

LINCOLN STEFFENS WILL SPEAK HERE TODAY

Youthful Musicians Gather For First Eugene Appearance

20 High School Bands Swarm Oregon Campus

Tenth Annual State Tilt Under Way

SOLOISTS VIE TODAY

University Living Organizations Will House Prep Visitors During Week-End Stay

Today's Program

Registration and housing of entrants. 1:00 p. m.—Solo contests, Music building. 6:00 p. m.—Bandmasters' banquet, men's dormitory. 7:00 p. m.—Annual meeting of bandmasters.

By ED STANLEY Seven hundred youthful musicians, representing 25 or more high schools, will begin to swarm the University campus today and will hold sway today and Saturday while they are here to attend the 10th annual Oregon state band contest, being held on this campus for the first time.

John H. Stehn, director of the University band and chairman of the contest, has made arrangements to house the contestants in the living organizations and entertain them during their two day visit here. Every possible effort is being made to make their stay on the campus a pleasant one.

Soloists to Vie This afternoon at 1 o'clock only the ablest individual soloists will compete at the Music building for honors. Twenty-seven schools will be represented. These contests will be conducted in two divisions. In class A only students are eligible who are playing in the band tournament Saturday. Class B will be open to students in the ninth grade or lower. One judge will act for each division. Each school is allowed one entry on each instrument in each division of the solo contest. Solos are to be chosen individually. There will be no admission charged for the contests.

Instruments on which soloists may enter are: Cornet or trumpet, E flat or B flat clarinet, any saxophone, flute, piccolo, slide trombone, baritone, tenor, euphonium or valve trombone, melophone or alto horn, French horn (may compete with allos), oboe or English horn, bassoon, E flat or B double flat tuba.

Banquet on Schedule Following the solo contests the bandmasters will hold their annual banquet at 6 o'clock in the men's dormitory. The annual meeting of bandmasters will take place after the banquet.

Most bands competing in Saturday's contests, which will start in the afternoon and continue until late at night, will arrive this evening.

Prof. E. L. Freeman Reviews Steffens' 'Autobiography'

(Editor's note—With the appearance of Lincoln Steffens here today considerable attention is being directed to his widely-read "Autobiography." Prof. E. L. Freeman, of Montana, has written the following review of the book.)

Lincoln Steffens' "Autobiography" is one of the excellent books of recent years. It may be too long a record for some readers, but almost any reader will find considerable satisfaction in many parts of it. It opens with memorable chapters on his boyhood in California in the seventies, goes on to his university years in pages that students would probably like to assign to professors, relates the detailed history of two decades of muckraking, by which Steffens

Soph Beards Are Ready for Annual Shuffle Tomorrow

Black beards, red beards, short beards, and long beards will be seen at the annual sophomore Whiskerino Shuffle tomorrow night at the Campa Shoppe. With prizes being offered for the best of several varieties of beards, competition has been waxing keen in the various living organizations of the campus to see who can grow the most peculiar, the funniest, and the oddest, and according to Bill Roberts, chairman of the affair, some marvelous styles in hisute adornment will be seen. Campus clothes will be the order of the day, and woe be unto any enterprising sophomore who has the audacity to wear a tie, for the punishment for that offense will be dire, and will be enforced by a special vigilance committee, which will also see that nobody sneaks home before the dance is over to "mow the hay," or shave off his prize goatie, or imperial, as the case may be.

Music will be furnished by the Campa Shoppe band, and there will be several special events—singers, entertainers, etc. Assisting Roberts with the affair are Charles Holloway and Cynthia Liljeqvist, judges; Parks Hitchcock, publicity; Tom Perkins, Grant Thuemmel, Virginia Howard, and Reed Siverson, arrangements. Only sophomores and their dates will be admitted.

Guests Assured Plenty of Room At Mortar Ball

Ellen Sersanos, Chairman, Says All of Eugene Hotel First Floor To Be Used

By limiting the ticket sale and opening up the entire first floor of the Eugene hotel, plenty of room is assured for the guests at the Mortar Board ball, which is to be an event of Saturday, April 22, Ellen Sersanos, general chairman, said yesterday.

Chairs and davenport will be placed around the walls of the hotel, so that the guests will not have to stand during the entire evening, Miss Sersanos added. An amplifier will be placed in the lobby of the hotel, connected with the orchestra platform, thus making it possible for the music to be heard in every corner of the ballroom. Sherwood Burr's orchestra has been secured for the affair.

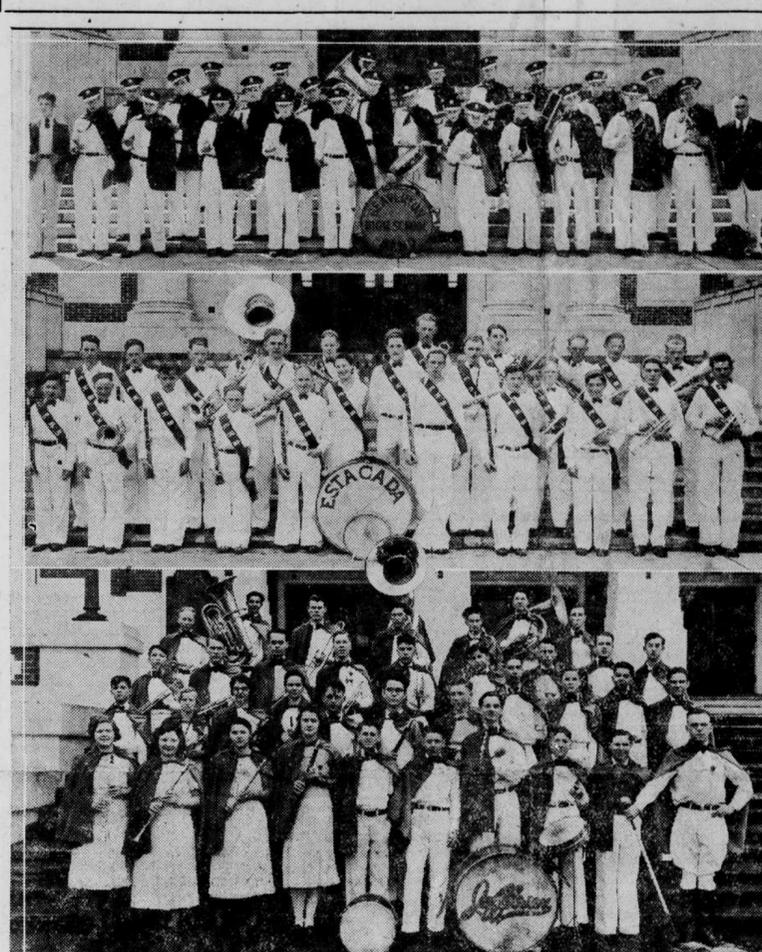

Patrons and patronesses for the formal dance were announced yesterday, and include Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Schwering, Mrs. Alice B. Macduff, Dean and Mrs. Wayne L. Morse, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. DeCou, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton E. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shumaker, Mr. and Mrs. David M. Graham, and Dr. Clara M. Smertenko.

Tickets were placed on sale at all women's living organizations Wednesday by Aimee Sten, in charge of the sale. They are priced at a dollar each, which includes the 10 per cent government tax.

One of the fine qualities about the book is its objectivity. Steffens is not introspective. His mind is always on the event in which he was involved, and not on his own consciousness. One does not need to disparage the introspective types of autobiographical writing in one day to enjoy the change that he finds in this book. A big part of the world's present trouble seems to Steffens to be

One Champ—and Two Contenders

At top is the Beaverton high school band, which with the Estacada band (center) will compete for the class C championship in the 10th annual Oregon state high school band contest being held on the campus today and Saturday. Silvertown high now holds the class C title. Below is the Jefferson high school band of Portland, last year's class A winner, and a consistently high-ranking organization for the past several years.

Sororities To Act As Hostesses at Waffle Luncheon

Women's Living Groups To Be Ready To Entertain Hungry Meq

Nine sororities will act as hostesses to the campus April 29 from 12 to 2, when the annual horde of waffle enthusiasts make the rounds with their dimes. The Y. W. luncheon this year figures on a larger turnout than last as more houses are being used.

The houses and girls in charge at each establishment are as follows: Kappa Kappa Gamma, Nancy Archbold; Chi Omega, Marygoldie Hardison; Pi Beta Phi, Catherine Coleman; Alpha Chi Omega, Elizabeth Bendstrup; Delta Zeta, Marjorie Powell.

Kappa Delta, Marjorie Wheatley; Phi Mu, Eileen Hickson; Alpha Gamma Delta, Mary Stewart; and Alpha Omicron Pi, Clarissa Campbell.

Marie Saccomanno, general chairman, says that "seconds" will be available at a dime although "Firsts" may be either 15 or 10 cents, according to the decision of the house to attend 100 per cent. The original ticket entitles the purchaser to a waffle with all the trimmings, coffee, and two hours of dancing at any or all of the hostess houses.

Pi Mu Epsilon To Hold Open Meeting Tonight

Pi Mu Epsilon, national mathematics honorary, is holding an open meeting at 7:30 tonight in room 206 Deady hall. Anyone interested is welcome.

Two papers will be read: Harriet Holbrook, senior in mathematics will speak on "Story of the Abacus"; and Lewis Fendrich, senior in physics, elected last fall as a member of the Senior Six, on "Disintegration of Lithium."

Student Drivers Asked To Extend Service to Bands

STUDENTS with cars are asked to transport high school bandmen and accompanying visitors from the Southern Pacific depot at 11 o'clock this morning and at 4 o'clock this afternoon, it was announced by Hubert Totton, student chairman of the Oregon State band contest.

Anyone who will be kind enough to do so is asked to call Totton at Phi Sigma Kappa, phone 1906.

Two Students Feature In Tuesday's Recital

Neva Lois Thompson, pianist and Leo Lohikoski, violinist will feature in the student recital Tuesday, 8 p. m., in the school of music auditorium.

Mr. Lohikoski is a member and librarian of the orchestra. Several selections by modern composers are included in the program of this recital essentially classic.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Lincoln Steffens will speak in an open discussion meeting under the auspices of the student Socialist club today at 4:00 o'clock in Alumni hall, Gerlinger building. All are welcome.

New Men's Dorm May Be Memorial For John Straub

Seniors Discuss the Possibility of Name, Rescind Oregon's Fund, Elect Officer

Dean John Straub, father to more than 50 freshman classes, may be known to future University classes through the naming of the new men's dormitory after him.

This was the decision made by the senior class at a meeting last night in Villard. Since the dormitory as an entirety has never boasted a name, and since the bust of the late dean emeritus, gift of the graduating students to the University, is to be placed in the foyer, the name of John Straub hall was considered especially appropriate. Before final arrangements can be made a petition must be sent to the state board of higher education for permission to carry out the plan.

The $500 subsidy of the Oregoniana was rescinded, as the expenses for the year book will be met by its own budget. The money remains in a temporary

Guild Theater Will Be Scene Of Comic Play

Offering 'Mrs. Partridge Presents'

CHARGE IS 25 CENTS

Opening Performance Scheduled Tonight Under Direction Of Mrs. Seybolt

By CAROLINE ROGERS The opening performance of "Mrs. Partridge Presents," first drama department production of the spring quarter, will be presented this evening at the Guild theatre for a two nights' run, according to Mrs. Ottilie Turnbull Seybolt, director of this production.

This evening's presentation has Violet Walters heading the cast in the role of Maisie, and Malcolm Bauer and Michael Hogan sharing the honors for leading man, both playing as Sidney Armstead and Stephen Applegate, respectively.

Brother and Sister Conflict Tonight, Maisie's obstreperous children, Phil and Delight, will be played by Harold Ge Bauer and Alice Lively, who, with gusto and very apparent relish portray the usual conflicts of a brother and sister who are nearly the same ages.

The excitable French milliner will be played this evening by Jean Whitesmith, who also heads the cast tomorrow in the role of Maisie. Charles Purcell, Katherine Quitmeyer, Edward Patton, and Tom McCall appear both evenings as Miss Hamilton, Clementine, Sam and Pete.

Kay Briggs is Housekeeper With Kay Briggs as Ellen, the housekeeper, Marie Saccomanno as the giggling girl and "Bahama," a black and white dog, newly added to the cast, the play promises many hearty laughs.

An effective setting for the two scenes representing Maisie Partridge's apartment in Washington Square and her select ladies' apparel shop on Fifth avenue, has been carefully worked out by the theatre workshop, under the supervision of George Andreini and his group. Lighting effects have been worked out by a thoroughly experienced technical staff.

Kennedy, Hawthorne Authors This lively American comedy, in three acts, written by Mary Kennedy and Ruth Hawthorne, was first presented in the Belmont theatre, New York, 1925. The story in brief, is that of a woman of tremendous energy, who manages a business as she manages everything, with great success, and at home presides over the destinies of a growing son and daughter. Her struggle to give the children the chances she has missed, and the children's ultimate revolt against her well-meant management is the basis of the plot.

All seats will be sold at the door for 25 cents. No seats will be reserved. The curtain will raise promptly at 8:15.

Breakfast Is Planned For Wesley Members

An Easter breakfast at the Methodist church at 7:30 for members of the Wesley club will follow the annual union Easter sunrise service to be held at 6:30 on the Skinner's Butte reservoir. Reservations for the breakfast, which will cost 25 cents must be phoned in to the church office, 375, before Saturday noon.

The Contrast of Meaning of Easter Here and in the Holy Land" will be told by Professor Frederic S. Dunn. An illustrated talk on "Wild Flowers of Oregon" will be given by Professor A. R. Sweetser at the morning forum at 9:45. This will be followed by a special Easter service in the church auditorium.

Proceeding the Wesley vesper service, which will be dedicated to Easter poetry, a social half-hour will be held. Esther Lisle will be in charge. Fireside will be held at the home of Professor and Mrs. Charles G. Howard at 2243 Potter

Senior Leap Week directorate meeting at 4 o'clock upstairs in the College Side. Imperative that all committee heads be there as group picture will be taken.

Replaced

Albert Barch, ex-member of the state board of higher education, who resigned approximately a year ago, has finally been replaced by the recent appointment by Gov. Meier of Chas. Brand and Geo. McCloed.

Washington, Lee Plan Declared To Follow Oregon's

New School of Journalism System In Virginia Modeled After Curriculum Here

Eric W. Allen, dean of the University school of journalism, declared yesterday that the recently reorganized journalism curriculum at Washington and Lee university, described in yesterday's Emerald, is modeled after the plan of instruction originated at the University of Oregon.

When Robert E. Lee laid down the sword at Appomatox, he became president of Washington college at Lexington, Virginia, now known as Washington and Lee university. Here he established the first course in professional journalism ever offered, the forerunner of our present professional schools. General Lee had a high sense of importance of this work

Tonqueds To Give Cooked Food Sale

Tonqueds, organization of Eugene girls attending the University, will hold a cook foods sale at the Eugene public market tomorrow. It was decided at a meeting of the organization Tuesday.

Ruth King is in charge of the sale. She will be assisted by a committee made up of the following girls: Betsy Sallee, Geneva Stafford, Adeline Adams, Margaret Ellen Hill, Margaret Nebergall, Eunice Elliott, Charlotte Hewitt, and Mae Schnellbacker.

The Tonqueds council which planned the sale consists of Helen Garrison, Catherine Coleman, Margaret Nebergall, Mae Schnellbacker, Adeline Adams, Roberta Moody, and Ruth King.

Co-ed Journalists Name Wentz Editor of Women's Emerald

The allied forces of women journalists swung into action yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at a brief meeting at the Shack. Virginia Wentz was unanimously named editor for the Women's Emerald, to be put out April 22, and Cynthia Liljeqvist was elected managing editor.

The annual battle between the sexes is a tradition of only a few years' standing, but seems firmly entrenched. Theta Sigma Phi editions put out by the women's journalism honorary and an occasional women's section seem to have been its only forerunners. The contest idea was first used

Visitor's Talk Holds Campus Interest Today

Journalist Will Conduct Informal Discussion

TEN O'CLOCKS OUT

Famed Guest Will Speak Here on Subject of "Education for a Changing World"

Steffens' Program

10—Address at Gerlinger hall. Noon—Luncheon at Faculty club. Afternoon—Different meetings. 6—Dinner at E. W. Allen's. 7:30—Reception at E. W. Allen's.

By CYNTHIA LILJEQVIST Lincoln Steffens, whose liberalism and individuality have commanded the attention of thinkers for the last three decades, will speak here today in Gerlinger hall at 10 a. m. All 10 o'clock classes will be dismissed. "Education for a Changing World" is the subject of the address, in which he will interpret the needs of the student of today. Immediately after the address Steffens will conduct an informal discussion in Alumni hall for students and faculty members.

The tables were turned on the greatest of modern reporters last night at the Eugene hotel. He was the subject, not the seeker, of journalistic report. Pertaining to modern education, he said: "We need to get rid of the axioms that too long have been ground in us. We need a new set of rules to fit our modern life."

Looking at the world as a moving panorama, he picked his topics and expressed himself uniquely.

Corruption Aided Progress

"Actions that I once thought were criminal, I have found to be a necessity in transforming our country from an agricultural to an industrial nation. Not knowing how to bring about this change quickly, men turned to the easy way, the underhanded method. Without corruption our country could not have become what it is today."

When Mr. Steffens was asked what he thought of George Bernard Shaw, he answered: "I have met him personally. I believe no man has the right to have as much fun as he has. I envy him."

Mr. Steffens said: "Shaw asked me if we had not met before. I answered no. He replied, 'If not physically at least spiritually. I have always thought the things you write and say.'"

Interviews Rogers! Mr. Steffens continued: "Recently I went riding with Will Rogers. Throughout our conversation I asked him dumb questions. Suddenly Will Rogers stopped the car in mid-traff and turning very patiently replied: "This man is doing to me what I've done to people all my life and I don't like it."

"It had taken him three hours to discover that fact."

Sixty-seven years of active investigation have not retarded his energy or keenness of mind. Rather, Mr. Steffens faced his inquisitors like a general, upright,
