Ducks Angry Bunch; Mikulak-Keeble Fray Warms as Tilt Nears

THEY'RE off! Twenty-eight Oregon Webfoots, their coach, two trainers, and a manager. And, believe me, they're all mad... all thirty-two of them. Not just mad, but burning up. And by the time they arrive in Los Angeles Friday morning some may catch fire.

What can get Mike Mikulak thirty-two peace loving Oregonians in such a frenzy? That's easy. Last year in Portland these same Webfoots were steam-rolling their way to a certain victory over U. C. L. A. With but seconds to go, the game was sewed up to at 7 to 6. Then a cocky little quarterback bearing the name of Frankovich dropped back to his own goal line, lobbed a pass to "Pants" Livesay, the Bruins' streaky, little end, and the ball game was over. Final score, U. C. L. A. 12, Oregon 7.

But even an upset like that couldn't get the Webfoots as hot as they are now. The thing which really gets under the skin of Prink Callison and his eleven Lemon-Yellow pigskinners is the steady stream of Bruin insults which have been drifting from the South for the past month. It all narrows down to the fact that Bill Spaulding and his crowd actually think they are going to mop the gridiron up with the Webfoots, and they are making no bones about it.

Probably the hottest collar on the Duck squad is worn by "Iron Mike" Mikulak, Oregon's all-American, who is headed south to make a certain gentleman "eat" some of the words that have been credited to the said gentleman in the last few days. I refer to Joe Keeble, crashing fullback of the U. C. L. A. outfit. "Jolting Joe" has taken no pains to conceal his contempt of the Mighty Mike, and from all reports is merely waiting a chance to show his own supremacy over the Oregon ace.

Imagine Mike's surprise several weeks ago, when Keeble, in an interview over the air, intimated that "Mikulak is easy." Big Mike turned on the volume, afraid that his hearing had deceived him, and then came the insult of insults. Said the modest Joe, "Iron Mike, hah, he couldn't break a pane of glass."

That was too much. Mike didn't break any glass, but he did break the radio, and now he is tearing into the south to "break" Mr. Keeble.

"Can't break a pane of glass, eh?" shouts Mike. "I'll show that guy. And don't be afraid of me meeting up with him. He's dumb like I am, and thinks he can knock anything over. Just wait for the splash."

And, incidentally, that's just about the way every man on that traveling squad feels about Saturday's game. "Just wait for the splash." The Webfoots say they'll beat the Bruins. What do you say?

Notable Books of 1932 Purchased by Library

Thirty-seven of the forty books listed by the American Library association as the notable books of 1932 are to be found in the University library, according to Miss Bernice Rise, circulation librarian. These books were not purchased from the list, but were obtained as they were published last year, Miss Rise said.

Ducks Leave For Bruin Tilt This Morning

Keeble and Mikulak Set For Individual Duel

Reinhart Picks Oregon to Win From Spaulding's Outfit

Cheered on by some 500 Webfoot supporters "Prink" Callison and 28 members of the league leading University of Oregon football team en-trained at 1:30 this morning for Los Angeles where they will meet the powerful University of California at Los Angeles eleven at the coliseum this Saturday.

The Ducks are out to avenge last year's eleventh hour defeat and also keep their conference record unmarred.

"Jolting Joe" Keeble, who is now playing his third year as fullback for Bill Spaulding, is the leading threat of the Bruins. This dynamic line plunger reminds one of Oregon's mighty Mike Mikulak and when these two boys meet for the last time on the gridiron the fans should see a great dual for individual honors. Both are prominently mentioned as men of all-American caliber.

Cheshire Is Star
 The latest threat of the U. C. L. A. backfield is a mite of a sophomore answering to the name of Chuck Cheshire. Cheshire is a light but elusive half back who was the star of last year's frosh eleven. Last week in the Loyola tilt this dashing sophomore was almost unstoppable.

The boys from Westwood will find the heavy Webfoot line a tough one to pierce. To date there has been but one team in five that have been able to cross the Oregon goal line and that was the "Fighting Irish" from Columbia who pulled a surprise on the Ducks.

All the linemen are in great shape with the exception of "Biff" Nilsson, who will not be ready for action until the O. S. C. game and Roy Gagnon, reserve guard. Roy injured his shoulder in scrimmage Monday night and it has responded none too well to treatment and it is expected that the Minnesota youth will watch the engagement from the sidelines.

Temple in Shape
 Co-captain Mark Temple's cut above the eye received in the Washington tussle has completely healed and Temple is ready to go the full 60 minutes, if necessary. The rest of the Oregon starting backfield, Parke, Gee and Mikulak, are in tip-top shape and should be at their peak for the game.

"Commodore" Bill Reinhart, who has scouted the Bruins twice this year stated that he believed that if the Webfoots played the kind of football they are capable of they should win by a touchdown and perhaps two, but if the Ducks are off form, he warned, the Bruins will come out on the long end of the score.

Ducks Get Workout
 Last night Callison ran his cohorts through a signal drill and polished up on the Oregon pass defense and offense, stressing the latter.

Ends: Pozzo, Wishard, Morse Simpson and Jones.
 Tackles: Eagle, Frye, D. Nielson and Bishop.
 Guards: Clark, Gagnon, McCredie and Cuppoletti.
 Centers: Hughes, Fury and Swanson.
 Quarterbacks: Gee, Temple, Milligan, Van Vliet, Michek and Pelpinjak.
 Fullbacks: Bobbitt, Rushlow and Mikulak.

Bill Hayward, veteran trainer of the squad, Jim Ferguson, student manager and Bob Officer, assistant trainer, accompanied the squad.

Diamonds Are Trumps

Diamonds take the tricks when this boy is hitting his stride on the gridiron. He is "Diamond Joe" Paglia, Santa Clara's great line-smashing and kicking fullback. The Ducks steer clear of "Diamond Joe" this year, the Broncos not being included on their schedule.

Fijis Earn Right To Meet Betas in Waterpolo Finale

Two Overtime Period Necessary To Determine Winner; Gummess Stars

Today's Water-polo Finals
 4:00 Phi Gamma Delta vs. Beta Theta Pi.

Phi Gamma Delta won the right to meet Beta Theta Pi in the finals of the donut waterpolo tournament with a 5 to 4 victory over Sigma Phi Epsilon yesterday afternoon.

Two overtime periods were necessary to determine a winner. The score stood 0 to 0 at the half, but in the last period both teams scored two goals.

Following a short rest period the S.P.E.'s connected with a tally early in the overtime and shortly before the end of the period Gummess sank one for the Fijis to knot the count at 3 all.

In the second overtime, Gummess collected two more counters which proved to be the margin of victory for the hill boys.

Basketball Gets Under Way With Workout in Igloo

Basketball activities for the 1934 season got under way at the igloo last night when Bill Reinhart called out candidates for the Webfoot varsity. Five lettermen responded to the initial call.

Captain-elect Gib Olinger, Jack Robertson, Bob Miller, Bill Berg, and Jim Watts are the returning letter winners. Ed Kunkle, Roland Rourke, Ralph Terjeson and La-Grande Houghton are hold-over reserves. Two transfers from Ashland normal school, Willie and Budd Jones, are expected to bolster the Webfoots, while two ex-freshman stars, Glen Sanford, and Stew Milligan, are also counted on as possible regulars.

Professor A. L. Lomax Chosen as Councillor

A. L. Lomax, professor of business administration, has recently been appointed to represent the Eugene chamber of commerce in the chamber of commerce of the United States as a national councillor.

The purpose of the national councillor is to act as a connecting link between the national chamber and the local organization in all matters pertaining to the best interests of both. It is also his duty to be the chairman of the delegation of the local chamber to the annual and special meetings of the national body.

Lomax has been a member of the Eugene chamber but a short time and was elected a director in September.

Norblad Enters Firm

Albin W. Norblad jr., graduate of the University in 1931 and Oregon law school graduate in 1932, has entered the practice of law with his father, A. W. Norblad, ex-governor of Oregon and prominent Astoria attorney, the firm to be known as Norblad and Norblad.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Pi Tau Register Wins in Other Scheduled Tilts

Today's "A" Basketball Schedule

4:00 Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Sigma Alpha Mu.
 4:40 Sigma Hall vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon.
 5:20 Alpha Tau Omega vs. Phi Gamma Delta.

Led by Otto Faust, fast breaking and hard checking guard, the Sigma Chi hoop artists trounced Theta Chi 27 to 7 in the first game on yesterday's donut slate. Faust collected nine points for the Sigma Chis.

In the other two events, Sigma Pi Tau decisively defeated Omega hall 38-5, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon nosed out Kappa Sigma 13 to 6 in the hardest fought game of the present season.

The S. P. T.-Omega hall game proved to be the highest scoring affair of the present donut slate. Ballard, S.P.T. forward, scored 15 points to take a commanding lead in the individual scoring race.

The Kappa Sig-S.A.E. encounter was a ragged affair with neither team playing first class basketball. Freddy Lieualen, S.A.E. forward played a sparkling game

DONUT DOPE

By TED BLANK and RANDOLPH POOLEY

WITH all due modesty we, the crystal gazers of the donut race, predict that the Betas would walk off with another aquatic intramural championship. The Fijis reached the final bracket with a su-preme effort and in our humble opinion they will meet their Waterloo when they tangle with the mill-race gang today. With this final meet the 1933 water-polo tournament will be past history—we hope Wally Hug will not be down-hearted because of the fact that his whistle blowing days are over—he enjoyed it so much.

And now basketball in a very uninteresting debut takes the limelight. So far all games have been won by lopsided scores—coaches get busy. A fine brand of football was displayed in the first day's games on the maple court. By the looks of things Callison can get some good bone-crushing material from these so-called basketball players.—Ask Mickey Vail.

Ballard of Sigma Phi Tau leads the league in scoring with 15 points to his credit. His closest rival was Faust of Sigma Chi who has nine points to his slate.

both defensively and from the offensive angle. Ted Giesecke, guard on last year's varsity football eleven, displayed some of his football tactics, especially in his effective blocking, but his efforts were not rewarded with a Kappa Sig victory.

Yearling Grid Squad Ready For SONSTilt

Few Injuries Reported On Frosh Team

Konopka May Get Into Lineup For First Time; Owen Has Bad Shoulder

More injuries were reported last night by Frosh Coaches Irv Schulz and Billy Reinhart but the report did not take on quite the aspects of a wholesale slaughter as did the pre-race game announcements. Owen, quarterback, is having considerable trouble with injured shoulders and may be replaced by Penn.

Hamaker, promising reserve halfback, has injured his ankle. Hamaker may miss a chance to play before the home folks of Klamath Falls against the Sons Saturday as a result of this injury. Konopka, who has been out with an injured foot, has returned to practice and will probably make the trip, although his appearance in the lineup is uncertain. Jacobs may be chosen instead of Konopka to relieve Bishop at fullback.

With Murray shifted to tackle there are three outstanding men for end, tackle and guard positions and two for center. Cross, Wilson and Adams remain the top-notch ends. Bjork and Fury are the two other tackles. Estes, Hardesty and Burchard stand out among the guards and Farrar and Barry are the leading center candidates.
