

Description of Graduate Work Changes Asked

Faculty Asks Dr. Rebec To Make Statement

MEETING DATE IS SET

Sessions to be first Wednesdays in each month; Press members will be excluded.

The second meeting of the University faculty this month culminated yesterday in a resolution requesting the graduate council, under the head of Dr. George Rebec, to submit at the next faculty session a statement of changes made in the graduate school.

The resolution was in the nature of a demand for the details of changes in the graduate division made during the summer months. The changes involved departures from the original graduate organization as passed by the faculty legislation in March, 1930.

Research Basis Asked

A resolution was also passed recommending that members of the graduate council be chosen on the basis of their experience in research work and in teaching, rather than according to their administrative rank.

Harking back to a recent postponement of a faculty meeting by Dr. Earl M. Pallett, executive secretary of the University, the faculty passed a resolution setting the regular meeting day for the first Wednesday in each month, with the exception of the summer months of July, August, and September. They may be ordered postponed for one week by University officials.

Press Barred

A fourth resolution barred representatives of the press at faculty meetings by providing that attendance be limited to the teaching staff, officers of the faculty, the librarian, the business manager.

Oregon Sends Large Delegation to Seattle

Oregon Webfoots ploughed to victory before a capacity crowd in the University of Washington stadium Saturday, when all but a scattering of seats behind the goal posts were sold out.

Approximately 35,000 spectators witnessed the Washington defeat, one of the largest throngs ever to crowd the Seattle stadium. Portions of four stadium sections, each holding 1,000 people, were occupied by Oregon rooters.

Skull and Dagger Men Scrutinize Freshmen

Skull and Dagger, sophomore honorary of the University, will be estimating the calibre of freshmen during the coming two terms, with a view to choosing the 15 members of the society for 1934-35. Each freshman is a potential candidate, and the selections are made annually at the Frosh Glee during the spring term, by the Skull and Dagger members, according to Cosgrave LaBarre, president of the honorary this year.

This exclusive service organization sponsors dances, luncheons, and entertainments throughout the school year, and endeavors to enforce Oregon traditions and help to create "the Oregon spirit."

Saturday Noon to Be Last Date for Playing Of Second Installment

Students have until noon Saturday in which to pay their second installment for registration. That date is also the deadline for the non-resident student's fee.

Students are asked to pay the money before Saturday in order to avoid the confusion of Dad's day week-end, and also the 25-cent late payment fee which will go into effect Monday.

Nine Cities Take Advantage of New Oregon State Law

Towns Authorized to Accept Bonds in Place of Assessments, Says Provision

Nine cities in Oregon have taken advantage of chapter 13, laws of 1933, which provides that any incorporated city or town may authorize the acceptance of general obligation bonds and interest coupons of that city or town in payment of special assessment liens, interest of penalties and in payment of purchase price of lands for sale by the municipality, it was revealed here today by Herman Kerhli, executive secretary of the League of Oregon cities and director of the University of Oregon bureau of municipal research.

The information was obtained from a questionnaire sent out to all cities in the state at the request of the city of Hillsboro. Reports were received from 58 cities and towns.

Astoria, Burns and Rainier took advantage of the law by charter amendments, while Bend, Eugene, Klamath Falls, La Grande, North Bend, Reedsport and Vernonia passed ordinances. Klamath Falls repealed its ordinance passed for this purpose. Coquille, Hillsboro, St. Helens and Seaside are considering the question at present.

Complete information on the survey has been compiled by the bureau here and sent to all cities. Copies of the survey may be obtained from Mr. Kerhli's office at the University in Eugene.

Bud Johns Presented CMTC Medal at Camp

Bud Johns, sophomore, was awarded the governor's medal, given by Governor Julius L. Meier, at citizens military training camp at Vancouver barracks last summer. This medal is given annually to the most outstanding student attending the camp.

Johns has completed four years of training under the CMTC and now has a commission of second lieutenant in the reserve corps. A year ago he was awarded a similar medal given by the camp to the best third year student.

Benito Artau Working On Electric Research

Benito Artau, graduate in the class of '30 is doing research work in tubes and acoustics with Electrical Musical Industries, Ltd., located at Hayes in Middlesex, England. Mr. Artau was recommended for the position by Bell Telephone company in New York City where he formerly held a position in their research laboratories.

He is a brother of Louis P. Artau, associate professor of music on the campus.

Smoker Plans For Dad's Day In Final Form

Event Is Slated Saturday At 2 P. M.

BROADCAST LISTED

Large Amount of Publicity Given Festival on Oregon Campus By Radio and Letter

Complete plans for the Dad's day smoker to be held Saturday afternoon, October 21, in the men's gym were released last night by Marshall Wright, chairman of the Dad's day executive committee.

Wright said that the smoker was scheduled to get under way at 2 p. m. following luncheon for the dads with their sons and daughters at fraternity and sorority houses. A radio broadcast of coast football games is listed for the smoker.

Al Hakanson has been appointed to take charge of boxing, Tom Mountain, wrestling, and Mickey Vail, tumbling. A 10-minute free-for-all will round out the afternoon's entertainment.

Entertainment Promised

Wright told the Emerald last night that Ed Labbe had been placed in charge of the entertainment between halves of the Oregon-Idaho football game, Friday night, October 20.

Tom Clapp, advertising chairman of the Dad's day committee, reported that Dad's day this year will be given an unprecedented amount of publicity. "Every Oregon Dad in the west will know about the program for this week-end," Clapp said as he outlined the publicity measures which are now being used.

The Associated Oil company advertised Dad's day at the University during their broadcast of the Oregon-Washington football game at Seattle Saturday. The Richfield reporter is scheduled to announce the event prior to news reports on the nightly broadcast of the Richfield Oil company through the Pacific coast hookup of the National Broadcasting company.

Merchants Cooperate

Charles F. Berg, inc., Portland merchant, has agreed to send letters to the fathers of all University girls urging them to attend. The Southern Pacific company has already sent letters to the dads urging them to come to Eugene October 20 and 21 by rail.

Marylogie Hardison, chairman of the registration committee, last night announced the complete committee which will handle the (Continued on Page Three)

Co-op Rental Library Receives New Books

A new shipment of the Modern Library series has been received by the rental library at the Co-op. In this group is a complete volume of Essays of Montaigne, translated by Jean Florio.

According to Miss Roberts, manager of the rental library, several other outstanding books were received, among which were: a novel of the complete works of Jane Austen; "Medici" by C. F. Young, containing 32 reproductions of world famous paintings, and a new book by Robinson Jeffers, "Give Your Heart to the Hawks." There are signed limited editions of the latter and also first trade editions.

Complete poems by Keats and Shelley in one volume were also received, together with Eugene O'Neill's latest play, "Ah Wilderness" which is, according to Miss Roberts, "a modern play with a certain rather humorous twist at the end."

Graduate Council Will Meet Wednesday at 4

A meeting of the graduate council for the University of Oregon will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4 in the graduate office.

The graduate council as appointed by Chancellor Kerr early this fall is as follows: Dr. George Rebec; Dr. C. V. Boyer; Dr. J. H. Gilbert; Dr. J. J. Landsbury; Dr. J. R. Jewell; Dean E. W. Allen; Dr. H. V. Hoyt; Dr. J. F. Bovard.

Under the new organization all graduate work on the O.S.C. campus and at Oregon is compiled under one head, its purpose being to deal with local problems on either campus. Dr. Rebec acts as chairman for both sections, however, at O.S.C. Dr. W. Weniger acts as chairman during the former's absence.

NEW STATE BOARD CHIEFS

Roscoe C. Nelson (left), Portland attorney, and Willard L. Marks of Albany, elected chairman and vice-president, respectively, of the Oregon state board of higher education at a meeting in Portland yesterday. They are the newest members of the board, having been recently appointed to the group by Governor Meier.

Slides of Goethe Shown in Villard By Seattle Consul

Dr. W. L. Reinhart Describes Poet As Preeminent in All Fields Of Literary Activity

"Goethe is more than a poet," said Dr. W. L. Reinhart, German consul in Seattle, last night at Villard hall; "he is represented in every part of literature as a poet, a dramatist, and a novelist. It is difficult to say what his greatest achievement was shown in. His forest poems were real gems of beauty. Perhaps in his novels, he is less outstanding."

Dr. Reinhart limited his lecture to the showing of slides of Frankfort, Germany, the birthplace of Goethe, who was born in 1749. Pictures were shown of author and the people who played a major role in the moulding of his literary career.

The interesting study of Gothic architecture which was at its height at that period was seen in the various slides.

Guild Hall Will Present Play at Oakridge CCC

The last rehearsal of the one-act farce which the Guild hall players will present at Oakridge camp of the C. C. C. this evening, was held last night. Mrs. Ottilie T. Seybolt, head of the University drama division, who is directing the play, was well pleased with the group.

As the one-act play is not sufficient for an one complete program, Mrs. Seybolt is on the lookout for any persons capable of presenting entertaining acts or interludes. Any interested are asked to see her at the drama division office in Johnson hall. Usable talent may be considered for appearance with future drama division programs at the conservation corps camps.

Old Condon Hall Slate Tells Of Opening Geology Lecture

By VIRGINIA SCOVILLE
Above the door of the geography laboratory in Condon hall there hangs a very old slate with a notice scrawled on it in chalky, down hill lines.

"A goodly enrollment of the class in general geology enables us to announce that the opening lecture of the work may be expected on Thursday at 11 o'clock."

T. Condon.

Dr. Thomas Condon was the first geologist in the state of Oregon, the first member of the faculty of the University.

In the days when Lane county farmers were donating coits and loads of hay to help pay for the one building of the new institution, Condon was teaching the first science course labelled "Physical Features of the Earth," listed in the University catalog for 1877 as a sophomore study.

Plans for Jewett Match Announced By John Casteel

Four Speaking Contests Open to Undergraduate Students; Prizes Offered

An announcement of the general plans for this year's W. F. Jewett speaking contests was made yesterday by John L. Casteel, director of speech.

This year the list of Jewett competition will include an entirely new type of contest for the effective reading of poetry. There will also be the usual after-dinner speaking, extemporaneous speaking, and oratorical contests.

These varsity contests are open to all undergraduate students, men and women. First prizes of $15 and second prizes of $10 are awarded to the winners who are selected to represent the University in similar contests of the state forensic association.

The tentative dates set for this year's contest are: after-dinner speaking contest, November 9; the extemporaneous speaking contest, January 29; and the oratorical contest, February 21.

Besides the varsity contests there will be the usual intersectional contests which are held at the end of each term among members of the section in extemporaneous speaking. A first prize of $15, a second prize of $10, and a third prize of $5 are awarded to the winners of these intersectional contests.

The Jewett contests are made possible through a gift of Mrs. Mary Jewett in the name of the late W. F. Jewett.

Shelf of Books Added

A shelf of seven day books on business subjects has recently been added to the business administration library. These books are not assigned in classes, but are used for extra reading.

Oregana Sales Drive Contest Begins Today

Advertising Campaign Is To Be Extensive

PRICE SET AT $4.50

Silver Loving Cup Goes to First Sorority and Fraternity Getting Full Quota

Fifty-four solicitors will sweep down upon the Oregon campus today at 4 o'clock as the annual Oregana subscription drive gets underway. Every student will be contacted within the next four days, and the drive is scheduled to close Saturday noon. Bill McCall and Helen Stinger will be in charge of the campaign and will direct the activities of the representatives in the various living organizations.

The drive will be in the form of a contest, and to the first fraternity house and the first sorority house turning in 100 per cent subscription lists will go a silver loving cup inscribed with the name and accomplishment of the house. These cups will go each year to the fraternity and sorority leading in the annual campaign for year-book sales.

Living Organizations First

Ed Cross, business manager of the Oregana, and in charge of the plans for the drive, announced last night that the salesmen will concentrate for the first few days on the living organizations, the goal being to sign up all members by Thursday. This will leave the final two days of the campaign for the sale to the independents. Last year but 5 per cent of the independents registered in school signed for the books, and efforts will be made this year to contact every student regardless of whether he lives on or off the campus.

The price of the book this year will be $4.50, the same as the 1933 edition. This price will be payable in three installments, 50 cents at the time of signing up, $2 on the winter term fees, and $2 on spring term fees. The entire cost may be paid in a lump sum if so desired.

Salesmen Meet Today

An extensive advertising program is scheduled to begin today. Circulars will be dropped from airplanes, posters will be spread about the campus and city, and slides advertising the sale will be featured at the McDonald and Colonial theaters.

A meeting of all subscription representatives will be held at the Oregana office in McArthur court at 4 o'clock, and from here the solicitors will start the drive.

Representatives in the various living organizations and those contacting unaffiliated students are as follows:

'United We Stand' Chosen as Motto Of Independents

Unaffiliated Women to Organize In Order to Assist Girls In Campus Activities

The University of Oregon unaffiliated women have decided to heed the call of that great sage, Benjamin Franklin, "United we stand."

Definite steps will be taken Thursday evening, at the home of Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, corner 20th and Potter, to organize the group and formulate plans for the year.

It has been felt by various unaffiliated women on the campus that there has been no definite social or other activity niche for the independent girl, or no means whereby the girls could become acquainted with each other. It will be the aim of the organization to fulfill this demand and also to encourage scholastic, social, and greater participation in student body activities.

The proposed organization does not intend to compete with the place of the sorority in the life of a girl, but rather to supply the support and encouragement "a house" gives in adjusting the girl to campus life and her part in campus activities.

All unaffiliated women are urged by Margery Thayer, temporary chairman, to attend the first meeting, Thursday, October 19 at 9 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Schwering.

John Casteel Attends State Forensic Meet

Professor John L. Casteel attended a meeting of the Oregon committee of speech teachers which met at Willamette university in Salem Saturday to start making plans for the convention of the Western Association of Speech Teachers that is scheduled to be held at Portland during the Thanksgiving vacation.

Following this committee meeting Casteel attended the session of the state forensic association which was also held at Salem Saturday.

Neuberger Will Speak For Rotary Luncheon

Richard L. Neuberger, University student and editor of the Emerald last year, will be the speaker for the weekly luncheon of the Eugene Rotary club today at the Osburn hotel.

Neuberger, who traveled in Europe during the summer, has aroused controversy as a result of his anti-Nazi activities.

Wayne L. Morse, dean of the law school, will be in charge of the program.

Place in Class of '35 Saved In 1914 for Miss Henderson

By HENRIETTE HORAK
In 1914, the year the war began, a certain baby was born in Hood River. Nothing strange about that, nor did the war have anything to do with it, but the fact was of much importance to the University of Oregon.

Immediately upon the arrival of Baby Miriam Henderson, her parents, both graduates of the University, sent a wire to the registrar, "Reserve a place in class of '35 for daughter Miriam." The daughter entered the university in 1931 and is now a junior, majoring in art, and is one of the five girls chosen at the Varsity ball, for the All-American girl contest, conducted in conjunction with the University magazine.

Miss Henderson is tall, five feet six to be exact, wears her dark, wavy hair in a long bob, through which she occasionally runs her long slender fingers, a traditional characteristic of an artist.

Roscoe Nelson Named Leader Of State Board

Willard Marks Is Elected Vice-President

VOTES UNANIMOUS

Plans for New University Library Are Brought Before Group; Cost Estimated

Bulletin

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 16.—(Special)—Last-minute reports from the meeting of the state board of higher education held here today reveal that the 1933-34 budget allotment for the University of Oregon journalism school was increased in the amount of $500.

The board also decided that the new proposed library which is to be built on the University campus as a federal aid project will serve as a storage library for both the University and Oregon State college.

Roscoe C. Nelson, Portland attorney, was elected president of the Oregon state board of higher education at a meeting in Portland yesterday. Willard L. Marks of Albany, was named vice-president. Both were recently appointed to the board by Governor Julius L. Meier to replace C. L. Starr and C. C. Colt, respectively.

Nelson assumed the chair immediately after he was elected. He told his colleagues that he accepted his post with no preconceptions and with two positive convictions. The first is that the board must fulfill impartially its duties in supervising higher education in the state. The second is that the board should demand loyalty of the chancellor as he demands it of the board since he is the chief executive of the group.

Library Plans Pushed

Plans for a new University library were pushed forward when the building committee of the board was told to continue negotiations for obtaining federal aid for the construction of the project.

The committee reported that the cost of the building was estimated at $350,000, of which $297,000 could be covered by government.

Hall Named Treasurer Of State Debate Group

William O. Hall, prominent member of the University of Oregon debate squad, was appointed treasurer of the Oregon state forensic association for the coming year at a meeting of that group held Saturday at Willamette university at Salem.

The forensic leaders met to decide problems relating to the several oratorical and extemporaneous speaking contests planned for this year.

The association decided on "American Optimism" as the subject for this year's after-dinner speaking contest.

Delegates to the meeting included: Dr. Earl Wells, Oregon State college; Carlyn Winger, Pacific university; Herbert E. Hahe, Willamette university; Professor Conover, Pacific college, and W. A. Dahlberg and John L. Casteel of the University of Oregon.

Place in Class of '35 Saved In 1914 for Miss Henderson

When interviewed she wore one of those fuzzy soft things, called sweaters, a smart sport skirt, and heavy brogues. The effect was charming, and Miss Henderson reminded one of tall, beautiful ladies living within the pages of Vogue.

Miss Henderson is a believer in the "well rounded education." Although she is majoring in art, she is taking work in English, French, and psychology departments. Her grade average is high, in spite of the fact that she is carrying 18 hours, is house manager of Gamma Phi Beta, reads the classics, and takes part in various activities.

"I spend very little time at the College Side," she said when questioned; "not because I think it is 'low brow' but because I have little time, and my work takes me to other parts of the campus."
