

FROSH SPORTS STAFF
Jack Miller Sports Editor
Jack Chinnock Asst. Sports Ed.
Bob Butler, Roberta Moody, and Bob Avison, reporters.

WEBFOOT SPORTS

DOPE
Columbia to win again.
Ducks to swamp Beavers.
Portland to take Missions.

CROSS CUTS FROM

THE SPORTS LOG

By JACK MILLER

FROSH SCHEDULE?

FROSH athletics have hit a low ebb on the campus this year. Incomplete schedules, due to lack of finances, have made it unappealing for yearling athletes to try for positions on the various teams.

Stanford, California, U. S. C., U. C. L. A., and Washington afford their freshmen with a full schedule of games. These other conference schools realize the value of a good frosh schedule and do their best to encourage it.

Steve Harris, sports editor of the Minnesota Daily, in his column, "Sideline Slants," gives his opinion as to Minnesota's policy regarding frosh athletics.

"We are heartily in favor of the present system of encouraging freshman athletics. Soon the men who have participated in sports this year will be going back to their homes. If they feel enthused over the program and see the results of the training that is being given, they will be more apt to encourage other athletes to come to Minnesota."

Practically every freshman athlete that comes to Oregon now is really wasting a year of athletics. Let's get off the boat and provide our frosh with a real schedule. Oregon can do it!

Daily BULL-etin!

The Oregon state senate increases higher education budget.

Oregon defeats Trojans 50-0, as 90,000 look on.

An Oregon State student admitting it is an agricultural college.

Grid Outlook Bright

"Prink" Callison should have a winning grid team next fall by looks of things at the present time. With Mikulak, Temple, Kostka, and either Gee or Parks, Mr. Callison should be all smiles as far as the backfield goes.

Contrary to all traditions, however, the co-ed isn't always the dumb one about sports. Overheard from a man sitting nearby: "The idea is to try to hit the guy standing back of the batter, while the guy with the bat tries to knock the ball before it hits him." Gospel truth, we swear it.

Warren Wins Two
The game was about as good as a raffles for the players—what with the seven awards donated by Eugene firms to some of the hitting stars: Harvey's; one necktie for the first base hit, won by Warren of Columbia; DeNeffe's; one hat for first home run, won by Warren of Columbia.

Why not contact these "alums" and try to get $1.00 a year from each one? Of course, the law of averages tells us that each one will not give, but I venture to say that at least one-third would respond, which would net the coffers approximately $3,500.

Now Question No. 2—What do we do with this money when it arrives? My suggestion is to put it to work developing Reinhart field. This would supply many students with employment, besides fixing up Reinhart field. How about it???

Saw Dust

Orv Mohler is leading the Pacific Coast league in hitting... the former Trojan star is batting

OPENING BATTLE LOST BY VARSITY

Warren Leads Cliffdweller Attack With Pair of Home Runs

(Continued from Page One) died there, when the next man fled out.

Both teams went on a scoring spree in the fifth, Oregon ringing up three tallies to the visitors' two. Columbia scored two runs in the fifth when Nehl hit his second home run for the day, bringing in a man ahead of him.

Columbia Gets Gift
Neither team could score from then on till the last inning, when Charles weakened, allowing two hits, which combined with two errors, presented the Portlanders with three more runs, although they did not need them.

Nehl, of Columbia, was the big hitting star of the game, getting four hits out of six times to bat, two of them homers. He was closely followed by Hoy with three out of six, one a homer. Warren got the other homer for the visitors. Chester and Hoag led the Green and Yellow varsity in hitting, both batting .500, and batting in all of Oregon's runs.

Hatch Pitches Well
Columbia's big left-hander, Hatch, was the pitching star of the game, allowing only five hits and striking out seven men. Except for two bad innings, he held the varsity helpless, breezing them in easily where the home team couldn't see them. Ed Charles played the hero for Oregon, stepping into the breach in the third inning and stopping the heavy hitters from the north.

Garbarino played a brilliant game at third, stopping plenty of hard ones and zipping them across to first. In one inning he handled three chances, all of them hard. Sears played a strong game at short, stopping several that had hit labeled all over them.

Play Today
This afternoon at 3:30 the two teams will meet again at Reinhart field in the second game of the series. Ron Gimmel, the sensational find of the year, will probably start on the mound for the varsity.

TOO BAD, IKE!

Table with columns B, R, H, O, A, E for teams Columbia and Oregon.

Table with columns B, R, H, O, A, E for individual players.

480 . . . Not so bad for a rookie . . . We think . . . that Washington State will upset El Trojan next fall . . . that Oregon will have a winning hoop squad next fall . . . that Mikulak, Temple, and Hughes will get all-American mention next fall . . . that "Blazing Ben" Eastman will crack the 440 and 880 records again this year . . . that a young frosh by the name of Alustiza will be the star of the Stanford backfield this year . . . that Bob Hunter and Warren Demaris will crack the conference track records . . . that "Tiny" Bishop could not get into a pair of Size 32 drawers.

An unofficial University of Oregon tennis team will take on the Albany town team tomorrow afternoon on the "Libe" courts at 2 o'clock. Steve Smith, Webfoot tennis mentor, as yet has not picked the unofficial Oregon net squad.

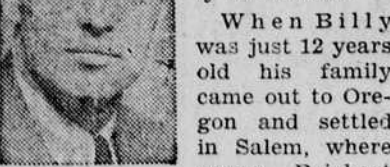

"Grand Old Man of Oregon"

Colonel Bill Hayward, veteran Webfoot track coach, who will lead the Oregon cinder artists in their first meet of the year today at Corvallis when the Ducks meet up with the Beavers in the annual Oregon-Oregon State relays.

Who's Who in Webfoot Sports

By JACK MILLER
William J. Reinhart, Oregon basketball and baseball coach was born in Osborn, Missouri, on August 2, 1897. His 35 years of life have been devoted almost entirely to athletics.

When Billy was just 12 years old his family came out to Oregon and settled in Salem, where young Reinhart finished elementary school and high school. In his prep days at the capitol city school he starred in football, basketball, and baseball.

W. J. played quarterback on the Salem gridiron aggregation, guard on the maplewood team, and played any one of the nine positions on the baseball team. He was the outstanding prep athlete in the Webfoot state at the time.

Upon receiving his high school diploma in 1915, the promising young athlete packed up his grips and decided to carry on his education at Missouri Wesleyan in Cameron, Mo. In his frosh year at the Cameron school Billy starred in his usual three sports once again. In football he earned all-conference honors his first year as a quarterback. "Spec" Keene, who is now coach at Willamette university, was a team mate of Reinhart's.

WEBFOOTS MEET STATER'S TODAY

Oregon Is Favored To Take Beavers in Annual Cinder Contest

The Oregon relay teams will journey to Corvallis to tangle with the Orange cinder men at 2:30 o'clock in the O. S. C. stadium today.

Oregon is favored to come through with a victory again this year, but a close contest is predicted with the battling Staters. The hopes of victory for Oregon State rests on the shoulders of Norm Franklin, Skeet O'Connell, Mush Dunkin, Ned Gleason, and the Patrick brothers, all of whom have shown up well for the Orange squad in pre-season time trials.

Paul Starr, captain of this year's Webfoot squad and qualifier for the Northwest Olympics last year, will run anchor man in both the 440 and 880 yard relays. Art Holman, holder of the conference record in the 440 yard event, will be one of the Oregon stars entered in today's relay meet.

Other men who will make the trip to Corvallis are: Ralph Schomp, Wayne Jamison, Bob Parke, sprinters; Johnny Marrs, Chuck Dollof, Sherwood Burr, Bull Wright, Tallant Greenough, and Bill Bowerman, quarter-milers; Gerald Gray, Bob Nunn, Bob Hunter, Bob Wagner, Wilson Seigmund, Clayton Wentz, Don Thompson, and Don Hall, distance men; and Mason McCoy, Fred Nowland, Bill Palmer, and Art Dudley, hurdlers.

Women's Sports

By ROBERTA MOODY

All houses interested in entering the interhouse golf tournament should notify Ruth Irvin at the Alpha Delta Pi sorority by noon today. No definite number of entrants is required, but as many as possible are urged to hand in their names.

In a fast bangup game, the Kappa Delta's took the Hendricks hall in tennis doubles 6-1, 6-1, and singles 6-0, 6-0. The consistent Alpha Phi team seized a 6-2, 6-3 victory over the Sigma Kappas in the doubles. In the first singles they won 6-3, 6-1, and in the second singles won 6-2, 6-2.

BIG SHOTS STUMPED BY KIDDISH QUESTION

Washke Comes To Aid of Grid Manager When "Experts" Fail To Agree

Does anyone know the size of a regulation football field? It sounds like a simple question, but it stumped the master minds of the physical education department (including Paul Washke), Billy Reinhart, baseball and basketball coach, and the entire Emerald staff (including Editor-elect Sterling Green). "Tank" McCallum also proved to be a "nadir" upon the subject, as did Ike Donin, Stan Kostka, and Kermit Stevens.

The situation arose when Jimmy Ferguson, senior football manager, started to lay out a football field on the new turf just east of the

In 1925 Billy coached the Oregon backfield under Dick Smith. Under "Cap" McEwan he directed the playing of the frosh gridgers, and was backfield coach under "Doc" Spears. Bill has worked up quite a reputation as a football scout, and is considered one of the best in the business by "Doc" Spears. Last fall Bill did scouting for Fordham university of New York.

Johnny Kitzmiller, present Oregon backfield coach, is considered by Reinhart as the greatest football warrior to ever wear the lemons and green, as is "Swede" Westergren, who was all-coast guard for three consecutive years, considered the greatest basketball player to ever attend Oregon. "Commodore Bill's" favorite hobby is fishing and playing around with William J. Reinhart Jr., his 4-year-old son, who shows promise in following the footsteps of his daddy.

FROSH TAKE EASY WIN OVER PREP SCHOOL RUNNERS

DELAUNAY TRIPLES TO WIN GAME FOR FROSH

Extra Base Blow With Two On Clinches Game From Eugene, 7-5

A smashing triple in the 10th inning by Mark DeLaunay broke a 5-to-5 deadlock and gave the frosh a 7-to-5 victory over Eugene high school yesterday afternoon. The frosh took an early lead, scoring four runs in the first three innings, only to see the score tied at 4-all in the sixth.

Eugene scored three runs in the fourth and one in the sixth to tie the score, and then stepped into a one-run lead in the seventh. A long single in the eighth by DeLaunay scored Drew Copp from second, forcing the game into an extra inning.

Frosh Pitching Tight
The frosh played brilliant ball behind the sterling pitching of Thuneman and Bucknam. Besides DeLaunay, Bunny Butler and Tom Hanley came through with triples.

Score:
R. H. E.
Frosh 7 10 3
Eugene 5 9 2
Batteries: Thuneman, Bucknam and Butler; Cady, Drew and Bishop.

VOLUME REPRINTED
Another volume on pioneer Oregon days to be reprinted in the same series is "Adventures on the Columbia" by Ross Cox. Charles H. Carey, president of the Oregon Historical society, and recently appointed corporation commissioner by Governor Meier, is to write the introduction and historical notes for this book.

Igloo. Callison was not present at the time. Mr. Washke helped the situation, a half hour after he was asked the question, by giving the dimensions of a rugby field. Guesses on the width of the field ranged from 100 feet to 100 yards.

Team points were as follows: Frosh 69, Eugene, 27, Corvallis 19, University 14, and Springfield 11.

Advertisement for Eugene's Own Store, McMorrán & Washburne, featuring a Stocking Sale with 79c for regular one dollar holeproof silk hose, and a regular-sized package of LUX FREE. Includes illustrations of people and a LUX logo.