

Oregana Drive To End Friday Night At Seven

Publication Starts Soon, Managers Announce

YEARBOOK COST CUT

Day, Stinger General Chairmen Of Sales; Several Groups Reach 100 Per Cent Goal

Seven o'clock Friday night is the deadline for the receipt of all subscriptions for the 1933 Oregana. At this time all subscriptions to the year book will be tabulated and publication will start. Only enough copies will be printed to meet the demands of those who have declared their intention of purchasing the student chronicle at the above mentioned hour. All who sign up later than Friday will, therefore, not receive a copy of the annual.

This announcement was made last night by Gordon Day and Helen Stinger, sales managers of the student publication.

100 Per Cent Reported
A number of living organizations have already announced a 100 per cent subscription quota, and many more are bordering on a perfect representation. Phi Gamma Delta and Delta Zeta were the first to report 100 per cent sales, and will therefore receive the two lamps which were offered to the first fraternity and sorority which reported a complete list.

The present sale is not sufficient, however, and unless more subscribe before the zero hour Friday, Roger Bailey, business manager, announces that there will be no 1933 Oregana.

Price To Be Lower
The year book will go on sale at a new low price this year. Only $4.50 will be charged for each copy, and payments will be distributed over a period of months. Subscriptions are open to all students, townspeople, and friends. Those who are not connected with any living organization may make their payments at the A. S. U. O. office in McArthur court. Those who live in fraternities, sororities, or dormitories will arrange for payment through their respective house representatives.

Amphibian Club To Hold Tryouts

Tryouts for membership in Amphibian club, women's swimming and life saving honorary, are to be held Thursday at 7:30 in the women's pool.

At their tryouts all women must present heart O. K. slips obtained from Dr. Hayes at the dispensary, although a student who received an A. A. rating on the physical examination this term will not need an O. K. slip or heart check.

Tests in speed, form, diving and endurance must be passed Thursday evening. The requirements in each test are posted on the bulletin board in the office at the Women's building.

"Nothing attempted is nothing gained," said Mrs. Ivens, adviser for the group, "so come over and check yourself on your ability. You'd be surprised at what you can do."

Leonard C. Jee, '30, Writes Of War Experiences in China

A letter from Shanghai to Mrs. Harold S. Tuttle this week brought the first news since last April of Leonard C. Jee, Chinese graduate with the class of '30, who lived for four years at International house.

He left Shanghai in April, he says, in his letter dated October 20, and spent nearly four months wandering in Canton and Hongkong. After trying some unsatisfactory jobs, he spent several weeks at West Lake, China's paradise. Near the end of September he accepted a position with the English department of the Bureau of Foreign Trade editing one weekly and one monthly known as the Economic Bulletin and the Economic Journal. Mr. Jee majored in economics here.

Of his war experience he writes humorously, "Me no likie war," "me no talkie war no more." But he goes on to say, "Well, all I've

Fraternities Take Depression Well Says SPE Official

"College fraternities are standing the depression remarkably well," declares Richard Cook, traveling secretary of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, who was a Eugene visitor over the week-end. "I don't mean that the fraternities aren't feeling the pinch of the times, for everywhere in the country they've had to eliminate large expenses for activities that used to be considered as social necessities. One chapter in the middle-west which I visited recently had cut its budget allotment for dances and other social functions from $1500 to $200. Other chapters and other fraternities have made similar cuts."

Cook has been on the road since the middle of September, covering the middle-western states and the Pacific northwest. He left Saturday night for Berkeley.

"Another big cut in expenditures for many fraternities has been arrangements with mortgage holders and owners of chapter houses to make sharp downward revisions of rentals and equity payments, which are nearly always a fraternal cut."

Sophomore Dance To Be Presented Saturday at Igloo

Abbie Green To Play for 'Night in Holland' This Week-End

Windmills, dykes, canals, and a blue and white color scheme will be the idea which will transform the Igloo into a night in Holland, on Saturday evening, November 19 for the sophomore informal. Abbie Green's ten-piece orchestra will propel the couples over the floor from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Bill Davis, sophomore class president has made the appointment of Charles Clay as general chairman of the informal. Clay reports all preliminary arrangements made and feels certain that everything will run off as scheduled.

With Hartley Kneeland, assistant chairman, committees working on the dance consist of the following:

Decorations: Bill Neighbor, chairman, Jim Wells, Spike Powers, Jim Ringrose, Gilbert Wellington, Bob Ferguson, Scott Waters, Jeff Howard, Grant Thumel, Malcolm Bauer, Harold Peterson, Walt Gray, Bob Chilton, Dan McCarthy, Bob Morden.

Construction: George Schenk, chairman, Don Thompson, Reed Swenson, Bill Belton, Ray Green, Hank Lewis, Bob Baery, Bill Temple, George Condon.

Orchestra: Don Thompson, chairman, Virginia Howard, Margaret Weed, Jim Ringrose, Bob Riddle.

Patrons and patronesses: Cynthia Liljeqvist, chairman, Dagmar Haugen.

Publicity: Ruth King, chairman. Programs: Bob Zurcher, chairman, Jim Wells, Eileen Coghlan, Maryline New, Hartley Kneeland, Clayton C. Wentz.

Feature: Virginia Van Kirk, chairman, Louise Rice, Stephanie Smith, Malcolm Bauer, George Bernie, Norman Lauritz.

Refreshments: Nancy Archbold, chairman, Althea Peterson, Katherine Gilbert, Ruth Osburn.

Clean-up: Mike Pinkstaff, chairman, Sam Rapp, Chuck Holloway, Worth Epling, Ted Pursley, Howard Ohmart, Ed McClaughery, Claire Christopherson, Jim Dutton, Norm Kernan.

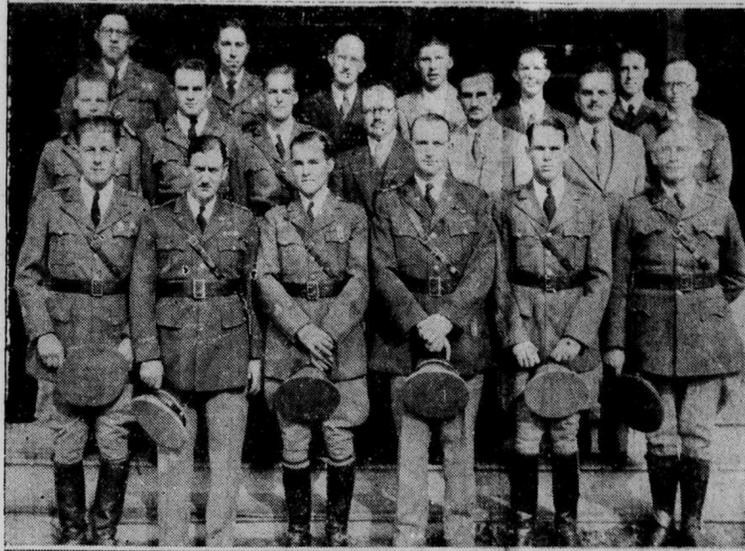

Campbell To Talk Over Radio Today

Wallace Campbell, graduate assistant of sociology and a candidate for the Rhodes scholarship, will speak over KORE on the Emerald-of-the-Air program today at 12:15.

Mr. Campbell has announced that his subject matter will consist of a more or less comprehensive consideration of the series of editorials which appeared in the Emerald concerning the type of student which Cecil Rhodes intended should benefit from his scholarship, as compared with the men who are actually selected.

Reference will likewise be made to the Safety Valve article of Robert Jackson, Rhodes scholar of two years ago, which appeared in the Emerald immediately following the editorials.

Students Start Annual Y.M.C.A. Campaign Today

Leaders Stress All-Campus Activities During Coming Year

Student workers in the annual Y. M. C. A. finance drive started off this year's campaign to raise $400 among University men by making a sizeable contribution of their own at the kick-off meeting held last night at the Y. M. C. A. hut. Eighteen men of those who attended the meeting contributed a total of $35 in cash and pledges.

Workers in every fraternity and men's hall, supplemented by an equal number of solicitors among independent men, will open the campaign today and close it tomorrow night at 10:30, at which time all cards will be called in by Jay Wilson, chairman of the drive.

Dr. Raymond B. Culver, north-west secretary of the Y. M. C. A., came down from Portland Tuesday afternoon to assist student workers in organizing and starting the campaign. He spoke at last night's meeting, stressing the small amount being asked this year and the all-campus phases of the University Y's program.

"There is little weight to the argument that a man who seldom uses the facilities of the Hut has no interest in this finance campaign," declared Rolla Reedy, Y president of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. "Expenses connected with the hut will take only a small part of the amount we are working for."

"The largest expenditures are connected with directing fireside forums in all houses and halls during the year, bringing international figures like T. Z. Koo and Fletcher Brockman to the University as speakers and discussion group leaders, and enabling the University of Oregon to take part in such significant intercollegiate conferences as the annual International Affairs conference held in the Northwest each Thanksgiving week-end and the Seaback conference held each June.

"These are activities from which everyone benefits and which would be impossible without the financial support of the student body."

Charles Hurrey, Internationalist Coming Saturday

Charles D. Hurrey, known as "an ambassador of good-will to fifty nations," will be a visitor on the Oregon campus Saturday, according to officers of the University Y. M. C. A., who are sponsoring his visit here.

Mr. Hurrey is general secretary of the committee on friendly relations between foreign students in North America. He will come to Eugene in the course of a nation-wide tour in the interests of the committee.

A real cosmopolitan, Mr. Hurrey is at home nearly anywhere in the world. He is particularly well informed on relations between the United States and Latin-American countries, but includes service with the Italian army during the war, extensive travel in China and Australasia among his experiences.

AWS Mass Meet Slated Thursday At Gerlinger Hall

Wendell, Harris To Speak On Vacations, Fashions At Tea at 4

Tomorrow at 4 o'clock women students and faculty will gather in Gerlinger lounge for the mass meeting which will open the A. W. S. vocational conference. Cynthia Liljeqvist is in charge.

Harold F. Wendell, president and manager of Lipman Wolf's company, will speak on vacation opportunities for women. Henry Harris, stylist for the same company, will speak on fashions. His talk will be illustrated by living models from the store, two of which will show girls' clothes and one mature model will wear garments for women.

Tea will be served on the sun porch after the talks.

Women's Debate Squad Will Start Work This Term

9 Aspirants Out for Team; U. of Wash., O. S. C. Probable Opponents

With nine aspirants out for the team, several tentative meets scheduled, and the definite selection of a question, work on women's debate for this term has definitely begun. Meetings of the squads are held several times each week, and material for the question, "Resolved: That the several states should adopt a plan by which the state would furnish medical service" has grown rapidly at each discussion of the group.

Pauline George, Geraldine Hickson, Frances Mays, Margaret Van Clive, Helen Harriman, Marjory Eisanan, Louise Smith, Jean Leonard, and Ruth Smith compose the squad at the present time, but John L. Casteel, supervisor of forensics, is urging more to turn out for the meetings.

Although there is no definite schedule, in all probabilities there will be debates with Pacific college, Oregon State, and the University of Washington towards the first part of winter term. Two women will be chosen from the squad to represent the school at each participation.

Questionnaires Sent To Transfer Students

Within the next two weeks, questionnaires will be issued to approximately 200 students who have transferred to the University from other schools of higher education. The information obtained is to be used in determining the solution of problems that confront transfer students.

The questionnaire is a project of the class in method and practice in personnel and guidance problems under the direction of Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, with Cecelia Brennan, junior in history, conducting the survey.

Frosh Walkout Draws Small Group To Dance

First Plans Are Failure; Idea Slips Out

STUDENTS USE CABS

Dean Earl To Require Information On Situation Before Decision Is Made

Freshman Walk-Out turned out to be Freshman Wash-Out last night, when a multitude of rumors and counter-rumors cut the attendance at this traditional affair to fewer than a hundred persons.

Misjudgment and inability to prevent news of the plans from getting out ahead of time were advanced as the principal reasons for the low attendance.

It was originally planned to have the entire class meet at the Anchorage, whence they were to proceed to the town of Thurston, about nine miles from Eugene, beyond Springfield, and attend a special dance in Thurston hall.

However, Allen Wall, president of the class, attempted to dissuade the freshmen who were gathered at the Anchorage. Leaders of the faction who were favoring the movement were demoralized by rumors of faculty censure and the removal of freshman privileges and telephoned a number of organizations to inform them that the affair was off. Later it was decided to go through with it as scheduled, but by that time many of the groups were so uncertain as to its being held that they decided not to go.

Frosh Take Tax

The freshmen that eventually arrived at the hall were conveyed there in taxis at 25 cents a head. They were met by a four-piece band from Eugene and a group of local villagers, and remained at the dance until 12 o'clock.

Earl Makes No Statement

Dean Virgil Earl would make no statement as to faculty action in the matter, except that he would require complete information on the situation and extent of the walk-out before any decision would be made.

Cecil Espy, president of the senior class, refused to discuss the action the upperclassmen would take.

Heaney's Etching Receives Award

An etching of the little red jail west of the court house in Eugene, done by Charles Edward Heaney, recently won the purchase prize given by the Henry Galleries of Seattle in the Northwest Print-makers' exhibition.

The etching is one of a group of Heaney's aquatints, linoleum and wood cuts, which are now on display in the gallery of the art department of the University.

Mr. Heaney's work possesses both force and delicacy. He makes no compromise between his own interpretation and the actual details of his subjects.

Recreation Program Sponsored by W.A.A.

Misunderstanding has arisen in regard to the recreational program being sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association.

The hours are from 4 to 6 on the afternoons of every week day, but Friday afternoon has been set for an especially planned and full period of recreation. On the other afternoons any one may come but each girl must herself sign out for such equipment as she wishes to use. "On Friday afternoon, however," Doris Payne, recreation chairman, explained, "there will be girls here with the equipment for everything to teach anyone and help make up a game."

Local Community Fund To Get Subscriptions

The Eugene community chest, which must raise $14,888, has been actively engaged in raising subscriptions to cover the desired amount.

On Wednesday, November 23, the Eugene Firemen are holding a dance at the Winter Garden in order to help in raising funds. The price of admission will be 50 cents per couple. Abbie Green and his orchestra and Merle Good's band will furnish the music.

Pledges of Sigma Delta Chi To Give Speeches Friday

Neophytes of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national journalistic professional fraternity, will garb themselves Friday in silk hats and varying degrees of formal attire, and will appear on the library steps to present their pre-initiatory melange of nonsense lectures.

Promptly at 12:40 the initiates will mount the steps and brave the jeers of hecklers and possibly a few hurtling tomatoes and cabbages.

The neophytes are Francis Pallister, Ed Stanley, Eugene Stromberg, Ray Clapp, and Don Caswell.

Singing Contest Between Houses Soon Under Way

All Fraternities, Sororities Will Enter Competition This Year

Arrangements for an interfraternity-intersorority table singing contest, an annual affair upon the Oregon campus up until the last two years, nearing completion yesterday when Don Eva, organizer of the event, named student and faculty judging committees and reported that he hopes to have the contest under way by next Monday.

So far as is now known, every fraternity and sorority group will enter the contest, although participation is not compulsory. Eva will determine today the full entrance list.

From approximately 40 organizations who are expected to enter, five men's groups and five women's groups will be selected by the student judging committees to compete in the finals. From these the faculty judging committee will select the winning men's and women's organization.

Faculty Judges Named
Judges of the finals will be John Stark Evans, professor of organ in the department of music; John H. Mueller, musician and professor of sociology; and Mrs. Doris Helen (Patterson) Calkins, instructor in harp.

Student Judges Announced
Elimination judges named yesterday will be Mervin Rodda, Bill Sievers, Frances Rodda, Norma Chincock, and Caroline Card. Each of these judges will select two qualified assistants from the campus at large, and then each judging committee will hear the efforts of the eight houses in its division. Elimination judging will be done during lunch or dinner, according to a schedule to be drawn up soon by Eva, Rodda, Sievers, Miss Drake, Miss Chincock and Miss Card.

The basis of judging will be on the following points: singing in unison, spirit, variety, new school songs, and pitch and precision. Trophy cups will be awarded the winning fraternity and sorority.

Foreign Trade Group Initiates Seven Men

Seven new members were initiated into Pan Xenia, international foreign trade honor fraternity, yesterday afternoon in Gerlinger hall. A banquet at the Anchorage followed the formal ceremonies.

The initiates were Percy Riddell, John Wade, Stan Haberlach, Roger Comstock, Robert Schriber, Robert Erickson, and Sherrill Gregory.

Oregon Student Government Functions, Policies Set Out

(This is the first of a series of stories by Mr. Prescott on the operation of student government at the University of Oregon in its business functions. The next will appear in an early issue of The Emerald.)

By JULIAN PRESCOTT

At the top of the student government there is the executive council. It determines all policies and names all administrative officers. In a word, it is the supreme unit of the student government.

The council is aided by numerous standing and special committees and several permanent officers as well as numerous student officers who work for a school year. This staff of administrative officers ranges from the graduate manager down to the assistant managers of various activities.

Senior Class Will Give Bust Of Dean Straub

$500 Will Be Presented To Student Fund

SORENSEN TO WORK

Commemoration of Dean Straub's Work Considered Honor, Says Cecil Espy

A combination memorial bust and loan fund will constitute the senior gift to the University this year, it was decided last night at a meeting of the senior class, after a lengthy discussion.

A bust of Dean John Straub is to be executed by Rex Sorenson, and cast in bronze at the approximate expense of $600. This bust is to be presented to the University.

The balance of the fund, which will total about $500, will be converted into a student loan fund, to be added to the several private and subscribed loan funds already in operation.

Committee Administers Funds
Administration of the senior funds has been assigned to the senior gift committee, composed of Dorothy Esch, Charles Stryker, James Travis and Virgil Langtry.

Mr. Sorenson, a graduate student in sculpture, has executed several pieces that have won him much favorable comment. His works include a bust of Bernard Daly, Lakeview philanthropist, and the two sons of Governor Meier.

Consent was given to the undertaking of the project by Mrs. John Straub. It will take approximately six months to complete the bust.

Plans for the beginning of the work on the bust will be drawn up very soon, it was stated last night by Virgil Langtry, chairman of the gift committee.

Espy Makes Statement

Cecil Espy, senior president, made the following statement concerning the project:

"We as members of the senior class feel that it is not only a privilege but an honor to have an opportunity to commemorate such a character as Dean John Straub.

"In presenting a bronze bust upon graduation, we feel that we are able to express our own convictions, and to convey to the students of future classes the position which Dean Straub held in our lives, and in the life of the University.

"Our class was the last group to be welcomed to the University by this man, who devoted the major part of his life to our school. Now we are fortunate, at the end of our term on the campus, to be in a position to perpetuate his existence with us."

Large Party Enjoys Saturday's Field Trip

Dr. Warren D. Smith and Hugh Currin, in charge of a party of about 10, spent last Saturday in making a field trip up the Row river, where they visited a number of caves. At one place they were lowered 60 feet underground by means of ropes.

"This part of the country is characterized by lava formations and crevices, the land having slumped considerably. We didn't find anything of importance but caves, though," Dr. Smith said.
