Reinhart's Duck Baseballers Hang Up Second Win Of Season

Oregon Slugs Out Win Over Linfield Nine

Poorly Played Game Ends In 12 to 6 Score

Hoag, Shaneman, and Chester Wield Big Bats for Webfoots

By BOB RIDDLE
 Led by the "Big Three," Chuck Hoag, "Duke" Shaneman, and Lee Chester, the Oregon Webfoots chalked up their second consecutive victory of the season with a 12-to-6 win over the Linfield Wildcats yesterday. Another game is scheduled with the Linfield nine today.

Yesterday's tilt was a loosely played contest with both teams clearly off form. Reinhart field was in rather bad condition due to the incessant rains of late. Ron Gemmill hurled for the Ducks, and though he did not turn in the sparkling performance he did in his last start against Monmouth, had matters well in hand after the third inning.

Linfield Hits Heavily
 The Wildcats proved quite a heavy-hitting outfit, connecting with five extra base hits during the contest. Gemmill, a warm weather pitcher, could not seem to get his arm in tune until the final two innings of the contest. He was able to bear down in the pinches, however, and that was all that was needed.

The Linfield aggregation landed on Gemmill in the initial inning for two runs after he had struck out Voll, the first man, on three straight pitches. At this juncture his control left him and he walked the next two batters, who eventually scored on Helsers' double to deep center. The Webfoots came right back in their half for three runs on their own accord. With two out Chuck Hoag picked on one of "Pop-eye" Michaner's slow balls and hoisted it over the left field fence for a home run. This started the fireworks as Chester walked, Shaneman doubled, and Sears tallied them with a neat single over short.

Visitors Score
 Linfield picked up one run in both the second and third innings, while Oregon was held scoreless. The Webfoots connected in the fourth for four more on Hoag's single, followed by Chester's intended sacrifice which was thrown away, and Shaneman's homer over the center field fence.

Meanwhile Gemmill was becoming warmed and the Wildcats could do very little with his offerings, managing to tally one run in the fifth and ninth frames, while the Ducks were scoring four in their final three times at bat. Lee Chester's home run in the sixth with the bases empty was the third for the Oregon team during the fray.

Ducks Outfit Opponents
 The Ducks had 12 hits to their credit to the opponent's nine. For the losers Smith, the left fielder,

They're Off at Seattle Today

These two Webfoot cinder artists will see action today in Seattle when Colonel Bill Hayward sends his track squad against the spike-men of the University of Washington in their annual dual meet. On the left is Captain Paul Starr, northwest sprint king. Clearing the low hurdle is Art Holman, iron man of the Duck squad, who will appear in the 220-yard dash, low hurdles, and the mile relay.

Plans for State Prep Track Meet Near Completion

Tom Stoddard and Bill Hayward To Be in Charge of Big Event May 20

Plans for the first Oregon state high school track meet ever to be held on the University campus were under way yesterday when Bob Hall, president of the Associated Students, announced a committee of five men to make plans for the event. Tom Stoddard, assistant graduate manager, is promoting the meet and Colonel Bill Hayward will be in charge. The meet will be held Saturday, May 20, one day after the annual Oregon-Oregon State meet.

The men appointed to the committee are: Bill Russell, general chairman; Butch Morse, housing; Howard Bean, tickets; Harold Peterson, field; and George Inman, registration.

Approximately 250 high school youths will represent eight districts of the state, after the cream of the athletes will be selected in the various district meets. Stoddard stated that applications must be in the graduate manager's office not later than May 15. The Oregon-Oregon State track meet will give the high school boys a chance to see real college competition. Members of the Order of the "O" will work in conjunction with this committee to handle the youths when they arrive and to advise them during their stay on the campus.

Webfoots Set To Mix With Husky Squad

Oregon Tracksters Given Chance for Upset

Eighteen Ducks To Go to Marks At Seattle Today in Annual Meet

By MALCOLM BAUER
 Webfoot will battle Husky today as the University of Washington plays host to the track squad of the University of Oregon in the annual dual track and field meet between the two squads. Bill Hayward will send his squad of 18 athletes to their marks at Seattle with a determination to cut short the two-year supremacy which the northwesterns have enjoyed in the cinder event.

The Webfoots were scheduled to arrive in Seattle last night, and are quartered at the Denny hotel, in the Sound city.

Led by Captain Paul Starr, Johnny Marrs, Art Holman, and Bill Palmer, all two-year lettermen, running their last season under Oregon colors, the Ducks are given a good chance to upset the favored Huskies.

Sophomores Shine
 Warren Demaris, Gardner Frye, Wayne Jamison, Bob Wagner, and Fred Nowland, a 11 sophomore stars, should afford the Huskies plenty of trouble this afternoon. Demaris will have the javelin against competition for the first time this year, and is doped as a blue ribbon winner in the spear throwing event.

Frye is a comer in the weights. He specializes in the shot put, but is also handy with the discus, and is Oregon's best bet to out-muscle England, Washington strong man. Jamison, a sprinter and a broad jumper, is a surprise entry. He leaped beyond the 22-foot mark in the tryouts.

Wagner, along with Bob Nunn, will represent Oregon in the longest grind of the day, the two-mile run. He has never run this distance against competition before, but much is expected of him today.

Nowland in Shape
 Nowland is another member of this quintet of second-year men who should bring home some points. The lanky hurdler has not worked out regularly since the Oregon State relays because of slight injuries, but tomorrow he will be entered in the high jump as well as the high hurdles.

Probable line-up of the Oregon entries is:

- 100-yard dash—Starr, Jamison, Parke.
- 220-yard dash—Starr, Jamison, Holman.
- 440-yard dash—Marrs, Burr, Bowerman.
- 880-yard run—Dolloff.
- Mile run—Hunter.
- Two-mile run—Wagner, Nunn.
- Javelin throw—Demaris, Palmer, Parke.
- Shot put—Frye, Clarke, Kostka, Kostka.
- Pole vault—McCoy, Parke.
- 120-yard high hurdles—Nowland, McCoy.
- 220-yard low hurdles—Holman, McCoy.
- Broad jump—Jamison, Holman, Burr.
- High jump—Nowland, Palmer.
- Mile relay—Burr, Marrs, Holman, Dolloff or Bowerman.

Anderson, Dorothy Anne Clark, Esther Wilcox, and Dorothy Roberts. This afternoon, the registration committee will be composed of Adeline Adams, Helen Gould, Louise Anderson, Claire Bryson, Ruth McCormack, Nancy Lee, and Joan Shelby.

MADELINE GILBERT IS BLITHE IN INTERVIEW

 "I think it'll be very fascinating work," she stated, "building a thing, watching it grow. And then it's a much broader thing than anything I've ever done before. It'll give me a great many contacts with people and with student life."

Asked what her hobbies were, Miss Gilbert swung around in her chair and rubbed her nose thoughtfully. "Well, in sports, I like to swim and play tennis best of anything. And then I like to dance."

She looked down at the floor again, apparently thinking hard, and then, suddenly—"Oh, I love to sleep! I never get enough sleep. That's what I like to do best—sleep and eat."

She likes to read—especially Dr. Axel Munthe's "Story of Sam Michael," Pearl S. Buck's "The Good Earth," and Lafcadio Hearn's impressionistic sketches.

The Colonel and Some Star Pupils

Registrar Is Still Mum Concerning Emerald's Query

Campus Paper Questions Pallett's Positions on Both Judiciary and Executive Groups

When questioned yesterday by the Emerald regarding any action he might contemplate as a result of the editorial in yesterday's paper concerning his presence on both the judiciary committee and executive council, Earl Pallett, executive secretary of the University, said he had not yet seen an Emerald and that he was too busy with the budgets to consider the matter.

The editorial questioned the advisability of one man's holding office in both the judiciary and executive branches of the A. S. U. O. government and suggested that the executive secretary resign his post on the executive council. The editorial pointed out that it is a definite principal of the U. S. governmental structure that the judiciary and executive branches should be distinct and separate. It also commended Pallett for his efficient service and expressed satisfaction that he assuredly would continue on the judiciary committee, the constitution requiring his presence thereon. Pallett is an appointed faculty member on the executive council.

Pallett grinned when told of the matter yesterday by Ed Stanley, Emerald reporter. "I haven't had time to see the Emerald yet," he replied. "I have been occupied with the budgets, Mothers day arrangements, and other affairs."

Pallett said to see him at a later date, when he would be more free to talk over the matter. The Emerald yesterday sent him a copy of the editorial, via campus mail, in hopes that he may find time to peruse it.

HELEN BINFORD AND GREEN WIN TROPHIES

Wagner presided over her first social function last night as "La Fantasia des Fleurs," the 1933 Junior Prom was held. Fantastic modernistic flowers formed the motif for the feature dance of the season, and the high spot of the first day of Junior Week-end. In the queen's party were her attendants, the Princesses Dorothy, Lucille, Ida Mae, and Marian.

A number of visiting Oregon Mothers attended the prom. They were given special seats in the balcony from where they could see all of the functions of the dance. Refreshments were served from a gigantic 15-foot tulip blossom. The Rhythm club provided music.

The prom committee, headed by Jim Ferguson, handled the task of staging the affair. Chuck Thomas was assistant chairman; Lucille Coate, secretary; Paul Wagner, construction; Alice Wedemeyer, patrons; Marian Vinson, refreshments; Mark Cory, decorations; Kimball Page, transportation; Ed Schweiker, tickets; John Pennington, music; and Caroline Hahn, programs.

The Story of ... Bill Hayward

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of articles on the life of Colonel William Hayward, Oregon track mentor.)

By BRUCE HAMBY

A LIST of the track stars developed by Bill Hayward would fill a column. Ralph Hill, hero of last year's Olympic games, is perhaps the best known today. But back when Bill first came to the University and in the years following many nationally famous stars ran under Oregon colors. Many were drafted for service on American Olympic teams.

George Hug, now superintendent of schools in Salem, along with the famous Dan Kelly, was the star of Hayward's first Webfoot squad in 1904. Up to 1914 Oregon held 11 of the coast conference records.

During the war track teams up and down the coast were very mediocre and Oregon was no exception. "Moose" Muirhead, a hurdler, broad-jumper and high-jumper, was the nucleus of the 1916 and 1917 teams. Ken Bartlett, who made the 1920 Olympic squad, was a great discus thrower. In 1918 Hayward became sick and had to be operated on, so Muirhead was made acting coach. That year Hank Foster, now a member of the University of Washington physical education department, was high point man. He was a great all-around athlete, particularly in the sprints.

The following year Hayward was presented with a car by students, alumni, townspeople and friends for his outstanding service as a coach and trainer. It was not until 1924, however, that Oregon produced another championship squad. That year the Webfoots won the coast conference meet, held here in Eugene. Ralph Spearow, Oregon's outstanding athlete of that time, holder of the world's pole-vault mark at 13 feet 1-31-100 inches, made the Olympic team that year.

The next good year for Oregon was in 1930, when the Webfoots had one of its strongest teams in history. The outstanding victory of the year was the Washington dual meet, which Oregon unexpectedly won, 69-1-3 to 62-2-3. Every man placed as Hayward hoped he would. Ralph Hill had to break the world's mile record to beat Rufus Kiser; Clare McKennon, still here in school, beat the famed Talbot Hartley by diving over the finish line in the quarter-mile; Tyrell Lowry won the 100- and 220-yard dashes; Bobby Robinson won the pole-vault; Ed Moeller the discus; Clarence Hill the two-mile, and Homer Dickson the javelin. In the conference meet that year Robinson broke the pole-vault record with a jump of 13 feet 15-8 inches.

This year Oregon has another exceptional squad. While it is not large, it has many outstanding

Duck, Beaver Divot Squads To Vie Today

Second Match of Season Starts This Morning

Foursomes Play in Forenoon; Twosomes Are Scheduled For Afternoon

The second battle between the Oregon and Oregon State golf teams will start this morning at 9:30 o'clock on the Eugene Country club course. The Oregon squad, led by Don Moe, will pair off against the Oregamens in three best ball foursomes that will comprise the only matches of the morning.

The Webfoot teams are as follows: Don Moe and Bob Adelsperger will play the O. S. C. No. 1 pair; Bob Near and Don Olsen will play the second pair; and Leonard Anderson and Bob Hammond will play the third Beaver team.

Starting at 1:45 p. m. the singles matches will begin. The lineup will be somewhat different than that which started last week at Corvallis, and will see two new faces on the Oregon team. Bob Adelsperger and Phil Mulder have both moved up two places in the rankings and will be No. 5 and No. 6, respectively, on the team.

The complete singles team is as follows: Don Moe, No. 1; Leonard Anderson, No. 2; Bob Near, No. 3; Dick Near, No. 4; Bob Adelsperger, No. 5; and Phil Mulder, No. 6. The Webfoots have a good chance to repeat their 10½-to-7½ victory of last week, for the course is one that they are all familiar with, and the weather seems to promise for the better. According to the dopsters, some of the best golf of the year will be displayed this afternoon when the two teams meet.

The Webfoot team is being supplied with balls by the Wilson Western Sporting Goods company, makers of Hol-Hi golf balls.

U.O. Rifle Aggregation Finishes High in Meet

Oregon's rifle team finished the highest in its history in the national intercollegiate rifle championship meet, it was learned by the military department on the campus. The University shooters placed sixth in the competition in which 135 schools participated.

The Washington State team won first place with a total score of 7790, while the Oregon sharpshooters annexed 7659 points. Sergeant Harvey Blythe is coach of the University squad.
