

New Play Will Open To Public On Guild Stage

Players To Present New Comedy Tonight

STARTS AT 8 O'CLOCK

"Once in a Lifetime" Is Title of Production To Be Given At Theatre

Tonight at 8:15 o'clock the Guild Theatre curtain will rise on the initial performance of its most exacting and pretentious undertaking of the season. "Once in a Lifetime" will bow its comic head to a capacity audience, ushered in by the combined prayers of Mrs. Otilie Seybolt, directing, and George Andreini, responsible for the wealth of scenic perfection that will greet the eyes.

The task of shaping up this play has been an unusually difficult one. The piece is not far divorced from Broadway, and but lately made into an excellent movie, hence there were from the start many criteria for the Guild players to live up to. There was the difficulty of staging, always hard in their cramped quarters, and doubly so this time, with seven scenes and lavish sets to confound them.

Difficulties Overcome
There was the necessity for crisping up the lines—always a problem with a student production, and made more so in this instance by the speed at which this comedy must move in order to succeed. There was the difficulty of casting the many character roles, of finding the right people for the right parts.

It has been done. The play, seen in dress rehearsal last night, has all the components of excellent entertainment. The sets are good, the lines are good. It moves ahead breathlessly and hilariously. It will be a good play.

Well Received Elsewhere
As a matter of fact, "Once in a Lifetime," wherever shown, has been a most popular show. We don't like to draw a line of distinction, smacking of editorializing, but we like to laugh. The sombre grandeur of Guild Theatre's last year presentation of Hamlet was impressive. The sparkling good fun of this year's "Once in a Lifetime" will be more than that; it will be an evening of let-down and hilarity for an audience never given to anything more than that.

Martin Trieb To Visit Physical Ed Honorary

Martin H. Trieb, assistant director of physical education in Los Angeles, and western supervisor of Phi Epsilon Kappa, national physical education honorary, will arrive in town today to visit the fraternity.

Friday afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock he will give a demonstration on free floor work, and from 4 to 5 he will give a talk. These events are for physical education majors and will be given in the men's gym.

That evening a banquet will be held at the home of E. R. Knollin and will be followed by a short business meeting.

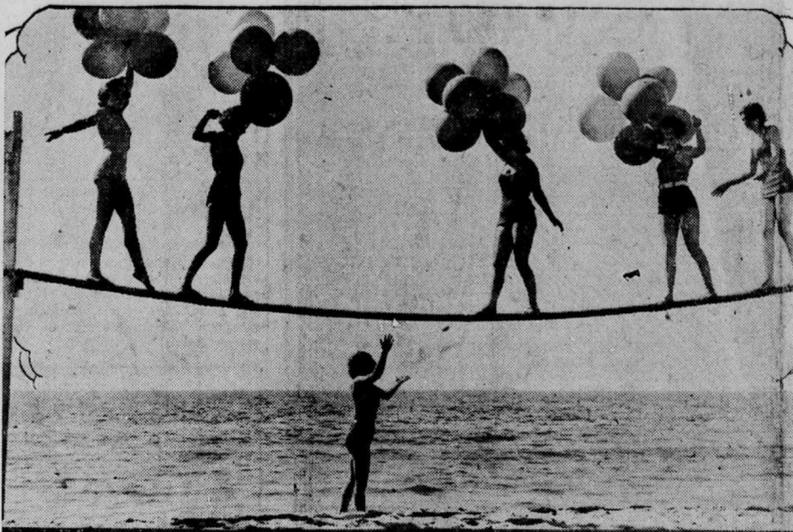

New Use Found For Oatmeal In Experiment By Dr. Moore

Mother may give Johnny and Mary oatmeal with cream-and-sugar for breakfast, or you may feed it to your dog when his ears don't seem as perky and lively as usual—but that isn't the use that Dr. A. R. Moore has for oatmeal.

Dr. Moore, professor of physiology both here and in Corvallis, has in his laboratory in the basement of Deady hall a dozen small dishes, each containing a little oatmeal. On top of the cereal he has placed a small amount of slime-mould, a yellowish-green substance—no one knows whether an animal or a plant—which eats the grains out of the oatmeal.

This slime-mould is one of the queerest things known. It grows in the woods on fungus, eating them the same as it does the oatmeal. Dr. Moore obtained the slime-mould from Massachusetts, dried in an envelope. He kept it for a year in this dried form, and yet when it was placed on a dish of oatmeal, it commenced to grow,

Book Week Talks To Be Presented By Library Staff

Shaw's Guide for Readings List Texts Written by Faculty Men

National book week is being observed on the Oregon campus by both Miss Casford, and Mrs. Rietman, librarians, who are giving talks on new reading material for children. These talks will be given at McMorran and Washburne's department store this week.

Book circulation for October shows, in comparison with the circulation of last year, an increase in books for home use. A drop of 18.4 per cent was made in total circulation.

The main library has for the use of students and faculty members a book called, "List of Books for College Libraries," prepared by Charles B. Shaw. Approximately 14,000 titles have been selected on the recommendation of 200 college teachers, librarians and other advisers.

Books by the University faculty members are listed in this book are:

J. D. Barnett's "Operation of the Initiative Referendum and Recall," Macmillan, 1915; J. F. Boardman and F. W. Cozens "Tests and Measurements in Physical Education," Saunders, 1930; E. S. Conklin's "Principles of Abnormal Psychology," Holt, 1927; Arnold Bennett Hall's "Popular Government," Macmillan, 1929; A. E. Caswell, "Experimental Physics," Macmillan, 1928.

Yoran Warns Students Against Postal Offense

"I wish to warn the students of the University of Oregon of a serious offense which has a large fine," said Postmaster D. E. Yoran. "Students have been putting notes in their laundries or in other parcel post packages, and there is a fine for anywhere from $100 to $1000."

"I don't want to have to punish so severely, but I hope the students will be careful about this hereafter," he said.

Current Pictures Analysis Posted On Bulletin Board

If you're ever confused by the ballyhoo of motion picture advertising, step down to the University Y. M. C. A.'s new motion picture clinic and straighten yourself out.

On the bulletin board just inside the front door you will find a brief, impartial, and broad-minded analysis of the current pictures. This survey, written each month by Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Hollywood, and published by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, is stripped of all the verbiage of "greatest ever filmed," "absolutely unsurpassed in film history," and gives the reader facts as to the relative merit of the pictures.

The University Y. M. C. A. subscribed to the film-review service as a part of its policy of service to the students, according to Eugene Stromberg, secretary.

Smith To Address Religious Groups

"Studying the World of Tomorrow," is the title of the address which Dr. Warren D. Smith has been asked to repeat at the cooperative meeting of the Presbyterian, Congregational, and Methodist churches, to be held at the Methodist church next Sunday night at 7:30.

Dr. Smith first spoke on this topic some time ago before a student group, called together at Gerlinger hall by Rolla Reedy, chairman of the committee which is sponsoring the series of discussions on the world tomorrow.

"I will attempt to show that the next great advances will be in the field of social science by the application of the scientific method," Dr. Smith declared.

Dean Morse To Attend Crime Meeting Friday

Dean Wayne L. Morse of the law school will attend the crime commission meeting Friday morning at 10 o'clock, in Portland. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss reports of all committees and to pass upon all recommendations which will be passed at the next legislature.

State Senator William Woodward, of Portland, will make a report on penal institutions. A committee, on which Mrs. Martha Randall of Portland, is chairman, will report on parole and probation, while Dean Morse will report the form of criminal procedure.

Dean Jewell To Speak At Education Club Meet

Omega Delta Pi, undergraduate education club will meet this evening in room 3 of the Education building. Dean Jewell will deliver the address of the evening which will be, "The $10,000 Teacher."

This club exists for the purpose of cultivating interest in educational problems. All undergraduate students in education are invited to attend the meeting.

Six in Infirmary
The number of students in the infirmary has again risen with the rain. Doris Homer, Alma Flaig, Dorothy Wright, Louise Anderson, Alfred Sessions, and Alfred Hoxworth are now under treatment.

Progress Is Made In Initial Attempt Of Finance Drive

Annual YMCA Campaign To Be Completed By Tonight

Fifty students who man the controls of the annual Y. M. C. A. finance drive reported satisfactory progress at the end of the first day's work, and will bring the all-campus campaign to raise an operating budget of $400 to a close at 10:30 tonight.

Under the direction of Cecil Esby and Dave Wilson, the following men are acting as agents for the drive in fraternities: Alpha Tau Omega, Neal Bush; Beta Theta Pi, Don Emery; Alpha Upsilon, Ed Kirby; Chi Psi, Tom Tongue; Delta Tau Delta, Bob Perigo; International house, Harry Stone; Kappa Sigma, Corwin Calavan; Phi Delta Theta, Ed Schweiker; Phi Gamma Delta, Graham West; Phi Kappa Psi, John Long; Pi Kappa Alpha, Ed Cruikshank; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Bill Gerhart; Sigma Alpha Mu, Lester Goldschmidt; Sigma Chi, Cecil Esby; Sigma Nu, Jack Guiss; Sigma Phi Epsilon, Dave Wilson; Sigma Pi Tau, George Schenk; Theta Chi, Maurice Pease.

Bill Kidwell and Leslie Dunton have charge of the soliciting in the halls. The individual representatives are: Alpha, Grant Esby; Gamma, John Gibson; Zeta, Bob Holt; Sigma, Bill Shepard; Omega, Leslie Dunton; Sherry Ross, Ed Anderson. Price, Friendly hall, Lowell Anderson.

Rolla Reedy, Don Saunders, Jack Bellinger, Kenneth Ferguson and Clark Irwin are serving as team captains for the independent men's campaigners.

Among those who are working under them are John Crockett, Ted Pursley, Jay Wilson, Howard Ohmart, Fred Buell, John Larsen, Austin Hall, Gordon Holland, Hugh Holland, Sterling Cash, Joaquin Barr, Glenn Ridley, Don Carruth, Verne Adams, Lloyd Jackson, Ethan Newman and Barney Clark.

Dr. John Mueller Speaks to Group

That the definition of the word family does not apply today as it did in the days of the patriarchs, was the opinion of Dr. John H. Mueller, professor of sociology, who spoke at 7 o'clock Tuesday in the league room of Gerlinger hall on "The Home in the World Tomorrow."

All that the present day census of America requires to be necessary for a family to be registered as such, is that the same group be gathered around the same table regularly for meals.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Frosh Commission Cabinet will hold a meeting at the Y. W. bungalow today at 4:30.

World Fellowship meeting at bungalow, 8:45, when Evelyn Schmidt gives her travelogue of a Mediterranean cruise. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Mass Meeting To Inaugurate AWS Conclave

ALL WOMEN INVITED

Vocational Conference Opens Today

Executive of Lipman and Wolfe Will Talk on Opportunities For Women in Stores

The Associated Women Students' vocational conference will open at 4 o'clock this afternoon in Gerlinger lounge with a mass meeting and fashion, tea for all women of the campus. Cynthia Liljequist is in charge of the entire conference this year.

Louise Webber, president of the A. W. S., has extended a cordial welcome to women of the faculty and house mothers.

Wendell To Speak
"Opportunities Open to Women in Department Stores" is the title of the talk to be given by Harold F. Wendell, president and manager of Lipman Wolfe and company of Portland. He will trace the history of department stores, their various divisions, and the training needed for each, opportunities for advancement, and illustrations of success and failure with the reasons in each case. Mr. Wendell's knowledge is the result of extensive research on his subject.

Fashion Is Topic
Henry Harris, stylist for the Lipman Wolfe company, will talk on "This Thing Called Fashion." Three models will show clothes for the co-ed, and one will model attire for the older woman.

The models are Irma Logan, Virginia Mahan, Corinne Fox, and Mrs. Fox. The latest trend in campus clothes, street and afternoon dresses, informal tea frocks, and coats, hats, and accessories will be shown.

Tea will be served on the sun porch after the talks.

Scabbard, Blade Pledges Students

Formal pledging of Bill Morgan, Bill Bowerman, Russell Morgan, and Gene Ison to Scabbard and Blade, national honorary fraternity in military science, was held yesterday afternoon at a formation at the R. O. T. C. barracks.

Col. A. O. Waller and Major D. C. Starnard, local national guard officers, were pledged as associates recently.

All are fourth year men in military. Morgan is a senior in social sciences and captain of the football team. Bowerman and Russell Morgan are seniors in business administration. Ison is a senior in biological sciences.

The pledges were announced by Captain Forest Paxton, head of the local company of the society. The initiation date will be announced later.

Schmidt Will Describe Mediterranean Cruise

The travelogue of a Mediterranean cruise which took her to many countries bordering it, will be given by Evelyn Schmidt tonight during the weekly meeting of the World Fellowship group, to be held at 8:45 in the Y. W. bungalow.

Miss Schmidt, a sophomore on the campus, lived on the continent for two years, from 1929 to 1931, and attended the University of Berlin. While abroad she took an extended cruise in the south, visiting many countries which skirt the Mediterranean. Her talk will be devoted mainly to a description of Italy, Egypt, and Palestine. Helen Binford, leader, has invited all interested, and announced the appointment of Edna Murphy as membership chairman.

Once in a Lifetime Leads

Informal Dance Decorations Will Arrive on Friday

Free Admission to Event Proves Alluring Even Ten Years Ago

Although the depression had not begun, free admission to the sophomore informal in 1922 was just as alluring as it promises to be in 1932, the Emerald of the early date shows.

Manifesting the spirit of the Montmartre, where in an imitation of Bal Tabarin, "les garcons et leurs gigolettes" frolicked, was the setting of the hop which was held in the new armory. Black and white yama yama costumes bedecked the orchestra members, and this color scheme was used throughout the building.

Compare this with the new false ceiling and clever Dutch decorations which are arriving Friday from the John R. Stark company of Portland, who are furnishing the entire lay-out to attire the walls of McArthur court.

Skull and Daggers, underclass honorary, has general supervision of the dance.

Rifle Range Open At ROTC Barracks

The time between now and November 26, inclusive, will be available to rifle teams of living organizations for practice on the small bore range in the R. O. T. C. barracks, it was announced yesterday by Major R. H. Back, officer in charge.

During the week November 27 to December 3 the intramural rifle match will be fired in a single stage. Hours on which the range will be available are: Monday, 3 to 5 o'clock; Tuesday, 9 to 1 and 2 to 5 o'clock; Wednesday, 3 to 5 o'clock; Thursday, 9 to 12 and 2 to 5 o'clock; Friday, 3 to 5 o'clock; Saturday, 10 to 12 o'clock.

Responsible authority in each living organization that wishes to enter a team will submit to either Major Back or Sergeant Blythe, the name of a rifle representative through whom further arrangements may be made. These names should be furnished by 5 o'clock next Monday afternoon.

Library Adds Eleven Books to Circulation

Eleven new books were received last week, according to Miss Rise, assistant circulation librarian at the main library. They are found on the seven-day rent shelf. The new books are as follows:

"Mary Lincoln," Carl Sandburg; "Penhally," Caroline Gordon; "The Narrow Corner," W. Somerset Maugham; "Bernard Shaw, Play-boy and Prophet," Archibald Henderson; "Frank Norris," a biography by Franklin Walker; "The Three James," C. Hartley Grattan; "Wanton Mally," Booth Tarkington; "Seven Years in Soviet Russia," Paul Scheffer; "Other People's Money," Louis D. Brandies; "Earth Horizon," Mary Austin; the Guild selection for November, "John Dryden," three essays, T. S. Eliot.

ASSEMBLY PLANNED

Visitors Under Leadership of Pfaff To Spend One Day in Eugene

With tentative plans for a general student body assembly on foot last night, the program for the members of the Japan Good-Will team, which will be guests of this University next Tuesday, has begun to take definite form.

The Japanese students, who are making a five-month tour of the United States under the leadership of a University of Oregon graduate, Roger Alton Pfaff, have been able to allot only 24 hours to their stay in Eugene, but present prospects are that they will have an exceedingly busy day of it.

Addressing the Eugene Rotary club's weekly luncheon meeting and being guests at an evening banquet to be given in their honor by the international house are high-lights of the visitors' day. If the general assembly is arranged, it will make a third big feature of the program.

The University Y. M. C. A. cabinet has assumed responsibility for the reception of the Oriental visitors, placing plans under the direction of Dave Wilson.

Class Schedule Requested
The cabinet has asked Victor P. Morris, professor of economics, to arrange a schedule of class meetings for the various members of the Japanese team and for Pfaff. Arrangements have already been made for individual members of the team to speak to Dr. Morris' 8 o'clock class in International Trade and 11 o'clock class in Conservation of Natural Resources, which will turn during winter term to the study of international trade policies in the Pacific.

Any members of the faculty who would like to have one of the Japanese students address 8, 9, or 10 o'clock classes should get in touch with Dr. Morris, who is calling a meeting of the faculty committee on international relations today to make plans.

Evans To Present New Hymn Books

John Stark Evans, professor of organ will preside at the dedication of "The New Hymnal for American Youth," to take place Sunday evening at the meeting of the Wesley Foundation. The Wesley club has ordered 50 copies of this hymn book, which was written especially for college and young people's groups.

Eleanor Wharton, music chairman of the club, will have charge of the worship service, which begins at 6:30 o'clock. The service will be preceded by a social hour at 6 o'clock.

H. Augustine Smith, who edited the hymnal, is head of the department of fine arts in religion at Boston university and was one of the professors of Miss Dorothy Nyland, director of the Wesley Foundation, who graduated from Boston university.

University Men Better Read Than Women, Survey Shows

By BARNEY CLARK
An interesting sidelight on the literary tastes of college men and women is furnished by Miss Nancy Roberts, manager of the book department of the Co-op, who states that students have shown a decided preference for non-fiction this year.

Two anonymous books of the political debunking type head the list: "Washington Merry-Go-Round," a volume that has delighted the scoffers for some time with its revelations of graft and chicanery in the capital city, and "Not To Be Repeated," its European contemporary. Other popular non-fiction works are "Our Wonderland of Bureaucracy" by James M. Beck, and "Epic of America" by James T. Adams.

Pearl Buck's famous novel of Chinese life, "The Good Earth," and its sequel, "Sons," are among the most popular fiction issues. William Faulkner's "Light in April" in the first edition is also in demand.

Miss Roberts reports that male students seem to be much more literary than the co-eds. Three men visit the book balcony to every girl that attends.

A newly introduced dollar rental plan which permits the student use of the rent library for one year upon the payment of a dollar, provided he does not take out over one book at a time, has proven a success, over 200 students being on the list at the present time.

M. F. McClain, manager of the Co-op, stated that the purpose of the Book Balcony was to foster an appreciation of good books among the students, and that profit was a secondary consideration.
