

Four Students To Be Soloists For 'Messiah'

Oratorio To Be Presented Week From Sunday

Symphony Orchestra and Choir To Join in Presentation Of Production

"Local talent" will be very prominent in the presentation of "The Messiah," to be given a week from Sunday by the University polyphonic choir and symphony orchestra. All four of the soloists for the oratorio are Eugene students.

Announcement made yesterday by Arthur Boardman, choir director, disclosed that the solo roles will be filled this year by Grace Burnett, soprano; Rose Simons, contralto; Victor Bryant, tenor; and Gifford Nash, basso.

Soloists from Eugene

The localization of all the soloists to Eugene is a coincidence in marked contrast to last year's performance, when the four soloists were students from Salem, Ashland, and Eugene.

All four of this year's soloists have won their spurs and their public approval in previous solo appearances. Miss Burnett and Miss Simons were soloists in last year's production of Gault's "Holy City." Victor Bryant starred in Hayden's "Creation" last spring, and Gifford Nash and Miss Burnett had the leading roles in "The Beggar's Opera" in May of this year.

Rehearsals to Begin

Behind the soloists on the McArthur court stage will be a 150-voice choir made up of the combined polyphonic choir and polyphonic chorus. In front of them will be the full 65-piece symphony orchestra. Roy Bryson and Rex Underwood have given the polyphonic chorus and the orchestra preliminary training for the "Messiah." Rehearsals of the entire ensemble under Boardman's baton began Tuesday.

The Associated Students have consented to manage the concert for the music school. Ronald H. Robnett, assistant graduate manager, announced yesterday that the ticket sale for faculty and townspeople would open at the Co-op and at McMorrin and Washburne's early next week.

Reedy To Address KORE Audience

In a radio speech sponsored by the Socialist party, Rolla Reedy, senior in journalism, will address listeners through KORE at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon on "What Socialism Is and What It Is Not."

This address, which is on the "Magazine of the Air" program, follows last week's speech by Wallace Campbell, who talked on the subject of "Charity and Social Insurance in the Present Crisis," sponsored by the League of Industrial Democracy.

These talks will be a regular Sunday feature of KORE, the Reverend Clay E. Palmer, and the Reverend Ernest M. Whitesmith alternating with Reedy and Campbell.

Swim as Usual

Contrary to the report in the Tuesday Emerald social swim will be held from 7:30 to 9 p. m. as usual on Friday evenings during the remainder of the term. Recreational hour for women wishing to swim Friday afternoons will be at 4 o'clock as it has been all term.

Taps for Another Oceanic Aviator

Alekio Lilius (right), leader of the expedition to find the missing United States aviator, Glenn Brophy, ordering a final salute to be fired as a tribute to the lost aviator. All hope of discovering him has been given up, and on the barren little isle of Yami in the Philippine archipelago the search is ended. Second from the right is Vicente Formoso, governor of the Calayan province. Brophy left Portuguese China several months ago on an attempted flight to Manila. His name has been chalked up on the ever-growing list of missing aviators who attempted to baffle the wily Pacific.

Freshman Group To Hold Seminar On Quiz Problem

Frosh Leaders Organize Discussion Seminar At Campus YW

Plans to call an all-campus "seminar" for freshmen before the final examinations were laid yesterday at the first meeting of the Frosh commission, which is being organized by the University Y. M. C. A. as a freshman service organization.

Representatives for nearly every living organization on the campus composed the group of leading freshmen who met at the "Y" hut with Bill Kidwell, freshman chairman of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet and adviser to the Frosh commission.

Problems to be Discussed

The purpose of the commission will be to take up problems and undertake projects of peculiar interest to freshmen. Agreement that the unknown quantity of "first-finals" is the principal freshman problem at the present time led to the decision to call a general freshman meeting some day next week. At this meeting faculty members and upperclassmen will advise the frosh on "Do's" and "Don't's" of preparation for final exams.

Bill McNutt, A. T. O. representative, was chosen chairman pro tem of the commission pending permanent organization and selection of officers. Albert Henke of Omega hall is acting secretary.

Most Houses Represented

Those who attended the first meeting were: Bill McNutt, A. T. O.; Norman Hampton, Beta Theta Pi; Robert Johnston, Chi Psi; Edward Prialux, Delta Tau Delta; Bruce Ewen, Phi Delta Theta; Ralph McCartney, Phi Gamma Delta; John McConnell, Phi Sigma Kappa; Richard Proebstel, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Robert Butler, Sigma Chi.

Maurice Winters, Sigma Nu; Robert Welsh, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Bob Thurston, Sigma Pi Tau; Grant Eade, Alpha hall; John Gibson, Gamma hall; Albert Hanke, Omega hall; William Hall, Sherry Ross hall; Ralf Finseth, Sigma hall; Robert Holt, Zeta hall; Bill Ito, Friendly hall.

Organizations not represented at the meeting were Alpha Upsilon, International house, Kappa Sigma, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Mu, and Theta Chi.

Former Oregon Professor To Be On Floating University

When the S. S. Slamet departs from New York February 4, carrying students and faculty members of the first official cruise of the American Floating University, one of its educators will be William A. Fowler, who until two years ago was associate professor of business administration at the University of Oregon. Fowler, while here, specialized in foreign trade and won wide recognition through his surveys for markets for Oregon prunes, lumber and other products.

Mr. Fowler, who holds the degree of Master of Business Administration from this institution, has for the past two years been instructor in foreign trade in the Harvard university graduate school of business administration.

Definite plans for the initial cruise of this educational venture have now been completed. The faculty will be headed by Dr. James Edwin Lough, president of

Oregon, Chicago Co-op Store Prices Compare

The University of Oregon Co-op compares very favorably with that of the University of Chicago, especially as to appearance and prices, according to a letter received by Marion F. McClain, manager of the local Co-op, from Mr. Paul Ager, former comptroller here.

Mr. Ager is now at the Chicago institution completing his studies in economics, and is living at the International house.

CAMPA SHOPPE WILL BE SCENE OF ANNUAL JAM

(Continued from Page One) persons at the Jam will be interviewed, and selections from the scandal sheet will be read.

Group Tables Provided

Tables will be provided for each living organization on the campus and independents not living within incorporated houses may make reservations. Provisions will be made for those who come without having made reservations. Tickets are now available through representatives in each living organization.

Patrons and patronesses are Mr. and Mrs. Eric W. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. George Turnbull, Mr. and Mrs. Arne G. Rae, Miss Lynnette Davis, and Mrs. Alice B. Macduff.

Future Teachers' Meets Scheduled For December 7-8

Materials for Registration Will Be Available for Job Candidates

Two meetings of importance to seniors in the school of education and others who are prospective high school teachers, have been scheduled for the second week in December.

The first will be in the auditorium of the University high school on Wednesday afternoon, December 7, at 4 o'clock. It is very important that all candidates for teaching positions be present at this meeting, according to information coming from the appointment bureau at the school of education, for at that time materials for registration with the appointment bureau will be made available. Instructions for procedure in making applications for positions will also be discussed.

The other meeting is for those students who expect to do cadet teaching during the next high school semester, and will be held in room 4 of the Education building, Thursday, December 8, at 4 o'clock. All seniors who have received notices of assignment for supervised teaching during next semester must report for definite assignment at that time, according to Nelson L. Bossing, who is in charge of cadet teachers. Those who have been assigned for supervised teaching but do not expect to teach, should notify Mr. Bossing, in order that provisions may be made for their position.

DAVE WILSON, PHI BETA KAPPA, HAS COMPLEX

(Continued from Page One) rackets that give soft jobs to traveling secretaries and executives who carry on the "business" from expensive suites in metropolitan skyscrapers," he remarked. "Phi Beta's a different matter," he added. "It only costs $10.00." He doesn't know just what he will do when he finishes school. "I'm afraid I'll never justify the cultural expectations of Phi Beta—just a hack writer, that's all. I'm an ex-debater, ex-politician, and ex-idealist."

MOVIE NOTES

COLONIAL—"False Faces." McDONALD—"Too Busy To Work."

By BOB GUILD Colonial

A pretty fancy package they're unwrapping these nights at the Colonial, at that. Lowell Sherman was never more urbane, suave and master of the many situations he got himself into than in his "False Faces."

Starting out as a petty grafter and quack in a big hospital, he improvises on fate, that gets him kicked out of his job, moves to Chicago, and sets up in the big time. From then on the grafting, face and money, is on a larger scale.

This is the always interesting story of a gent smooth enough to inculcate big business methods in the profession. Not exactly a facial Burbank, he is the daddy of all fast talking promotion sharks, and plainly having read his Casanova, the girls flock to him for their facials, at 5000 berries per lift.

His methods are quite simple. He flatters them all, and promises them the moon, in six months. They all like it. Shortly before he gets himself disillusioned enough to admit they're all alike he mires down, but not without a struggle.

There has been a Miss America a year for some time, but there is one Mr. America. Meet Will Rogers again, in a sort of half tramp, half Pagliacci role, which will probably swell his following considerably. Always the homely philosopher, he dresses up his philosophic gems in rags this time; delivers them with holes in his shoes. Once again we are called on to see what the open road can do to develop whimsy in its frequenters.

If you read his syndicated column you no doubt have an idea of the type of shrewd and timely comments that are interwoven in the narrative of his latest picture. Marion Nixon and Dick Powell lend a helping hand. We confess to a hankering for Miss Nixon as the country lass—and as for Sir Rogers, what could suit him better? The Oklahoma sage to the life.

Braden To Speak At Gerlinger Hall

George W. Braden of the Playground and Recreational Association of America will discuss "The Important Relationship Between Recreation and Physical Education" today at 4 o'clock in room 121, Gerlinger hall to all physical education majors and anyone else wishing to attend.

At 7:30 this evening Mr. Braden will conduct a program of practical and recreational principles and activities in the Women's building. This meeting is sponsored by the Eugene Playground committee and the school of physical education. All University and townspeople are invited to attend.

Mr. Braden is the western representative and executive of the national playground association, and has charge of all the territory west of the Rocky mountains. Through his efforts recreation and playgrounds have been developed

The War's Off But They Still Run Trains

This is what they do down in Mexico when the war is wound up. These members of the Mexican standing army have just been put to work driving spikes for the national railway system, and apparently they don't like it very much. But the Mexican government doesn't believe in wasting anyone's time so the warriors to the south of us have adopted "I've Been Working On the Railroad," or the Spanish equivalent, as their battle hymn.

Chesterfields are Milder

Chesterfields Taste Better

To make tobaccos mild and mellow for Chesterfield cigarettes, just about four miles of warehouses are filled with mild, ripe Domestic leaf, stored away to age for two years. The greater part of 90 million dollars is invested in these tobaccos. Is it surprising that Chesterfields are milder? That they taste better? Everything known to Science is used to make Chesterfields right! They're mild—and yet They Satisfy.
