Phases of Japanese Problems Aably Discussed by Visiting Speakers

By OSCAR F. MUNGER

Indications of the general interest felt in far eastern questions was manifested yesterday when an estimated crowd of 1,500 attentive University students, faculty members and townspeople, gathered in assembly at 11:00 o'clock yesterday at Gerlinger hall to hear Tad Yamada, T. R. Makiyama, and K. Sumomogi, Japanese good-will speakers, who are starting a four months' tour of the United States.

All three of the young men are University students in Japan and the tour is under the advisement of Roger Pfaff, one of Oregon's Pacific Basin debaters of last year.

The assembly was opened by the University band playing the national anthem of Japan followed by the United States national anthem. The stage was appropriately set off with flags of the two countries. Victory P. Morris, president of the International Relations club, was chairman.

"In no eastern country have the elements of the East and West been so harmoniously blended as in Japan," declared Mr. Sumomogi, the first speaker, in speaking on "The New Japan." "Japan has been so busy modernizing her country along western lines that she has not had time to tell the West about herself and her culture. To the West, Japan is still a land of gods and mysteries. Most of our western friends on their first visit to Japan are amazed at the modern conveniences that greet their eyes," he declared.

"Today, East is West, and to a lesser extent, West is East," Mr. Makiyama emphasized when he addressed the assembly. In speaking of the commerce between the United States and his country, Mr. Makiyama said, "Few Americans realize that their trade with Japan exceeds in dollars and cents all the rest of their trade with the rest of Asia, even including the Philippines." This point was further emphasized when he pointed out the number of things such as automobiles, foodstuffs, etc., coming from the United States, which figure in his everyday life.

Tad Yamada, the last speaker, pointed to the need for friendship between the youth of America and Japan as a necessary factor in promoting a favorable future for the Pacific era just on the horizon.

"Barriers of Nature that separate America and Japan have been broken yet men have erected barriers of prejudice, misunderstanding and discrimination that have destroyed friendship and good will," he said. "We, the youth of Japan and America, with the aid of our elders, must dedicate our friendship to the ideal of peace and understanding." He declared. Further he said, "We as unbiased and unprejudiced Japanese students can truthfully say to you that our

Elma Doris Havemann Wins Fourth Honorary Decoration

By ELINOR HENRY

A major-general on parade or Charles Augustus Lindbergh hasn't many more honorary decorations than Elma Doris Havemann, newly elected to the "Senior Six" of Phi Beta Kappa.

But on occasion she may wear the badge of membership in Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, and Pi Lambda Theta, education honor society. And in a short time she will add the Phi Beta Kappa pin to her collection.

Elma Doris says that attending last summer's Olympic games and

Two Nominated For Soph Office

Sophomores met last night to take account of their finances after the Sophomore Informal. From Ed Meserve's report it was learned that they kept below the budget.

Nominations were then made to fill Blanche O'Neill's place as class secretary, Nancy Archibald and Margaret Ellen Osborne were named and votes are to be cast next Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. hut.

The next topic to be discussed was the annual "Whiskerino Shuffle." A question had arisen as to the advisability of its retention. A vote was taken and resulted in the continuance of this historic institution, which will be held during winter term.

Houses are being notified at least a day in advance that they are to be judged by committees of three judges, who will select the five best men's and women's organizations to be submitted to the faculty judging committee.

At the termination of the preliminary judging the winners will then be judged by the faculty committee, which includes John Stark Evans, professor of organ; Dr. John H. ### Oregana Drive Is Far Short Of 1400 Quota

Campus Campaign Ends Today at 3

CITY SALE IS OPEN

Fate of Yearbook Is in Hands Of Townspeople; Book May Not Be Published

The fate of the 1933 Oregana hangs in the balance this morning as a report late last night showed that approximately 900 subscriptions had been obtained. Officials have set 1,400 as the minimum number of subscribers needed to assure the publication of the annual this year. This leaves 500 additional persons needed to sign for copies of the book before the sales campaign comes to a close this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

According to Gordon Day and Helen Stinger, sales promotion managers, support of the yearbook has lain mostly in the fraternity and sorority houses. A number of these living groups have reached a 100 per cent subscription quota. It is the town and unaffiliated students who have failed to respond to the call for subscriptions.

Sales End Friday

The main cause for this deficiency is due, states Day, to the inaccessibility of the unaffiliated students. The sales campaign for these students has, therefore, been extended to Friday of this week when all soliciting will end. Ethan Newman and Katherine Liston have been placed in charge of sales to town students, and will be aided by more than a score of representatives. Subscriptions may be obtained from these students or by calling at the A. S. U. O. office in McArthur court.

"In all probability," states Day, "no Oregana will be published this year unless the required number of subscriptions is obtained. With the campus drive falling so far short of the quota, the fate of the Oregana is now in the hands of the people of Eugene and the students of the campus."

Bargain Price Made

As has already been announced, the proposed book will sell for the bargain price of $4.50, installments on which may be paid over a period of months.

Students who participated in the drive among living organizations are urged to have their sales books into the chairman by 3 o'clock today. Men will turn their books in to Gordon Day at the Phi Kappa Psi house, and women are requested to leave theirs with Helen Stinger at the Gamma Phi Beta house.

L. Kraus Chosen Y.W.C.A. Leader

Lucille Kraus, senior, yesterday took over the leadership of the campus Y. W. C. A., accepting the president's office following the resignation of Aimee Sten, who has been forced to withdraw from activities because of poor health.

Miss Kraus was elected by members of the Y. W. cabinet during its weekly meeting Monday night. At the same time a vote of thanks was extended to the retiring president in recognition of her contributions to the association and efficiency as leader.

The succeeding president has been an active member of the Young Women's Christian association for four years, as president of Frosh commission, social, association dinner and finance chairman, and vice-president this year.

Not Speed Fiend By Choice, Says W. F. G. Thacher

With fire in his eye and an Emerald in his hand, W. F. G. Thacher, advertising and journalism professor for the past ten years, strode into the Emerald office yesterday.

"Who wrote this column?" he demanded, showing ye managing editor the current "Two Decades Ago" column. "Why, I wasn't even here twenty years ago!" (See apology in today's column!)

Otherwise, however, he agreed to the truth of Colonel John Leader's statement of his innocence. It was because the colonel kept urging him to go faster than he was driving at the terrific speed of 35 miles an hour when the speed cop caught up with them.

And after their arrest, Leader bet Thacher the fine wouldn't be over $2.00. "If it is I'll pay half," he promised. And he did—$7.50. Alas, the price of speed!

Exam Schedule Will Be Out Soon

The schedule of final examinations for fall term is to be released next Tuesday, it was announced last night by Clifford Constance, assistant registrar.

A change in the order of this year to insure greater fairness to all students in the matter of completing their exams early.

It is planned to rotate the examination groups each term in the year, so that there will be no students who finish up by the middle of the week all three examinations weeks, while others are kept on the campus until the last session in one term. This is also being done in fairness to instructors, since those whose examinations fall late in the week have to work a great deal harder in reading and grading.

It is also planned that the schedule will be made uniform every year for each term, so that the schedule will be definite at all times during the year.

Two Grid Teams Will Play for Cup

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 22. — (Special) — Announcement was made here today that Governor Meier of Oregon and Governor Rolph of California had decided to present jointly to the winner of the Oregon-St. Mary's football game a trophy to be known as the "Governors' cup."

Just before the kickoff, the cup will be presented to Captain Bill Beasley of St. Mary's for the victory of his team in last year's game. After the encounter the winning eleven will take the trophy, to keep for at least one year. The cup will be a perpetual award, to be on the block every time the Gaels and Webfoots oppose each other on the gridiron.

Moley Accompanies F. D. to White House

Dr. Raymond B. Moley, a visitor on the campus last year, with whom Wayne L. Morse, dean of the law school, collaborated on his survey of the grand jury system, accompanied Franklin D. Roosevelt to the White House for the president-elect's interview with President Herbert Hoover, it was noted in press dispatches from Washington yesterday.

When he was on the campus Dr. Moley paid high tribute to Dean Morse for his work in connection with the grand jury survey. During the present campaign he has acted as chief economic adviser to Mr. Roosevelt. Dr. Moley is a professor in the department of public law at Columbia university.

Mud Turtles Defeated By Webfeet Monday

One to 0 was the score of the hard fought girls' hockey game Monday evening, resulting in victory for the Webfeet, managed by Mildred Widmer over the Mud Turtles of Katherine Lenck. Last night, however, the Mud Turtles turned the tables and defeated the Webfeet with a score of 4 to 0.

There will be just three more games this season all to be played next week.

Go Get 'Em

Throughout the year, lectures will be given by prominent lawyers and judges in Oregon.

Turkey Used To Cost $$$$ , But Now Look, Says Hitchie

By Parks (Tommy) Hitchcock Again the Emerald crashes through! Through the efforts of the staff scientists (headed by that experienced anatomist, R. (Butch) Morse, the Emerald brings you astounding figures on how long it will take the average student to recover from the Thanksgiving holidays.

The figures are the result of extensive study of a trial group of representative students. Names come first (as ever) and afterwards come the figures telling how long it took the patient to recover from the "turkey, pudding, and wine." Here they are: Anselmo Pozzo, 8 hrs. 5 min. Bill Crowe, 87 hrs. 3 min. Wilson Johnston, $25 bail.

Fiery Cougars Engage Uncles in Los Angeles; Slip Madigan Fears Callison Squad

Crystal Ball Says

At St. Mary's 6, Oregon 7. At Wash. 6, U. S. C. 20. At U. C. L. A. 7, W. S. C. 14.

By BRUCE HAMBY

Sports Editor, Oregon Emerald On three far-flung sectors of the Pacific coast football front, Thanksgiving day engagements will be fought tomorrow. In the hollow of Kezar stadium in San Francisco, Oregon faces St. Mary's in a major non-conference battle. Nine-hundred miles northward from the Bay city region, Southern California's Trojans meet Washington's Huskies in Seattle. In the sunny south Washington State college carries its spirited attack against the high-stepping Uncles of U. C. L. A.

Only in the Washington-Southern California contest is there a decided favorite. The Trojans are expected to win from the Huskies by at least two touchdowns. The Washington State-U. C. L. A. encounter is regarded as virtually a standoff, and the Oregon-St. Mary's duel is expected to be equally close. Near-capacity crowds are anticipated at Los Angeles and Seattle, the weather being favorable, but the attendance at San Francisco may be below that of previous games between the Gaels and Webfoots.

Watch Out, Uncles! Should the Trojans step over Washington, and Washington State trounce the Uncles, Southern California would take possession of its second successive Pacific coast conference championship. The well-coached Cougars, led by vivacious Babe Hollingbery and sparked by one of the nation's leading triple-threat halfbacks, Capt. George Sander, are considered possibilities to smite the plucky Bruins.

Quite naturally, Southern California is the experts' choice to overcome Washington. The men of Troy apparently are under-way now, and it looks as if it would take a wall of brick to stop them. However, the Trojans' last trip to the north still is fresh in memory. It was in 1930 that U. S. C. last crossed the Siskiyou. Its destination was Pullman, Wash., and Mr. Hollingbery's boys came away with the fat end of a 7-to-6 score as football history was written in the Palouse hills.

Also, Washington State is not yet eliminated from the championship race. Playing the courageous, fighting football typical of all Cougar elevens, it has come back following a 20-0 defeat by U. S. C. and is undefeated except for that game. Should the Cougars down U. C. L. A. and Washington confound the Trojans, W.
