Nobody's Business

By BRUCE HAMBY
 If old Jupe doesn't let up in the vicinity of Hayward field, Colonel Hayward may find himself with a flock of green material when the Oregon State relays roll around on May 4. For the past week every time any spike candidate has stuck his nose outside of McArthur court, the sun goes behind a cloud, and things get wet.

Bob Robinson Even among the season varsity material that has been working out since last fall many over-sized waistlines and flabby muscles are in evidence—and we can't credit all of it to "three-point-two," either. Johnny Marrs could stand a few pounds off around the belt as could Gardner Frye, sophomore weight tosser and football star. The latter can use his excess averduoids to a good advantage sometimes in getting behind the 16-pound ball, or in whirling the discus; but watch out Johnny . . . 440 yards is a long way to carry 185 pounds.

Wild Bill Bowerman is another speedster who could stand to drop a little weight. Last Saturday in the time trials he walked away from the quarter mile field for the first 300 yards, but after that he coasted on his momentum . . . and by the way, there was plenty of that. More laps, Bill.

Bobby Robinson, who a couple of years back, used to add five points to Oregon's total in the pole-vault is coaching track at Stockton high school this spring. Jack Miller, one of Prink Callison's sophomore football prospects, and a former student at the California prep school, recently received a letter from the old alma mater and tells me that the high school has the best prospects in years under Robinson's guidance. Robinson is not officially coach, but does all of the work. He has been a resident of Stockton since last fall, when he gained considerable attention as star halfback for the town's American Legion football eleven.

Up at the University of Washington everyone is marveling at the "unbreakable" javelin turned out by a man who never had a spear of this type in his hand until a few weeks ago. Because javelins crack and break under the hard use they are given in track and field competition, Hec Edmundson, Husky coach, asked George Pocock, internationally known shell builder, to try his hand at making a stronger implement.

Pocock said he would try, but admitted it was a shot in the dark. The new javelin was constructed from cedar, the same wood used in shells, with four inlays of ironwood inserted to give it strength. Ironwood, almost like iron itself, is used to back an oar to prevent wearing the rowlock.

The finished product, meeting all requirements in size and weight, was given a severe test. It was thrown on wooden floors, against brick walls and on concrete. It was hurled so it would land flat and also on the opposite end from the spear, and it stood every test. There were no cracks, breaks or splinters.

"It can be made stronger," was Pocock's only comment.

Quarter Mile Crew Boasts Many Stars

Winning Mile Relay Team in Meet May 4 is Hope of Hayward; Many Try for Squad

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles concerning Oregon's prospects on the track and field this spring.)

By MALCOLM BAUER
 When Colonel Bill Hayward trots his Webfoot spikesters out against Oregon State in the annual relay meet May 4, he will base most of his hopes for a repetition of last year's Oregon victory on the shoulders of his quarter-milers. Headed by Johnny Marrs, who skirted the oval Bill Bowerman under 50 seconds last year, a squad of eight 440 stars have been working out daily and promise to form a mile relay team that will uphold Oregon's reputation in this event.

Marrs, a two-year letterman, ran in the anchor position on last year's record-breaking mile relay quartet. He has not run against time, as yet this year, but with a little decrease in poundage, he should be the outstanding man in the Northwest in this event this season.

Bowerman May Get Place
 Another weighty sprinter who may see some action here is big Bill Bowerman, football luminary, who has given up the moleskins for spikes. Bowerman was on the Duck track squad two years ago, but he has been in no competition since. He is also working out in the high hurdles, but his strong build and stamina make him a likely prospect in the 440.

Sherwood Burr, last year letterman, will undoubtedly be back at his old post as lead-off man on the relay team. Burr, a junior, is slight of build, but his speed counts up for what he may lack in endurance. In his one time trial this spring he clocked a slow 53.2. He also broad jumps.

Art "Iron Man" Holman, who specializes in nearly everything the track or field program has to offer, may not be a candidate for the 440 squad this year. Last season Holman carried the baton third, but Hayward is contemplating using him exclusively in the half-mile event this year.

Another speedster who promises to break into the Duck point-winning class is Jimmy Emmett. Emmett, a transfer from Oregon State, has done little real running this spring, but has been working out regularly. At the Beaver school last year he ran in the second position on the relay squad.

Greenough Outstanding
 Bull Wright, Tallant Greenough, Chuck McCormack, and Don Thompson, the last three sophomores, will be fighting for berths on the mile quartet. Greenough has looked the best of the four in early season tryouts. Last Saturday he broke the tape three yards ahead of Wright to win the 440 event in 53 seconds. Thompson may be switched to the half-mile event.

In the freshman ranks Bob Thomas, a heavy-set, flashy runner, looks like the pick of the field. He scored a victory in the 300-yard dash in the recent handicap meet, breaking the tape in front of several seasoned varsity performers.

At present the Webfoot mile relay squad lines up with Burr in the first position, Emmett second, Wright or Greenough running third, and Marrs as anchor man.

Professors of Art Get Recognition for Work

In the second annual exhibit of the work of Oregon artists, sponsored by the American Artists and Professional League and held in the Portland Museum of Art, three professors in the University art school received honors.

Lance W. Hart, assistant professor of drawing and painting, received a blue ribbon for his "Portrait of a Girl." Mr. Andrew Vincent, professor of art, received ribbons for his "Oregon Landscape" and "McKenzie Snow," and Nowland B. Zane, associate professor of design, for his "Sanctuary."

The exhibition was held over the holidays, and the artists have just had their pieces returned to them.

These Rookies May Go Far

Here is a quartet of the year's most highly touted rookie talent. Perhaps there's a Cobb or a Mathewson in the lot. Rowe was a sensation with Beaumont last year, while Beck won 27 games for Memphis. They are the cream of the yearling pitchers. Medwick starred for Houston, while Finney comes from Portland's last year champs. Both of the last named are outfielders.

Webfoots Ready For Schedule of Fourteen Games

First Tilt on Diamond Is Set For April 28 With Columbia

With 14 games ahead of them, bat-wielding Webfoots are scheduled to see plenty of action before the end of the term. Although they are not in the Northwest conference race this year, they nevertheless have a tough schedule, with six contests against O. S. C., and the other eight against valley teams, including Willamette and Monmouth colleges. They will travel to Portland, Salem, McMinnville, and Corvallis.

The original schedule as announced by Hugh Rosson, graduate manager, last term has been somewhat altered. Several changes have already been made, and a few more are slated to be made within a week. The game with Pacific at Eugene has been cancelled by the Badger officials, and arrangements are being made with Monmouth Normal for a game on the date occupied by the Badger game. The other change is in the location of the games with Willamette. Both will be played in Salem, instead of a home-and-home series. The first will be played May 8, and the second on May 15.

The schedule for 1933, as it now stands, with changes due soon:
 April 28—Columbia at Eugene.
 April 29—Columbia at Eugene.
 May 5—Monmouth (tentative).
 May 8—Willamette at Salem.
 May 12—Linfield at McMinnville.
 May 13—Linfield at McMinnville.
 May 15—Willamette at Salem.
 May 19—Oregon State at Eugene.
 May 20—Oregon State at Eugene.
 May 23—Columbia at Portland.
 May 26—Oregon State at Corvallis.
 May 27—Oregon State at Eugene.
 June 2—Oregon State at Eugene.
 June 3—Oregon State at Corvallis.

The Campus Play Day, sponsored by the W. A. A., proved to be a great success, many organizations entering teams for the inter-house competition. Greta Kirkpatrick was general chairman.

The results of the games are as follows:
 Baseball—Alpha Omicron Pi won from Susan Campbell 5 to 3; Kappa Delta from the Independents, 9 to 8.

Alpha Phi won a tennis match from the graduate students, 2 to 0; Beta Phi Alpha from the Independents, 1 to 0; Pi Beta Phi from Kappa Delta, 2 to 1; Chi Omega from Hendricks hall, 2 to 1; Graduates from the Independents, 1 to 0; and Alpha Omicron Pi from Alpha Delta Pi, 1 to 0.

Eight teams competed in archery, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Kappa Delta, Hendricks hall, Alpha Phi, Pi Beta Phi, Graduate students and Independents.

At a tea given on the sun-porch of Gerlinger hall, the Y. W. C. A. presented a style show with Gladys McMillan in charge. The W. A. A. presented "A Romance in Rhythm," with Mildred Widmer in charge.

An Amphibian demonstration will be given Wednesday, April 19, at 8 p. m. in the women's pool at Gerlinger hall. The title is "Once in Miami."

"If these men succeed in putting their theories into practice in times like these it will certainly prove that mere experience is not the only successful teacher, and that there is a real place for class room instruction in government, law and business," Dean Morse points out.

Yearling Nine Splits Games With Lincoln

Preppers Take First Tilt By 6 to 4 Score

Londahl's Tossers Come Back in Second Fray To Bang Out 9 to 0 Victory

By JACK CHINNOCK
 Lincoln high of Portland and the frosh split a double-header last Saturday afternoon, the Cardinals taking the first, 6-4, and the frosh the second, 9-0, in five innings.

Wade Williams's team scored first, pushing a run across in the first of the fourth on a hit and an error. The frosh tied up the score in their half on a barrage of four hits. The Cards scored another in the sixth and three more in the eighth to take and hold the lead. Another in the first half of the ninth cinched the game for them.

Londahl's club staged a ninth inning rally that netted two runs, but it failed to overcome the Card margin.

Frosh Take Second
 The second game went entirely to the frosh. The home team fell on two Lincoln pitchers in four innings for 12 hits and nine runs. Air-tight pitching by Big Red Whittaker held the Portlanders to a mere two hits and no runs in five innings. Whittaker struck out five Cards and only walked two in the five innings.

Joe Gordon was the big hitting star of the game, getting six hits out of six times at bat. Four of them were in the first game and two were in the second. He also drew two bases on balls and scored three runs. Marvin Strobbe also did some nice hitting, getting two out of two in the first game and one out of two in the second.

Pitchers Look Good
 Thuneman pitched nice ball in the first game until the eighth, when the Cards got him. Whittaker, who took his place, pitched nice ball for the rest of the afternoon, finishing the first game and pitching all of the second.

Scores:
 First game: R H E
 Lincoln 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 3 1 6 9 2
 Frosh 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 2 4 9 3
 Batteries: Jubitz, Takami, Davis, Trail and Eastman; Thuneman, Whittaker and Goff.

Second game: R H E
 Lincoln 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0
 Frosh 2 3 2 2 x 9 12 0
 Batteries: Davis, Senders and Schneider; Whittaker and Butler.

Lawns, Shrubs To Be Replanted on Campus

Noticeable improvement has been made in the appearance of the University lawns, trees, and shrubs since the coming of spring has made it possible for the gardener and his men to mow lawns and replace all dead shrubbery. About three men have been at work cutting out all dead branches in the fir trees about the campus.

Shrubbery has been sprayed and transplanted into various places for the general improvement of the grounds. New plants to replace those frozen during the winter have been taken from the University nursery.

Colonel Bill Calls For More Frosh Spike Candidates

All frosh who have two legs, and some ambition are urged to turn out for track by Col. William Hayward, track mentor.

"This is the poorest frosh turn out in many a day," sighed the "old man of Oregon." And the colonel ought to know for he and the "pioneer father" are land marks of this institution.

Events in which the yearling cinder artists are extremely weak are the hurdles, high jump, pole vault and weights.

All those who are interested please see Hayward today in his office in McArthur court and he will give all prospects track equipment.

History Department Gets Book
 Foster Rhea Dulles' recent book, "America in the Pacific, a Century of Expansion," has recently been received by the University history department. According to Dr. R. C. Clark, head of the history department, the book is one of the best popular treatments of the account of United States westward expansion. The stories of manifest destiny, Seward's folly, Hawaii, Samoa and the Philippines are vividly described by the author.

 Diamond 1—Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Sherry Ross hall.
 Diamond 2—Kappa Sigma vs. Yeomen.

By BOB AVISON
 Phi Gamma Delta won the intramural tennis championship with a 2-to-1 victory over the Yeomen net artists yesterday afternoon. Bob Johnson, who has been the outstanding player of the tournament, defeated F. Mountain in two straight sets, 6-1 and 6-0. Roland Rourke and Bill Hutchinson took the second doubles from the independent combination to give the Fijis their margin of victory. Sandy Platt and Casey played the other doubles for the Fijis, but dropped the one match of the day for the winner.

Phi Delta Theta remained in the running for the puff ball championship by capturing a 17-to-8 victory from the Yeomen swatters. The Phi Deltas pitted up nine runs in the first two innings to cinch the contest. Bauer, Houghton, and Mulder were the heavy hitters for the winners. Little Rube Lockitch, independent shortstop, played a sparkling game in the field and connected with a triple, double, and single in four trips to the plate.

Alpha Tau Omega eked out a 11-to-10 victory over the Sigma Alpha Epsilon soft ball nine in the other clash played yesterday afternoon. S. A. E. went into the last half of the seventh inning with a one-run lead, but after successfully retiring the first two men, they allowed Red Strannix to poke a single into right field and he came on around on a dropped fly in center field. With the score tied, Max Wilson sent a clean blow into center to tally the deciding run.
