

Enrollment On Campus Up To 2045 For Term

Late Comers Swell Total To Fair Numbers

FEW FORCED OUT

Registration of students on the campus of the University has reached a total of 2045, a decrease of 19.87 per cent from the spring term a year ago, it was announced yesterday by Earl M. Pallett, registrar and executive secretary. This figure also shows a dropping off of but 145 from last term, or a loss of but 6.6 per cent. Enrollment at the corresponding late last spring term was 2550, and that for the winter term just passed 2190. The cumulative enrollment for this year to date is 2509, including students who dropped out at the end of last term, the end of the term before, or during either of the two terms.

Proportion Significant
The fact that such a large proportion of students from last term returned this spring term is regarded as particularly significant, for it shows that students are making every effort, in spite of great economic difficulties, to continue their studies, it was pointed out.

Analysis of the figures shows that there are 1193 men registered as compared with 851 women, despite the prevalent opinion that there are more women than men in attendance. Divided into classes, there are 447 freshmen, 664 sophomores, 164 juniors, 462 seniors, seven special students, and 25 auditors. Two hundred seventy-six students are registered in the graduate and professional schools.

B.A. School Largest
Of the total of 2045, 1952 continued over from the winter term, 15 matriculated this term, 25 had been in school fall term but not winter term, and 49 had been in school in other years, but not during the present school year.

The school of business administration, with an enrollment of 462, is the largest single school in the University. The smallest department is that of home economics, with two students enrolled.

Jobs Still Open at Emerald Office, Says Ad Manager

SOLICITING jobs are still available to students who are interested in working on the Emerald business staff, it was announced yesterday by Ma R. Reymers, advertising manager. Those students wishing jobs are requested to call the business office in McArthur court.

There are enough openings to place any number of students, Reymers stated, but those that sign up first will be given the best jobs. The new solicitors will have an opportunity to compete for soliciting prizes that are given annually at the end of each school year.

Oregon Professors Honored

Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Moore, formerly of the faculty of the University of Oregon, taken as they embarked at San Francisco Friday aboard the Dollar liner President Coolidge for Sendai, Japan. Dr. Moore was chosen from among outstanding men of his field in the entire United States for a visiting professorship at Tohoku imperial university, under the auspices of the Rockefeller foundation.

Kwama To Pledge 19 Frosh Women At Ball Saturday

Dance Will Climax Activities of Senior Leap Week; Tickets Now Available

Nineteen outstanding freshman women will be pledged to Kwama, service honorary, at the annual Mortar Board ball next Saturday evening, thus continuing a tradition established with the ball in 1930.

Members of Skulls and Daggers, sophomore men's service group, will assist with the pledging. They will form with their swords an archway leading to the orchestra platform, where the Kwama ribbons will be pinned on the new members.

Ticket sale for the dance, which will be the formal event of Senior Leap Week and will climax all this week at the various women's living organizations, according to Aimee Sten, in charge of tickets.

Independent women and others residing outside the halls and houses may purchase their tickets at the Co-op on Thursday afternoon or Friday. Helen Garrison will be in charge of the sale at the store.

Tickets may be purchased from the following girls, who are representatives in the living organizations: Virginia Hartje, Ruth Vannice, Esther Hayden, Peggy McKie, Caroline Card, Mary Ella Hornung, Georgina Gildez, Mariagoldie Hardison, Kathleen Hughes, Mariana McNamara, Maxine Mortenson, Helen Burns, Gertrude Nitschke, Mary Schaefer, Cynthia Liljequist, Ann-Reed Burns, Marie Saccomanno, Helen Osland, Eileen Hickson, Elma Giles, and Kathryn Marsh.

Roosevelt's Advisors Draw Largely From College Staffs

By E. MADELEINE GILBERT

If college professors have been suffering with an inferiority complex due to oft-heard remarks concerning their over-abundance of theory and lack of practicality, they can now hold up their heads with genuine pride. The president of the United States, since his inauguration, has drawn around him a group of advisers and assistants that is largely dominated by men whom he has called from professorships of colleges and universities.

This point was made here this week by Wayne L. Morse, dean of the school of law, who is a personal friend of one of these very professors, Dr. Raymond B. Moley, professor of public law at Columbia university. In collaboration with Dr. Moley, Dean Morse conducted a national survey of the grand jury system that won recognition from prominent legal men and others throughout the country.

Dr. Moley has been appointed assistant secretary of state by President Roosevelt, and around him has sprung up a whole group of professor-advisers. These include Dr. Rexford Tugwell, professor of economics at Columbia, who has become assistant secretary of agriculture; Dr. Adolf A. Berle, Jr., also of Columbia, who is advising the administration on railroad legislation; Dr. H. Parker Willis, professor of banking at Columbia, who helped draft the Federal Reserve act of 1913 and who has lately been aiding with new banking laws, and Dr. Herman Oliphant, professor of law at Johns Hopkins university, who has been appointed general counsel for the Federal Farm Board.

One of the latest appointees from the professorial ranks is Dr. William I. Myers of Cornell, who has been granted a leave from his institution to become assistant to the chairman of the Federal Farm Board. He will work on the proposal to bring the federal land banks, intermediate credit banks and the joint stock land banks and cooperative loans of the Federal Farm Bureau into one

Bands Defend Titles At Tenth Annual Contest

Jefferson, Silverton, Hill Military Win

GRANT IS SECOND

G. H. Woods, Frank Mancini, L. A. McArthur, Judges; 20 Bands Compete

By ED STANLEY
Three high schools that won the 1932 band championships at Oregon State college last year successfully defended their crowns on State high school band contest, held in McArthur court.

Jefferson high of Portland, directed by L. E. Wright, defended its class A championship; Silverton, under the direction of Hal Campbell, retained her class-B laurels; and Hill Military academy of Portland, directed by Harry C. Crocker, kept her Class C honors. Although these bands won the titles for the second time, victories were not decisive, the judges stated.

Second place in class A was awarded to Grant high of Portland, which is directed by Leon Handlick, Corvallis, led by Ervin Kleffman, was third, while Eugene high, under the direction of Delbert Moore, was given honorable mention.

Mass Band Feature
The nine class A bands played Overture to "Mariana" by Wallace. For selected numbers the Jefferson band chose "Slavonic Rhapsody" by Friedemann, Grant played "Echoes from the Metropolitan" by Toubau, and Corvallis played "Grandiose Overture" by DeLamater.

When the class A contest was completed about midnight the nine competing bands joined in playing Sousa's "El Capitán," bringing a thunderous applause from a crowd of 2000 persons who witnessed the contest.

Burke Gets Prize For Long Beard At Whiskerino Jig

Don Burke and his House of David makeup won him the prize for the longest beard in the annual sophomore beard-growing festival which culminated in the Whiskerino Shuffle, held last Saturday night at the Campa Shoppe.

The award for the blackest beard went to Louis Strunx, the reddest beard to Bob Strunx, the funniest beard to Chuck McCormack, and the shortest beard to Malcolm Bauer.

The awards were made by Carlton Spencer of the law school. Judges were Cynthia Liljequist, Chuck Holloway, and Parks Hitchcock.

The dance was a class affair under the general charge of Bill Roberts. On his committee, in addition to the three judges, were Virginia Howard, Grant Thuemmel, and Tom Perkins. A large crowd of sophomores and their dates attended.

Onthank Named For Conference

Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, has been notified of his appointment as a member of the staff on the conference on guidance and personnel in high schools, junior colleges and higher institutions to be held at Stanford university, July 5 to July 15. Dr. Grayson N. Kefauver, authority on guidance and personnel, is director of the conference.

The staff includes Stanford faculty members and visiting experts, Dean Onthank being the only representative from the university field among the visiting group. The conference is the first of its kind to be held on the coast.

580 Still Owe Second Installments on Fees

Twenty of the 600 students who waited until the last week to pay the second installment on registration fees paid Monday, E. P. Lyon, cashier, said yesterday.

This installment and non-resident tuition fees fall due on Saturday. Mr. Lyon urged that these be paid as early this week as possible.

Lost, Found Items Will Be Auctioned At Sale Tomorrow

Tomorrow at 9:50 a. m. the steps of Commerce building will be converted into an auctioneer's block for the sale sponsored by the Associated Women students. It will last until ten minutes of two o'clock. Phoebe Greenman is in charge. Each spring the articles which have been turned in during the entire year to the University depot's lost and found office and which have remained there unclaimed are offered at this auction to the highest bidders. Books, notebooks, pens, pencils, gloves, hats — innumerable belongings which students have lost and failed to call for will be placed under the barker's gavel.

Proceeds will be added to the A. W. S. loan fund which is being used extensively by University students.

U of O Graduates Active in 'Young Democrats' Meet

Many Participate in Week-End's Gathering at Portland Convention

PORTLAND, Ore., April 17.—(Special)—University of Oregon graduates played a great part in the Young Democratic League of Oregon convention which terminated here early yesterday morning. The adjourned meeting began Saturday at midnight.

After a spirited contest that had been working for weeks, W. L. Gossin of Portland was re-elected president. He was, however, elected on the first ballot. His opponents were Alton J. Bassett of Portland, U. of O. alum; Lee Crawford of Salem, Nadie Strayer of Baker, and Clark Price of La Grande.

Among other business, the league voted to subscribe to the national young democratic organization constitution, before adjourning.

Two University graduates were voted to state offices. They were Lester Humphreys of Portland, national committeeman, and Elise Schroeder of Lane county, re-elected national committeewoman. Students and alumni of the University who acted on various committees of the convention here were:

Executive committee—C. Laird McKenna Jr., general chairman; Willis West, Astoria; Tom Johns, Pendleton; Hugh Biggs, Ontario; George H. Belloni, Coquille; L. W. Humphreys Jr., Portland.
Banquet—W. H. Hedlund, Portland, chairman; Lois West, Astoria; Calvin M. Bryon, Eugene; Raley Peterson, Pendleton; Sam Van Vactor Jr., The Dalles; Wallace Larking, Newberg; Alton J. Bassett and Walter Tooze, Portland.

Resolutions and memorials—Tom Johns, chairman; Robert Hayter, U. of O. Eugene; Roland Stearns, Burns; Ed Kelly, Medford.

Credentials and registration—Stanford Brooks, Astoria; Aubrey S. Tussing, Brownsville.

Local organizations—L. Orth Sisemore, Klamath Falls; Wally Telford Jr., Boring.
Legislative—Roscoe Krier, The Dalles.

Constitution—Les Humphreys Jr., chairman.

Rules and order—Velma Powell, Moro.

Publicity—Elise Schroeder.
National organization—Alton Bassett, chairman.

Editor Posts Will Be Filled On Thursday

Publications Committee To Report Soon

POLITICS ARE PLACID

No Competition Appears Yet for Tongue Machine, Opponent Expected To Crop Up

By JULIAN PRESCOTT
Action by the executive council on the report of the publications committee as to candidates for the posts of editor and manager of the Emerald and the Oregona is expected this coming Thursday afternoon. While no definite announcement has been made, that is the regular meeting time for the council.

Students in the field for the position of Emerald editor are Sterling Green, Elinor Henry and Stephen Kahn. Grant Thuemmel is unopposed for the management of the daily.

The two men who have tossed their hats in the ring for the year-book editorship are Parks Hitchcock and Robert Zurcher. No competition in the race for management of the Oregona has appeared with Ed Cross, the only applicant.

All Have Experience
Both Miss Henry and Kahn have had considerable experience on the Emerald staff but are considered to be at a disadvantage in competing with Green, who is now managing editor of the paper. All three have done some professional work. Green and Kahn have worked for some time on newspapers.

In the race for student body elections things were generally pretty quiet over the week-end. No competition for the ticket headed by Tom Tongue was more than rumored. Canvass of the campus politicians did not reveal a single logical opponent. However, it is considered to be certain that another ticket will appear between now and nominations on April 27.

May Have Platform
Reports that the Roustabouts, who created such a stir with their tickets last year, will come forth with a list of candidates persisted. It is understood that they are planning to present issues of vital campus interest in their campaign.

Appearance of a platform will be something different in Webfoot politics. This may tend to arouse more enthusiasm in the election. Interest has been waning since the naming of student body officers has become merely a contest between two fraternity and sorority factions.

Further strength was given to the belief that Nancy Suomela will run unopposed for the position of secretary of the A. S. U. O. when two supporters of the "secret" ticket were heard to say definitely that no candidate will be put on the ballot in their line-up.

Ticket Called Fiction

Victims of Crash In Serious State

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Shesman of Portland, grandparents of Peggy Chessman, a freshman in journalism here at the University, were seriously injured Sunday night when their automobile hit a culvert near Rainier, it was learned by the Emerald yesterday.

It was reported that Mrs. Chessman's condition was "fair." She suffered severe head injuries and a broken leg. Mr. Chessman's condition was very grave. He received chest and hip injuries.

The Chessmans are the parents of Merle Chessman, editor of the Astorian-Budget. They were returning from Astoria when the accident occurred. The elder Chessman is a district manager in the Oregonian's circulation department. Mrs. Chessman is a cousin of Mrs. William Kuykenall of Eugene.

Dick Neuberger Leaves For Medical Attention

Dick Neuberger, editor of the Emerald, left for Portland Sunday to receive several treatments for sinus and antrum ailments. He is expected to return to the campus tomorrow.

In his absence, Sterling Green, managing editor, and Thornton Gale, associate editor, will have charge of the Emerald.

Seniors Must Get Cap, Gown Order In to Co-op Early

SENIORS are urged to place orders for caps and gowns, and announcements at the Co-op by the end of this week.

Special arrangements have been made concerning the caps and gowns, and consequently rental prices will be reduced from $2.50 to $2. This amount must be paid when the order is placed, and a deposit of $2 will be required when the outfit is delivered to the students before commencement. This will be refunded when the outfit is returned.

Announcements this year will bear the Oregon seal in gold. The paper used is of a newer rough texture with a paneled effect and decided edges. Two large envelopes will come with each announcement. These are to sell at 11 cents each.

Professor Hollis Announces Hilton Contest Speakers

Enforcement of All Liquor Laws To Be Subject of Addresses This Evening

The eleventh annual Hilton Prize Contest will be held in room 105, Commerce building, tonight at 7:30. Professor Orlando John Hollis of the law school announces the following contestants who will take part in the finals, in the order that they will speak: Otto Frohnmayer, William Goodwin, Charles Dolloff, Karl Huston, and James Landye.

Each speech will be limited to 15 minutes and will be on the subject of "A Survey of All Laws at Present Affecting Intoxicating Liquors and a Consideration of a Proper Enforcing Agent for Such Laws."

The contest was originated in 1922 by Frank H. Hilton, a prominent Portland attorney, for the purpose of promoting the oral discussion of legal problems. Mr. Hilton each year offers a first prize of $50 to the winner, while the law school, through the aid of an endowment fund, offers second and third prizes of $25 and $15, respectively.

The contestants for this evening were picked from a group of 16 entrants into the contest on the basis of manuscripts handed in to a committee of the law school faculty earlier in the year.

Corridos de Todos Club To Meet at 8 Tonight

Corridos de Todos, Spanish club, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Westminster house to celebrate Pan-American day, which occurred last Friday, April 14. Two plays will be presented in Spanish. The first, "Napoleon and the Landress," will be given by Harvey Field and Margaret Ashton, while Lorane Blackwell and Holly Seavey will present another skit.

Ray Olsen and Clayton Wentz will each read papers concerning international relations in Latin America, and the program will be closed by the customary singing of Spanish folk songs.

In order to further interest in Pan-American day, students from the high schools of Eugene and surrounding communities have been extended an invitation to attend the meeting.

Lincoln Steffens Gets Unique Characterization From Allen

By HENRIETTE HORAK

Is Lincoln Steffens sincere? To this question Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, replied:

"Of course it's impossible to say yes to that question after what Steffens said about sincerity on the campus last week; if any man dare to call me sincere, I'll sue him for libel."

"Steffens is, however," said Dean Allen, "the most intellectually honest man I know, although he maintains that honesty will never get anyone into heaven. He is also the most profoundly ethical personality I have ever come across—although he speaks slightly of ethics."

"I am trying to keep from saying what has been popping into my mind at intervals for nearly 30 years, and that is, that Lincoln Steffens is a good bit like Jesus Christ."

"He is capable of scourging the money changers from the temple maintaining at the same time that thieves and robbers won't do so badly in paradise compared with

New, Old Problems To Confront Oregon's Higher Education Board at Session

By DICK NEUBERGER
(Editor, Oregon Daily Emerald)

PORTLAND, Ore., April 17.—(Special)—The state board of higher education did not convene here as scheduled today. Because of delays in the preparation of budgets and the enrolling of two new members, the meeting was delayed a week. It will be held next Monday at the University of Oregon. The scene of the session will be the council room of the Administration building. It will be the first formal meeting of the board to be held on the campus of any institution in the Oregon system of higher education since the unified plan was put into effect last spring.

Numerous important developments are expected at the forthcoming meeting. Budgets, a greater problem than ever before, will occupy considerable of the board's time. The ways and means committee of the recent session of the legislature dealt severely with higher education and it will be up to the board to decide which units and departments will suffer the greatest sacrifices.

Cuts Are Inevitable

The question of whether to use vertical or horizontal cuts probably will be discussed to a certain extent. The former would eliminate certain phases and divisions completely. The latter would trim all departments equally. There are numerous arguments on both sides. The protagonists of vertical cuts contend that all but the barest essentials should be eliminated from the curricula. They say only the fundamentals are (Continued on Page Two)

Pianist, Violinist Slated to Appear In Recital Tonight

NEVA LOIS THOMPSON, pianist, and Leo Lohikoski, violinist will present their first recital of the year tonight at 8 o'clock in the school of music auditorium.

Miss Thompson begins the recital with Haydn's "Sonata in D-major" and later continues her part of the program with Olsen's "Petite Suite," Reppe's "The Dancer in the Patria," Rachmaninoff's "Romance," and Wieniawski's "Concert Waltz."

As his major number, Mr. Lohikoski will play Handel's "Sonata, A major." His concluding group consists of Svendsen's "Romance," Mozart's "Minuette," and Bohm's "The Bee."
