Taylor Is Idaho's Best High School Coach This Year

Montpelier Team Compiles Unusual Record for Past Five Years

Introducing football at the Montpelier, Idaho, high school in 1928, Walter J. "Jerry" Taylor, '24, has established a record of 32 victories, three ties, and six defeats in 41 games played in the five years, according to Idaho sport writers who list him as the state's leading high school coach.

Coaching comparatively green material ever since he began football at Montpelier, Taylor concluded a nine-game season this year without a defeat, running his total to 19 consecutive wins, as he did not lose a game in 1931. This season his team won the league and eastern Idaho championships and scored 229 points to their opponents' 19.

Taylor played no varsity football while at the University, but attended summer sessions conducted by Captain McEwan and Dr. Spears at Oregon and by the late Knute Rockne at Salt Lake.

His teams at Montpelier have never averaged more than 150 pounds, sport page gossip from various Idaho cities reports, and have relied upon deception and speed with remarkable results. Playing 35 games in his own league, Taylor's squad has amassed 896 points to 217 for opponents in the last five years, winning 29, tying two, and losing four games out of 35 played.

The climax of this year's schedule was the 7 to 0 mid-season defeat administered to the larger and heavier Pocatello team.

Atkinson Will Be Oregon Speaker

Winfield Atkinson will represent the University of Oregon in an after-dinner speaking contest to be given at the Congress hotel in Portland at 6 o'clock on the night of December 9. The contest is under the sponsorship of the Intercollegiate Forensic association of Oregon.

Reservations are being made at the Congress hotel. The dinner will be 75 cents a plate. The winner of the contest will be presented over radio station KEX after the meeting. The subject will be "Political Ballyhoo."

Dr. Dorothy Reed and Edna Bell Are Visitors

Dr. Dorothy Reed, well-known lecturer on international relations, and Edna-Ellen Bell, prominent in Junior league activities, visited the campus the past week-end. Dr. Reed attended the University of Oregon for two years, received her B.A. at Mills college, and her master's and doctor of philosophy at Columbia university. She has recently completed research work which took her into nine foreign countries. Her last investigations took her to London for several months.

Miss Edna-Ellen Bell, recently elected to the Portland Junior league, is president of the young Republican club of Oregon. She and Dr. Reed stopped here after touring the western part of the states in behalf of Hoover and the Republican party.

Former Student Here Now Teaching in China

Wu Tang, who graduated from the University last year with a doctor's degree in jurisprudence, is now teaching at the Political Academy of Wen Wa university in Nanking, China, a letter which Mrs. H. S. Tuttle, housemother of the International house, has just received from him states.

A transfer student from the University of Washington, Tang took his last year in law here.

Five More Law Grads Admitted to State Bar

Re-examination of applicants to the state bar resulted in admission of five more Oregon graduates.

Those successful in the re-check were: Franz E. Wagner, '32; Elliott M. Amundsen, J.D. '32; William M. Bartle, LL.B. '32; Winsor W. Calkins, LL.B. '32; and Laurance B. Osterman, ex-'27.

Journalism Graduate Of 1925 Revisits Here

Chi Sung Pih, graduate of the school of journalism in 1925, was in Eugene October 7 on a business trip and dropped in at the "shack" for a few minutes' chat with the journalism faculty.

The Korean was a varsity baseball pitcher for Oregon in his junior and senior years. He is now married and has two children. He is traveling for a Portland exporter and importer of Oriental goods.

Just Rambling

By A. G. B.

There having been no Alumni Emerald last week, your Rambler has a lot of notes to go over for this issue.

The 1933 Oregana drive is still short of quota, and the budget has been slashed to $5500.

The Sunday morning quarter-backs are singing a little different tune since Oregon put up such a whale of a battle against St. Mary's at San Francisco-Thanksgiving day, only to lose 7 to 0.

Earlier vocal efforts were decidedly off key.

At a conference in Eugene on November 21, Chancellor Kerr told administrative officers and deans of Oregon's system of higher education that an additional $335,000 must be cut from the higher educational budget.

The schools have been running for almost $1,000,000 less than two years ago, and now another reduction is in sight.

Cecil J. Espy, Woodburn; Jean Lawrence Grady, Portland; Carl Ralph Walstrom, Portland; Harry S. Schenk, Portland, and Charles Edwin Roberts, Eugene, were recently elected to Friars, senior men's honorary.

Bill Reinhart, basketball coach, scouted St. Mary's and O. S. C. for Marjor Frank Cavanaugh at Fordham. Fordham beat St. Mary's 14 to 0 and took O. S. C. 8 to 6.

is the new basketball coach at the newbasketball coach at Franklin high school in Portland.

Bobby Robinson, ex-'30, is a member of the Stockton, Cal., American Legion football team.

Eugene paid its respects to Prink Callison and his football team just before the St. Mary's game. The squad and coaching staff were guests at a luncheon at the Eugene hotel.

The University of Oregon in the west and Harvard university in the east have again been chosen as art educational centers by the Carnegie corporation, and $500 will be available for scholarships in the school of fine arts at the University next summer.

Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, who recently resigned as president of the University and who is now director of the Brookings Institution for Governmental Research, Washington, D. C., has been made a life honorary member of the National Association of State Universities in recognition of his work at Oregon.

Amos Burg, ex-'30, noted explorer and adventurer, assumed a new role Thursday night when he spoke at the Matrix Table banquet on "Dancing Around the World," or so it was reported.

Burg is one of Oregon's most famous alumni. In the line of adventure he has done just about everything. He is a regular contributor to the National Geographic, a member of the famed Explorers' club of New York, and this year will again address the National Geographic society in Washington, D. C.

Recently, Burg has been making a study of the state of Oregon for the National Geographic. Matrix Table is an organization of women and Burg is about the last person the Rambler would pick as interested in the art of the dance, but maybe I'm wrong.

At any rate, the assignment indicates that Burg is still an individualist and an adventurer. More power to him.

The Journalism Jam will be held tonight. This "party" has provided some riots in the past.

Captain Bill Morgan, tackle; Mike Mikulak, fullback; Stan Kostka, halfback; Mark Temple, half back; Bill Bowerman, quarterback; and Bernie Hughes, center, were some of the Webfeet to be mentioned by various sport writers in preparing their all-star selections.

Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La., December 17, will be Oregon's next football stop.

If you have been keeping up on your news of the Far East and the League of Nations, you will be aware of the fact that the University of Oregon is among those present.

Yosuke Matsuoka, '00, is spokesman for Japan at the league, and China is being represented by Dr. T. Wellington Koo, a graduate of Columbia university. As Dave Wilson, the Phi Ete columnist on the Emerald remarked, "the score now

S. F. Alumni Have Large Luncheon For Football Men

Alumni of San Francisco and the bay district met at luncheon Wednesday, November 23, at Tate's Haubrau in San Francisco to greet the University football team, which arrived there that morning for the game with St. Mary's on Thanksgiving.

Between 50 and 60 alumni answered the call sent out by John Dierdorff, '22, and the luncheon was one of the largest gatherings of Oregon alumni held in San Francisco for some time. The meeting was informal. Prink Callison, varsity football coach; Hugh Rosson, graduate manager, and Bill Hayward, veteran track coach trainer, were among those present and extended informal greetings.

Family Mail

"Reading the Emerald for the first time in three years is a great treat," Manuel V. Alcidi, B.B.A. '25, M.B.A. '32, writes from Manila, where he is associated with the Arcon Construction company, Inc. "It takes me back to my five years on the Oregon campus, which I still consider the best years of my life.

"I wish I could be back again, especially for Homecoming. I have been very glad to read of the success of our new football coach, Prink Callison."

Alcidi was married September 8, to Miss Josefa A. Florendo, a graduate of the University of the Philippines. They are living at Vigan, Ilocos Sur, Philippine Islands.

"I will subscribe to the Emerald when you discontinue cigarette advertising, especially for women," Mrs. Mary Holst Pottsmith, '31, writes from Portland. "If you would print excerpts from a booklet, 'The Cigarette as a Physician Sees It,' your paper might be of some real value. I'll just send you a book."

A letter from Kribi, Cameroun, West Africa, from Mrs. Ernest Moser, '30, asks that her Alumni Emerald be sent to this address. Mrs. Moser was formerly Edna Dunbar, and after her graduation she taught for two years at Riddle, Ore., before her marriage to Ernest H. Moser, O. S. C. '27.

"We motored across the states in an old 1927 Chevie," Mrs. Moser writes, "and sailed for Europe August 19. After visiting France, Switzerland, Germany, and Holland, we sailed from Hamburg September 10."

"I have graduated only to enter another school and work harder," Edward Morgan, '32, writes from Portland. "I have had one year at the University of Oregon medical school, where they are trying very hard to make good doctors out of college men."

Journalism Grad Visits Fujiyama

Climbing Fujiyama and seeing the Diamond mountains of Korea and the Nine Dragon falls were some of last summer's experiences of Margaret E. Cuddeback, graduate of the University of Oregon school of journalism in 1930.

Miss Cuddeback is now teaching English in the Baptist Training school at Osaka, Japan.

"The police met us in Tsurga," Miss Cuddeback writes, "as they do all of the boats and when they saw me they wondered what the 'Russian' was planning to do and having neglected to get a police permit to enter the country, they had a right to wonder. Light hair is not a blessing in a country that dislikes communism."

For the Christmas vacation Miss Cuddeback plans to visit Taiwan.

BROWN FAVORS KEEPING COACH PRINK CALLISON

(Continued from Page One) change. What Oregon's athletic program needs is the support of the alumni 12 months out of the year, assistance from the alumni in various parts of the state in interesting high school athletes in the University, and less hollering for blood every time $10 is dropped in a bet on a ball game.

stands; Matsuoka, Manchuria; Koo, nothing."

Matsuoka is one of Japan's outstanding diplomats and has had an important part in the Manchurian situation and in Japan's relations with soviet Russia. He has a free hand in dealing with the league and was given an ovation when he left Tokio for Geneva.

The last Emerald for the fall term will be published next Wednesday. It also will be an alumni edition.

Alumni Entertain Students' Group At Osburn Hotel

Homecoming Directorate Is Thanked for Activities

The alumni association acted as host to 12 members of the Homecoming directorate at an informal dinner held at the Osburn hotel Thursday evening.

For several years it has been the custom for the association and the alumni secretary to entertain the student committee that handles the affairs of the Homecoming week-end, and Thursday night's dinner was a continuation of this custom.

Those present were: Ned Kinney, chairman; Robert Hall, student body president; Louise Webber, president, Associated Women Students; Ethan Newman, Virginia Hartje, Nancy Suomela, Cecil Espy, James Ferguson, Al McKelligan, Gordon Day, James Travis, and Maurice Winters.

Unable to attend were Jessie Steele and Evelyn Kennedy, Alexander G. Brown, alumni secretary, and Robert K. Allen, assistant in the alumni office, were also present.

Brief talks of appreciation for the work done by the group were given by Mr. Brown and Ned Kinney.

Alice Redetzke, '32, writes from 123 West Thirteenth street, New York city, asking that her Alumni Emerald be sent to this address.

BIG MOMENTS come often when you eat Shredded Wheat! Try it and see! Every one of those golden-brown biscuits is packed with energy, for Shredded Wheat is 100% whole wheat, Nature's own energy food. Nothing added, nothing lost. Duck a couple of these big golden biscuits deep into a bowl of milk! Then wade in after them! Delicious mouthfuls... and by that we mean 100% good to eat.

When you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

YOU would be astonished too, if you could see this machine that turns out 750 Chesterfields a minute... and every one as near perfect as cigarettes can be made.

But please bear this in mind. It is what happens before the tobacco goes into this machine that matters most. Rolling and packaging are important, but not nearly as important as the selection, blending and treatment of the tobacco.

That's why we keep telling you about the tobaccos used in Chesterfields. They're fine, mild, and pure tobaccos. We tell you about ageing and curing the tobaccos... about blending and cross-blending them... because they are things that count.

Chesterfields are milder. They taste better. Prove it for yourself... Just try a package.
