Hal Moe for Little on Big Order of 'O' Smoker

Bernie Hughes To Be Pitted in Opposition to All-Coast Back; Girls Free

By CRYSTAL W. BALL
 (Who Will Pick Winners Tomorrow)

Hal Moe, Oregon State's all-coast halfback, will meet Bernie Hughes, Oregon's all-coast center, in the feature match of tomorrow night's Order of the "O" smoker at McArthur court. Moe will replace Frank Little, who was unable to be present for the matches. The remainder of the evening's contests will be the same as announced last week.

Duke Shaneman, chairman of the smoker, announced last night that all University co-eds would be admitted free upon presentation of student body cards. He also stated that John Stehn and the University band will play at the affair.

Oh! It's a Great Game!
 Mr. Shaneman and Sen. Raymond Joseph Morse, the well-known legislator, also said, in the vernacular of the prize ring, that popular prices would prevail. According to Sen. Morse, the fighters generally answer the following description:

"Enormous masses of muscles and brawn, guided by intellects second to none. Hard punchers; terrific sluggers; talented boxers; courageous combatants; and brilliant performers. And, what is more," says Mr. Morse, "they're all pretty fair."

The match between Moe and Hughes is expected to be a real blunder-and-thunder battle between two honest-to-goodness heroes of the Oregon country, both of them all-wool-and-a-yard-wide. The same might be said for all the bouts.

In This Corner—

The current Lou Magnolia will be Col. William L. Hayward, who says he saw Tecumseh go down to defeat before William Henry Harrison and watched Caesar lose to Napoleon at Bunker Hill (the score was 12 to 13½). The silver-tongued Joe Humphreys will be Joe Watson, local announcer, with a beautiful voice.

Shaneman says every match will be a great spectacle, designed to make the heart beat faster. Each will combine the grace of polo with the thunderous action of a great battle between two mighty armies, each advancing from its base towards that point to where armed conflict will begin and a result eventually obtained from one side becoming inferior to the other in point of arms, advantage, ground gained, and bases stolen.

DOWN IN FRONT!—THEY'RE READY TO GO!

By BRUCE HAMBY
FOR THE edification of that select group of readers who like to look at pictures, the makeup editor has plastered the page with the striking baseball scene you see to the left and right. To keep in harmony with the pictures this column should be about baseball. But as far as the University is concerned, there just ain't much baseball news. Billy Reinhart is kept busy dodging the raindrops as he tries to round his group of varsity candidates into shape for the first games of the season late this month. Of course, we might dash off some news on the Coast league, but after all, who cares about that? And the major leagues don't get into action until tomorrow. Babe Ruth will be back in the Yankee lineup—and Duke Shaneman will play for Oregon—but that's not news.

Baseball has some rabid followers on the Oregon campus, despite the small attendance which usually greets the varsity for most of its games. And some of these supporters have dropped around with some ideas for the opening of the season which sound good. They would like to make the opening game of the season somewhat of a celebration, with all the city and University officials present, the usual first-game honorary battery, and prizes for "firsts." In other words, they believe it would do a lot to bolster interest in baseball if the first game was to take on the atmosphere of a big league opener.

Personally, the idea sounds like a dandy. Almost as good as the Order of the "O" smoker tomorrow night. I'm sure that a suitable battery could be obtained. Mayor Large could throw a fast one to Dean Gilbert—or very likely, the dean would toss a mean one at the mayor. Dean Morse of the law school should make a fine umpire. For the batter? Why not some good-looking co-ed? The sports staff has volunteered to make a search. For the prizes for the first hit, the first strike-out, etc., it should be easy to get downtown and campus merchants to cough up some small bits of merchandise.

If you don't like wrestling or boxing you can still find plenty of entertainment at the big Order of the "O" smoker tomorrow night at McArthur court. Duke Shaneman and his energetic aides have rounded up the University band. Director John Stehn will lead his proteges through a carefully assorted group of martial airs, including "Mighty Oregon," during the evening. Four boxing matches, two wrestling contests, and the stupendous 75-piece band (slightly shrunken)—all for twenty-five cents.

After considerable debate and worry, Mr. Shaneman and his conferees—Bob Hunter and Butch Morse, have decided to admit co-eds free of charge upon presentation of student body cards. Quite a generous gesture and the girls should be deeply appreciative of these doughty gentlemen who are providing a fine bit of entertainment gratis.

Going Winchell for a moment we present the latest rumor. The "Masked Marvel" who is slated to meet Art (What-a-man) O'Reilly in one of the wrestling matches, is none other than a certain red-headed athlete who played end for Prink Callison last fall. Should this rumor be true, the red-head is in for a bad evening. Mr. O'Reilly is a plenty tough grappler. Anyone who has seen him on Herb Owen's armory cards can vouch for that. He'll put on a fine show whatever the outcome of the match.

Who should pop up last night but Crystal W. Ball, eminent prognosticator, who has been in deep retirement since a bad week-end last winter. Mr. Ball is quite interested in the outcome of the Bernie Hughes-Hal Moe contest. He plans to spend the next 24 hours in study and will have his predictions ready tomorrow morning.

CROSSWAITH AVERS WE MUST TRY FOR FREEDOM
 praised Lincoln so profusely had called him "an ignorant backwoodsman" the day after his history-making debate and it had deliberately spelled his name "Ape" Lincoln.

"Not even the safeguards of the chattel slaves surround the modern working man," Crosswaith declared. Mules in the coal mines, he said, are shown far more consideration than men. "It is far more cruel to sentence a child to life than to sentence a man to death. Parents must do everything in their power to soften that sentence."

"With the technical equipment we now have at our command, no man in the world need work more than two hours a day to produce what we must have," the speaker claimed. Under the present economic system, most of the unemployed now in the breadlines will never be employed again.

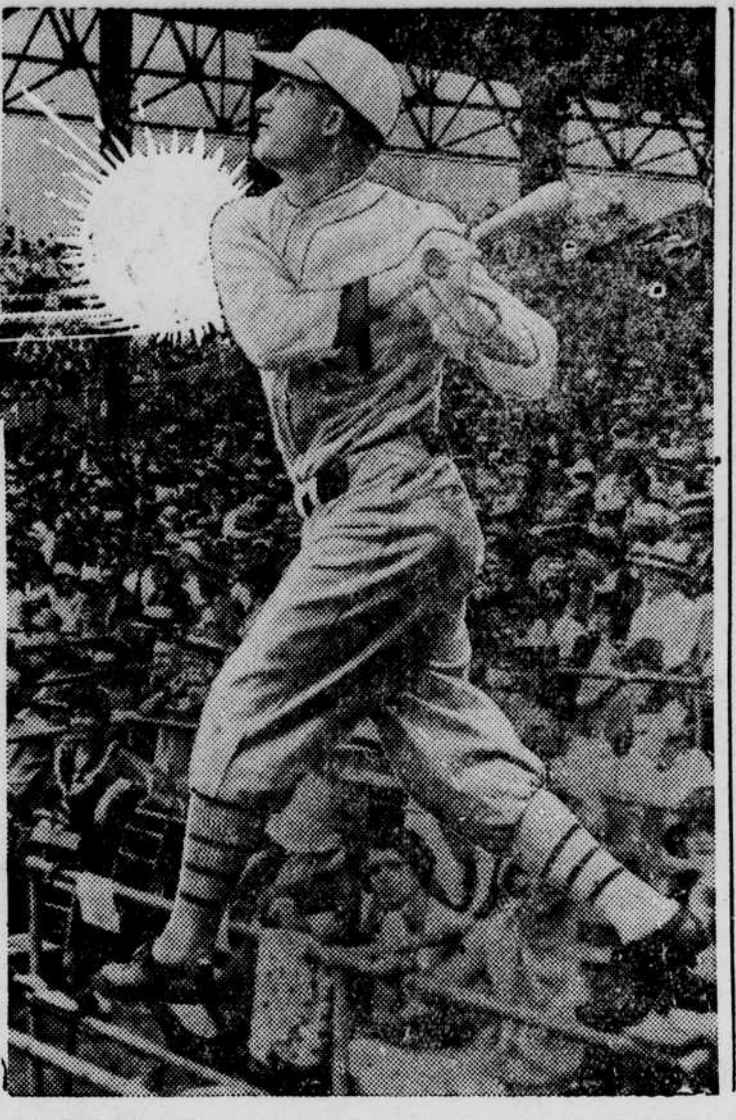

The present economic system must go because it has passed the point where it is of service to society, he said. "We can own the prison together, we can own the hospital together, but the factory—no!" Crosswaith ironically exclaimed.

Before the lecture the speaker was entertained at dinner at the International House. Afterward he met with members of the Eugene Socialist club until his train left.

By BOB AVISON
 The first shutout in the soft ball division of the donut league was recorded yesterday afternoon when Sigma Pi Tau handed the Pi Kappa Alpha nine a 6 to 0 drubbing. Otto Vonderheit pitched a masterful game by limiting the Pi Kaps to one lonely bingle.

Beta Theta Pi took a close decision from the Phi Kappa Psi aggregation by collecting the deciding run in the sixth frame. Gunter was on the mound for the victors, striking out 10 men. Copp and Hargraves made up the battery for the Phi Psi team.

Sigma Chi eked out a 9 to 7 victory over the Alpha Tau Omega nine. Eddie Vail chucked for Sigma Chi with Goulet behind the plate. Patterson and Pope worked for A. T. O.

Phi Delta Theta handed the Kappa Sigma outfit a 12 to 3 defeat. Steve Fletcher and Tom Stoddard formed the battery for the winners.

An old-fashioned slugfest took place when S.A.E. and Friendly hall tangled, and it ended in a 32 to 18 victory for the fraternity boys.

Chi Psi defeated Delta Tau Delta 13 to 9 and the Yeomen hammered out a 11 to 4 victory over
