

READ IT HERE

You get your sports news first in the Emerald. With the aid of Associated Press features and other services, an efficient sports staff, directed by Bruce Hamby, tells you what's going on in the realm of athletics.

EMERALD SPORTS STAFF

Bruce Hamby Sports Editor
Malcolm Bauer Assistant Sports Editor
Ned Simpson, Dudley Lindner, Bill Eberhart, Ben Back, Bob Avison.

Nobody's Business

Business

By BRUCE HAMBY
A HEADLINE in a local paper notifies us that the coming basketball games between Oregon and Washington State are worrying the experts.

Jack Friel be the first conference test of the season, which is enough reason to worry any coach and team.

But add to that the thought that the Cougars have one of the best balanced squads to represent the Pullman institution in a number of years.

Big or heavy, the Cougars are likely to be in for a merry two nights of basketball this week-end if the series in any way resembles last year's.

The resignation of Paul Schissler as head football coach at Oregon State yesterday opens the field for hot discussion and guesses, some not so hot, as to his successor.

Schissler's resignation was not surprising in view of the panning he has undergone at the hands of both Portland press and home town critics.

Mike Pecarovich, Gonzaga's hustling young coach, is one of those most frequently mentioned as Schissler's successor.

ODDS AND ENDS: There is nothing accidental about the mellow, golden voice of a British sports broadcaster.

Tony Canzoneri, lightweight boxing champion, has his own 12-piece dance orchestra.

Geography of Oregon Topic for Discussion

A joint seminar on the geography of Oregon will be held every other week by Dr. Warren D. Smith, professor of geography, and Professor Alfred L. Lomax of the school of business administration.

Dr. Smith will deal with the physical aspects of the study, and Professor Lomax will handle the economic side.

Badger Sees Dark Future For Football

N. Y. U. Official Predicts Downfall of Game

Only One College in Ten Is Said To Be Observing Rules Of Sportsmanship

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(Special)—The statement that "only one college in ten is observing the ideals of sportsmanship" in their conduct of football and the prediction that the game would be virtually dead as a sport or would become frankly professional within 10 years if the schools did not get down to the business of cleaning up conditions, electrified the country's leading gridiron coaches at a luncheon tendered here recently to Amos Alonzo Stagg as the annual convocation of the football coaches' association got under way.

A. A. Stagg, chairman of the New York university faculty board of control.

The speaker whose "death or reform" warning stunned his auditors was Professor Philip O. Badger, chairman of the New York university faculty board of control.

Addressing the annual Sportsmanship Brotherhood luncheon at the Town Hall club, Dr. Badger noted the continued presence of many evils in the college sports world generally.

Referring specifically to his college, he said that New York university, accused of attempting to de-emphasize football, was merely striving to "deodorize it."

The veteran, a staunch supporter of pure amateurism in American sports, made a plea for honesty. He called honesty the basis of sports and the fundamental of competitive athletics.

"I have worked for many years in the Midwest in urging fair play in sports; I have made some progress, but there is much still left to be done," he said.

The Emerald-of-the-Air comes to you today over KORE at 12:15 with another quarter hour of news from the Oregon Daily Emerald.

Watch this column for further announcements of future programs.

PAUL SCHISSLER RESIGNS PLACE AS HEAD COACH

(Continued from Page One) in the season. Cardinal strength was given as a pertinent alibi, but when Stanford was mauled by U. S. C., Washington and U. C. L. A., Schissler lost further prestige.

The feat of holding Oregon to a one-touchdown victory also was mitigated by the massacre sustained by the Webfoots one week later at Troy. The straw that broke the camel's back was the disastrous trip east, on which the Beavers lost two games.

Previous to this season inter-sectional games had been Schissler's forte. His greatest single achievement was his team's victory, 25 to 13, over New York university in 1928. That year N. Y. U. had defeated everyone, including Carnegie Tech, which had licked Notre Dame. The greatest player Schissler ever developed was Howard Maple, roly-poly triple-threat quarterback, whose passes and runs dumped the Violets.

Schissler also can look back upon a one-point loss to the mighty Trojans, 13 to 12, when dynamic Don Williams was performing in U. S. C.'s backfield.

Coach Prink Callison made the following statement regarding the change yesterday afternoon to an Emerald sports writer: "Our relationship has been most friendly, and I am very sorry that Coach Schissler is leaving Oregon State."

Atta Boy, Biff, Old Kid!

Huey P. Long, United States senator from Louisiana, and former governor of the delta state, is seen congratulating Biff Jones, ex-Army grid mentor, upon the fine showing made by the Louisiana State grid team during the season just terminated.

'BIFF' AND HUEY BOOST FOOTBALL AT TIGER SCHOOL

Louisiana State Has Good Outlook For Another Successful Grid Season

By DILLON GRAHAM
BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Huey Long and "Biff" Jones have made Louisiana State university championship-conscious.

Senator Long, the former governor of Louisiana and still its "Kingfish," started it all last year when he brought about a shake-up in the athletic department, hired Jones, a nationally known gridiron figure, as coach and ordered "full speed ahead."

Huey wanted a winning football team and Biff produced a much improved outfit in his first season. Huey was well pleased as the Tigers finished in a three-way tie for the old Southern Conference championship.

Long figures the Tigers ought to set the pace next fall and Jones admits prospects are good. Biff told seven varsity players but a husky and talented bunch of sophomores, up from an unbeaten and unscorred on freshman aggregation, will adequately replace them. The Tigers have their eyes on the first gridiron championship of the Southeastern loop, the offshoot of the old Southern conference.

Oregon's Webfoots traveled to Louisiana last month and returned with a 12 to 0 win over Biff's Tigers. This was the third defeat suffered by the southern team all season.

EINSTEIN TO DELIVER TALKS ON WORLD STATUS

(Continued from Page One) received and attended by a capacity crowd.

The purpose of these meetings which are staged by collegians is to "help the objective consideration of the basically important problems which are now confronting the civilized world."

CINEMA

COLONIAL—"Road to Life." McDONALD—"Me and My Gal."

Road to Life
The Colonial is showing Russia in the raw tonight. Now that the Soviet Republic has gotten Eisenstein America is getting Soviet pictures.

PETITE SHOP
Designing, Dressmaking
583 E. 13th—Phone 3208
Depression Prices

McDonald
Spencer Tracy is the cop; Joan Bennett is the girl—heigh-ho for a merry-o picture.

Donut Stars To Open 1933 Season Today

Handball Is First Sport on Intramural Calendar

Fijis, Yeomen Provide Thrills of Fall Term Schedule in Winning Titles

Today's Handball Schedule
4:00 P. M.—Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Sigma Hall.
5:00 P. M.—Sigma Pi Tau vs. Sigma Chi.

By BEN BACK
Donut handball athletes are scheduled to start wild action and also open the 1933 program of intramural sports at the men's gymnasium at 4:00 o'clock today.

During the term just concluded donut sports set a new all-time record with regard to the number of participants. Five hundred eleven students took part in six sports which were all hotly contested.

Highlights of last term's competition were the victories in swimming by the Fijis, with one of their freshmen, Tommy Blankenberg, a national swimming champion, doing practically all the hard work and the concluding basketball game between the Betas and the Yeomen.

Another of last year's sports in the intramurals which created much interest was boxing, which drew capacity crowds for each card.

IMPORTANT EVENTS OF 1932 PLACED IN REVIEW

(Continued from Page One)

was announced that he was going East. Incidentally, upon his arrival at Wisconsin, Spears proceeded to take second place in the Big Ten conference, losing only one game all season, 7 to 6, to Purdue's undefeated eleven.

Again, during the spring of 1932, the campus was staggered by publication of the report of the board of higher education favoring combination and consolidation of schools and departments on the Eugene and Corvallis campuses.

The school of journalism was to be abolished and such courses as would be given were to be under the English department. Geology, mathematics and the sciences were to be transferred to Corvallis.

Journalism students got "all hot and bothered" and started a big campaign to save their school. This spread to the editors of newspapers throughout the state and the board rescinded its action.

Numerous stories and editorials were written on the ban on operation of automobiles by students during the academic year.

The financial crisis facing the University occasioned several stories which lost a large measure of their importance due to the same condition facing the majority of students.

The other stories in the list were soon forgotten in the whirl of studies, activities and social life. Other events which might have been mentioned were the return of the Pacific debate tour team, funding of the McArthur court debt, stiffening of the regulations on the lives of co-eds, changing of the methods of enforcing campus traditions, organization of the student parliament, tie-up of student money through closing of the Bank of Commerce, the visit here of Sir Hubert Wilkins, the expulsion of two students for auto law violations, and the victory over Oregon State in football.

To Succeed Schissler?

Mike Pecarovich, husky mentor of the Gonzaga Bulldogs, who has been rumored as the successor to Paul J. Schissler as coach of the Oregon State Beavers.

COMMISSIONER GETS FACTS ON SCHOLARSHIPS

(Continued from Page One)

versity of Oregon are administered without favor or discrimination toward athletes.

About 1928 there was established at the University of Oregon scholarships which are at present known as the Oregon Commonwealth scholarships.

The registrar and executive secretary to the president—chairman. The president of the University of Oregon.

The dean of the college of literature, science and arts. The assistant graduate manager of the associated students.

During the college year of 1931-

32 contributions to this fund totaled $9,477.05. The 250 contributors paid their subscriptions into the business office of the University and the funds were handled in the same manner as other University funds.

These awards had an aggregate value of $1,715 per month, as follows:

Table with 2 columns: No. of Scholarship Holders, Amt. per Month. Rows include 11 at $40.00, 12 at $30.00, 10 at $30.00, 1 at $25.00, 1 at $10.00.

DUCKLING HOOP SCHEDULE LIKELY TO BE SHORTENED

Slash in Budget Promises Big Cut In Activities of Frosh Basketball Squad

Freshman basketball is hard hit by the budget slash this year. No guarantees can be made to outside teams for coming here to play.

At present the Frosh have scheduled but four important games. The first will be against the Rooks on February 3, at Corvallis.

A tentative game with the Multnomah Club Intermediates has been lined up for some time around February 10. It is possible that the game may be played here as a preliminary to one of the varsity games.

Red Rogers, frosh mentor, is attempting to line up several games with Portland teams for the next few weeks. The Frosh are also looking around for dates with the leading high school teams of the state.

ample, there were 38 beneficiaries of Oregon Commonwealth scholarships. These scholarships have an aggregate value of $1,165 and were awarded as follows:

Table with 2 columns: No. of Scholarship Holders, Amt. per Month. Rows include 11 at $40.00, 18 at $30.00, 1 at $25.00, 8 at $20.00.

The University of Oregon followed the policy during 1931-32 of paying these scholarships by regular pay-roll checks.

During 1931-32 199 students of the University of Oregon (athletes and non-athletes) received scholarship money to the extent of $40,708, of which athletes received $9,477. Athletes were holders of 27 per cent of the total number of scholarships of all types awarded, and athletes received 23 per cent of the total amount of scholarship funds awarded.

Appointment Bureau Begins New Program

The Appointment Bureau of the University school of education is now beginning work on its program of placement of teachers for the new year according to Miss Ida May Pope of the bureau.

This year a large number of applicants are seeking positions and the bureau urges that all students applying for schools for the coming year hand in their registration material immediately.

A meeting of applicants was held late last term for the purpose of giving information to the students.

COLONIAL THEATRE
IT'S HERE!
THE PICTURE YOU'VE ALL WAITED FOR

'Road to Life'
(First Russian Talkie—with explanatory English Titles)

NOTE—This picture has never been shown under 50c—but by special permission Colonial prices will be 25c

BY SPECIAL REQUEST—The Colonial will hold over WASHINGTON MASQUERADE with LIONEL BARRYMORE for a single showing tonight at 10:50.

McDONALD
ENDS TONITE
Me and My Gal
with Spencer TRACY and Joan BENNETT

Thursday
—Big Enough to Open the New Roxy—

Birds Believe In It!
Bees Believe In It!
—Yet We Pretend

We Do Not Know of It!
ANN HARDING
LESLIE HOWARD in

The ANIMAL KINGDOM
with MYRNA LOY, WILLIAM GARGAN, Neil Hamilton, Henry Stephenson, Ika Chase

Silly Symphony in Color
Comedy—News