

Honor Group And Science Body To Meet

Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi To Have Session

Tenth Annual Initiation Banquet To Be Held Next Week With Physics Instructors

A three-fold meeting will be held on the University campus next Saturday, when Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary, and Sigma Xi, national science honorary, have their tenth annual joint initiation banquet in conjunction with the Oregon section of the association of physics teachers.

The physics teachers' association is to hold the spring meeting here Saturday, under the direction of Dr. Will V. Norris, professor of physics, who is chairman. During the day members of the association, in several meetings, will hear papers read, and in the evening will attend the joint functions of Sigma Xi and Phi Beta Kappa.

Phi Beta Kappa initiation will be held at 5:15 Saturday afternoon in alumni hall, Gerlinger, and Sigma Xi initiation in the physics lecture room, Deady hall, at 5 o'clock. Initiates to the honoraries have been chosen during the last week.

The joint initiation banquet is to be held in John Straub Memorial building at 6:15. A short program will be given, but the main address of the evening will take place in the auditorium of the music building, at 8:15 Saturday night, when Albert Leon Guerdar, professor of world culture at Stanford university, speaks upon "National Psychologies."

The public is invited to attend the address in the music building, which will be free. The initiations of the honoraries and the banquet, however, will be attended only by members of the societies and by visiting physics teachers. Members of Sigma Xi and Phi Beta Kappa from Oregon State, University medical school in Portland, as well as alumni members from all over the state, are expected to attend.

Hitchcock Named as Ye Tabard Inn Head

Parks Hitchcock, Eugene, was elected president of Ye Tabard Inn, men's national writing honorary, at a meeting of the group last night at the Sigma Chi house. He will succeed John Gross as head of the honorary.

Ye Tabard Inn is probably the oldest active honorary on the campus. It was founded in 1912, by W. F. G. Thacher, present adviser of the group.

Other business of the group included the pledging of Lewis Stevens, and the promotion of plans for the year's final meeting, to be held some time next week.

PALLET WILL ACCEPT IF NAMED FOR COUNCIL

(Continued from Page One) Daily Emerald. Since the executive secretary is a member of the judiciary committee, as required by the A. S. U. O. constitution, Dick Neuberger, editor, said that the principles of democratic government demanded that he quit the council post.

When notified of Pallett's statement last night, the editor said: "The principle of separating judicial and legislative branches of government is inherent in American democracy. I fervently trust the chancellor will recognize this principle by appointing someone other than Mr. Pallett as his representative on the executive council."

"I am convinced it is incompatible with the best interests of student government to retain Mr. Pallett in his dual role," Sterling Green, editor-elect of the Emerald, declared last night. "If Mr. Pallett does not see that his position is an anomalous one and retire this year from his position on the executive council, I will feel forced to continue in next year's Emerald to advocate his resignation."

The Emerald launched its campaign for adherence to the principle of separation of powers in government last Friday when it suggested that Pallett resign. On Tuesday the executive secretary replied that he intended to fill out his term, but suggested that any necessary adjustments in appointments be made when the new members of the council are named. Chancellor Kerr is expected to announce his selection today.

The principle that judicial and legislative bodies should be separate and distinct was reiterated by a prominent local political scientist when questioned by the Emerald yesterday. Referring to the opinion of J. W. Garner in his volume, "Introduction to Political Science," the Emerald informant declared that it was the general practice in democratic American government to divorce judicial and legislative branches of government. It was that issue that the editors raised in demanding the resignation of Pallett.

All Withdrawal Blanks Due Before Final Exams Start

ALL withdrawals from courses must be complete before examination week, the registrar's office announced yesterday.

Students who have obtained withdrawal blanks but have not turned them in will find it to their advantage to return the blanks as soon as possible, the announcement said.

PREXIES DISCUSS PAPER AND ANNUAL POLICIES

(Continued from Page One) member of the student executive on most campuses clashes were in committee. Discussing the problem of reducing budgets of school papers, it was suggested that issues during the week could be cut off, to begin publishing later and to quit printing the publication earlier, or to cut out issues falling on holidays.

Scandal Sheets Few In the matter of scandal sheets it was learned that only four of the schools represented at the meeting have such a publication. Usually scandal sheets are published by an unofficial organization. They were found to be entertaining and useful if handled by responsible organizations such as Sigma Delta Chi or other journalistic groups. One matter as to whether or not college papers should employ press services the delegates divided. Some believed they should not be used, and others said much of it depends upon the size of the paper, and whether campus news is cut out.

Editorial and business staffs of newspapers and year books were discussed, as well as literary and humor magazines.

Honor Systems Considered At the morning discussion the matter of honor systems was under consideration. Most of the large schools have honor courts. In some cases the faculty has nothing to say, and in others the faculty is behind the organization, or has members in the court. Most of the delegates were of the opinion that the reporting system employed was unfair and did not show spirit and cooperation.

Last night the delegates were guests at a banquet at the Eugene hotel followed by a dance at Lee Duke's cafe.

Delegates present on the campus are: Phil Kellogg of U. C. L. A., president of the organization; Bill Corbus, Stanford; Dave Jessop and Don Wolfner, San Diego State college; Emyln Jones, Occidental; Bill Leveque, College of Puget Sound; Ralph Rogers, W. S. C.; Wakefield Taylor, California; Jim Burdett and Ed Frantz, Willamette; Elmer Buckhorn and Fred Saling, Oregon State college; Frank Losee and John Boyd, Arizona university; Lawrence Pritchard, U. S. C.; and Bob Hall, vice-president of the organization, Bill Bowdman, and Tom Tongue of Oregon.

S. H. Wilderman To Bestow Ancient Relic On Emerald

Samuel Herbert Wilderman yesterday entered the ranks of the eminent philanthropists of the University. In a formal statement in the presence of Bruce Hamby, Parks Hitchcock and other reliable people, he said he would endow the office of the editor of the Emerald with one roll-top desk, used this year by Mr. Hitchcock ("I'm related to Tommy Hitchcock, Calvin Coolidge and also Mr. Woodward").

The desk which Gendarme Wilderman presented is reputed to be made from several spars which Christopher Columbus rejected for use in the Santa Maria. The choice piece of furniture has a lovely top, several drawers and is erect the greater part of the time. Several disreputable persons hinted last night that Judge Wilderman made the endowment only upon being informed that the desk was too decrepit to stand the strain of being moved to Portland, where he will reside. At a late hour Patrolman Wilderman neither repudiated nor recognized these malicious reports.

Students Grumble About Track Meet Admission Price

WITH the Oregon State High School track meet being held Saturday for the first time on the University of Oregon campus, a number of students have been complaining that University people must pay a 25 cent admission at the meet.

Hugh Rosson, graduate manager, was consulted on the matter and it was learned that all the money collected from student admissions would be turned over to the fraternity houses to defray the expenses of keeping 10 or more high school athletes in the houses during their week-end stay on the campus.

FEWER THAN 150 GO TO A. S. U. O. ASSEMBLY

(Continued from Page One) crease in enrollment. Hall said, it is up to each and every student to go out and convince high school graduates to attend the University of Oregon. Next year's officers will have a problem to contend with in budget reductions, necessitating the co-operation of all the students.

Tongue declared that he looks to the presidency to head so large an organization as the Associated Student body of the University of Oregon. He expects to maintain activities, yet to make the income cover all the expenses. Next year, he stated, will be another crucial and difficult year, and asked for student cooperation and loyal support.

"The world has reached the point where if brains are not used," said Dr. Morris, "the world is expected to get into more serious difficulties. In rapidly changing conditions brains are essential, and we must make our decisions more rapidly."

During the 19th century brains were needed in developing natural sciences, and brilliant accomplishments of the physical world were made because brains were used. The 20th century is a period of social sciences, and much of the world has failed to realize this fact. It is applying brains to its problems, and the use of research is being applied to national domestic and international affairs.

Before the meeting was completed the new student body administration and the students extended a vote of thanks and appreciation to Bob Hall and his retiring group.

Linoleum Block Prints To Be in Co-op Display

Folios of linoleum block prints designed, cut and printed by the students of the normal art department of the University will be on display at the Co-op in the near future. The prints have been collected in folio form in memory of Marie Daly, a member of the design class of 1929.

The prints are done in strong, somewhat crude line, characteristic of a gauge cut linoleum, and have used as subject matter, scenes of the mill-race, and other spots of interest on the Oregon campus.

There are about 25 prints, mostly in black and white, and some color prints, that are especially interesting.

Polyphonic Choir To Appear Last Time Tuesday at 8

Boardman To Direct Performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" In Auditorium

As their last appearance this year, the Polyphonic Choirs, directed by Arthur Boardman, will give a performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah," Tuesday, May 23, at 8 p. m. in the music auditorium.

Eugene Pearson, baritone, who takes the role of Elijah, has a voice of the highly dramatic utterance so necessary in interpreting the role. Others carrying solo parts are Grace Burnette, soprano, Lucy Spittle, contralto, and Edwin Beah, tenor.

The story is based on the life of the prophet Elijah, being taken from the Old Testament. Much of the music in this famous dramatic oratorio is familiar to the average audience.

Indeed this oratorio is presented many times yearly in the United States. It is one of two or three most possible compositions of its type in all musical literature. It verges closely on grand opera and in fact is frequently so presented with full staging and action. The performance is free, and the public is cordially invited.

Here's a leaf of genuine Burley Tobacco... the kind we get for Chesterfields from the Blue Grass Region of Kentucky.

There are four absolutely different types of tobaccos in Chesterfield Cigarettes. One of them is Burley Tobacco.

Chesterfield

Another Reason why Chesterfields are Milder and Taste Better

YOU could almost call Burley a new tobacco... for it was discovered much later than other kinds.

When curious tobacco men tried using this new leaf in cigarettes with other tobaccos... they found it gave character to the smoke.

Today Burley is one of the most important and widely-used tobaccos grown in America.

Naturally, we use a proportion of this good Burley tobacco in Chesterfields... and blend and cross-blend it so skillfully with the other good tobaccos that smokers notice just one good flavor and aroma.

Try Chesterfields—"They Satisfy."
