Week's Social Slate Shows Varied Events

Social activities of the term are starting with the traditional formal for winter term. Several house dances will be held this week-end, and next week-end the big all campus formal of the year.

Widening Horizons

"Feminine Athletes," an unspoken word not many years ago, now flashes daily in our sport columns, so says the California Daily Bruin.

Women are creating vogues in sports, such as the one of playing basketball on skates. This new novelty has added more speed to the game which accounts for its popularity in the Middlewest.

Although women may excel in one form of sport, they try a hand at many. The winner of the high jump in the Olympic games, Jean Shiley, has turned her attention to basketball.

Mrs. William Whittemore is being seriously considered as a possibility for the role of next governor of Porto Rico. She is now the national Democratic committee woman for Porto Rico and was one of President-elect Roosevelt's most ardent supporters.

Six hundred delegates affiliated with the 11 national women's organizations which sponsored the annual National Conference on the Cause and Cure of War recently concluded in Washington, protested against any further delay on the part of the World Disarmament conference.

They plan to hold protest meetings throughout the United States on February 5.

Mary Baker Eddy, founder of Christian Science, was voted the greatest woman leader in the United States during an open poll to determine the 12 greatest feminine leaders in the last 100 years. The poll was taken by the National Council of Women and the Ladies' Home Journal for the Hall of Fame at the Chicago Century of Progress exposition.

The names placed on the roll of honor in the order of votes received were: Mary Baker Eddy, Jane Addams, Clara Barton, Frances E. Willard, Susan B. Anthony, Helen Keller, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Julia Ward Howe, Carrie Chapman Catt, Amelia Earhart, Putnam, Mary Lyon, and Mary E. Woolley.

OREGON SCHOOLS' FATE RESTS IN UNCERTAINTY

open, they must do reasonably efficient work," Chancellor Kerr stated.

Here, briefly, are the figures on income and enrollment:

Biennium 1929-30 — $9,439,336, with 8772 enrollment.

Biennium 1931-21 — $7,411,773, of which $1,181,000 was lost by veto and referendum, with 7,375 enrollment.

Biennium 1933-34 — Estimated $6,426,944, or a deduction of 31.9 per cent under 1929-30, with estimated enrollment of 6760, or a reduction of 25 per cent under 1929-30.

But there are two proposals made at Salem, and it is these that are worrying board members.

The budget director recommends an income for the 1933-34 biennium of $6,118,046, which is a reduction of 35.1 per cent under normal.

The ways and means committee recommends the proposal of further reductions, an income for this same 1933-34 biennium of $5,118,046. This is a reduction of 45.8 per cent under the 1929-30 normal. It is one that board members say the schools cannot stand without being crippled in such fashion that 15—perhaps more—years would be needed to rebuild the higher educational system.

That is the situation, as outlined by members of the board of higher education, who are now preparing a formal statement for presentation to the public and members of the legislature.

That is why, they say, higher education in Oregon stands now at the crossroads.

Susan Campbell To Sponsor Tea This Afternoon

SUSAN CAMPBELL hall will honor Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of campus dormitories, at a tea this afternoon from 3 to 5.

In the receiving line will be Mrs. Turnipseed, Dean Hazel Prutsman Schwing, Miss Hil-da Swenson, head resident at the hall, Emmabelle Stadden, and Eva Burkhalter.

Mrs. Alice Macduff, assistant dean of women, and Mrs. Alta Schaaf, house mother at Hendricks hall, are pouring for the affair.

Other committees for the tea are Gladys Burns, invitations; Katherine Patten, serving; and Nevelle Tatro, refreshments.

The wives of the University faculty members will be additional guests at the affair.

Betas to Entertain On Friday, Saturday

Beta Theta Pi will entertain with two dances this week-end. On Friday evening the underclass semi-formal dance will be held, and on Saturday the upperclass formal. Palms and flood lights and low baskets of spring flowers in pastel shades will be used to advantage. Both dances will be dinner dances, and grill tables will be used.

Patrons and patronesses for the underclass dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rosson, Dr. and Mrs. Sante Caniparoli, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas I. Chapman. For the upperclass dance, Professor and Mrs. Carlton E. Spencer, E. C. A. Lesch, Edward Kittoe, and Mr. and Mrs. Belden A. Babb will be guests. Karl Rinehart will be in charge of the dances.

C. D. Hadley at Stanford For His Doctor's Degree

C. D. Hadley, professor of business management, who is now on a leave of absence, is at Stanford university where he is working for his doctor's degree, according to a letter of his to Dean H. B. Hoyt of the school of business administration.

The letter states that Professor Hadley has already satisfied the language requirements and is now taking work preparatory to the final oral examination. He is also the proud father of a daughter born to Mrs. Hadley recently. Both mother and baby doing well, he said.

Y Interviews For Officers Start Monday

Early Conference Appointment Urged for All Women Interested in Jobs

Beginning Monday, January 30, and continuing for several weeks, Mrs. Margaret Norton, Y. W. C. A. head, and one senior member of the Y cabinet will hold a half-hour conference with any girl interested in doing executive work at the Y next year, regardless of whether she has done previous work in the Y.

These conferences will be in the form of informal chats, discussing the projects of the Y, and the positions which the girl might be able to fill. Appointments for a conference should be made as soon as possible this week.

The senior members of the Y cabinet, one of whom will attend each conference, are Lucille Kraus, Elizabeth Scruggs, Mary Ellen Bradford, Barbara Conly, Louise Weber, and Mary Klemm. They with Mrs. Norton, will select from the girls interviewed the appointments for all positions which are not elective and the nominations for the elective offices. The election itself will be held March 1.

The positions in the Y open for next year are places on the regular Y. W. cabinet, on the upper-class commission cabinet, and frosh discussion group leaders. The latter must be juniors or seniors, but underclassmen may become assistant leaders.

The jobs open in the regular cabinet are the four elective offices: president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer; and the appointive offices: chairman of finance, world fellowship, vespers, student faculty relations, conference, social, membership, office, association dinners, art and service, industrial, group on religion, student Christian council representative, reporter, personnel, purpose, freshman adviser, and bulletin board.

ROTC Men Promoted To Position of Captain

In an order issued yesterday by Lieutenant Colonel F. A. Barker, commander of the military department of the University, the following upperclass military students were promoted from the rank of first lieutenant to that of captain: John R. McCulloch, Forrest S. Paxson, Edwin P. Robb, Evert E. Ream, Edgar L. Smith, Maurice E. Whittaker, and Marshall F. Wright.

Inspired by the current Paris vogue, Le-long has used wood brown velvet for this frock.

Secrets of Motor Board Selections Bared at Last

By ANN-REED BURNS

At the Junior week-end luncheon, when most of the University of Oregon can be found wandering around on some part of the campus, a group of women in caps and gowns come down the walk, threading their way through the crowd towards certain junior women, to each of whom they give a small rosebud and a ribbon.

It is the pledging of Mortar Board. Those who receive the rosebuds are the outstanding junior women, and members-to-be.

Mortar Board is a national senior honorary society for women, founded at Syracuse, New York, in 1918. The local chapter was installed in 1923. Women are chosen for Mortar Board on the basis of service, scholarship, and leadership.

In order to be elected to Mortar Board, a woman must have a grade average of at least 3 points above all-campus average for the preceding term. At present that means she must have an average of at least 1.6.

The women selected for Mortar Board have been prominent in activities for three years. Emphasis is placed not on the spectacular or the number of times one's name appears in the Emerald, but rather

Phi Psi and Phi Mu Schedule Dances

Phi Kappa Psi winter formal will be held Saturday evening at the chapter house. Red and green flood lights will decorate the rooms, and the programs will be of metal in silver and gold. Don Thompson and Bob Emmens are in charge of arrangements.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair are Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, Mr. and Mrs. James Harding, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Chambers.

Phi Mu sorority will entertain Saturday evening with a radio dance at the chapter house. Flowers will decorate the rooms, and Lucy Ann Wendell is in charge. Patronesses for the dance are Miss Sue Badollet, Mrs. Alberta Powell, and Mrs. Jeannette Lange.

on the real value of the work done, on the service one has given.

The choosing of members for Mortar Board goes through a great many hands. The junior women choose 15 of their number whom they consider the most outstanding. Then the active members of Mortar Board, with the approval of a committee consisting of Dean Hazel Schwing, Mrs. Alice Macduff, and Mrs. Margaret E. Norton, make the final selection.

Each year at least five seniors and not more than 20 must be elected. The choice of Mortar Board is a secret, no one knowing what girls are to be honored until the rosebuds are handed to them at the Junior week-end luncheon.

So, if you wish to attain one of the highest honors the University can offer, keep your scholarship high; and, as a last word, remember that it's not the "I'm-prominent-and-popular" type of woman that succeeds—it is the one who is quiet and effective. The Mortar Board woman is the all-around girl.

Engagement Told

The engagement of Miss Elizabeth Wilmot to Victor Phelps was announced last week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Wilmot. The announcement was made by miniature clocks. Miss Wilmot attends Oregon State college, and Victor Phelps is a senior at Oregon.

Pan-Hellenic Lays Tentative Plans For Coming Term

Members of the local Pan-Hellenic society, at a meeting at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Johnson hall, decided upon a constructive program for fraternity education. All plans, however, are not yet ready for publication, according to Geraldine Hickson, president of Pan-Hellenic.

It has been decided definitely, however, to write all the stores in Portland who have employed during the summer or during vacations University of Oregon girls as advisors to freshmen buying clothes for college, asking these stores not to advertise the sorority affiliation of the girls who are employed by them, and suggesting that the stores emphasize school, sport, and campus clothes, more than formal and evening dress.

Pan-Hellenic will also sponsor a banquet spring term, honoring each freshman who has obtained the highest grade average in her living organization for the preceding terms.

The Pan-Hellenic short-time loan fund, which was initiated last year by Pan-Hellenic's donation of $120 towards student loans, is being continued this year.

BOARD WANTS DEFINITE PLAN OF BUDGET SLASH

enium. He said such a course would make it incumbent upon the board to eliminate various educational activities.

Senator Woodward said he favored reinstatement of appropriations aggregating more than $300,000 for extension work and the operation of experiment stations in connection with the higher educational institutions. He suggested that the reductions be made from the millage tax or some source other than cutting off the continuing appropriations.

The state budget director disapproved the continuing appropriations for extension work and experiment stations and suggested that the cost of conducting these activities be absorbed by the millage tax.

CINEMA

McDONALD—"Son Daughter," featuring Helen Hayes. Showing till Saturday.

COLONIAL—"Trailing the Killer," with animal cast. Showing till Saturday.

By RALPH MASON
When civilized people "go native" there is usually a big to-do about it, societies for the protection of morals gird on their weapons, and staff cameramen grab their cameras. But when animals "go native" it's another story. "Trailing the Killer" deals with such a theme.

Here is the lineup of the various characters of this film: on the right we have a "well trained" wolf dog; on the left, ladies and gentlemen, crouches a vicious mountain lion and there behind the bushes is concealed a pack of snarling wildcats, and almost beneath your feet is a light-weight rattler who is slated for a round or two with our hero before the show ends. If you like a show that portrays untrammeled passions in a barbaric setting, you will enjoy (we hope) this show.

Laid in San Francisco's historic Chinatown, "Son Daughter" unfolds a tale of romance, conspiracy, and revolutions. Helen Hayes, who was awarded the highest honors ever accorded any movie star last year, plays the leading role. Opposite her is Ramon Novarro, while Lewis Stone and Warner Oland, who is famous for his Oriental impersonations, are on the supporting cast.

"Oh! I thought you were Mr. Jones"

It's a bad moment—when you realize you've spoken to someone you don't know. Everybody makes mistakes, of course, but no matter how much poise you have, you feel a bit silly anyhow.

The chances are you didn't know Mr. Jones really well—or you'd never have made the blunder. You've never seen anyone you'd actually mistake for your brother or sister or husband or wife, have you? It's casual acquaintance that leads to errors.

People look alike; so do razor strops and flower seeds and hats and pianos. If you want to buy a Jones hat and you know all there is to know about a Jones hat, you're not likely to blunder and get some other hat. The same is true for a Jones piano or a Jones razor strop.

The easiest way to know everything there is to know about such things is to read advertising. The advertisements in THE OREGON DAILY EMERALD are here to tell you quickly and truthfully the main facts about the things you buy and use. They are here to prevent you from making mistakes. Mistakes that may be costly.
