

READ IT HERE
You get your sports news first in the Emerald. With the aid of Associated Press features and other services, an efficient sports staff, directed by Bruce Hamby, tells you what's going on in the realm of athletics.

Nobody's Business

By BRUCE HAMBY
EVERY so often there comes along a high school boy who's so talented an athlete that the colleges are hot on his trail before he even learns that if the angles at the base of a triangle are equal, etc., etc.

Such a lad is Clifford McLean of Southern Oregon Normal school, known throughout the Northwest as "Chief," because of his Indian blood. Being partially redskin myself, I'm proud of Mr. McLean, who is regarded as the best high school basketball player ever to play in the Pacific Northwest, and hurry to set forth his accomplishments.

While at Benson Tech in Portland he was unanimously chosen all-city forward two years in succession. Also he twice was unanimously voted all-state and his last year was chosen the outstanding player in the state. He was "captain" of the honorary all-Portland quintets both years.

Bill Reinhart, Oregon's coach and something of an expert in the fine points of the game, classes McLean along with Oregon's greatest hoop star, Algot (Swede) Westergren. Bill says McLean is one of the finest "feeders" he has ever watched. "Feeder," it might be explained, is the term used to designate the player who passes to the men under the basket, taking few shots himself.

It's really no disgrace for Oregon to lose three out of four to the dashing Ashland lads, although it does seem a bit disheartening when one considers that every man on the team is a first year man at the Ashland institution. And the coach, Hobby Hobson, former Oregon star, is there for his first year.

It must be borne in mind, however, that all the players on Hobson's squad are all-stars of the highest order. Besides McLean, there are Bud Jones, all-star from Grant high in Portland; Willard Jones, all-city center for Washington high of Portland; Wardlow (Flagpole) Howell, all-state center at Ashland high; Dick Jockish, from somewhere in Indiana, and Charles Patterson, the dusky-hued forward, all-city and leading scorer at Benson.

A few statistics for the still football-hungry fans might be in order. The figures of Oregon's final game of the season against Louisiana State university show how completely the Webfoots outclassed the Tigers. Oregon gained 219 yards from scrimmage and passes to LSU's 110. The Webfoots made 11 first downs to the southerner's 2. Oregon completed seven passes for gains of 54 yards, while Biff Jones' eleven made two out of five good for only 17 yards.

Mathewson Loses Bride in Crash

SHANGHAI, China, Jan. 9.—(Special)—The bride of Christopher Mathewson Jr. was dead today, the victim of an airplane accident which also seriously injured her husband. The plane was piloted by Mathewson, son of the late Christy (Big Six) Mathewson, greatest football player of all time.

Big Six's son is a lieutenant in the United States army air corps. His bride, married Christmas eve, was the former Margaret Phillips of Philadelphia, who came half way around the world to marry him here.

JOIN THE
CO-OP BOOK CLUB
50c
FOR THE WINTER TERM ONLY
$1.00 for the Year

Webfoot Five Splits Series With Normal

Ducks Take Revenge for Previous Defeats

Sons Take First of Two Games To Total Three Wins Over Oregon Team

By BILL EBERHART
Oregon's hoop team turned the tables Saturday night and completely avenged itself for the three earlier defeats suffered at the hands of Howard Hobson's Southern Oregon Normal quintet. The third victory for the Sons was Friday night, 37-32, but Reinhart's Webfoots came back the next night and rebuffed the Southern Oregon invaders 38-17.

The first game was close throughout, but the Teachers had the edge the first half. They were decidedly "on" and their defense was almost airtight, which put them ahead at the half 20-13, with Willy Jones and Chief McLean making most of the baskets. The second half saw a definite improvement in the Oregon five and they tied the score before Hobson's men got started. Thereafter it was anybody's game, the lead changing hands seven times before the final gun.

Webfoots Win Easily

In spirit, the Oregon team which came on the floor Saturday night was entirely different from the five which went to the showers the night before. At no time during the forty minutes of play was the game in doubt. The score at the end of the first period was 16-10, but with a fierce second-half onslaught, the Teachers were treated to a barrage of shots that ended with a final score of 38-17. The scoring was evenly divided, Roberts, Robertson, Watts, and Olinger netting 8 points and Miller 6. Bud Jones was high for the Ashland team with three field goals.

Olinger Looks Good

Gib Olinger was a big factor in Saturday night's victory, making plays, "hawking" the ball, and doing more than his share on the defense. He replaced Stevens who wrenched his knee in the first game. Roberts turned in excellent performances in both tilts. The victory Saturday night gives Reinhart's men a spark of confidence that they evidently lacked the night before. It will stand them in good stead for their tilts against Washington State, who open conference play for Oregon in a two-game series next Friday and Saturday nights in McArthur court.

DETAILS OF STANFORD COUNCIL IS DESCRIBED

(Continued from Page One)

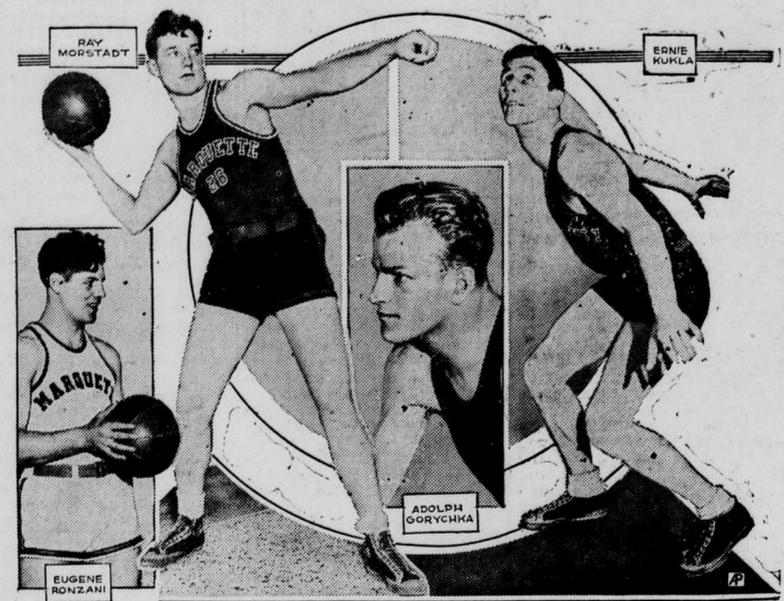

retary, a yell leader, a general manager, and a student manager. The president, vice-president and secretary must be upper-division or graduate students. All athletic matters with the exception of the awarding of letters are delegated to the board of athletic control. The student body president is automatically a member of the board. Two students are elected to the board, one at the February election and one in May.

The general manager of the board of athletic control is financial officer of the associated students and supervises all association funds subject to the control of the executive committee. All funds of all groups collecting money from students with exception of living organizations are kept in the students' organization fund. At the end of each fiscal year, the general manager publishes a report showing in detail the receipts and disbursements of all organizations operating through the fund.

The statement contains a report of the various budgets which carry such accounts as salaries, commissions, printing, and office supplies; a trial balance showing the account as it stood at the close of the fiscal year; a list of all debits and credits, showing in detail exactly where and when the money was spent.

Monthly trial balances are sent to the manager of each organization by the accountant of the fund. Copies of these reports are also sent to the executive committee. Possibly the most outstanding feature of the Stanford financial system is the placing of specified percentages of surpluses earned by publications in improvement funds. These funds are used to make permanent improvements, such as the purchase of typewriters or other equipment, or to off-

The Hilltoppers Like 'em Big

These four huskies, who shed football togs late in November to take up their maple court duties, should be among the regulars on Marquette university's basketball squad this year. The quartette here pictured average six feet in height and 195 pounds in weight. Kukla is the lightest of the four, weighing but 191 pounds for his 6 feet, 3 inches in height.

My Greatest Thrill in Athletics

By CLIFFORD McLEAN
(As told to Ned Simpson)
THE greatest thrill I ever had, I think, came the other night when we succeeded in beating the Oregon Webfoot on their own court. Our two previous wins over them were exciting enough, but we realized that they were still early in their season and consequently were not all sure we had a chance to beat them up here in Eugene.

The second half of the first game proved to be the most exciting for us. The Oregonians, led by Roberts, led off with a several goal lead, and we thought that our goose was cooked. Just about then, however, Willy Jones, our sharp-shooting forward began to find the range of the Ducks' hoop and we began to pick up. When the final gun went off, I could hardly believe that we had won.

My biggest personal thrill came when I sank a basket that was not meant to be a shot at all. It was in the fourth game of this same series, and we were being so closely guarded that all our shots had to be long ones. Suddenly I got a chance to pass a close one in to Howell, who was just under the basket. I let fly, and to my great surprise the casaba swished right through the netting instead of going to Howell. I must have put a little too much muscle behind the intended pass.

Who do I think was the best man on the Oregon team? That's an easy one: "Cap" Roberts! He's the best man I've ever played against, I think.

Clifford (Chief) McLean, a Sioux Indian, is one of the best basketball players on the Pacific coast. As forward for Southern Oregon normal school, he is sparkling this year as he never did before. University of Oregon men, defeated three times by McLean's team, call him one of the best men they "ever faced." At Benson Tech in Portland, McLean won all-city honors the only two years he played basketball, those same seasons being a unanimous choice for all-state captain. He was named the most valuable player in the state last year. He also is an accomplished baseball catcher and football halfback, having had numerous professional offers in the former sport. Athletic critics say he is destined to be one of the greatest basketball players in Pacific coast history.

political leaders or the general manager. The Daily is published daily except Saturdays and Sundays and except during the summer quarter, unless otherwise decided by the editor and manager, subject to the approval of the publications council.

Beaders Edge Out Potatomen, 32-31

MOSCOW, Idaho, Jan. 19.—(Special)—Oregon State college basketball team barely eked out victory over a rejuvenated squad of Idaho Vandals here tonight. The score was 32-31, after an overtime period.

The Orangemen had an early lead, which they retained throughout the first half, largely due to the efforts of Lewis, O. S. C. center, who scored 7 points in the first 8 minutes. The game ended 27-all, and the extra period gave victory to the Corvallis contingent.

New Sports Await Donut Enthusiasts

Three Tourneys Will Get Under Way Soon

All Entry Lists in Intramural Handball Due at Men's Gym Tomorrow

By BEN BACK
Intramural handball competition is scheduled to start tomorrow with each house on the campus being allowed two singles players and one doubles team. In addition every house may have two alternate players who may enter competition in the event any members should not be able to attend.

Entries for this tournament must be in at the intramural office in the men's gymnasium no later than 4 p. m. Wednesday. Every living organization planning to enter this handball competition should be certain as to the eligibility of all their participants, have the names correctly spelled of all those entered, and how many teams entered in competition.

On Monday, January 16, volleyball is scheduled to start. There will be two leagues in this sport and each house will be allowed two teams as they did in basketball.

A new sport which will be entered in intramural competition by any living organization having capable participants this year is wrestling. Every wrestler must work out three times a week under the personal direction of Earl Boushey, of the men's physical education staff, and also be signed up for competition not later than January 16.

FACULTY FACES MORE CUTS IN PAY CHECKS

(Continued from Page One)
students will be hunted out and eliminated, and only essential courses will be maintained.

The final action of the board came after Chancellor Kerr interviewed the deans and department heads of all the schools in an effort to cut expenses to meet the reduced appropriations of the state. In spite of large savings means that were determined, a deficit of $250,000 still remained to be taken out of the budget. The reduction of the board leaves a margin of $15,000 to meet unforeseen emergencies.

Amounts Become Less

The total amount appropriated for the two years of 1929 and 1930 was $9,700,710. The biennium of 1931 and 1932 suffered a reduction of 21 per cent from this figure, and with the several reductions made in revising the coming budget, the coming biennium must be passed on 69 per cent of this amount.

It was expected that the total number of employees of the five institutions that would find themselves jobless under the new plan would be in excess of 200.

College Receives More

Under the plan of distribution of funds just outlined by the board, the University will be forced to operate for the two forthcoming years on only $778,000. Oregon State college will receive $1,800,000 from the state during that period, the Medical school in Portland will receive $340,000, and the normal schools will receive $328,000. Administration centralized under the present unification plan will be given $235,000 for the biennium.

State appropriations to the University have been cut about 47 per cent in the past two years, and in addition, part of the expense of the Medical school has been taken over by the University.

Start Winter Term Right

Come in and have your car checked as to lubricating needs, gas, air, water. We are here to serve you and protect your car.

Oregon Service Station
11th and Hilyard Phone 650

De Neffe's Trim Webfoot Supers In Sunday Game

The Oregon "super-varsity" basketball squad was defeated in a practice tilt Sunday morning by DeNeffe's Oregonians, 47-44. All but the five lettermen participated for the Webfoots.

The encounter was a nip-and-tuck affair, the outcome not being decided until the last few minutes of play. Jean Eberhart and Windsor Calkins, ex-Oregon captains, starred for the independent team, while Miller, Simons, Houghton, Stahl, and Clay turned in worthy performances for the varsity reserves. Other varsity proteges who got in the game were Rotenberg, Donin, Rourke, and Terjeson. The DeNeffe lineup included Jean Eberhart, Calkins, Rubenstein, Don Siegmund, Bowerman, and Bill Eberhart.

Crooner Bausch Happy Over Prize

TOPEKA, Kas., Jan. 9.—(AP)—"Jarring Jim" Bausch, the Olympic decathlon champion who turned crooner to earn a living because "you can't eat medals," was elated when informed he had won the James E. Sullivan memorial medal.

Bausch, here singing with an orchestra, termed it "a tremendous honor."

"I'd heard I might win it but I was afraid to hope I would," he said. "Right now, I have a living to make and music and dramatics have always been interests of mine. I like to sing. In fact, the two were my interests before I became interested in sports."

Infirmary Has Nine

The infirmary is starting off the new year with a full quota of students, most of whom are suffering from the gripe. Although the building was never entirely free of patients during vacation, only one girl, Doris Koon, celebrated New Year's day in bed; students now confined are Margaret Barnett, Janet McMicken, Ralph Prose, Robert Gantenbein, William Schlath, Don Thompson, William Weeks, William Neighbor, and Duncan York.

EUGENE'S BEST GOLD MEDAL DAIRY PRODUCTS

Grade A All the Way From Modern Dairy Farms to Your Kitchen

TRY OUR SPECIAL ICE CREAM

A New Flavor Each Week
MEDO-LAND CREAMERY CO.
PHONE 393

BOOKS OUR BOOK PRICES ARE RIGHT

All textbooks are sold at publishers' list prices. No transportation charges added. Prices are the same as at the large Universities on the Atlantic Coast. OUR BOOK PRICES ARE RIGHT. They may easily be checked with publishers' catalogues.

PAPER AND SOCIAL STATIONERY

Our notebook papers and typing papers are purchased direct from one of the largest paper mills on the Pacific Coast. Group buying with other college stores enables us to offer superior quality paper at LOW PRICES. A splendid showing of social and correspondence papers.

TYPEWRITERS

ALL MAKES OF PORTABLES ON EASY TERMS
Our popular $3.00 per month payment plan has supplied hundreds of Oregon students with the best machines in the Portable field at prices and terms they can afford. Make your papers readable—it pays.

GYM SHOES From $1.35 TO $4.60

We carry shoes made by Hood-Spaulling-Goodyear. Carefully selected for wear and fit, from a light, cheap gym shoe to the heaviest non-skid basketball shoe, chosen for comfort, long wear, full value.

PENS SHEAFFER, PARKER, WATERMAN

A good fountain pen is a NECESSITY. We guarantee satisfaction with each pen we sell.

EXPERT PEN REPAIRING

The UNIVERSITY CO-OP
"THE STUDENTS OWN STORE"