parts of the presidential duties is of a social aspect.

Mr. Thomas appeals to me as a clear-headed and representative man, but I do not wish to cast a vote where it would not count toward more substantial government.

I thoroughly applaud Mr. Roosevelt's unequivocal stand upon prohibition, as compared to the fence-riding stand taken by the Republican party for campaign purposes.

And above all, I believe a change in government is essential to freeing the nation's business from the quagmire of despair in which it finds itself morassed. We want a change, and we believe that Franklin Delano Roosevelt will bring that change.
