

Judges, Awards For Canoe Fete Are Announced

Annual Spectacle To Be
Saturday, May 13

FAIRYLAND IS MOTIF

Silver Loving Cups Will Reward
Organizations Building
Winning Entries

All titles for floats for the Canoe Fete must be turned in today to David Eyre, general chairman of the event.

The five judges who will determine the winners of the "Fete Fantastique," annual water spectacle and highlight of Junior week-end, were announced yesterday by Phoebe Greenman, in charge of judges and awards.

The judges are: Alice B. Macduff, assistant dean of women; Mrs. Charles G. Howard; Arch Bernard, president of the Eugene Kiwanis club; Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration; and Lance W. Hart, of the art school.

Two large silver loving cups are to be presented to the float which most nearly measures up to the standards of merit, based on conception, presentation, effort and design.

Floats Under Way
Construction on some of the floats is already under way, and much of the last-minute chaos which attends many canoe fetes should be absent next Saturday night. Oil tanks and wooden foundations are being assembled daily on the grassy banks above the Anchorage.

The "Fete Fantastique" is to carry out a consistent and thorough motif of fairyland themes. A platform is to be erected across the mill race from the bleacher seats and will be decorated in the form of an old castle, complete with turrets, battlements and towers.

Sculpture Class Exhibits Pottery

As a part of the Park and Garden Sculpture society of Portland's exhibit in the spring flower show being presented in Laurelhurst park, are a number of pottery pieces made by Miss Victoria Avakian's pottery class in the University of Oregon art school. This year the pottery and sculpture is shown in connection with the regular flower show.

Members of the art class, who assisted in making the pottery are: Allen Bedford, Clarissa Campbell, Dorothy Cunningham, Francis Helfrich, Fred Hillman, Melba Masters, Sue McKenzie, Velda Rose, Adrienne Sabin, Marjorie Thayer, Mary Van Horne, Margaret Wetterstrom and Elbetva Wilson.

A special tent and garden has been furnished as a background for the sculpture, according to Mrs. Harold Dickson Marsh of Portland, in charge of the park and garden show.

Printers Professional Men Claims Walter R. Dimm, '17

"The business of being a master printer is just as much a profession as law or medicine. It is unfortunate that printers have not been classed as professional men," said Walter R. Dimm, 1917 graduate of the University and now a member of Sweeney, Straub, and Dimm, Portland printing firm, in a talk on the "Profession of a Master Printer" yesterday afternoon to the background of publishing class in the Journalism building.

When Dean Allen came to the University, Mr. Dimm was a junior, majoring in journalism. It was Dimm's honor to set up and print the first job ever issued at the University press.

"The average 'case' printer who rose from the ranks of apprentice has deserved little professional recognition," stated Dimm. "His ability to give his clientele anything more than printed matter from copy furnished by the customer has been very limited."

"The modern master printers, the majority of whom are college trained, must act as advisers on most any subject, and use printing only as a vehicle to sell their customers goods or services."

Dimm said that a printer must

Stoddard Chosen To Head Young Democrats League

N. Thomas Stoddard, assistant graduate manager, was elected president of the Lane county Young Democrat league, at a meeting last night that showed that the Republicans aren't the only ones that run into difficulties.

Nathan Burkham, former president of the league, handed in his resignation to be effective the first of June. Burkham said that he wished to give up the leadership of the group because there was too much friction among members, and the discussion became riotous.

George A. Coddling, district attorney of Jackson county, who spoke at the meeting, declared that he felt quite at home in an atmosphere where so much apparent trouble prevailed.

E. J. Anderson To Give Lecture At Music Hall

Linfield President Will Present
Modern Psychology Views
Sunday Night

Dr. E. J. Anderson, president of Linfield college in McMinnville, will speak on "Rethinking Religion in the Light of Modern Psychology" in the music auditorium tomorrow evening at 7:30. The lecture is second of a series of three addresses sponsored by the Ministerial association, the Student Christian council, and faculty committee on religion.

Dr. Anderson has just returned from China where he gathered information in foreign and educational fields.

Eileen Hickson, president of the Student Christian council, will introduce the speaker. Bryan Wilson will lead the devotional service. An organ prelude lasting 15 minutes will be given by Bob Gould. On the program is also included a tenor solo, Bartlett's "Day Is Ended," sung by Ed Beach with violin obligato by Vivian Malone.

Townpeople, faculty and students are invited to attend the address. No admission will be charged.

Last Sunday Prof. E. W. Warrington of the school of religion at Corvallis gave the address. Dr. Norman F. Coleman, president of Reed college, is scheduled to speak next Sunday.

Moot Trial Thursday Gives Case to Plaintiff

The second session of the law school moot court was held Thursday evening in room 105 Oregon building. The law firm of Tom Chaburn and George Layman, representing the plaintiff, succeeded in winning a judgment of $551.51 from the defendant, represented by Kenneth Proctor and Urlin Page. The damages were for injuries received in a fictitious auto accident on the Pacific highway.

About 35 spectators attended the trial, and it was carried very successfully, according to Prof. Orlando Hollis, who acted as judge. However, the jury had great difficulty in reaching a verdict, as it was out about 45 minutes.

Breakfast For Junior-Senior Girls Sunday

ALUMNI HALL SCENE

Spring Motif To Be Carried Out
In Decorations; Surprises
Listed on Entertainment

Fresh grapefruit, dainty empanadas, he-man pork sausages, crisp potato chips, cinnamon rolls just like mother used to make, and full strength coffee are on the menu for the annual junior-senior breakfast Sunday morning from 9:30 to 10:30 in Alumni hall of Gerlinger.

Last call is being issued to all senior girls living off the campus who have not been contacted by the committee in charge, to register at the Y. W. bungalow, where arrangements will be made for junior partners for the occasion. Tickets for the breakfast are two for 45 cents.

In Spring Keeping
Alumna hall will be decorated in keeping with spring; tulips and lilacs will be used as centerpieces on tables and about the room. The four leaf clover idea is being used on the programs, and shamrocks will be used at each plate. Over 200 juniors and seniors have already made arrangements to attend.

Special guests at the breakfast will include Mrs. Hazel P. Schwerling, dean of women; Mrs. Alice B. Macduff, assistant dean; Margaret Norton, secretary of the Y. W. C. A.; and the Y. W. advisory board. A special program of features and entertainment is being prepared for the upperclassmen, but the nature of it is being withheld (Continued on Page Four)

Phi Delta Kappa Pledges Twelve

Phi Delta Kappa, men's national educational honorary, pledged 12 students and graduate students at a meeting held Friday, April 28. Formal initiation will be held in Gerlinger hall at 2:30 today.

Next year's officers for Phi Delta Kappa elected at the last meeting are: Wendall Van Loan, president; Earl Boushey, vice-president; Joseph Holaday, secretary; Dale Leslie, treasurer; Clifford Bullock, editor; and Dr. Carl Huffaker, faculty adviser.

Election to membership in Phi Delta Kappa is based on achievement and promise of leadership and research in educational fields. Those pledged to membership are: George Bailey, senior in chemistry; Gilbert Erlanson, graduate student in education; Paul Foreman, senior in sociology; Paul Johnson, graduate student in education; Fred Radtke, graduate student in history.

Shailer Petusen, graduate assistant in chemistry; Carl Bellis and Howard Hoymann, graduate students in physical education; Victor Jessen, graduate in education; Edward Kremers, graduate in business administration; Wale Rutherford, graduate in physical education; and Harry Rice, junior in education.

State Physics Teacher Group Will Meet Here

The spring meeting of Oregon section of American Association of Physics Teachers, which physics teachers from all over the state will attend, will be held here May 20, it was announced yesterday by Will V. Norris, professor of physics and chairman of the affair.

Various teachers are being solicited to read papers at the meet. The papers will be read during the day, with a luncheon at noon and dinner in the evening. After dinner there will be a joint meeting

Junior Week-End Classes Excused, States Registrar

NO CLASSES will be held Friday afternoon, May 12, or Saturday, May 13, the registrar's office announced yesterday.

Classes are being dismissed on these days for Junior week-end. Classes will be held Friday morning as usual, the announcement said.

Exhibited In Flower Show

Above are some examples of garden pottery produced by students of Miss Victoria Avakian, assistant professor of applied design, at the art school, which are being exhibited at Laurelhurst park, Portland, in connection with the flower show being held there from May 5 to 8.

State Board Will Decide on School Budget Monday

Finance Committee Expected
To Iron Out Important
Details Sunday

PORTLAND, Ore., May 5—(Special)—At 1:10 p. m. Monday members of the state board of higher education will convene at the University club to decide upon a budget for the 1933-34 school year. Before them all this week has been a tentative program of financial appropriations presented last Saturday by Chancellor Kerr. At that time there was some sentiment for adopting the budget immediately, but the majority of the members desired an extra eight days in which to investigate the matter.

Most of the important details are expected to be taken care of Sunday afternoon when the finance committee is scheduled to meet to take preliminary action on the budget. Members of this all-important group are E. C. Sammons, chairman; C. C. Colt, and Herman Oliver. Their report will be brought before the board at Monday's formal meeting. Other sub-committees will report out on matters of lesser importance at the same time.

The tentative budget has been the object of considerable pro-and-con discussion since its appearance. Numerous University adherents have objected strenuously to the allotment for their school, claiming it is far out of proportion to that accorded Oregon State college, where enrollment is now less than that on the Eugene campus. Those taking exception to the appropriations for the University say the Oregon deans and instructors have slashed their individual budgets to the bone, but claim those at Oregon State have not done likewise. The University cohorts declare the figures and facts substantiate their case.

Prom Tickets To Sell At New Low of $1

Organization of ticket salesmen and plans for the placing of tickets for the Junior Prom are being rapidly carried forward, it was announced yesterday by Jim Ferguson, general chairman of the prom.

Ed Schweiker is the committee-man in charge of tickets, and is selecting his subcommittee for complete campus coverage. Tickets this year will sell for $1, a new low price.

Law School Rebellion Against Officers Looms

Rumors of rebellion run rampant these days in the law school as whisperings of a special meeting of the law student body circulate. Owing to the lack of inclination on the part of the present student body officers to call a meeting to take up certain pressing business, opposing factions have threatened to call, without consent of the president, a meeting some time in the near future.

Preston Gunther is president of the law student body, Ernie Burrows is secretary, Bill Dashney, treasurer, John Yerko-vitch, sergeant-at-arms, and Jack Hempstead, barber.

Such business as election of officers, dance, and the annual ball game with the business administration school has been grossly neglected, declare members of the complaining group.

U of O Graduates Return From Auto Jaunt in Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Hall Report
Visits With Alumni Couples
On Long Journey

Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Hall, both graduates of the University, returned to Eugene Thursday to visit Mrs. Hall's parents, Professor and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, after a 10 months tour in Europe. Mr. Hall was Emerald editor two years ago.

Touring in their automobile, which they had shipped from New York, the Halls visited in France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, and other countries. At Palma on the Island of Mallorca they visited with Colonel John Leader and his family. Colonel Leader is well remembered by Eugenians and University people since he was on the campus during the World war.

At Palma they also met Mr. and Mrs. H. Abbott Lawrence, both graduates of the University. Lawrence is the son of Dean Ellis Lawrence of the art school, who is now in Portland. While in New York they also met Velma Farnham, another graduate of the University.

Eight Women Entered In Oratorical Contest

Eight girls have signed as contestants in the W. F. Jewett after-dinner speaking contest for women, according to John L. Casteel, director of speech. About ten entrants are expected before the contest takes place Wednesday evening, May 10. Subjects must be announced before then.

All undergraduate women are eligible whether or not they have ever taken speaking. Prizes of $20, $10, and $5 are offered to the winners.

The contest will be held in the regent's room in the men's dormitory. Two of the three judges have been selected so far. They are Major Roscius H. Back and Professor John H. Mueller. Mrs. Eric W. Allen will act as toast-mistress. Arrangements are being made by Josephine Waffle, women's debate manager.

The contest was won last year by Alice Redetzke.

Scholastic Honorary Names Pledges Today

Members of Beta Gamma Sigma, national scholastic honorary in business administration, will meet today for the selection of pledges for the fraternity, Prof. A. B. Stillman, president, announced yesterday. For the first time, women will be considered for membership at this meeting.

The school of business administration of the University is the only member in the state of the national association of schools of business administration and its chapter of the fraternity is the only one recognized in the state.

Campus Calendar

Interfraternity council will meet Monday, May 8, at 4 p. m., in room 104, Johnson hall.

All girls serving at the junior-senior breakfast are asked to be at the Gerlinger sun porch Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

Kappa Sigma announces the pledging of Robert Wagner, '35, of Helix, Oregon, and Douglas Felton, '35, of Milwaukie, Oregon.

Beta Alpha Psi To Hold Meet Here Tonight

State Accountants To Be
Guests of Honor

6 O'CLOCK BANQUET

Dr. James Gilbert Main Speaker;
Currency Inflation
To Be Motif

Approximately 50 members of the Oregon State Society of Certified Public Accountants from all sections of the state will gather here today for a meeting to be held this evening at 6 o'clock in the Osburn hotel. The affair is being sponsored by Beta Alpha Psi, national accounting fraternity, it was announced yesterday by Arthur M. Cannon, president of the local chapter and chairman of the affair.

Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of the college of social sciences and noted authority on money and banking, will be the principal speaker of the evening, speaking on the subject of "Panics and Panacea." A program of stunts, music, and other entertainment has been arranged by those in charge. A dance feature will be presented by Elizabeth Robertson. Currency inflation has been selected as the motif for decorations.

Meeting Rotates
In the past the meeting has been rotated each year between Portland, Oregon State college and the University campus, but since the school of commerce at Corvallis has been combined with the school of business administration on this campus no provision has been made for the future.

There are 18 Beta Alpha Psi or-

Girls' Play Day To Be Held Here

Approximately 200 high school girls from Lane county and 30 from Albany high school will begin to gather on the campus this morning at 10 o'clock to attend the annual Play day to be held in the Women's building and field.

The University women's physical education group are cooperating with Miss Frances Baker, physical education instructor at Eugene high school, who is in charge of the affair. The committee in charge of the affair includes Mildred Widmer, general chairman; Bernice Wainstock, games; Ruth Irvin, score keeper; Eleanor Coombe, registration; Bernice Scherzinger, traffic; Edith Tucker, folk dances; Juanita Young, posture; Elaine Untermann, leader; and Fay Knox, entertainment.

Following is the complete program: Registration at Gerlinger, 10 to 10:15 a. m.; folk dance, 10:15 to 10:45; games at field, 10:45 to 12:15 p. m.; lunch, 12:15 to 1:15; games, 1:15 to 2:45; posture parade, 2:45 to 3:00; swimming and tennis, 3:00 to 4:00; presentation at women's gymnasium, at 4 o'clock.

Church Head Will Talk On Christian Science

The Christian Science organization of the University of Oregon announces a free lecture on Christian Science by Gavin W. Allen, C. S. B., of Toronto, Canada, Sunday at the University music auditorium at 2 p. m. Mr. Allen is a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Infirmary Has One

The infirmary was without patients for a short while yesterday but an appendix operation filled the vacancy by placing Nell B. Halstead under nurse's care.

Overdue Notices Sent to Students Late Paying Fees

NOTICES have been sent to all students who failed to pay the second installment of the registration fees at the time they were due. The third installment of registration fees, paid by new students, will be due today.

A fine of 25 cents is charged for each day payments are overdue.

Schafer To Give Commencement Address June 12

Joseph Schafer, superintendent of the Wisconsin State Historical society and a faculty member at the University of Oregon from 1900 to 1920, will deliver the commencement address before the graduating class of the University June 12, it was announced here today.

Dr. Schafer, who has achieved national recognition as a historian, is regarded as the foremost authority on history of the Northwest, and has written extensively about the Oregon country, Alaska, and other portions of this section of the country. His books include "History of the Pacific Northwest," "Pacific Slope and Alaska," and he was the joint author and editor of "Democracy in Reconstruction," published in 1919.

At present, in addition to his duties as head of the state historical society, Dr. Schafer is also editor of the Wisconsin Magazine of History. He is a member of numerous historical and scholarly organizations.

While in the West, Dr. Schafer will deliver the dedication address July 8 at the unveiling of the Harvey Scott memorial in Portland. This memorial is the work of Gutzon Borglum, noted sculptor, and is expected to take its place with the great works of art now in the West.

Mu Phi Honorary To Offer Program Of Music, Dances

Group Promises Comprehensive
Recital at Music Hall
Monday Evening

Music and dances representing the ages from primitive times to the present will be featured in the recital and program sponsored by Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honorary, at the music auditorium, Monday, May 8, at 8:15 p. m. The program which promises to be unique and original will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Jane Thacher and Elisabeth Thacher, assisted by Lucy Ann Wendell.

Several months ago a complimentary program of a similar nature was presented and the demand for a repetition has been so popular that Mu Phi Epsilon is presenting this program as a benefit performance for its scholarship fund.

Mrs. Thacher will give interpretive comments on the dances and will furnish the music for the entire presentation. Miss Thacher and Lucy Wendell will interpret the dances of all ages. A great deal of research was necessary in gaining authenticity as to the costumes and dances of the times.

The Mu Phi Epsilon scholarship fund is used to furnish two scholarships to outstanding students of music. The tuition of the two winners is paid for an entire year.

Tickets are priced at 25, 35 and 50 cents and are on sale at the University Co-op, McMorran and Washburne, Waldorf Paint company, and by members of the society.

Tongue Feels Need for Rest After Hearing Election News

Twenty-one years ago T. H. Tongue of Hillsboro gazed upon his young son and exclaimed proudly, "Some day he'll be president!"

True enough, that baby, now grown into a tall brunette, was destined to be chosen by students at the University of Oregon as their leader for 1933-34.

His first thought after being officially informed of his election was "rest." For Tom is tired. After all, when the first feelings of relief and pride are realized, there must descend upon a newly-elected president a great feeling of responsibility. And Tom realizes this. He emphasizes the fact that he feels that the presidency is not merely an honor—that it is an opportunity to exert one's powers at the head of an organization and to fulfill certain qualifications which are not necessarily light in weight.

He was extremely modest about the election. In fact, he seemed a little bit embarrassed when questioned about how it feels to be president of such an institution.

Tom Tongue enters office next fall under circumstances not unlike those President Roosevelt faced. Budgets must be balanced, amendments must be considered,

Co-ed May Get Editor Position Of '34 Oregana

Publication Group Picks
Madeleine Gilbert

DECISION NOT FINAL

Executive Council Will Consider
Applications Within Near Future

The publications committee yesterday recommended Madeleine Gilbert to the executive council for the position of Oregana editor for 1933-34, it was announced last night by Bob Hall, chairman of the committee.

Although the committee was unanimous in its recommendation, the appointment is not final until passed upon by the executive council. However, no opposition is anticipated.

Applicant Is Experienced

Miss Gilbert is a junior in sociology and is an honor student. She has had considerable experience on the Emerald and the Oregana. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. Should she be appointed to the post she will be the second woman editor in two years, since Virginia Wentz has been head of the year book this year. Eight other students had presented applications.

At the outset, when the publications committee asked for applications only two students were in the field for the position—those of Bob Zurcher and Parks Hitchcock. Zurcher was recommended to the post, but it was found that he was ineligible because of scholastic requirements. Hitchcock was then put up for the position but the executive council ruled him out because its members were not satisfied that they had the best candidate and wanted a wider field from which to choose.

Lists Were Reopened

After the matter was presented to the judiciary committee, which seemed satisfied with the application, the executive committee decided to reopen the lists and call for more candidates. The yearbook post has kept the executive council and the publications committee in turmoil since April 20, when applications were first submitted.

Onthank Speaks To Mothers' Club

Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel of the University, spoke yesterday in Portland before the annual meeting of the Portland Oregon Mothers' club, a group composed of mothers of University students.

The meeting, which was held during the afternoon at the central library, brought out several hundred members. Plans for participation at Mother's day on the campus May 12, 13 and 14, were made and officers were elected for the coming year.

Dean Onthank spoke on the work under way at the University and participated in a discussion on University problems and policies.

Tongue Feels Need for Rest After Hearing Election News

There must be cooperation between officials and the publications, and a spirit of good-will must be established.

Tom has great plans for next year. "The biggest job confronting the administration is the building up of school spirit," he said, illustrating his statement with the explanation that Joe College is a thing of the past, and has returned to high school or is editing jokes for "College Humor." Students now enrolled in the school still have spirit, Tom believes, but it is a more serious, subdued feeling.

This spring and summer Tom will work with a committee appointed for the purpose of revising the constitution. Tom feels that some of the amendments are good, but that others must be cleared up, so that there will be no chances for misinterpretation.

As for athletics, the new president is in favor of reinstating minor sports—golf, tennis, and swimming—on a self-supporting basis. He is for the continuation of intramural sports, and the awarding of championship cups.

He will work for the starting of an organization which will work in conjunction with the administration.
