

Wright Chosen Head of Yearly Dad's Program

Annual Event Scheduled October 21

COMMITTEE NAMED

Numerous Activities to Be Slated For Week-End; Students Urged To Invite Parents

Marshall Wright of Honolulu was yesterday appointed chairman for Dad's day by Tom Tongue, president of the Associated Students. The annual event this year is slated for Saturday, October 21, and will be the seventh in the series.

Wright appointed his major committee heads and announced them as follows: Gail McCredie, Portland, banquet; Janet McMicken, Portland, secretary; Marygolde Hardison, Portland, registration; Tom Clapp, Portland, advertising; and Doug Polivka, Portland, publicity. Each committee head will choose students to work on his particular group and will name his choices today.

Dads Enthusiastic

Tongue stated that the Oregon Dads have shown greater enthusiasm and interest in campus affairs this year than in the past. Wright asserted that a large attendance of Oregon Dads is necessary for the success of the annual event on the campus. He urges every Oregon student to invite his or her dad to Eugene for the weekend.

The Oregon-Idaho football game, scheduled Friday night, October 20, will be the first big event on the list of activities for the dads.

Activities Numerous

Conferences, meetings, executive sessions, elections of officers, luncheons, and a banquet will be some of the events of Saturday, October 21. Final plans will be announced later, according to Wright.

All Eugene churches will have special programs and services for the visiting parents Sunday, October 22.

Sigma Delta Chi To Send Delegate

Jack Bellinger, journalism major on the campus last year, will represent the local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, at the national convention of the society in Chicago October 13, 14, and 15. He will make reports concerning the Eugene chapter at the convention, where delegates from all over the country will assemble.

New officers elected yesterday for the coming year were Huber Phillips, vice-president; Paul Ewing, treasurer; and Eugene Stromberg, Quill correspondent.

Success Stories From Drama Students Asked

Because of a lack of complete information concerning ex-students of the drama division who have entered the dramatic field professionally, Mrs. Ottilie T. Seybolt, director of the drama division, will be glad to hear from any and all who can give information about those persons.

Mrs. Seybolt has designated a space for replies on the bulletin board just inside the door marked 105 in Johnson hall.

Regardless of the capacity in which those graduates or one-time students serve, as long as it is in theater work, information concerning them is desired.

Get-Acquainted Tea for Freshman Girls to Be Held at Gerlinger Hall

Dean Schwering and Mrs. Alice Macduff, assistant dean of women, are giving a tea for all freshman women on the campus in the A.W.S. room at Gerlinger hall from 4 to 6 today. This is a get-acquainted tea, and all girls are urged to be present. Campus clothes are in order. Members of Kwama will serve.

Late Payment Charge On Non-Resident Fees If Not Paid October 21

All non-resident students' fees will be due by October 21, and after that date there will be a late payment charge of 25 cents a day.

The second payment on registration fees will be due by October 21.

Varsity O Ball to Have Something New, Says Donin

Printed Guide Containing Names Of "Piggers" Will Be Feminine Aid

Something novel and entirely new and different is being prepared in the way of programs for the big Varsity O ball to be held next Saturday, it was announced today by Leonard Donin, program committee head. Girls are to be given a real break with the printing on one of the pages of a complete Varsity O "piggers" guide. This guide will contain the names of from 60 to 75 lettermen, members of the Order of the O.

Another feature of this different program sheet will be found on the "shingle." Besides performing its regular duties it will present the various coaches of the school and will show in pictures the real inside plan and purpose of the Order of the O.

Both of these ideas are something original and will present something which has never been done here before.

The big billboard placed between Oregon and Commerce halls asking who is to be the all-American girl is arousing considerable comment. When questioned, the Order of the O heads stated that she will be selected from the coeds present at the affair at the Igloo. She is to be presented with a loving cup and some other suitable award.

The selection of the patrons and patronesses for this affair has been from men and women who have shown a constant active interest in Oregon athletics and activities. These guests include the following: Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Callison, Mr. and Mrs. William Rhinehart, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hayward, Lieut. and Mrs. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. G. Shields, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kitzmiller, Mr. and Mrs. Belden Babb, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Schultz, Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Huestis, Mr. and Mrs. V. Earl, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rosson, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Cutler. These names were announced today by Mickey Vail, who is in charge of that committee.

This all-campus informal dance will usher in the fall social season and will start at 9 following the Columbia-Oregon grid tilt Saturday afternoon.

Panels of Art Building Designed by Students

The patio of the art building is going to be decorated in designs of a variety of color and form by the students of the schools of art and architecture.

Each student is given a panel and has the choice in expressing his particular design.

Positions on the Emerald Night Staff are Still Open

All prospects should see Joseph Saslavsky at the Journalism building afternoons after 3 o'clock.

All girls who have A. W. S. office hours must report for them beginning this morning at 8 at McArthur court. For information call Roberta Moody, 486.

Vespers at the Y today. Miss Helen Price, national student secretary, will lead.

Exchange Plans For Scholarship Made by Y Group

New Idea Would Give Students of Hawaii and University Rare Advantage

The University Y.M.C.A. has a plan under way for an exchange scholarship with the University of Hawaii.

Such a plan would include the sending of a University of Oregon junior to the University of Hawaii and the entertainment of a junior from that university on this campus. Each student would return to his own campus for his senior year and graduation. This plan has been discussed by the cabinet of the Y.M.C.A. in its last few meetings.

It is the intention of the student Y.M.C.A. to enlist the support of its advisory board, which meets Wednesday evening, and then the support of the University administration. Part of the funds being raised in the current maintenance campaign will be used to back the plan.

Theater Passes Given Six Emerald Workers

Six Emerald workers won theater passes to the Colonial and the McDonald theaters for outstanding work on the campus daily last week.

Don Olds turned in 10 stories to top all reporters. Roberta Moody, Hilda Gillam, and Newton Stearns each collected eight stories to tie for second place.

Dorothy Dill wrote 16 headlines during the week to take first position among the copyreaders. Elaine Comish finished second, with 11 headlines.

Journalism Graduate Now Editor of Weekly Campus Calendar

Willard D. Arant, who graduated from the University last June as a journalism major, is now editor of the Grants Pass Bulletin, a weekly journal published in that city. He has held that position since July 15.

Arant worked on the Emerald staff three years while in school and was selected as a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary.

Topcoat Left at 'Hello' Dance Still Unclaimed

A.S.U.O. officials are looking with covetous eyes at a new and expensive topcoat which still reposes in their custody as a reminder of the check-room cave-in at the "Hello" dance. The owner would be wise to call and identify the coat immediately. An inadvertent exchange of wraps made at the same dance was remedied yesterday when the "changer" called and was placed in touch with the "changee."

Dinner Given Blantz

In honor of the twenty-first birthday of Roland Blantz, junior in romance languages, a special dinner was given by Sigma hall in the green room of the men's dormitory.

Freshman Class To Meet Tonight For Nominations

The newly entered class of '37 will get its first taste of organization on the campus tonight, when nominations for freshman class officers will be made at a meeting in Villard hall at 7:30.

At a late hour last night, it was reported that at least two tickets had been lined up, with a possibility that one or two other cliques might enter the political lists at the session tonight.

U of O Exchanges With 200 Schools

Exchanges of University of Oregon publications with over 200 universities, colleges, and other institutions in the United States and foreign countries are made regularly by the library, according to Miss Alice Gardiner, periodical clerk.

One hundred and fifty-one members of the exchange list are American colleges and universities in practically every state. Over 50 foreign institutions in almost as many countries also receive Oregon's publications, which include everything printed at the University press.

A large number of institutions are also on the mailing list for publications of the various series on special subjects, such as business administration, education, geology, etc.

In return the Oregon library receives the publications of the other universities, etc., and catalogs them so that they are available for reference work.

Westminster House to Put on Comic Operetta

All parts in the comic operetta to be sponsored by Westminster house will probably be decided by Monday of next week is the announcement of Victor Bryant, who is in charge. At present sopranos, tenors, baritones, chorus members, and people for chorus dancing are needed.

The name of the operetta has not yet been decided, but will be announced early next week. Those wishing to participate should see Victor Bryant at Westminster house between 10 and 11 a. m.

Survey Article Published

Will V. Norris, associate professor of physics, has had the honor of having an article of his published in the October, 1933, issue of the Journal of Chemical Education. His article was a "Survey Course of the Physical Sciences for College Freshmen."

Sophs Make Full Preparations for New School Year

Committee for Informal Dance Is Appointed at Meeting Tuesday Evening

Committee appointments and general preparations for class projects for the ensuing three terms were the principal discussions at the first meeting of the sophomore class last evening.

Ed Labbe was made general chairman for the Soph Informal, the date for which has been set as Saturday evening, November 18.

A vigilante committee to interpret sophomore spirit in various living organizations, to aid in all class functions by urging all-class cooperation, and to help all sophomores in any and every way possible was proposed as a novel feature of class organization. Members on this committee will be Drew Copp, chairman, Virginia Proctor, Peggy Chessman, Virginia Young, Adele Sheehy, Ruth Vignery, Roberta Moody, Ann-Reed Burns, Marvel Twiss, Elma Giles, Dorothy Ann Clark, Jerry Murphy, Stan Smith, decorations and construction; Dean Conway, Bill Blath, cleanup; Eleanor Norblad, patrons and patronesses; Al Nielson, Eiden Haberman, publicity; Virginia Younie, features; and Ed Raudsep, finance.

Seven subchairmen, appointed at last night's meeting, were not present at the first general gathering of the class, and Jerry Denslow, class president, has emphasized that presence at all gatherings and more interest in class assemblies must be shown if those in charge of the dance wish to retain their positions.

Student Christian Council Will Meet

Tonight from 9 to 10 o'clock at Westminster house Dr. E. W. Warrington, professor of religion at the University and Oregon State college, will lead the first of four weekly discussions on "Modern Movements in Religious Thinking." The Student Christian council, of which Eileen Hickson is president, is sponsor of the meetings.

Any student on the campus who is interested is invited to attend. Such modern trends as the Oxford movement will be described and discussed.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon the council talked plans for a fall vesper service, scheduled for October 22. The council is composed of an adult leader and a student leader from each of the principal Eugene churches and representatives from the campus Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

Skull, Dagger No Longer for Return of Lids

Interfraternity Council Refuses Support

SENTIMENT OPPOSED

Reported Opinion of Sophomore Honorary Group Bears Little Weight

Frustrated in their attempt to secure the support of the Interfraternity Council, Skull and Dagger, men's sophomore honorary, at a meeting yesterday afternoon renounced their previous statement that they were 100 per cent in favor of the return of green lids for the class of 1937.

Ed Martindale, president of the Interfraternity council this year, stated yesterday, "The sentiment of the council was so greatly against the return of the green lids for the entering freshmen, that the question, although formally introduced at our last meeting, was not voted upon; it was not considered fit for discussion." The honorary is helpless to act without the sanction of the Interfraternity council.

It was learned from reliable sources that the Skull and Dagger group had formally voiced their opinion in favor of the return of the frosh lids. Cosgrove LaBarre, president of the sophomore honorary, said, however, "The matter was left entirely up to the Interfraternity council to decide. Any way they decide the matter, would have been all right with us." He continued, "We wish to go on record as neither for nor against the measure."

This is the first occurrence of the much debated subject since last fall when Bill Bowerman, then vice-president of the A. S. U. O., had a hand in abolishing the backward tradition. The sentiment then, as now, was greatly against the wearing of green lids for the incoming freshmen classes.

German Diplomat To Speak Here in Villard Assembly

Dr. W. L. Reinhart, Well-Informed On Nazi Situation, to Give Views on Current Affairs

Dr. W. L. Reinhart, German consul in Seattle, will speak on "The Ideas and Principles Governing Present Day Germany" at 8 p. m., October 12, in Villard assembly, it was announced last night by Dean Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration. The public is invited to attend.

The meeting has been arranged under the auspices of the International Relations club, of which Dr. Victor P. Morris, of the economics department, is chairman. This club has arranged in connection with the personnel offices to present various speakers from time to time to give their opinions on situations in their countries. Dr. Reinhart will speak on the poet, Goethe, at a later date.

Dr. F. G. Schmidt, head of German language and literature, is a personal friend of Dr. Reinhart, who was at one time the German consul in Portland. At that time he became acquainted with several of the University faculty.

Dr. Reinhart has been in this country for some time but he has kept himself in close contact with the present situation in Germany, and his views should be interesting to many students on the campus, according to Dean Onthank.

Scobert to Play on YW Vesper Hour Program

The Y.W.C.A. will hold its weekly vesper hour today at 5 o'clock in the Y Bungalow. Marjorie Scobert will play "Etude" by Rogers, and there will be group singing featuring spirituals.

Worship will center around the thought of "Meaning of Wholeness." All students feeling the need of a quiet half-hour of meditation are urged to attend.

Rising Modern Fad Provides Thrill, Mystery, Adventure

By HENRIETTE HORAK

"Is there a young woman, unblighted by civilization, natively sensitive, responsive, freed of inhibitions, complexes et al, and withal highly articulate? She is sought for; object, collaboration, literary character, with working author; experience not necessary." One at a time, girls!

Heeds Protests

Hugh Rosson, graduate manager of the A. S. U. O., who said he would start negotiations to allow the Portland Armistice day rally train to return to Eugene Sunday, November 12, instead of the same Saturday, as originally planned. Many students have protested against the first plan.

Library Conference To Be Held at O.S.C.

To discuss means of protest against the exorbitant prices charged for German periodicals and other publications, a conference of librarians from all over the state will meet next Saturday morning at Oregon State college, under the direction of Miss Lucy M. Lewis, director of libraries for the Oregon state system of higher education.

M. H. Douglass, Oregon's librarian, will attend.

Allied Arts Group Will Hold Dance Thursday

A dance will be given by the Allied Arts league in the lower balcony of the Art building on Thursday from 4 to 6. Music will be furnished by Sherwood Burr and his orchestra. Art students and their friends are invited.

The affair is under the chairmanship of Frank Wilke, and assisted by Miriam Henderson and Ralph Schomp.

Employment Shortage Threatening Students To Drop Out of School

"Several men and women will have to leave school unless they can find work," said Miss Janet Smith, secretary of the University placement agency, who is trying to locate jobs for many applicants.

Any jobs such as window cleaning, lawn mowing, taking care of children, entertaining, or even making sandwiches and serving tea, would help keep these students in school. The employment agency is again located in the Y.M.C.A. hut.

Football Rally Train to Come Back Sunday

Original Plan Changed, Rosson Indicates

S. P. APPROVES IDEA

Graduate Manager to Give Final Confirmation; Dean Earl Expresses Doubt

The Armistice day rally train, scheduled to leave Eugene early Saturday morning on November 11 for the Oregon-Oregon State football game, will probably return to Eugene on Sunday, November 12, instead of Saturday evening, it developed yesterday as students voiced their disapproval of the one-day excursion scheme that was originally planned.

Hugh E. Rosson, graduate manager, in an interview with the Emerald yesterday declared that he would have no objections to delaying the return of the train to Eugene until Sunday if a great majority of the students wished to remain in Portland the night following the game. He said he would get in touch with the Southern Pacific railroad of Eugene immediately to negotiate for the change in schedule.

S. P. Officials Favorable Southern Pacific authorities indicated to the Emerald that those students who did not wish to remain in Portland Saturday night might return to Eugene on any train leaving for Eugene on that evening. Final confirmation on this matter will be made by Rosson.

The change in plans for the train will be taken up through the student body and University officials at the earliest opportunity. Tom Tongue, president of the student body, indicated last night.

Earl Doubtful Expected opposition on the part of University administrative officials failed to develop, although Virgil D. Earl, dean of men, expressed doubt as to the wisdom of permitting large numbers of students to remain in Portland, because of the opportunity which might arise from clashes with Oregon State supporters.

Earl M. Pallett, registrar and executive secretary, has agreed to present the new plan for the rally train to Chancellor W. J. Kerr today. The chancellor was not in the city yesterday.
