

Nobody's Business

By BRUCE HAMBY
 Amid the hub-bub and bustle connected with the Bill Hayward banquet, the Oregon-Oregon State track meet, and the state interscholastic championship one very important story has almost been overlooked. For one of the most interesting figures of the university's athletic system will soon depart from Eugene. But let Joe Pigney of the Klamath Falls News tell about this sorrowful event. Joe knows the man in question far better than I do.

"The press of Eugene and Portland have been publishing highly interesting stories and pictures describing the colorful life of a colorful track coach, William L. Hayward. This activity in the interest of Col. Hayward will honor his third decade of service with Webfoot track and football teams, but almost in the midst of this celebration another delightful figure of the university's athletic system will depart from Eugene.

"This will be Sammy Wilderman—Samuel Herbert Wilderman—the pint-sized publicity director who has been traveling the country for ten years building up enthusiasm for the appearances of Oregon football teams.

"Wilderman is destined to leave the university in July to resume an interrupted law practice at Portland.

"But fortunately for the press and the university, Wilderman will return to Eugene each autumn to handle the business of promoting Oregon football.

"Wilderman, first a newsboy, then a reporter, an attorney and a press agent, has seen and publicized strange football teams at the University of Oregon. He has accounted for more yardage in a newspaper in one season than Oregon teams could make on the gridiron in ten. But now he goes back to the legal profession, and Eugene will be strange without him.

"Sam's patience and patriotism for a school continually shifting its personnel has been remarkable. He served "Shy" Huntington as faithfully as he did Captain John J. McEwan or Dr. Clarence W. Spears. He kept the name of the university's football teams in the headlines even in the mediocre years of Joe Maddock and Dick Smith. He capitalized upon the brilliant and erratic personality of Captain McEwan and made him one of the most quickly recognized sporting figures on the Pacific coast. He followed Dr. Spears from game to game, successfully patching a long trail of insulted newspapermen, photographers and officials. In one season he turned Prink Callison into the coaching hope of the northwest and established that young man's reputation as the most capable of wrecking the almost permanent success of the California teams.

"Wilderman was the first real publicity man employed in the Pacific Coast conference, and when he leaves "his good deeds will live after him."

Webfoots Seek Revenge On Beaver Trackmen Today

Oregon Team Doped To Win Annual Meet

First Event To Be Called at 2 o'Clock

Starr, Frye, Demaris Are Among Those Picked To Lead Ducks to Victory

All will be in readiness this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the opening number in the greatest track program the University of Oregon has ever presented. At that time Colonel Bill Hayward will send his Webfoot spike squad against Lon Stiner's Beavers in their annual dual meet, at Hayward field.

A squad of more than twenty Ducks will be on hand to see that today, which marks the thirtieth anniversary of Hayward's service as head track coach at the University, will witness another victory for the veteran skipper.

Dopesters give the Webfoots an overwhelming advantage over their Corvallis opponents, due to the recent stunning defeat the Oregon squad handed the University of Washington Huskies at Seattle—the same Huskies which overwhelmed the Oregon State cindermen only two weeks ago. Especially does Hayward's squad excel in first place material. In only three events, the broad jump, pole vault, and high hurdles, do the Orangemen stack up better on paper.

Starr Doped To Win

Captain Paul Starr, Webfoot leader, is conceded easy wins in both of the sprints, with a possibility that his running mate, Ralph Schomp, may also show his heels to the Beaver speedsters, Franklin and O'Connell. In each of the longer races, the Oregon squad has a favorite. In the 440-yard dash both Johnny Marrs and Sherwood Burr are doped to finish ahead of stocky Bob Patrick from the Orange camp. Bob Hunter should win handily from Bryant in the mile, while Bob Wagner's 9:44 at Seattle last Saturday makes him a favorite to beat both Nicholson and Gibson, the Oregon State two-mile stars.

A battle should result in the high hurdles when lanky Fred Nowland clashes with Mush Duncan, Corvallis star. Nowland won at Seattle last week in 15.1 seconds, while Duncan showed his heels to the Husky stars, Frost and Bracken, a week earlier to break the tape in the record time of 14.7. Anything can be expected here.

Beavers Strong on Field

Mason McCoy will match strides with Duncan in the low sticks. McCoy has been running the distance in faster time this year, but the Orange star has not yet hit his stride, and is given a good chance for an upset.

It is in the field events that the Orangemen base most of their hopes for a dope reversal. Skeet O'Connell, winged-footed broad jumper, leads a classy array of potential blue ribbon winners in Everett Davis, Prahl, and Anderson. The Webfoots again have the edge here, however, and with the exception of the broad jump, are conceded a lion's share of the points. Warren Demaris, who set a new Northwest dual meet record in the javelin throw last week at Seattle, should have little trouble in beating Davis in the spear contest.

Frye Favored

Another Webfoot, Gardner Frye, has the edge over Anderson in the weight events. Frye twice conquered England, the Washington weight king, while the Oregon State husky lost to England in both the shot put and discus throw.

Prahl and Coleman, Oregon State's vaulting team, is doped to outjump Mason McCoy, the Webfoots' best bet with the bamboo. The Ducks even things up here, however, with two favorites, Palmer and Nowland, in the high jump.

The final event on the program, the mile relay, should offer as close a battle as anything on the schedule. Holman, Marrs, Burr and Dolloff will make up the Webfoot quartet, while Bronson, Franklin, Patrick, and Gleason are slated to run for the Orangemen.

Dr. Rebec To Speak
 Dr. George Rebec, dean of the graduate school and head of the philosophy department, will give the commencement address at Gardner high school May 25.

Duck Golfers To Leave Today for Seattle Contest

Washington To Form Opposition For Webfoots; Moe To Lead Team

Webfoot golfers leave Eugene early this afternoon for Seattle, where they will tackle the Washington Huskies in their fair. The team, composed of eight men and a manager, is driving up in private automobiles, and expect to arrive in Seattle in time for dinner. They will stay in various fraternity houses while in the Puget Sound metropolis.

The men making the trip are Don Moe, Leonard Anderson, Don Olsen, Bob Near, Bob Adelsperger, Phil Mulder, and Jack Mulder. "Wildcat" Preston Gunther is the manager. Phil Hammond, who nominally holds down the No. 4 position on the team, is unable to go because of the moot trial being held in the law school at the present time.

The matches will be played on the University or Seattle Country Club links, and will be under the Nassau plan, in which each team plays three best ball foursomes in the morning and six singles matches in the afternoon.

The Webfoots expect to find some tough competition in the Husky squad, for there are several players of Northwest repute amongst its numbers. They will return to Eugene sometime Sunday afternoon.

Plans Completed For High School Track, Field Meet

Plans for staging the annual state interscholastic track and field championships here Saturday morning and afternoon were practically completed last night, according to Tom Stoddard, assistant graduate manager in charge of the meet. Housing and registration plans have been finished and all that remains is final condition of Hayward field and drawing for preliminary lanes and heats.

More than 210 entries have been received from the eight districts in the state, Stoddard reported. Portland, district eight sent the most, 41 men. Practically every high school in the state is represented by one or more participants.

The preliminary heats will start at 9:30 Saturday morning for all events with a large entry. The finals will be run off in the afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock.

This year's meet will have an added feature with the new system of awarding first, second and third place prizes. Maryline New, sophomore co-ed, will act as honorary judge, and will present to the winners from a raised platform in front of the grandstand. A sound amplifying system will be installed so the crowd can hear all announcements. John Marrs and Sherwood Burr will act as announcers.

Admission to the meet is 400 cents for townspeople and visitors; 25 cents for University students with A. S. U. O. cards and high school students, and a dime for kids.

Students To Aid In Handling High School Track Men

A large crowd of freshmen and sophomores, under the direction of Bill Russell, has been appointed to handle registration, tickets and directing high school track stars. Butch Morse is in charge of housing. Harold Beam in charge of tickets. Hal Peterson, field, and George Inman, registration.

In addition, several men have been named to assist with registering the visitors and escorting them to their week-end's lodging. All fraternities are expected to care for between 12 and 15 men.

Phi Delta Phi Chooses Davidson as Delegate

At a meeting of Phi Delta Phi, law honorary, Tuesday night, it was decided to send Carl Davidson, club president, to the national convention to be held at Golfmore, Michigan in September. Karl Huston was chosen as alternate.

The date for the spring initiation ceremony was set for Sunday, May 28. At that time Bill Whiteley, Ferd Fletcher, Kenneth Linklater, and Duane Pinkerton will be taken into the society. Judge of the second judicial district will be taken in as an honorary member.

Women's Sports

At a recent A.W.S. council meeting the members discussed the A. W.S., W.A.A., Y.W.C.A., and Philomathean conference to be held during rush week next fall. During this conference each group is to formulate problems, and these are to be discussed and solutions given. Considerable time was given to the discussion of the Strawberry Festival to be given next week. Mildred Ringo is to be general chairman. The program for the W.A.A. for next year was formulated.

People in the golf team are asked to play off their matches as soon as possible.

Alpha Delta Pi and Alpha Phi were the winners of the semi-finals in archery. They will play off the final match early next week. High score archers were Carol Cunningham, Alpha Phi, and Margaret Chase, Alpha Delta Pi.

Interclass archery meets may be played off today from 4 to 5 or on Saturday from 9 to 12, or 1 to 5. In case of rain the Saturday matches will be changed over to Sunday. Any girl who has had any introduction in archery is eligible for the tournament.

Webfoots To Meet Beaver Nine At 4:00

Ron Gemmill Is Scheduled To Start Game

Return Contest Slated With OSC at Corvallis Tomorrow; Same Lineup Announced by Coach

As an added event to a great athletic week-end, Bill Reinhart and his varsity baseball nine will cross bats with the Oregon State Beavers this afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the first of a series of six contests with the Orangemen. The game has been set at such a late hour to give the fans a chance to view both the track meet and baseball game.

Oregon's ace pitcher, Ron Gemmill, will probably take the mound for the Webfoots this afternoon in his third start of the season. Gemmill, a transfer from LaGrande normal school, has proven of great value to the Duck team. In his first start against Columbia university three weeks ago, Ron held the Cliffdwellers to six scattered hits and won 6 to 1. A week ago the submarine-ball pitcher toyed with the Linfield Wildcats for nine innings, winning his second straight start 12 to 6.

Ducks in Shape

The Oregon baseballers have had little opportunity to practice lately, but are all in fine physical condition. Should Gemmill's deliveries prove too much to the liking of the Orangemen, Reinhart has any number of likely looking replacements to call on. Ike Donin and Ed Charles, both lettermen from last season, have not hurled since the first Columbia tilt. Donin will likely get the call tomorrow when the two teams meet in a return conflict at Corvallis.

The starting lineup is fairly well settled, according to Reinhart, with the same lineup used in the last three games. Lee Chester has the first base job hands down. "Chip" Chatterton will hold forth at second, and Freddy Sears will cover the shortstop position. Sears has been fielding in great style of late, and his hitting has been phenomenal. Ernie Garbarino, a third, is still holding his position, but his fielding has been somewhat ragged in the last two contests. Garbarino is playing his first season on the varsity, however, and has not quite found his bearings.

Shaneman Hits 'Em

The outfield will be composed of the same trio that showed up so well in late contests. Capt. "Duke" Shaneman, after playing behind the bat for two years has been moved to the right field post, and looks good. "Duke" is hitting in much improved fashion over last year. Wes Clausen is perfectly at home in center field, although covering second last year on the yearling nine. His batting punch has been a great help in the past Webfoot victories.

The left field job has recently been given to Mickey Vail. Vail turned out originally for the infield, but a great throwing arm prompted Reinhart to shift him to the outfield. Vail has not commenced to hit the ball in his old time form, but as lead-off man in the batting order he is touching the bags in regular fashion.

Frosh, Rooks To Have Another Try At Baseball Game

Londahl To Take 17 Players to Corvallis; Lisallyn in Lineup

This afternoon another attempt will be made to get the frosh and rooks together in a ball game at Corvallis. Johnny Londahl will take a squad of 17 players to Corvallis with him this afternoon, providing that the weather doesn't interfere.

The frosh team has been greatly strengthened in the last couple of weeks in both the infield and outfield. Eddie Vail has at last found his niche in the infield on third, replacing Red Copp, who has temporarily dropped from the squad. In the outfield, Londahl will again have little Fred Lieuallyn chasing flies. He has been out with a bruised heel, but he is absolutely recovered, and will be back with his big bat.

The team will leave here at 12:30. The game is scheduled for 4 o'clock. Those taking the trip are: Thuneman, Holland, Kolkowski, Whittaker, and Bucknum, pitchers; Butler and Goff, catchers; Stroble, DeLaunay, Gordon, Vail, and Taylor, infielders; and Hanley, Johnson, Lieuallyn, and Nash, outfielders.

Bill Thomas, promising pitcher on the staff of the Indianapolis Indians, conditioned himself for the season by shoveling dirt at $1.50 a day at the Tribe's stadium.

Bruins Ready For 1933 Grid War On Coast

U.C.L.A. Eleven Stronger Than in 1932

Team Which Beat Oregon in Last 10 Seconds Points for Banner Season

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 18.—(Special)—Spring football at U. C. L. A. points to a heavier, stronger, and faster Bruin team for 1933.

It may not attain the success which was won by last year's machine, because there are no "breathers" on the Westwood schedule but Coach Spaulding is certain that it will be harder to defeat or hold back.

Twenty-four returning lettermen supplement the recruits for the vacant varsity berths left open by the graduation of three veterans of the starting lineup during the recent 1932 campaign. Among the candidates for the vacancies are listed several promising freshmen, and many transfers ineligible last fall.

Headed by Captain Lee Coats, prominently mentioned for the All-Coast center berth, at the pivot position the line appears to be stronger than ever before. Flanking Coats in the guard spots are four lettermen, including Fred "Spec" Haslam, two year veteran, Verdi Boyer, Ed Austin, and "Teek" Baldwin. Boyer and Haslam should get the call for the starting whistle.

In the backfield the largest problem is shuffling the many candidates into the most effective combinations, and present indications point to Mike Frankovich, quarter; Chuck Cheshire, left halfback; Ransom "Pants" Livesay, right halfback; with Joe Keeble at fullback. Each of these men will encounter sufficient competition to make them hustle to keep their berths. Spaulding is quite pleased with the progress to date and anticipates fair success, but is inclined to be dubious of equalling his 1932 record due to the strenuous schedule.
