

Foreign Trio To Be Guests Of University

and International Relations clubs are cooperating with the Y. M. C. A. cabinet in arranging an informal reception for the Japanese students Tuesday afternoon. The hour and the place will be announced later. The object of the reception will be to give students a chance to meet and talk with the young men from across the Pacific in informal fashion.

The members of the team represent three of Japan's leading universities, which are among the largest in the world. T. R. Makiyama is a graduate student of Chuo university and holds a degree from McGill university of Toronto.

Jiu-Jitsu Lectures Given

Tad Yamada, of Meiji university, was in the United States last year as a lecturer on the art of jiu-jitsu and should attract the interest of co-eds wishing to learn the art of self-defense against campus prowlers. K. Sumomogi of Doshisha university is the third member of the team. All are said to be excellent English speakers.

Extended engagements in Portland and Seattle are keeping the good-will team busy during the present week. They will arrive in Eugene by train on Monday evening and will leave for California centers by the midnight train Tuesday.

Anyone wishing to arrange special features for the team's Eugene stay should get in touch with Dave Wilson at the University Y. M. C. A. hut.

Dr. Howard Taylor To Aid Freshmen

Tuesday and Thursday mornings all freshmen interested in the returns from their placement examinations or in academic or vocational advice may confer with Dr. Howard R. Taylor, director of the bureau of personnel research.

From the personnel records compiled for each student fairly definite conclusions can be reached upon the probability of success in college. The records available include preparatory school, placement examinations and grade averages per term of college work.

Dr. Taylor hopes in the interviews with students, particularly with freshmen, to clarify students' ideas of the work done by the research bureau. Students faced with difficulties in selection of majors and courses can, by studying their records as interpreted by an expert, find their special capacities and weaknesses.

Campus "Grand Hotel"

Phi Delta Theta honored their pledges at a dinner dance Friday evening at the chapter house. The decorations were carried out by a "Grand Hotel" idea.

Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Burrell, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Huestis, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hall were patrons and patronesses. Tom Clapp was in charge of arrangements, with Harold Beem and Bill Martin assisting.

The First Gate at Boulder Rock Is Done

The first of two mighty steel gates which will turn the Colorado's turbid waters into the Hoover dam at Boulder Rock and thereby unlock untold riches for Los Angeles in the field of power and irrigation. It is 50 feet long, 50 feet wide, and weighs three million pounds.

SOCIETY - - -

ELOISE DORNER, Editor

A group of faculty members were honored Sunday evening with a supper given by Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society, at the home of Betty Anne Macduff.

Guests included Dean Karl W. Onthank, Mr. A. B. Stillman, Mr. John Stark Evans, Dr. Harold J. Noble, Dean George Rebec, Mrs. Josephine Parrish Stewart, and Mrs. Nelson F. Macduff. Members of the Mortar Board are: Louise Webber, Marian Chapman, Aimee Sten, Ellen Sersanous, and Betty Anne Macduff.

Sigma Pi Tau entertained with an informal pledge dance Saturday evening at the chapter house. Each room represented one of the four seasons of the year, and one feature of the dance was an illustrated miniature of the Three Sisters in the yard. George Schenk was in charge of the arrangements.

Dean and Mrs. Eric W. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Rae, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Van Loan and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Price were guests at the dance.

Miss Ruth Street, an alumni of Phi Mu sorority, was married to W. E. Duncan, who is coach at the Oregon City high school, November 2, in Portland, Oregon.

Mrs. Duncan is national president of Gamma Alpha Phi, women's advertising honorary. She graduated from the University of Oregon in 1928, and she was the only woman who has been manager of the Emerald.

Hendricks Hall Reception To Honor Resident

Mrs. Alta Schaaf, head resident at Hendricks hall, will be honored Thursday evening at a reception given at the hall from 8 until 10. In the receiving line will be Adele Hitchman, Mrs. Schaaf, Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, Dean Hazel Prutsman Schwering, Mrs. Alice B. Macduff, and Lenore Graves.

Mrs. H. Johnson, Mrs. Mary Bowman Hull, Miss Hilda Swenson, and Mrs. Kenneth Shumaker will pour. Jeanette Turner will play piano selections during the evening. Lenore Greve is in charge of the reception.

A college idea with silhouette decorations was featured at the Sigma Chi pledge dance Saturday night. The dance was informal and patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Carlton E. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Everett S. Prouty, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald H. Robnett.

Pledges of Kappa Sigma were honored Saturday evening at a barn dance at the chapter house. Hay and autumn leaves were used in decorating. Charles White was in charge of the dance.

Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Lewis W. Pittman, Mrs. Clark Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Russ Cutler, and Mr. and Mrs. William P. Riddlesbarger.

The fall term informal of Susan Campbell hall was given Saturday evening. The decorations followed a Spanish idea, and the colors used were tile and brown. Isabel Tracy was in charge of the dance with Harriet Porter assisting.

Dean and Mrs. H. V. Hoyt, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bryson were patrons and patronesses for the dance.

Hendricks hall had its fall informal Saturday evening. The decorations were shrubs and leaves in yellow, red, and brown arranged to picture a colorful autumn scene. Lenore Greves was in charge of the dance. Patrons and patronesses were: Mrs. Alta Schaaf, Mrs. F. G. Schmidt, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hull.

The alumnae of Phi Mu Epsilon celebrated founder's day at a tea Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Stark Evans. Guests of honor were patronesses, active members, and members of Tau Delta Delta. Miss Wanda Eastwood was chairman for the program. Mrs. Rex Underwood played piano numbers. ## Lane Will Speak To Library Class

In observance of the National Book week, Mr. Robert Lane will give a talk before Miss Lenore Casford's class in elementary reference work, on "How To Tell a Well Made Book," in room 4 of the library building at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mr. Lane graduated from the University of Oregon with a B.S. degree in 1926. He taught several high schools in southern California. He then was an instructor in library work at the Carnegie Institution of Technology at Pittsburgh. He came back to Oregon and took printing receiving a M.S. degree with honors, one of only two persons to do this in the University.

Everyone interested in hearing the talk is welcome to come. Some beautifully made books will be shown and these books will be put on exhibition on the main floor for a week after the talk.

A new stunt, towing of four gliders abreast behind a small blimp, was accomplished this fall at Akron, Ohio.

Panama's Prexy

University Given One Day Vacation For Thanksgiving

School Behind in Schedule Because of Holiday On Wednesday

With but one day allowed for Thanksgiving vacation this year, students of Oregon and Oregon State find themselves for the first time under the same ruling governing this holiday, it was stated last night by Earl M. Pallett, registrar.

Dismissal of classes over the entire week-end, while done at Oregon for a number of years, has never been allowed to students at Oregon State. The normal schools and the medical school in Portland will not follow the same schedule due to difference in the class schedules, since they take only one or two days in completing registration procedure.

University schedules are already behind due to the holiday granted last Wednesday following election.

One of the principal reasons for the elimination of the week-end holiday is the unfairness it imposes on students living out of state, and who cannot go home for Thanksgiving even with a three-day vacation. Students from Portland can easily leave Wednesday afternoon and spend Wednesday night and most of Thursday at home, returning Thursday night even without the extension.

Former Students Now Employed at Various Schools

Several Graduates in Iowa Working for Higher Degrees

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan McCollom, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Swanson, all former Oregon students, are now employed in the department of psychology at the University of Iowa, according to information received here by Dr. Robert H. Seashore.

Mrs. McCollom and Mr. Swanson, who received their M. A. degrees at Oregon last year, are now working for their Ph.D.'s at Iowa, are acting as assistants in a project to improve the reading skills of freshmen, under the direction of Dr. Francis P. Robinson, also a graduate of the University of Oregon.

Dr. Seashore revealed that Mr. McCollom has but recently received the Eastman fellowship for his experimental studies in the psychology of music. Mrs. Swanson is doing secretarial work at the Iowa institution, it is reported.

Mr. Earl Pemberton, who earned his M. A. at Oregon, informs Dr. Seashore in a communication received yesterday that he has obtained an assistantship at the University of Southern California and is working for his Ph.D.

Statue Becomes Football Shrine

UNION SPRINGS, Ala., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The Confederate soldier's monument in the public square here became a shrine for football fans this fall.

Following Auburn's 19 to 6 victory over Tulane, excited friends of Capt. Jimmy Hitchcock gathered around the monument in his home town placed a headgear on the marble head of the soldier, put a football in his arms and called him "Hitchcock."

Union Springs has celebrated each time Auburn won this season, but the demonstration was greatest after the Tulane victory.

Parsons, Hall Attend Conference for U. of O.

Attending the conference called by the chancellor of New York university on the "University and Social Change," on November 14, 15, and 17, Dr. P. A. Parsons, head of the sociology department, and Ex-President Arnold Bennett Hall, now of the Brookings Institute in Washington, D. C., were official delegates representing the University of Oregon.

While in Washington, D. C., on November 16, Dr. Parsons attended the North American conference on "Higher Education and Religion."

On November 23 Dr. Parsons will attend a conference at the University of Arizona in Tucson.

OSC Orchestra To Play At Dance Here Friday

Jimmy Whippo and his seven-piece band from Oregon State college will be featured at Willamette park Friday evening. His orchestra is composed of all college men.

Whippo and his band played at Klamath Falls during the summer. He has made numerous appearances in Eugene and has made many friends among the University students.

Between 5:30 and 6 o'clock Friday evening his band will broadcast over station KORE.

He Hikes on the Aqua

James Proctor, an Englishman with a novel idea of sport, spends his spare time hiking up and down the Thames on these novel pontoons. Gets quite a kick out of it, too. Above, he's shown feeding some of the swans that frequent the shadier portions of the river.

Your University

(This is one of a series of articles from Salem explaining the allocation of courses under the new system adopted by the state board of higher education. The board is putting the plan into operation for the first time this semester.)

SALEM, Nov. 7.—(Special)—Details of the organization of the new school of social sciences which will offer work in seven major lines in this field in the Oregon State System of Higher Education were announced recently by the state board of higher education.

The new school has been formed from social science departments and courses of the old college of literature, science and the arts and the school of applied social science at the University of Oregon and duplicating departments in the schools of commerce, vocational education and basic arts and sciences at Oregon State college. Dr. James H. Gilbert, former dean of the college of literature, science and the arts and a member of the University faculty for 25 years, will be the new dean of the school of social science with headquarters at Eugene. Dean Gilbert was graduated from the University of Oregon in 1903 and received his doctor's degree at Columbia university in 1907.

Major work leading to bachelor, master and doctor degrees in the fields of economics, geography, history, philosophy, political science, psychology and sociology will be given at the University under the consolidation program of the board.

Lower division work during the first two years, giving students a thorough background for specialization in any of the major curricula in social sciences, will be offered at both Corvallis and Eugene. In addition, service courses for students in the technical and scientific schools at the college will be given at Corvallis. While all specialization in the school will be concentrated on the Eugene campus, students not only will be given opportunity for a thorough background on either campus, the board points out, but will also have available supplementary courses in other schools.

A saving for the coming year of approximately 13 per cent over the present system has been effected by the changes aside from the salary reductions. The savings are made possible partly through elimination of faculty members owing to consolidation of departments and courses, and partly by larger classes and increased teaching loads.

In reducing the personnel from 56 staff members at both institutions to 41, including all professors, associate and assistant professors, instructors and graduate assistants, the ablest men have in every instance been retained. All but two faculty members holding the rank of assistant professor or above hold doctor of philosophy degrees, the highest academic title available for educators.

Under the new arrangement for this school, it was not necessary to make shifts from one campus to the other. Members of the school's faculty at Eugene follow: Economics—Dr. James H. Gilbert, Dr. Donald M. Erb and Dr. Victor P. Morris, all professors; Dr. Louis A. Wood and Dr. Calvin Crumbaker, associate professors. Geography—Dr. Warren D. Smith, professor; John Allen, graduate

Health Week Now Being Sponsored By W A A Students

"If the A. S. U. O. awarded the O to every student who had 'athletic's foot,' the Order of the O would certainly increase its membership," is the opening sentence of an article by Dr. Fred Miller, written in conjunction with Health Week, now being sponsored by the Women's Athletic association.

The article describes the effect on the body of this fungus growth which is acquired when walking barefoot in the gymnasium or living organization. The growth may manifest itself in blisters or cracking, may be damp or dry and may, or may not, itch, according to the individual.

Because of these personal differences, Dr. Miller declares no one remedy may be recommended. Spread of infection, the article reads, may be checked, however, by sprinkling floors with chloride of lime. "Individuals can do much," Dr. Miller further stated, "by refusing to borrow or lend clothes, and by not running around bare-footed."

Clatsop County Elects Oregon Law Graduate

Willis West, former Oregon law student, was elected by a two-to-one lead district attorney of Clatsop county on the Democratic ticket, defeating Frank P. Leinenweber, Republican candidate, who had held the position for the last two terms.

According to the Astorian Evening Budget, West took the district attorney's office in one of the biggest of local upsets in many years.

He graduated from the law school last winter term with high scholastic standing, having passed the bar in 1930, before receiving his diploma.

Lytton Report Added To Library Collection

The Lytton report on the Manchurian situation has recently been added to the League of Nations collection in room 32 on the third floor of the main library, Pauline Walton, who is in charge of the League of Nations collection, made known. Also the large maps which help to explain the report may be found there.

Other books recently received are: "A World Economic Survey," "The Course and Phases of the World Economic Depression," and "Unemployment."

It haunted clerks for generations

"The first of the month" used to be a time of feverish activity for ledger clerks. But the Bell System accounting staff—breaking away from tradition—simplified the keeping of accounts and rendering of monthly statements to customers.

They applied a modern system of rotation billing to the telephone business which now spreads this work evenly throughout the month. In cooperation with manufacturers, they devised special typewriters and bookkeeping machines. Thus they did away with inefficient rush and achieved greater accuracy, speed and neatness.

This is but one example of a point of view found throughout the Bell System. Even long accepted routine is constantly studied—it's always worth looking for the more efficient way!
