

Nobody's Business

By BRUCE HAMBY

LISTEN, Neuberger, this is absolutely the last time, but since you insist . . .

- "Pick the winners in today's games," says the editor.
- Jobs are scarce, so here they are:
- U. S. C. 14, Stanford 7 No, we didn't bet on the Trojans.
- Oregon 14, Idaho 0. (Hey, Calland, have you a Livesay?)
- California 7, Washington 6.
- O. S. C. 0, W. S. C. 7. (Should be a thriller.)
- U. C. L. A. 24, Cal. Tech 0.
- Wisconsin 13, Coe 0. (Hear about last Saturday, Doc?)
- Army 12, Yale 6.
- Notre Dame 27, Carnegie Tech 0.

Three of today's four coast conference games are naturals. Stanford vs. University of Southern California—that's the big game of the year for the South. California vs. Washington at Seattle—both teams are potential champions. Oregon State vs. Washington State—can the Cougars keep their record clear?

Luckily Oregon is off up in the wilds of Idaho playing the Vandals. Not that the Moscow encounter won't be a good game, but it would have been overshadowed had it been played in either Eugene or Portland. Seattle and Corvallis west grid fans.

Robert L. Simpson, well-known Robert L. Simpson, well-known head track and field coach at Iowa State college, believes Jai Pan will be the chief competitor of the United States in the 1936 Olympics. The Yankees will win, he predicts, but the Japs will give us greater competition than ever before.

Simpson also holds that Germany, competing in her own capital, Berlin, will be another contender, although her prowess has been over-rated in the last few years. Finland and Italy are other countries due for improvement, but England, Sweden and Canada will have to improve in team strength before becoming dangerous.

Here's something new in government control. Now it's football that is receiving the eye of Washington officials. A recent department of commerce bulletin points out that if the coaches wish players to remain awake they had better not give them blue jerseys.

The statement reads: "It is astounding what effect a choice of color has on the attainment of sound slumber. Glass painters using cold cobalt blue sometimes fall asleep before their easels."

"It was formerly advised to put persons suffering from mental disorders in rooms painted blue and having blue hangings. The soothing and soporific effect of blue is extraordinary."

Let's see, does Oregon play any team with blue jerseys? Wonder what effect green has on opposing teams?

Warren Brown, sports editor of a prominent Chicago paper, surveys the national football situation and decides that the Pacific coast has the best teams, the best coaches and the largest crowds.

Since the Pacific Coast's drive recognition nationally in football was launched seriously in 1920, he states, some 56 major games have been undertaken. Of the 56 games, coast elevens have won 34, lost but 15 and tied 7.

Yearlings Play Scoreless Tie On Muddy Field At Corvallis

It's No Use; Teams Can't Make Points

Swampy Field Prevents Touchdown Jaunts

0-0 Deadlock First Such Result In Frosh-Rook Contest in Many Seasons

Playing in a sea of mud, the Oregon freshman football team battled the Oregon State rooks to a scoreless tie last night in a game punctuated by many fumbles and some beautiful punting. The tide of battle in the first half ran in favor of the rooks, who were aided by many breaks. In the last half, however, the frosh came back with a powerful offensive and were within seven yards of scoring turf on one occasion, and within ten on another.

For the frosh, Leemans and Milligan in the backfield, and Torrence, Reed and Nielson in the line, were the outstanding players. Milligan's punting was one of the records of the game. For Oregon State, Bob Patrick and Makela were the most consistent ground gainers, while Jessup and Rushing and Myall starred in the line.

Rooks Get Break
Torrence kicked off for the frosh, who lost the toss, and the ball was recovered by them on the rooks' 45-yard line. Then, after an exchange of kicks, the rooks got their first "break"—a fumble on the frosh 20-yard mark. The frosh held for downs and Milligan kicked to the rook 40. Patrick, rook safety man, returned the ball to the Oregon 42. Patrick, Makela, and Thila then made it a first down on three successive line bucks.

At this point the rain, which had been coming down in sheets, let up for a little while, and the rooks, after being held for no gain on two plays, tried a pair of forward passes, both of which were incomplete. Oregon's ball on their own 27 yard line. Milligan's kick was blocked and the rooks recovered. Patrick tried the right tackle for six yards, but was held for no gain on the next play. The rooks shot a pass, Makela to Jessup, but it was incomplete over the goal line, giving the ball to the frosh on their own 20. Milligan then kicked the ball out of danger to the rook 30 yard stripe. The frosh showed a fine brand of defensive football during this period of the game and except for an inroad into frosh territory in the next period, they kept the rooks on the defensive for the rest of the game. The second quarter was a ding-dong battle, with the ball remaining in mid-field.

Frosh Look Good
In the second half the frosh played a much smarter brand of ball, and carried the fight deep into rook territory. Milligan and Leemans hammered the Oregon State line for big gains, and early in the fourth canto found them first down and ten to go on the rook 12-yard line. This threat failed because of a costly fumble. The final gun halted a determined frosh offensive on the rook 30.

Myall, rook center, was kicked in the head during the second quarter and was taken to a Corvallis hospital, where it was reported he was resting well. Rain fell during the greater part of the game, and slowed the play of both teams. There were few penalties.

The lineup:
Frosh: Torrence, LE; Jessup, Nielson, LT; Rushing, Lundin, LG; Rolfness, Reed, C; Myall, Hawn, RG; McClurg, Byrne, RT; Demming, Wright, RE; Schultz, Leemans, Q; B. Patrick, Michek, LH; Joslin, Arey, RH; Makela, Milligan, F; Thila.
Officials: Bobby Norris, referee; Cort Major, umpire; Bill Smyth, head linesman; and Tom Shea, field judge.

The Big Man Among the Vandals

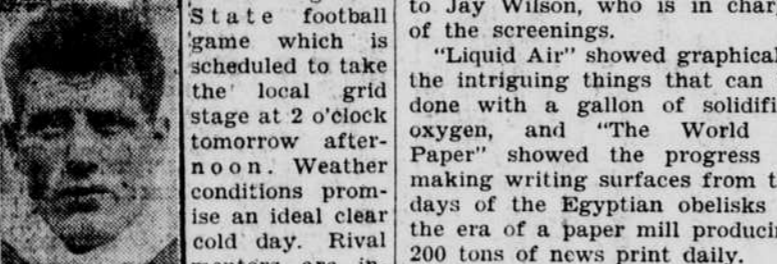

It's Leo Calland, who leads the University of Idaho Vandals to battle today at Moscow against Prink Callison's Webfoots. Idaho just handed Montana a bad trouncing while Oregon was taking one on the chin from UCLA. Although the Webfoots enter the battle a favorite, Calland intends to let no chance pass to bring home the duck.

Conference Tilt Outcome At Corvallis Likely To Depend on Line

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 21.—All is in readiness for the annual Oregon State-Washington State football game which is scheduled to take the local grid stage at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Weather conditions promise an ideal clear cold day. Rival mentors are in-
Curly Miller structing "shoot the works" on the eve of the battle so that the railbirds may expect to see a wild and wooly contest.

Orin E. "Babe" Hollingsbery, Cougar mentor, and three football teams arrived at the scene of battle Friday afternoon in time to take a short snappy workout on Bell field. After a week's rain a short dry spell has packed the field hard and it insures firm footing for shifty footed backfield men.

Pre-game dope gives the edge, if any, to Washington State; however, the teams appear to be as closely matched as they have ever been in past years. Dopesters are figuring that the outcome of the contest will depend on line play and Oregon State's pass defense against the highly touted Cougar aerial attack led by George Sander, passer par excellence.

Y. M. C. A. Shows Motion Pictures

An interested audience enjoyed the first of a series of free motion picture programs at the Y. M. C. A. hut Thursday evening. Two films released by the General Electric corporation, "Liquid Air," and "The World of Paper," provided an hour's entertainment.

The free movie programs will become a regular feature of the Y's program provided that sufficient interest is shown, according to Jay Wilson, who is in charge of the screenings.

"Liquid Air" showed graphically the intriguing things that can be done with a gallon of solidified oxygen, and "The World of Paper" showed the progress of making writing surfaces from the days of the Egyptian obelisks to the era of a paper mill producing 200 tons of news print daily.

Oregon Maple Court Squad Drills Hard

Reinhart Works Men for Early Games

Hoop Squad To Travel Much This Season; Roberts Leads Mates in Workouts

By BILL EBERHART
With Charles "Cap" Roberts, captain, on hand Wednesday and Thursday nights to give it an official air, Coach Bill Reinhart's pre-season basketball practice got off to a good start in its first week.

Thursday night only a comparatively few recruits were present, due probably to Friday quizzes. Twenty-five turned out Wednesday for their second workout. As with the first practice Monday, activity Wednesday night was confined largely to limbering up exercises, including the "duck walk" familiar to all of Reinhart's proteges, and to drills in individual offense and defense.

Squad Is Divided
For these latter drills the squad was divided into groups of six, roughly according to relative playing ability. The first six included three lettermen, Roberts, Robertson and Watts, and three of the "green wave," Houghton, Stahl, and Siegmund. Olinger, recovering from an attack of tonsillitis, was not out Wednesday.

Berg, Rourke, Rotenberg, Kunkle, Miller, and Walsh made up the second group. The rest of the candidates formed the other two squads, which were supervised in their drills by Jean Eberhart, director of athletics at University high school, who is temporarily assisting Reinhart.

Hoopsters Travel Too!
While nothing of a definite nature can be said regarding the probable personnel of this year's squad at such an early date it is likely that the majority of the traveling squad will be taken from the first twelve men just named. The term, traveling squad, means just that, for six games have been scheduled with hoop teams in San Francisco and Los Angeles for the Christmas holidays. With this in mind, keen competition exists among all the recruits for places on the first ten.

With only 11 men reporting Thursday night, practice was dismissed by Reinhart shortly after 9 o'clock.

A complete list of varsity basketball candidates follows:
C. Roberts, captain, G. Olinger, J. Robertson, J. Watts, L. Houghton, H. Stahl, D. Siegmund, R. Rourke, W. Berg, M. Rotenberg, H. Simons, E. Kunkle, B. Miller, J. Walsh, W. Jameson, W. Clauson, C. Clay, A. Lindgren, R. Thomas, A. Colbert, C. Reinhart, D. McKim, R. Ray, B. DeGraff, H. Allen, B. Faunce, D. Olson, and W. Wicks.

Sigma Chi Five Downs Lawyers

Red Wilson's fast-breaking Sigma Chi five won their initial game of the season yesterday at the Igloo when they trimmed the law school hoopers 11-1. The lawyers couldn't get going against the fraternity aggregation failing to score a field goal during the entire game.

PLANS DRAW UP TO ENFORCE AUTO LAW

arises, additional restrictions will be made. The conclusions reached by the two boards provide for ample authority with which to control any flagrant abuse of driving privileges.

Statement Issued

The complete statement of the findings and decisions of the meeting, uniform for both campuses, is as follows:
1. All motor vehicles in the possession or control of students shall be registered with the enforcement officer. Details for registering cars at registration time will be formulated.

2. A sticker for the vehicle will be issued without charge to each student at the time of registering the car.
3. Student motor vehicles shall not be used on the campuses on school days. (The term school days include from Monday morning to Friday evening except holidays.) Provisions for making exemptions will be formulated by the committee of the respective institution.

4. Permission to use a motor vehicle will be withdrawn in every case where it plays a detrimental part in a student's scholarship, discipline, social life, or general welfare. This rule will be invoked in connection with all forms of violation of campus regulations and traditions.

All institutional officers and committees having the administration of regulations, or in any way connected with student welfare, will have the use of cars in mind. This will be particularly true of the scholarship committee, discipline committee, housing committee, and the like.

5. General supervision will be exercised over the use of motor vehicles by students both on and off the campus.

STUDENTS IN FAVOR OF EMERALD STRAW VOTE

M. C. A. "Politics is politics and youth is not segregated from the life of the nation. The present interest of college students in political affairs is evidence of the desire of the younger generation to participate in the vital problems of government which concern us as well as those of more mature years."

Newman Voices Opinion

Ethan Newman, president of the Oregon Yeomen, urges all independent students to cast their ballots in the Emerald straw vote, saying: "The straw ballot is a good thing because it will make the students think about the coming election. I, myself, am anxious to see the outcome of the students' election. I especially want to urge the students not in living organizations to make a special effort to cast their votes in the journalism building between 12 and 1:30 o'clock Thursday, so that the vote may be representative of all the campus."

VICTORY NO. 1 OBJECTIVE OF INVADING TEAM

held U. C. L. A., conquerors of Callison's eleven last week by a 12-to-7 score. Last week Montana, also outwitting the Vandals about 20 pounds per man, was defeated by a 19 to 6 score. Calland will probably place hope of a victory in his three speedsters, George Wilson, Smith and Geraghty.

The Oregon squad arrived in Pullman, Washington this morning and worked out in the afternoon on the Washington State college field. They will arrive in Moscow just before game time, which is 2 o'clock.

Lineups Given Out

Bernie Hughes, veteran center, is Callison's choice for team captain in the absence of Bill Morgan. Russ Hall, two-year letterman at tackle, has been chosen by Calland to lead the Idaho forces. The Vandals pick a captain for each game.

Starting lineups as announced by the rival coaches are as follows:
Oregon
Bailey.....LE..... Randall
Nielson.....LT..... Hall (C)
Frye.....LG..... Nutting
Hughes (C).....C..... Schutte
Clark.....RG..... Eiden
Eagle.....RT..... Moser
Wishard.....RE..... Hanford
Bowerman.....Q..... Wilson
Temple.....LH..... Sackett
Gee.....RH..... Norby

Vote for Hoover

fits have been proven on frequent occasions.

I am convinced that Herbert Hoover is the outstanding candidate for the presidency. I prefer Norman Thomas to Roosevelt, but regret seeing him get votes because his support detracts from Hoover's followers rather than Roosevelt's.

I shudder slightly when I remember that a vote for Mr. Hoover means a vote for Mr. Curtis, but I feel better when I think of Mr. Garner.

Dr. and Mrs. Kerr Are Honored at Reception

Gay colored autumn leaves and golden chrysanthemums formed a striking background in the drawing room at Gerlinger hall last night for the faculty reception for Chancellor and Mrs. W. J. Kerr. University girls, headed by Louise Webber, served during the evening, while faculty women and the wives of University professors poured and cut ices.

MILITARY BOOTS BY GRAHAM

There is no article of wearing apparel that requires a higher degree of skill in the making than Military Boots.

Particular care and skill are required to cut the leather properly, to make and form the uppers and linings, to last and finish the boots. Special upper leather is tanned solely for use in Graham's boots. The soles, linings, counters—in fact, all materials are the best that can be secured.

Graham's Military Boots are perfect examples of workmanship.

You can wear these Military Boots with the knowledge that they conform to the best taste in Military dress.
