Nobody's Business

By BRUCE HAMBY

STORIES from Palo Alto state that Bobby Grayson, former Jefferson high school flash from Portland and one of the stars of Stanford's undefeated freshman team, will pack up and follow Pop Warner to Temple University in Philadelphia next fall. With his sports state, will go Frankie Alustiza, a 194-pound Bobby Grayson fullback who can do almost anything and is rated even better than Grayson.

That is much the same situation that developed when Doc Spears left Oregon this year. For more than a summer Oregon football rowers alternately shuddered and perspired at the thought that Mikulak, Kostka, Gagnon, Gemlo, Pepelnjak and others of the stars of Oregon last two freshman teams would follow the affable doctor to Wisconsin. Big Ten rulings, however, appeared to have something to do with the affair and all the lads were back at Oregon to start work under Prink Callison.

I wonder what the authorities at Temple university will do when Grayson and Alustiza drop in and register. I imagine they will welcome them with the Philadelphia town band, for as far as I can ascertain Temple is not in any conference.

From "Duke" Purnell, former Bucknell student, comes the information that Temple university is located only two squares (blocks to you and you) from the University of Pennsylvania. He estimated the enrollment at between ten and fifteen thousand. Lots of money there, he says, and it is an up-and-coming young institution.

Exactly two score coast conference football heroes in the Pacific Northwest have played their last before admiring crowds of co-eds and fans. The University of Washington and Oregon State suffer the heaviest losses of grid stars. Graduation and the three-year competition rule wipe out ten veterans at both schools. Washington State and Idaho lose eight apiece. Oregon bids good-bye to four.

At Seattle the co-eds will shed a tear for the passing of handsome Bill O'Brien, captain and guard. O'Brien vanishes with Colin Howard, center, and Dave Nisbet, end, both flying all-coast honors. Johnny Cherberg, scrappy quarterback exits along with his understudy, Art Oberg, August Buse, fullback; Bill Stitz, tackle; Bill Wolcott, halfback; Fred Borden, fullback, and Ray Finn, center, are other Husky gridgers taking their bow.

Oregon State loses some of its best. Hal Moe and Tommy Ward, star halfbacks, head the list. Keith Davis, whose education he has done such deadly work for the Beavers, graduates, as does his namesake and fellow end, Everett Davis. Fred McDonald, end; Carly Miller, all-coast tackle; Wayne Harn, tackle; Loren Tuttle, guard; Frank Little, full, and Ted Herman, quarterback, complete the departing list.

George "Stylist" Sander will cause crepe-banging at Washington State as he prepares to leave Pullman for bigger and better things. Sander and Nisbet of Washington were the only ones to get All-American mention out of the Northwest this year. Howard Moses and Myron Davis, halfbacks.

Scribe Dopes Webfoots To Defeat L.S.U.

Squad Tapers Off Practice Before Departure

Charles Little Lates To Furnish Tough Workout for Final Scrimmage Sessions

By NED SIMPSON
 Pulling a fat one on our good friend, Crystal V. Ball, ex-hatred, we pick Oregon to win over Louisiana State by a score of 18 to 12. The reason for this score? Well, last night the Earlies and Lates of the Webfoot squad were divided up into two teams one representing Oregon and the other Louisiana State. As the 'bove score indicates, Oregon won! Practice last night was a tough affair, with scrimmages the "piece de resistance" (page Miss Hurlbert). Starting off with the famous Hayward relays, the season ended up when it grew too dark to see the ball. The scrimmage was run just like a real game, with downs, time outs, 'n everything.

Squad Divided
 Coach Callison, as the men came out for practice, divided the squad up from between those who came out early and those who took their time. Two very evenly matched teams resulted from this plan, and a nice, tough game of ball resulted.

While the hour of departure for New Orleans nears, competition over places on the squad waxed fierce. The traveling squad has not been picked as yet, and the prospects are now that it will not be released before Thursday night. Coach Callison expects to take about twenty-seven or twenty-eight men with him.

Two Teams To Travel
 In all probability the first two teams, along with several alternates for the halves, tackles, and guards, are the men who will make the trip—barring ineligibility. Yes, the faculty has ruled that no one can go who is not passing 12 hours, and several regulars have had a rather worried look on their faces lately. However, it is pretty nearly sure that they will all make the trip.

The rest of the week will see the team undergoing a modified routine of the same sort of practice that they had last night. Callison will not be here to direct the team himself, as he is going south to attend the coast conference meeting. Johnny Kitzmiller, assistant coach, will have charge of the squad until they are rejoined by Callison in Los Angeles.

Check out. Gone is Johnny Eubanks, who bumped a 47-yard place kick in the last second of his last game for three points to drop J. C. L. A. off the top rung of the conference ladder and elevate his alma mater to the second place honors. Other Cougars through include Walter Camp, tackle; Oscar Erickson, quarterback; Clem Senn and Norman Taylor, guards.

Idaho, always hungry for material, gets a stiff jolt. Six of its graduating octet are regulars. They include honorary captain Lee Tyrell, fullback; Mevin Sackett, half; Russ Han, tackle; Max Elden, guard; Bill Schutte, center, and Paul Taylor, and George Wilson, quarter, and June Hanford, guard, made up the Vandal obituary.

With its big string of juniors, sophomores and freshmen, the Webfoots have little to cry about although the four men finishing will leave gaps hard to fill. They include Capt. Bill Morgan, Bill Bowerman, Red Bailey and Oliver Pope.

DeNeffe Quintet Hands Bill's Webfoots Double Drubbing

By BILL EBERHART

Playing without the services of their captain, Charles "Cap" Roberts and with Reinhart substituting frequently, the embryo Oregon team showed possibilities of a classy ball club, and did well to hold the score of Saturday's encounter to 37-32 and Sunday's score to 31-27.

Kermit and Berg Progress
 Ed Kunkle, who jumped center for "Cap" Roberts, who is convalescing from an attack of influenza, and Bill Berg, guard, are two boys who have sprung from the ranks to a permanent niche on the Webfoot playing squad. Both names are seen on the Oregon roster for the first time. Although Kunkle played center against DeNeffe's, he will probably be used as a forward when Roberts is back in the lineup, a move that would add much-needed height to the team.

Kermit Stevens turned in the best performance for the varsity as he played against Eberhart, Calkins and Horner, his former team-mates. He and Horner play

Bill George Beats Jack Wilkinson In Ring Feature

Leggett Beats Ballard and Swanton K. O.'s Foe In Donut Bouts

A last minute rally in which Bill George won over Jack Wilkinson featured last night's boxing card at the men's gym. In the other fights Bus Leggett won a close decision from Bob Ballard and Bennett Swanton beat Jerry Denslow by a technical knockout at the end of the first round.

The first fight had to go an extra round in order to determine a winner. However, George came back strong during the last two rounds and barely won the judges' decision.

The second fight, between Bob Ballard and Bus Leggett, was the hardest fought bout in the tournament so far. Ballard took an early lead during the first two rounds but Leggett came back like a wild man and won the third round by a wide margin. The fight had to go an extra round because there was little difference on points.

Officials Pick All-Star Fives In Donut Play

Sixteen Men Are Chosen as Class of Leagues

Representative Teams Show Well-Balanced Power; Games, B Difficult

Intramural hoop officials and Ben Beck, Emerald sports writer, put their heads together yesterday and chose two all-star donut basketball teams—one from the "A" league, and one from the "B" circuit. And what teams they are! One man was chosen for each position on each team and alternates were named for forward, center, and guard.

The "A" league line-up is a veritable bulwark of court strength, and should be able to hold its own with any intramural group that could be chosen. At forwards are Leemans, Beta, and Hellberg, Theta Chi, two high-scoring, fact-breaking sensations who played good ball throughout the season. The alternate forward named was Sanford, Leemans' running mate on the Beta squad. At center is Allen of the International house aggregation. His alternate is Palmer of Sigma Chi.

"B" Team Strong
 In the guard positions the selection is exceptionally strong with Rogers, flaming haired Phi Delta captain, and Chatterton, blond Yeoman flash, getting the call over Uglow, Theta Chi, who was named in the alternate berth.

In the "B" league mythical quintet we find Lieuallen, S. A. E., and Schenk, Sigma Pi Tau, at the forwards, with Vail, Sigma Chi midget, acting as alternate. At center is rough-tough Wally Hug, Beta whirlwind. Fletcher, lanky Phi Delta pivot man, was second best in this field. The guards are Hughes, Yeomen, and Walo, Theta Chi, with Dawsett, Sigma Pi Tau, the alternate.

The only reservation made by the referees in making the selections was that no "B" leaguer, who had been transferred to an "A" team during the season, would be eligible for the "B" league selection.

 Only one of the three games scheduled for the "A" league was played yesterday. The Phi Gamma Delta quintet decisively defeated the Friendly hall aggregation by the score of 18 to 6, while Gamma hall forfeited to Sigma Pi Tau and Sigma Alpha Epsilon forfeited to Alpha Upsilon.

The Fiji-Friendly hall encounter proved to be a rough game throughout, with numerous fouls called on both teams. Chester of the Fijis with four goals from the field proved to be the high point man of the evening, but was closely contested by Siefert, Fiji, who had seven points to his credit. Weitz and Lyman played well for the losers.

The schedule for tomorrow's "A" league games is as follows:
 4:00—Omega hall vs. Phi Kappa Phi.
 4:40—Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Beta Theta Pi.
 5:20—International house vs. Alpha Tau Omega.

Coach Babe Hollingbery will direct the destinies of the western team with the cooperation of Dana X. Bible, coach of the strong Nebraska team. Andy Kerr of Colgate and Dick Hanley of Northwestern will coach the eastern aggregation.
