

University May Obtain Library And Infirmary

Construction Would Be Financed by RFC

KERR INVESTIGATES

Oregon Officials Anxious to Get Federal Aid for Buildings Needed on Campus

By OSCAR F. MUNGER

Possibility of construction of a long-awaited and much-needed new library and an infirmary on the University campus in the not too far-distant future, was seen yesterday when Chancellor W. J. Kerr put in motion activities designed to secure aid for such construction through the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Steps were taken to put everything in readiness for obtaining federal aid for building projects under President Roosevelt's proposed public works program in the event congress approves the act and appropriate federal funds for building purposes.

Members of the chancellor's staff were ordered yesterday to conduct a thorough investigation into the pressing needs of the University, especially for a library and an infirmary, and report to him the estimated cost for the construction of these buildings.

Investigations Due
The chancellor's office will be busy in the interim investigating the operation of the proposed act so that in the event federal aid is made available, University officials will be in a position to put forward their projects for early consideration from the authorities governing the federal loans.

"We will obtain information regarding the provisions of the federal law governing loans for building purposes, and the administration will be kept posted as to the progress of the act now in congress," Chancellor Kerr said. "Estimates on the cost of constructing a new library building and an infirmary for the University will be prepared as rapidly as possible. In the event this program is accorded approval, the administration will be ready to take the steps necessary to secure federal aid for these projects."

Group To Meet
The library committee of the faculty will meet Tuesday for the purpose of preparing estimates for a new library. Rough estimates have set the cost as high as $500,000, but it has pointed out that with the present low price conditions.

Depression Effect Research Subject

A two-fold purpose, to find education practice in combating the depression and to discover new practices to improve the quality of service, in research work is being conducted throughout secondary schools and colleges by the Northwest Educational association. F. L. Stetson, chairman of the committee conducting this research work, reports that the work will be completed before the next April, 1934, meet.

The effect that the depression has had on schools and to what degree the schools are responsible for the present economic situation is another of the problems that Stetson and his committee will try to solve. The work will include colleges in six northwest states and secondary schools in the seven units that the northwest states are divided into by the Northwest Educational association.

Men of '35 Asked For Appearance At Tug Over Race

ALL sophomores are requested and urged to be on hand promptly at 9 o'clock this morning at the bridge where the highway crosses the mill-race. Inasmuch as the tug-of-war against the freshmen will be held there at that time, it is deemed advisable for every member of the class to be present in order to do his share in battling against the freshman tuggers.

Rumors of dire consequences to those who do not show up are circulating freely, and it is declared advisable to be on the scene.

Makers of Junior Week-End Activities

Here are the students who created this year's Junior Week-end. Above is shown the Week-end directorate, composed of committee chairmen. Left to right: Dave Eyre, George Hibbard, Eddie Field, Virginia Hartie, Caroline Card, Marshall Wright, Helen Burns, Don Caswell, Geraldine Hickson, Jim Ferguson, Julius Rehal, and Ed Cross. A the lower right we see Queen Margaret and her court, sans ermine, practicing, no doubt, for a possible emergency in the Canoe Fete tonight. Reading from front to back, they are Princess Marilyn Vinson, Queen Margaret I, Princesses Ida Mae Nickels, Lucille Coate, and Dorothy Cunningham (standing). Lower left is the Mother's day directorate. Left to right: Marylou Patrick, Caroline Hahn, Helen Burns, Helen Binford, May Masterton, and Don Caswell.

Phi Beta Choices To Be Announced Tuesday, May 15

Twenty-five Oregon Scholars To Be Named to Group by Committee

Names of the seniors and graduate students chosen for Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary, will be announced Tuesday, May 15, after a meeting of the local chapter on Monday. The membership committee, of which C. L. Constance, assistant registrar, is chairman, this week is to select 25 seniors from the 57 who have satisfied all requirements for senior members-in-course, and will submit to the chapter their names and complete data concerning them as the recommendations of the committee. When the chapter meets Monday, it will either confirm the committee's recommendations or will elect other students instead.

For the first time, the University of Oregon chapter will elect graduate students as graduate members-in-course. Recommendations for them will be made by the committee at the same time, and if any are elected, their names will be announced together with the seniors elected.

Initiation of Phi Beta Kappa is to be held May 20, jointly with the initiation of Sigma Xi, national science honorary.

Three in Infirmary
Three students are confined to the infirmary during the week-end. Actually, there are only two, but the third is there by proxy. Nell B. Halstead and Fred McKinney are there in the flesh. Arne J. Lindgren is expected in soon to recuperate from an appendicitis operation.

Madeleine Gilbert Appears Vivacious When Interviewed

By ANN-REED BURNS
She came dashing up, attired in a red skirt and red-and-white sweater, her golden-brown hair curling back of her ears. It was Madeleine Gilbert, recently appointed Oregona editor. Short, slender and vivacious, she looked more like the All-American co-ed than the traditional gaunt, paper-carrying editor.
She sat down, tossed her tan jacket over the back of a chair, and began to frown as she sought to remember her exact feelings when receiving the appointment. "Well, I was very pleased," she said, "but then it was mingled with a little concern over the responsibility of the position. I realized it was to be a big job."
Miss Gilbert will begin work on the Oregona this term, appointing a tentative staff in about two

Infirmary Slates Open House Again For Visitors Here

Open house at the infirmary for Oregon mothers will be in order again today. Yesterday quite a number of mothers, escorted by their sons and daughters, paid the infirmary a visit and had tea with the nurses. According to the nurses, the invitation is again extended to the mother of any student.

The object of the open house is to give parents a chance to see the conditions under which the health of their children is guarded. The consensus of opinion among visitors yesterday was that the infirmary was immaculately clean and as well organized as possible in the old building. However, all callers stressed the need for a new infirmary on the University campus.

Independents To Elect Officers Monday Night

Election of officers of the Oregon Yeomen for the ensuing year will be held Monday evening at 7:30 in the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall, it was announced yesterday by Ethan Newman, president. Other business will also be transacted at this meeting, and a good attendance is requested.

Students running for the various offices were nominated two weeks ago and are as follows: president, George Bennett and Howard Ohmart; vice-president, Norman Kernan, Jack Taylor, and Verne Adams; secretary, Sherill Gregory, Fairfax Roberts, and Kenneth Reeves; treasurer, Don Farr, Ted Davenport, and Gyp Chatterton.

weeks, and covering the spring sports and other activities which will appear in next year's annual. When asked if she had any special plans formulated as yet, she replied that she would not decide on any particular art theme or motif until conferring with the artists. "However," she added, "I do know that the Oregona will be dignified, and in good taste, rather than striving for elaborate effects."
Miss Gilbert has had much experience in the field of journalism, having been secretary and assistant editor of the 1931 Oregona, and having served on the 1930 Oregona editorial staff. She has worked on the Emerald for three years, and was at one time A.W.S. reporter.
The petite Oregona editor is quite excited over the prospects.

(Continued on Page Four)

Campus Day Will Open Today With Paint Work on O

Swimmers Must Be on Marks by 10:15; Annual Tug of War Slated for 9

The "O" on Skinner's butte will have a fresh overcoat, a number of freshmen or sophomores will be very, very wet, and half a dozen aquatic and canoeing stars will be in expectation of trophies by noon today.

Today is Campus day. Headed by Dick Wallsinger, the committee for the arrangements has prepared a number of traditional events that makes Saturday morning the outdoor-sports period of Junior Week-end.

Starting at 8 a. m., the frosh numeralmen will be off to the butte armed with brooms and buckets of yellow paint. On their return, at 9 o'clock, they will join their fellows in the traditional tug-of-war across the mill-race.

The water carnival will start at 10 and will feature canoe races from the portage to the Anchorage, swimming races over a shorter distance for men and women, fancy diving, and water stunts.

Eddie Field last night announced that the entrants in the swimming races could find their starting points by going up 13th street and watching for signs on the left, or north, side of the road. The women's races will be over a shorter distance, both races finishing at the Anchorage. The men's starting point will be somewhat farther up the mill-race. Both men and women must be in their places by 10:15.

All house presidents were yesterday requested by the Order of the "O" to have their freshmen and sophomores out for the tug-of-war. The men of '35 have vowed to put the yearlings in the race, but the frosh say that the sophs are going to get wet.

Program for Week-end

SATURDAY, MAY 13

8:00—Meeting of Executive Council of Oregon Mothers.
8:00-9:00—Painting of the "O" on Skinner's butte.
9:00-9:45—Frosh-Soph Tug-of-War across mill-race.
10:00-12:00—Water Carnival; swimming and canoe race, fancy and comedy diving, water polo, canoe tilting.
10:00—Mass meeting of Oregon Mothers, Guild theatre.
2:30-5:00—Tea for Mothers by Associated Women Students, Gerlinger hall.
5:30-8:00—Banquet for Mothers, faculty and students, Men's dormitory.
8:00-10:30—Canoe Fete.
8:30—Awarding medals for Water Carnival.

SUNDAY, MAY 14

9:30—Meeting, Executive Committee of Oregon Mothers.
11:00—Special services for Mothers in all Eugene churches.
1:00—Special Mother's dinner in all living organizations.

Mothers Take Large Part In Many Affairs

Several Hundred Make Visit to Campus

DINNER SCHEDULED

Meetings, Tea, Banquet, and Fete Among Activities Today; Registration Brisk

The sixth annual Mother's day program got off to an auspicious start yesterday when several hundred Oregon mothers from all parts of the state poured into Eugene, registered, and started taking in the extensive program that awaited them, prepared by Helen Burns and her Mother's day directorate.

With their sons and daughters, the mothers attended the campus luncheon yesterday noon and saw the coronation of Queen Margaret I as well as the traditional pledging of Mortar Board and Friars.

The first function exclusively for mothers was the Y.W.C.A. tea, given at the Y. W. bungalow. The tea was an eminent success, with more mothers attending than could be accommodated. About 300 mothers attended the tea. On the receiving line were Mrs. Margaret Norton, Hazel P. Schwering, Geraldine Hickson, Gwen Elsemore, Jean Failing, and Mrs. Catherine Stofel.

Mothers Visit Dance
Oregon mothers also were at the Junior Prom last night, with a special section reserved for them in the balcony where they could view the activities of the dance.

Starting today's activities will be a meeting of the executive council at a breakfast to be held at 8 o'clock in the regents' room of the new men's dormitory.

A mass meeting of the Oregon mothers will be held at 10 a. m. in Guild theatre, at which time election of officers for the coming year will be held and the business of the day transacted.

Tea This Afternoon
A mothers' tea will be held this afternoon in Gerlinger hall from 2:30 to 5 p. m. Marylou Patrick is in charge.

The biggest single event of the Mother's day program will be the banquet tonight in the men's dormitory. The banquet will begin as soon after 5:30 as can possibly be arranged. In order to get good seats for the rather extensive program, it is advised that mothers and their sons and daughters be on time. Helen Binford is in charge of the banquet.

Following the banquet, the mothers will go to the mill-race, where they will see the spectacular windup of the student activities, "La Fete Fantastique," the 1933 canoe fete.

Registration Desks Busy
The registration desk in Johnson hall has been one of the busiest spots on a busy campus since it opened Thursday afternoon. It will be open all day today, under

(Continued on Page Four)

Joint Meet of Sigma Xi, Phi Beta Kappa May 20

Sigma Xi and Phi Beta Kappa will hold their tenth annual joint meeting here May 20 with the Oregon section of the American Association of Physics Teachers.

A joint banquet will be held the night of May 20, following initiation of Sigma Xi, national science honorary, and Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary.

During the day, a program of the physics association will be held in Deady hall, under the direction of Dr. Will V. Norris, physics professor here, who is chairman of the meeting.

Junior Week-End Started; Third-Year Students Get Cups; Canoe Fete Tonight

Helen Binford, Sterling Green Win Trophies

Gerlinger and Koyl Cups Presented at Prom

BOTH OUTSTANDING

Burt Brown Barker Scholarship Awards Given to Thetas And Omega Hall

Helen Binford and Sterling Green, both of Portland, were presented last night with the Gerlinger and Koyl cups, respectively, awarded annually to the most outstanding woman and man in the junior class.

The cups were awarded at the Junior Prom, with Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, making the award of the Gerlinger cup, and Virgil D. Earl, dean of men, making the award of the Koyl cup.

The Gerlinger cup, given by Mrs. George T. Gerlinger of Portland, a former regent of the University, has been awarded each year since 1918. The Koyl cup, the gift of Charles W. Koyl, graduate of the class of 1911, has been presented annually since 1914. Character, scholarship, service, and interest in activities are the bases for the awards.

Both Active
Miss Binford, a junior in sociology, has been prominent in activity work and is the president of the Y. W. C. A. for the coming year. She is a member of Kwama and Delta Gamma.

Green is the editor-elect of the Emerald for next year. He is a junior in journalism, has been active on many student committees. He is at present managing editor of the Emerald. He is a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

The Burt Brown Barker scholarship trophies, given annually by the vice-president of the University to the men's and women's living organization having the highest grade-point average for the year, were presented to Kappa Alpha Theta and Omega hall, with 1,525 and 1,843 points respectively. Dormitory groups completely dominated the men's pace-setters in the scholarship race.

Queen Margaret I (Margaret) (Continued on Page Four)

Dean Gilbert Presents Speech at High School

Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of the school of social science, delivered the commencement address last night at Glendale high school, it was announced yesterday from the Extension division.

On May 26, Dr. Gilbert will be the principal speaker at the Sweet Home high school commencement, and on June 2 he will deliver an address at the Medford high school graduation exercises. Dr. Victor P. Morris, professor of economics, will give an address at the Oakridge baccalaureate exercises Sunday, May 14.

(Continued on Page Three)

Even Sun Smiles for Minute As Margaret Ascends Throne

By HENRIETTE HORAK
Even the sun peered for a moment from among the dark and threatening skies when beautiful Queen Margaret I and her royal entourage assumed full regal duties for the week-end at the campus luncheon yesterday.

About 2251 paused for a short time at 1 o'clock, and turned their attention from meat loaf, potato salad, potato chips, ice cream, and punch, to the royal throne, where sat in all her glory and splendor the queen-elect, Margaret Wagner, and her attendants, Dorothy Cunningham, Marian Vinson, Ida Mae Nickels, and Lucille Coate.

Neal Bush, president of the junior class, placed the crown on the kneeling queen's head, spoke a few magic words, drew the regal cloak around her, and Margaret became queen, the supreme sovereign of

Winners of Cups

Helen Binford (above) is the winner of the coveted Gerlinger cup, and Sterling Green (below) received the equally desirable Koyl cup at the Junior Prom last night. Both are outstanding in campus activities.

Thirteen Women, Six Men Chosen For Honoraries

Mortar Board and Friars Pledge Outstanding Upperclassmen During Luncheon

Thirteen outstanding women on the campus were selected for Mortar Board, upperclass women's honorary, and six outstanding men were selected to Friars, senior men's service honorary, while mothers, daughters, and sons were being served lunch yesterday as the initial event of the Junior Week-end.

The women chosen were Helen Binford, Portland, sociology major, and a member of Delta Gamma; Caroline Card, Portland, journalism major, member of Alpha Phi, and luncheon chairman for Junior Week-end; Jean Failing, Portland, member of Delta Gamma and president-elect of A.W.S.; Geraldine (Continued on Page Three)

Millrace To Be Scenic Center Of Water Show

'Fete Fantastique' Will Start at 8:30

THEMES FAIRY TALES

Eyre Announces Order and Titles Of Twelve Floats in Event Tonight on Stream

The mill-race will become the stage tonight for the most novel spectacle of the student year, as "La Fete Fantastique," the 1933 canoe fete, is presented by the junior class as a climax to junior week-end.

The complete program for the order and titles of the 12 floats that will form the spectacular water parade was announced yesterday by Dave Eyre, chairman of the canoe fete committee. Every float will conform to a fairy tale theme.

Float Order Given
Here is the order of the floats' appearance on the stream:

1. Queen's Barge; will carry Queen Margaret I to her throne opposite the reviewing stands. Designed and built by Oregon Yeomen.
2. "Four and Twenty Blackbirds."—Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Tau Omega.
3. "Hansel and Gretel."—Alpha Phi and Chi Psi.
4. "The Tin Woodman of Oz."—Delta Delta Delta and Phi Gamma Delta.
5. "Peter, Peter, Pumpkin Eater."—Delta Gamma and Sigma Chi.
6. Winkum, Blynkum and Nod."—Kappa Alpha Theta and Phi Delta Theta.
7. "Aladdin's Lamp."—Alpha Omicron Pi and Delta Tau Delta.
8. "Cinderella's Fairy Coach."—Beta Phi Alpha and Theta Chi.
9. "St. George and the Dragon."—Alpha Chi Omega and Friendly Hall.
10. "The Black Bull of Norro-way."—Alpha Xi Delta and Omega hall.
11. "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe."—Gamma Phi Beta and Sigma Nu.
12. "Mother Goose Suite."—Delta Zeta and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Beginning at 8:30

The program will start at 8:30 with the presentation of the prizes won in the morning in the water carnival canoe and swimming races. A complete entertainment will be staged on the program platform across the mill-race, with the Rhythm club furnishing the music for the features and for the floats, as they enter the judging zone.

"Sailabed the Sinner," an un-

(Continued on Page Three)

Campus Calendar

All students and their mothers are invited to a special meeting honoring mothers at Westminster house, at 9:45, Sunday morning.

Westminster guild is sponsoring an open meeting for men and women Monday evening from 8 to 9. Dr. L. O. Wright will speak on "Mexican Missions."

Ducats for Canoe Fete Procurable At Igloo or Co-op

A FEW reserved seat tickets for the Canoe Fete are still available at the Associated Students' office in McArthur court and at the Co-op, it was announced yesterday by Tom Stoddard, assistant graduate manager. The few tickets left will sell for 50 cents each.

Those who cannot procure reserved seat tickets will have an opportunity to buy general admission tickets for 25 cents. Some tickets will be on sale at the fete this evening. Stoddard urges all those who are without tickets to purchase them at any time today.