Alumni Prove Vital Force In Fighting Bill

Secondary Issue in Campaign Is To Give New Unified System Opportunity

and administrative bodies to give the new program of the state board of higher education a fair trial. From now on it will be the purpose of the alumni groups to strive to promote a hands-off policy on affairs of higher education and give the youthful and under-nourished unified system a chance to thrive under one chancellor and the re-allocation of courses as now provided.

In the alumni office, all work was turned into efforts seeking the defeat of the Zorn-Macpherson bill. The alumni secretary traveled more than 10,000 miles, visiting practically every county in the state, where alumni groups were organized, where literature was distributed and where definite sectional campaigns were planned. Back at Eugene, a full-time publicity man, and a full-time chairman for the student organization maintained offices at alumni headquarters, as well as the regular records clerk. The association worked in connection with the offices of the School Tax-Saving association at both Portland and Eugene.

After the start of school, the Alumni Emerald again began publication, seeking to keep the members of the association posted on latest developments in the campaign and furnish them with data designed to make their individual efforts more effective.

Although Homecoming comes just three days before the elections, the alumni will gather not for further fight, but, figuratively, to gather and listen to the election returns. The outcome will still be unknown, but the work will be done.

The alumni believe they have done their work well and they believe that they have given wide enough circulation to the actual facts involved in the bill to defeat decisively the bill which threatens their school. They believe the voters will place an overwhelming stamp of disapproval on this effort to juggle Oregon's schools of higher education.

Former Oregon Students Return From World Tour

Musicians Are Entertained By Former Eugeneans In Philippines

A quartet of University of Oregon musicians, after a tour around the world on the steamship President Hayes, a Dollar liner, arrived home this month after having been gone since July and traveling 30,000 miles. These young men were expected to furnish music for the passengers on a world tour and are recounting many interesting experiences.

The musicians are Justin McDonald, '31; Dean Wentworth, ex-'33; Sherwood Burr, ex-'34; and William White, ex-'33. They play piano, saxophone, banjo and drums respectively. Burr, McDonald, and Wentworth are from Eugene. White's home is in San Francisco. The ship left San Francisco July 8, stopping first in the Hawaiian islands, then Japan, China and the Philippine islands, where the musicians were entertained by General Creed C. Hammond, ex-'93, and Mrs. Hammond. They also stopped in India, went through the Red Sea and Suez canal, stopped in Egypt and other countries on the Mediterranean sea and went directly to New York. From there they went to Cuba and through the Panama canal and arrived in San Francisco, October 25.

The four made many side trips from places where the boat stopped. In Egypt they met some of the Egyptian students who showed them about. They met other students in the Philippines.

Economic conditions were pretty much the same everywhere they went, they said, adding that the best part of the trip was the coming home.

Frederic S. Dunn Has Book Review Printed

Frederic S. Dunn, head of the Latin department, reported that his review of the book "With Caesar's Legions," has been printed in the October issue of the Classical Weekly, an organ of classical languages.

Association Needed

(Editorial)

THE POLITICAL campaign now fast drawing to a close has demonstrated the necessity of a strong University of Oregon Alumni association capable and ready at any time to stand behind the University and assist it in time of trial. The campaign has done more than that, for it has reacquainted alumni with each other and shown them that much can be gained by association.

No longer the recipient of assistance from the state, the association must depend upon the alumni for its support. The membership dues have been maintained at $2 a year, despite the trend, even in these times, toward a $3 minimum by other universities and colleges.

The University of Oregon needs the active support of every alumnus this year. The responsibility is yours. Great assistance has been rendered by the alumni in fighting the Zorn-Macpherson measure and placing this bill before the public in its true light. Whatever the result on Tuesday, the association must carry on.

Alumni residing within the state and not members of the association have been receiving the Alumni Emerald for the past six weeks. In the future the alumni edition will be sent only to paid up members. A notice is inclosed. Please fill it out, pay your dues, and let us keep going.

Harry Dutton Spends Brief Time on Campus

Harry Dutton, graduate of the school of journalism here in 1928 and editor of the Lake County Tribune, stopped at the journalism shack yesterday for a brief visit with members of the faculty. He was on his way to Corvallis.

Dutton drove up from Lakeview Thursday night, via the McKenzie pass, where, he said, there are banks of snow piled three feet high on either side of the road.

Donald Huntress Dies In Portland Last Week

Donald D. Huntress, B. S., '24, died suddenly October 28, in the Portland law office of T. J. Geisler, with whom he was associated. Mr. Huntress also was a graduate of the Northwestern College of Law, Portland, and was admitted to the practice of law just this fall. He was a veteran of the World war and served 18 months overseas with Company H, 162nd Infantry. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Katherine Nealon Huntress, ex-'26.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE DETERMINED TODAY

Bowerman To Play
Coach Schissler has not yet announced a definite starting backfield. It is likely that the one composed of Biancone, Moe, Pangle, and Little will open the game, although the Orange mentor stated early this week that in case of rain he would revamp his backfield.

The changes will include the shifting of Hal Moe to quarterback, where he will be called upon to carry the ball, put Pierre Bowerman and Hal Pangle at the half-back posts and Hal Joslin at full-back.

Capt. Bill Morgan, Oregon's all-coast tackle, will be back in the Webfoot lineup for the first time since he broke his wrist in the U. C. L. A. game. His presence will bolster the left side of the line. He will be flanked by Butch Morse, end, and Gardner Frye, guard.

Plenty of Reserves

The right side of the Webfoot line will include Chuck "Sphinx" Wishard, end; Biff Nilsson, tackle, and Dutch Clark at guard. Bernie Hughes will hold down the pivot position.

Oregon will have a more plentiful reserve list than has been known in years. Every backfield and line post has an eager candidate awaiting a chance to face the Beavers. Those most likely to get in the Corvallis encounter are Alex Eagle and Spook Pope, tackles; Red Bailey and Bud Pozzo, ends; Roy Gagnon, guard; Elmer Brown, Pepper Popelnjak and Bob Parke, halfbacks. Howard Bobbitt, reserve fullback, may be called on to relieve Mikulak if the going gets tough.

Last Game Today

Three Webfoots will be playing their last game before an Oregon crowd this afternoon. They are Bailey, Bowerman and Morgan. None of these players has been on a team defeating the Orangemen. Ten Oregon State lettermen will be playing on their home field for the last time this afternoon.

The Webfoots ended practice for the game yesterday afternoon with a light workout. They will travel to Corvallis by bus this morning.

Here is Alex Brown, fighting secretary of the alumni association, who has piloted his gasoline chariot 10,000 miles within the boundaries of Oregon while leading the fight on the Zorn-Macpherson school-shuffling measure.

Co-Op Store Only Place for Buying Ticket to Game

Student tickets to the Oregon-Oregon State football game today in Corvallis may be obtained only at the Co-op store, A. S. U. O. officials warned yesterday. University students will not be able to purchase rooster's tickets at Corvallis.

Every person who has not yet secured his ticket is warned to do so before 10 o'clock this morning. Student body cards must be punched at the time of purchase, and must be shown at the entrance to Bell field in Corvallis.

The University rooting section will be entered by gate 9.

Grad Completes Work, Returns From England

Vera Edward Kellems, '15, has returned to this country after spending the summer in England and Scotland, according to word received recently at the alumni office.

Mrs. Kellems, dean of women at the Phoenix, Arizona, junior college, received a summer scholarship to study history in Oxford university, and sailed from New York in June. After a three-weeks' course at Oxford, she attended the biennial session of the International Federation of University Women, in Edinburgh, Scotland, July 28 to August 4, being a voting delegate from the United States. With other student guests at Oxford, Mrs. Kellems was entertained by the Duke of Marlborough, and at Edinburgh her party had tea with the former secretary to the king of Belgium.

Hempstead Completes Law Course This Year

Walter E. Hempstead Jr., '29, who was an instructor last year in the department of English at the University, is completing his work at the Stanford law school this year. His address is 128 Mari-rosa avenue, Palo Alto, Cal.

During the summer Mr. Hempstead accompanied his family on an automobile trip east, covering more than 7,000 miles. "Had a chance to teach, too," Hempstead writes from Stanford, "but preferred exclusive attention to jurisprudence."

Day Is Full

In case you were out when Brown called and wondered why he didn't stick around, this itinerary is given so that you will know absolutely that he was going places. The towns Brown visited on his four trips follow:

Itinerary Listed

First scheduled swing started July 5 at Salem. Included Independence, Monmouth, Dallas, McMinnville, Gaston, Forest Grove, Hillsboro, Oregon City, Portland, Scapoose, St. Helens, Rainier, Astoria, Gerheart, Seaside, Cannon Beach, Tillamook, Sheridan, McMinnville and back to Portland.

Second trip started from Eugene and touched Cottage Grove, Drain, Yoncalla, Okaia, Roseburg, Myrtle Creek, Grants Pass, Medford, Ashland, Klamath Falls, Lakeview, back to Klamath Falls, Bend, Redmond, Prineville, back to Bend and into Eugene by way of the McKenzie Pass. Being in Medford Saturday, I spent Sunday taking a trip and visited Crater Lake. Just like the mail carrier that takes a walk on his day off.

Third trip started from Eugene and touched Roseburg, Myrtle Point, Coquille, Bandon, Marshfield, North Bend, Gardiner, Florence, Waldport, Toledo, Corvallis and back to Eugene.

Fourth trip: Portland to Hood River via Mount Hood loop with stop at Parkdale. Included The Dalles, Dufur, Wasco, Arlington, Hermiston, Stanfield, Echo, Pendleton, Athena, Milton-Freewater, back to Pendleton, LaGrande, Island City, North Powder, Haines, Baker, Arlington, Ontario, Vale, Frairie City, John Day, Canyon City, Burns, Bend, and on in to Portland for the American Legion convention.

Kenton Hamaker Now Employed in Virginia

Kenton Hamaker, B. Arch. '32, is now residing at Clarendon, Virginia, just two miles from the nation's capitol. He is employed by A. F. Thelander, architect, designing residences.

Hamaker writes: "Prospects are good, so I'll probably remain. I meet many Oregon alums here and look for more to come." His address is 32 1-2 Wilson Blvd.

"I like to watch you smoking your pipe!"

"IF EVER I SAW a picture of content, it's you when you're puffing on a pipeful of Granger. And I admit I like the fragrant aroma myself!"
It is surprising how much better a pipe tastes when it is filled with tobacco that's made especially for pipes. And the Granger package is just right, too.
