

Administration Refers Action In Hour Dispute

State Labor Head Gets Call for Advice

COMMENT REFUSED

"Far-reaching Problem," States University, in Announcing Course of Action

The University administration yesterday took its first step in the modification of the 9 1/2-hour labor schedule imposed upon members of the janitorial staff at the beginning of this year.

The action taken was to refer the question to C. H. Gram, state commissioner of labor. The only comment obtainable from administrative officers was a prepared "statement for the press" handed out to an Emerald reporter yesterday afternoon: "The entire matter of janitorial service at the University, due to the fact that it is a far-reaching problem affecting not only the University of Oregon but all state institutions, public schools and municipalities, has been referred to the state labor commissioner for advice."

No Comment by University

Aside from this, the administration preserved the same close-mouthed policy which it has maintained ever since the Emerald in an editorial last Wednesday called attention to the fact that the janitors have been working from 6 in the morning until 6 at night, with a 2 1/2-hour "lunch" period from 11 a. m. to 1:30, in apparent violation of the 8-hour maximum law for state employees.

D. L. Lewis, superintendent of grounds and buildings, when asked if he or the administration planned to call a meeting of the janitors to arbitrate the dispute, declined to comment. Such a conference between administration and janitors was suggested yesterday by a member of the janitorial force.

Campus Indignant

On the campus the situation remained very much as on the day before, although a steadily rising tide of indignation swelled as details of the case and of the janitors' outspoken plea for fairer hours became more widely known.

The question was raised Wednesday when the Emerald editorially demanded an investigation into the working hours of the janitors, which, it was pointed out, were in violation of Section 49-704, Oregon code 1930, as amended by Chapter 330, Oregon laws 1931. This law declares that no state employee shall be required or permitted to labor more than eight hours in any one day or 48 hours in any one week.

No Change Announced

The administration's only reply, up until it referred the matter to the state labor commissioner yesterday afternoon, was a statement by Earl M. Pallett, executive secretary, announcing that for the last 20 years members of the janitorial service had been working 10 hours a day.

Apparently no attempt was being made by the administration yesterday to rearrange the working hours of the janitors to a more humane schedule, and it was assumed that the janitors will continue to work from 6 a. m. until 6 p. m., less the 2 1/2-hour lunch period, until the matter is reviewed and acted upon by the state labor commissioner.

French Study Course Organized by Alumna

Word was received Friday by the extension division of a group study course in French which was organized in Bend by Mrs. Clara Simerville. Mrs. Simerville is known on the campus as Clara Jasper. Miss Mozelle Hair, director of the extension division remarked that here was one graduate who remembered her school in a profitable manner.

The discussion group will meet Tuesday afternoons from 1:30 to 2:30. The class is organized under the regular group study plan of correspondence work which is a new feature in the extension division this year.

Stafford Attending Meeting
Professor O. F. Stafford of the University chemistry department left for Tacoma, Washington, where he will attend the meeting of the technical association of the pulp and paper industry.

Physics Class Makes Experiments With Ice

An interesting demonstration performed yesterday in Dr. Will Norris' physics classes was that of cutting in two a block of ice that was still in one piece when the cutting was over.

As the heavy wire which did the cutting was forced through the ice, the pressure caused the ice directly beneath to melt, but as the remainder of the block stayed at a freezing temperature the ice above the wire immediately froze together again. Although this demonstration has been given before at the University, this was the first time it had been done recently.

Oregana Drive to End This Afternoon at 5:00

Students who wish to purchase copies of the Oregana and give their living organizations credit in the annual competition, must do so before 5 this afternoon, Ed Cross, manager, stated last night.

House representatives must have receipt books checked in at the Oregana office by 5:30, he said. Results of the drive will be computed by the end of next week. Houses receiving award cups will be presented with these this afternoon.

Subscription to the yearbook will be taken at the Co-op and at the A. S. U. O. offices until next Wednesday, the dead-line, Cross announced.

Hermian Club Officer Tells of Student Camp

Miss Ruth Bloomer, presiding at the Hermian club seminar held Thursday night at 9 p. m. in the social room of Gerlinger hall, stressed the close relationship which exists between students and faculty and brought about through the New York Graduate camp held at Sloatsberg, New York.

This camp is an essential part of the university and dancing classes, and is attended by students who are teachers in universities from every state of the Union.

Miss Bloomer attended the camp this summer and was a student under Miss Martha Hill, former teacher here at the University of Oregon.

Dark-Eyed All-American Girl Candidate Is From Missouri

By HENRIETTE HORAK

When Betty Graham, charming candidate for the all-American girl says she is from Missouri, she is not fooling, fellow students of the higher education system; she really was born there, a few years before the National Recovery Act and Repeal.

Like all wise people, however, she moved from Missouri to California in time to retain her self-respect, and this year she has come to Oregon to see for herself whether all this "Oregon, God's chosen country" advertising is really so and so on.

Miss Graham was chosen at the Varsity ball as one of the five girls for the all-American girl contest, sponsored by the Order of the O in conjunction with the University magazine.

She is a freshman, majoring in art. She presented a charming picture when interviewed at the Delta Gamma "den" yesterday. She was "all curled up" in a very deep comfortable chair, which was so deep that it held her five feet, four and a half inches, and there was lots of room to spare. She wore one of those smart new plaids, in yellow and brown, and the accentuated shoulders added to its style and smartness.

Einzig Milk Interests As to Contract

Price Cut Demand Faces Salem Conference

IMPORTS UNLAWFUL

University Ultimatum Threatening Use of Portland Product Met by Ordinance

Yesterday brought two developments in the milk controversy between the University and Eugene distributors. The first was that representatives of distributors will confer with the state purchasing agent next Wednesday. The second was that the University might not be able legally to ship milk in from Portland for use in the dormitory in case the demand for a price reduction is not met.

Representatives of the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce, on which the milk distributors and producers are represented, will see William Einzig, state purchasing agent, in an effort to reach an understanding as to the contract entered into early in September setting the price for delivery of milk to the dormitories. The contract was signed by Mrs. Genevieve Turnpseed, director of dormitories, and now, in her absence from the campus, an effort is being made to break it, the Emerald was told.

Out-of-City Milk Illegal
Wednesday J. O. Lindstrom, business manager of the University, delivered to the distributors an ultimatum from the purchasing agent's department that if the price was not lowered within 24 hours, milk would be shipped in from Portland. Yesterday it was pointed out that the Eugene milk ordinance provides that to be sold in the city, pasteurized milk must have been processed in plants within the city. It was held that this provision might take the teeth out of the ultimatum.

A further development was a statement issued to the press by Lindstrom. It follows:

"Previous to September 11, 1933, the University paid 26 1-2 cents per gallon for milk. On September 11, 1933, the price was raised to 32 cents (although the fraternities and sororities are charged only 28 cents per gallon) with the understanding that a rebate would be made if final price determined was less than 32 cents per gallon. Over a month has passed and no further information in regard to a definite price is available. All purchases must be approved by the state purchasing department, and they consider the 32-cent price too high because it is 5 to 7 cents per gallon higher than other state institutions pay. How long the University will be required to pay the 32-cent price is a question. The

Active Workers For Anti-Military Group Appointed

Campbell Names Sub-Committees To Further Investigate Basic Courses

The University of Oregon student committee against compulsory military training enlarged the scope of its organization yesterday through Wallace Campbell, chairman, by the appointment of sub-committees which are to further investigate the group's case. The organization aims to make the basic military course optional, rather than compulsory.

The committee appointed to investigate the legal status of compulsory ROTC courses includes John Caswell, Verne Adams, and Elizabeth Bentley.

The committee to contact the campus military officials is headed by Elizabeth Allen; assisting her will be John Caswell and Lester Van Lydegraf.

Members of the enrollment investigation committee are: Verne Adams, Elizabeth Scruggs, and Richard Boling.

A committee has also been appointed to draw up a questionnaire that will be distributed on the campus to find student opinion on the subject. The members are: Richard Boling, Violet Adams, and Laura Goldsmith.

The correspondence committee includes Gottfried Hesse, Elizabeth Bentley, and Eda Hult; and the educational committee, John Caswell, Helen Binford, and Henriette Horak.

In spite of the American peace and war abolition movements, says the student group, there are in the United States today 106 civil education institutions, predominantly state universities and agricultural colleges, where compulsory military training is a requirement; and 68,610 American students this year are required to take war department military training, they state.

Many Activities Prepared for Visiting Dads

Johnson to Be Scene of Meeting, Election

DINNER SCHEDULED

Banquet to Have Noted Speakers; Smoker in Men's Gym Feature Event

The seventh annual Dad's day will officially swing into action today with the breakfast of the Oregon Dad's executive committee in the regents room of the John Straub Memorial building.

Registration will continue today from 9 a. m. until noon and from 1 p. m. to 4. Only those dads who are registered by 4 this afternoon will be credited to living organizations for purposes of attendance cup competition. These prizes will be awarded tonight at the dad's banquet in the John Straub Memorial building.

Election Scaled
New officers for the coming year will be elected at a mass meeting of all dads in the Guild theater of Johnson hall at 10 a. m. At noon, the campus visitors will lunch at the respective living organizations of their sons and daughters.

The feature of the Dad's day program is slated this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the men's gym, where dads will be entertained at a smoker. Rough-and-tumble exhibitions of boxing, wrestling, free-for-all, and tie-ups will make up the event.

Banquet Tonight

The annual Dad's day banquet will take place tonight at 6 in the John Straub Memorial dining room. W. Lair Thompson, president of the father's group, will preside as toastmaster. Dean Wayne L. Morse of the University law school, will deliver the principal address. The Rev. Milton S. Weber, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Eugene, will deliver the invocation.

Mrs. Walter M. Pierce will speak in behalf of the Oregon state board of higher education. Oregon Mothers will be represented by Mrs. A. M. Dibble, and the alumni by Robert K. Allen. Thomas T. Tongue, president of the Associated Students, will represent the Oregon students. New officers of the Oregon Dad's association will be introduced at the dinner.

Entertainment Planned

Special church services in honor of Dad's day have been arranged for 11 a. m. tomorrow. Campus living organizations are planning special dinners at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow. The concluding event of the Dad's day program is scheduled for 3 p. m., when the University band, under John Stehn, will offer a concert in the auditorium of the music building. This program was originally arranged

Ducks Take Second Conference Victory By Downing Idaho

Oregon Eleven Defeats Idaho by Score Of 19 to 0; Temple, Mikulak, Bobbitt Score Touchdowns

A confident Oregon football team kept in its winning stride last night with a 19-to-0 victory over Leo Calland's University of Idaho eleven. The Webfoots scored in the first, second, and fourth quarters to turn back the scrappy, but outclassed, Vandals.

The Moscow eleven was kept on the defensive the entire game and at no time was within striking distance of the Duck goal line. A wide spread formation, with the two ends on the opposite side lines, and a continual aerial attack failed to work the northerners into a scoring position at any time during the game.

An offside penalty on Idaho put the Webfoots in position for their first touchdown early in the initial quarter. With the ball on the Vandals' 25-yard stripe, Gee cut through to the 3-yard line before being downed. On the next play Mark Temple scored off tackle. The try for point was made.

University Band To Give Concert In Honor of Dads

Playing to Begin at Three o'Clock Tomorrow in Auditorium of Music Building

Climaxing the week-end's entertainments in honor of the Oregon Dads, the first division of the University band under the direction of John Stehn will present its first concert of the year tomorrow afternoon in the auditorium of the music building.

The concert will begin at 3 o'clock, not at 5 as it was previously announced in the Dad's day program.

In order to make it possible for the students to show their fathers a royal week-end to the last feature, Director John Stehn has chosen pieces which the Dads will enjoy. The program is made up of popular classics. The program follows:

Pasadena Day March, Vessella. Bridal Rose overture, Lavallee. Sections from Mademoiselle Modiste, Victor Herbert.

Adoration, Borowski. Ballets Egyptian, Luigini. Since this is the first A.S.U.O. concert, a special invitation is extended to the dads, students, and townspeople. Admission is free.

More Voices Needed For Operetta Chorus

More men are needed for the chorus of "The Sudsy Prima Donna," a comic operetta to be presented late in fall term by Westminster association under the direction of Victor Bryant, senior in music. A few more feminine voices could be used also for work in the chorus.

Jack Spittle and Frances Barnett have been selected for the leads in the two-act operetta.

Fathers Gather From Near And Far; Old Friends Meet

By ELINOR HENRY

Astoria, Portland, Pendleton, Klamath Falls, Hillsboro, Eugene, Crescent City, Grants Pass, Canby. No, this isn't a geography. It's just a list of the places from which early registered Oregon Dads came to visit their sons and daughters at the University of Oregon.

"It's just like a second Homecoming," remarked Merle Chessman, editor of the Astorian-Budget and father of Peggy Chessman. He had just met, for the first time in years, a classmate of '09, D. L. Lewis, superintendent of buildings and grounds at the University and doubly an Oregon Dad, as he has a son, Donald, and a daughter, Jean, in school. Last year, Chessman said, seven or eight sorority sisters of Peggy had fathers who graduated in his class.

With Chessman, who is a member of the executive council of the Oregon Dads, came John T. Allen, father of John T. Allen Jr., and John E. Wicks, Ebba Wicks' father. This year will make Wicks' eighth year as an Oregon Dad, Ebba being the third daughter who has attended the University.

Another automobile load from Astoria included Ex-governor A. W. Norblad, Eleanor Norblad's dad; G. A. Hellberg, father of Fred Hellberg; Kaarle Koskela, father of Elmer Koskela; and Axel Backlund, Howard Backlund's father. A dad down for the first time is D. H. Miller, whose son is Robert S. Miller. A. J. Thompson, Jeanette Thompson's father, also came from Astoria.

J. J. Bauer and R. M. Crommelin drove from Pendleton to Eugene for Dad's day. Rather than be separated by the width of Hayward field from his son, Malcolm, Emerald sports editor, Bauer obtained a seat in the press box. Crommelin is Elizabeth Crommelin's father. Thomas H. Tongue, father of the father of the associated students. Grants Pass was represented by K. M. C. Neill, father of M. E. Neill, I. R. Vinyard, Gwendolyn Vinyard's dad, came from Canby.

From Klamath Falls came G. W. Ford, who has been with Glen Heber for four Dad's days and the dad of Kenneth Thomas, Charles Thomas. From over the border to the south came John R. Breen of Crescent City, California, to be with his daughter, Kathleen.

Portland, of course, had the largest number of Oregon Dads registered—and one Oregon Mother, Mrs. A. R. Bohoskey. M. R. Cory is mixing the pleasure of at Mark Temple and "Iron Mike" Mikulak led the way for the winners. Temple played a sparkling game in the first half with one eye concealed by a bandage. Lohg gains by Temple and his running mate, Leighton Gee, put the ball in position for the first two Oregon touchdowns. Mikulak was at his best on the defense. Parke showed class in the ball carrying department.

Bernie Hughes played 55 minutes of first class ball at the center position, as did Gardner Frye at tackle, and Butch Morse at end. Morse and Frye were the big factors in the fast charging Webfoot line which broke through on every play to hurry the visitors' passes and kicks.

Passing Spotty
Idaho made but one first down from scrimmage, that coming in the third quarter. They scored two first downs from passes. Oregon amassed a total of 16 first downs from scrimmage.

The passing of both teams was weak. McCue was forced to hurry his throws because of the lightness of the Idaho line, while Temple and Van Vliet could never find their receiver.

The lineups:
Oregon
Morse LE Fowles
Eagle LT Klumb
Cuppoletti LG Nutting
Hughes C Swann
Clark RG Berg
Frye RT McCue
Pozzo RE Garst
Parke Q W. Smith
Temple LH Jacoby
Gee RH Norby
Mikulak F Cordon
Idaho
Officials: referee, Jack Friel, Pullman; umpire, Wade Williams, Portland; head linesman, Ralph Coleman, Corvallis; field judge, Eldon Jenne, Portland.
