

Nobody's Business

By BRUCE HAMBY

Now that Pop Warner has resigned as head football coach at Stanford there is only one school left on the coast with any prospect of a change in the coaching staff. That school, of course, is Oregon State, where John Paul Schissler has held forth nine years.

Oregon State has finished its Paul Schissler most disappointing season. Classed as one of the strongest teams of the coast, in point of material, the Beavers won only one conference game, that from lowly Montana, and spoiled their long inter-sectional record by losing to Detroit and Fordham on successive week-ends.

Just what is going to happen to Schissler? I have heard from several sources that news concerning him will break within the week. A student body official stated that the only reason no direct action was taken by the associated students was the lack of funds to pay Schissler the sum due for the three years remaining on his contract.

Schissler did not return with the Beavers from their eastern trip. He remained in Nebraska, his home state, where he is said to be looking for a new job. Members of the team stated, so the story goes, that he was not very cheerful and not at all enthusiastic about returning to the Corvallis campus.

Stanford won't have much trouble finding a successor for Pop Warner, but according to reports will have plenty of difficulty in deciding which one of the applicants will get the position. Ernie Nevers, characterized by Warner as the "greatest player I ever coached," is a leading prospect. Nevers has acted as assistant to Pop for the past year.

Dick Hanley, former Washington State college star and now head coach at Northwestern, is being mentioned. Doc Spears, friends intimate, might get a bid. Tiny Thornhill, another assistant coach, who came west with Warner from Pittsburgh, may try to get the berth. At any rate, there will be a great scramble.

The current craze in picking all-star football eleven is not confined to sport writers, followers and authorities. Employees of "Blindcraft," an industrial institute for the blind in San Francisco, have named an all-coast eleven. All they knew of the players is what they heard over the radio and through newspaper articles read to them. It is interesting to note the impressions certain players have made. With one or two exceptions it closely resembles a

Ducks Leave For Louisiana On Saturday

Webfoot Squad Keyed Up For L.S.U. Tilt

Callison, Rosson, Howe To Attend Coast Conference Meeting In Los Angeles

A short five days more amidst the rain, the hail, and the snow and the Ducks will once again be flying south. Leaving Eugene next Saturday noon, they will arrive in New Orleans the following Wednesday for their game with Louisiana State university. The game is to be played in Baton Rouge on Saturday, December 17, but the squad will stay in New Orleans until the day before the game.

Coach Callison will leave Eugene Thursday night to attend the Pacific coast conference meeting in Los Angeles. Callison will be accompanied by Hugh Rosson, graduate manager, and Prof. William Abercrombie Howe, faculty representative to the conference. Johnny Kitzmiller will be in charge of the squad in Callison's absence.

Quite a Jaunt
 The itinerary of the Webfoots' trip will include Los Angeles; Tucson, Ariz.; San Antonio, Texas; and New Orleans. Leaving Eugene Saturday noon, the Ducks arrive in L. A. the following evening. Between there and Tucson the Webfoot special will make up three hours on the crack Sunset Limited, and will be hooked on to that train.

A short workout is scheduled for San Antonio, where the train will be held over for an hour, in order to give the men a chance to limber up train stiffened muscles. They arrive in New Orleans the next day.

They Still Practice
 Last night the squad had practice as usual, running through signals and limbering-up exercises. All the men are in the pink of condition, and are all rearing to go. It is not known yet who will make the trip, but about 28 men are expected to go.

The meeting of conference officials is to hear the report of Jonathan Butler, special investigator for the conference, and to decide on officials for next season. Callison, Rosson, and Professor Howe will all be guests at the Southern California - Notre Dame game Saturday afternoon, and will attend the conference which starts the next morning. Coach Callison will rejoin his squad Sunday night when they pass through Los Angeles.

Odds and ends: Southern California has made 22 touchdowns and two field goals this season... forward passes figured in 12... Howard Jones has won 72 games, lost 10 and tied 2 in his eight years at U. S. C. Roy Okerberg, former Oregon all-coast basketball star, is playing independent ball in San Francisco... Among his team mates is Ed Cardinal, former Willamette center.

Mike Mikulak received a card of merit from the All-America board of football... Christy Walsh said of Mik... "He rates as hardest hitting fullback of the coast conference"... Frank Christensen, star Utah fullback, punted 85 yards in the air against Denver college... and was the only man to get the unanimous vote of the U. S. C. team on their all-opponent eleven.

Here are Coach Hollingbery and some of his dashing Washington State college Cougars, who finished second to Southern California in the Pacific Coast conference football jamboree. Included in the above layout is George Sander, triple-threat halfback, and the only player to be named on virtually every all-coast selection, besides winning considerable all-American recognition. The Cougars clinched second by beating U. C. L. A. 3 to 0, when Johnny Eubanks field-goaled in the last second of play from the 50-yard line.

Huskies Claw Bruins 19 to 0; Crimson Tide Defeats Gaels

Jimmy Phelan's Washington Huskies defeated the U. C. L. A. Bruins 19 to 0 last Saturday, to officially close the Pacific Coast conference season.

The Huskies scored early in the opening period when Sulkosky went over on a short line plunge. He added the extra point with a place-kick. With a seven-point margin, Washington played straight ball and in the third and fourth quarters battered the Bruin line for two more scores, giving them their 19-to-0 win.

Sulkosky, Husky sophomore fullback, played one of the best games of his short career and scored 13 of his team's points. Dave Nisbet, Washington's all-coast end, was unable to show, due to illness.

In a non-conference tilt in San Francisco, the Crimson Tide from Alabama rolled out of town with the much-coveted scalp of the St. Mary's Gaels. Johnny Cain's 71-yard run from scrimmage for the Tide's touchdown started one of the greatest battles in the history of Kezar stadium.

After an exchange of punts following the kick-off, Cain, Alabama's all-American last year, showed how he got the rating by sliding through left tackle and out into the open for 71 yards right down the center of the field.

The Angel from St. Mary's, Brovelli by name, gave the fans some hope for the Northerners when he intercepted a pass and raced to the southerners 17-yard stripe. However, the ball was lost when Captain Baird fumbled and the Red Elephants recovered to kick out of danger.

St. Mary's found little difficulty in getting the ball into Alabama's territory, but when it came to getting it into scoring position, the Southerners were too much for the men from Moraga.

Clothing Classes Sew On Garments for Needy

Christmas is coming, tra-la-la-la—and Miss Mary E. Starr's clothing construction classes are doing their bit toward filling somebody's stocking.

The students in these classes are making dresses for children from about 4 to 8 to be distributed by the Red Cross to needy children. The material for the dresses has been donated by the Red Cross, and the patterns by the home economics department. Consequently the students are doing their class work without any expenditures, and at the same time playing Santa Claus to some unfortunate child.

 Bus Leggett won the feature bout of last night's intramural boxing matches on a judges' decision from Harry Lambert, but only after he had almost knocked himself out in the early rounds of the fight. A sensational rally in the last round won the match for Leggett.

Eddie Vail won a close decision from George Schenk in the first fight on the card by out-fighting his opponent in the clinches. Schenk cut loose with some wild hay-makers that nearly lifted Vail off the floor a few times, but otherwise Vail was in no danger during the fight.

The second fight between Bob Ballard and Johnnie McKy was won by Ballard in the second round by a technical knock-out after McKy had absorbed a little too much punishment and was entirely out of Ballard's class. Jerry Denslow and Ned Ballintyne put on a real battle with Denslow winning after an extra round of milling. Both lads were extremely well-matched and each dealt the other plenty of punishment.

In the final bout of the evening Lambert and Leggett stole the show with the way they went after each other. Both boxers were extremely tired at the end of the fight.

Yeomen, S. A. E. Shut Out Foes In Donut Tilts

A. T. O. and Fiji Quintets Other Winners as Hot Race Nears End

Today's "A" League Schedule
 4 p. m.—Gamma hall vs. Sigma Pi Tau.
 4:40 p. m.—Friendly hall vs. Phi Gamma Delta.
 5:20 p. m.—S. A. E. vs. Alpha Upsilon.

Two shut-outs featured last night's donut basketball games with the Yeomen beating Alpha Upsilon by a 22-0 score and S. A. E. downing Sigma Pi Tau by a 25-0 score. Theta Chi and A. T. O. put on the only real battle of the evening with the A. T. O. winning by an 11 to 7 score. The Fijis won their game with Chi Psi by forfeit.

Lieuallen was the whole show for the S. P. T.-S. A. E. encounter with his clever shooting. Spooner was the best player for S. P. T. Bush, star A. T. O. forward, wrecked the Theta Chi defense with his shooting and passing. The Theta Chi stalwarts were Brown, Walo, and Nelson.

The last game of the night was won by the Yeomen by a 22-0 score, although Alpha Upsilon tried hard throughout the contest.

Newman Annexes Ping Pong Title

Ethan Newman annexed the Yeoman ping pong championship yesterday at the "Y" hut when he trounced Emilio Ocampo 21-17, 21-18, 18-21, 21-15. To the victor goes the handsome tin can, emblem of the title he bears, and a set of Sim, Stanford ping-pong balls donated by the University Co-op. Newman conquered Adams in semi-finals to claim the right to meet Ocampo for the title. The latter won over Field in the next to last bracket. Sixteen independents started in the celluloid-batting tournament.
