

'Sacajawea' Is Subject for Essay Contest

Awards to Be Given by Historical Group

Books About Indian 'Bird Woman' Can Be Obtained at State Library at Salem

The Oregon Historical society has selected "Sacajawea," the Indian "bird woman" who accompanied Lewis and Clark in 1804-6, as the subject for the 1934 C. C. Beekman history prizes and medals. The four prizes offered are: first, $60; second, $50; third, $40; and fourth, $30. They will be awarded for the best four original essays on the above named subject written and submitted by girls or boys over 15 years of age and under 18, attending any educational institution within the state of Oregon. Each of the four prize winners will also receive a handsome bronze medal.

The conditions governing the competition are as follows: (1) The essay submitted must not exceed 2,000 words in length. (2) The essay may be in handwriting or in typewritten form, preferably upon paper of commercial letter size, either ruled or unruled, the several sheets being numbered consecutively and written on one side only, with blank space of about one and one-quarter inches at top and left-hand margin.

(3) The essay shall be accompanied by a separate sheet containing the name and post office address of the writer, the date of his or her birth, and the name of the school attended. (4) There shall also be delivered with the essay a certificate signed by a teacher or instructor of the educational institution attended, stating that the writer of the essay is a pupil or student attending the same.

(5) In order to be considered in competition the essay must be delivered, by mail or in person, to the Oregon Historical society, Room C, Public Auditorium, 235 S. W. Market street, Portland, Oregon, not later than Saturday, March 17, 1934.

(6) All essays submitted in competition will be numbered and submitted, without the names of the writers or other identifying marks, to three judges selected by a committee composed of B. B. Beekman, Leslie M. Scott, and George H. Himes.

(7) All competitive essays will be judged according to their general merit and excellence; but the judges will also take into consideration, in passing thereon, neatness of manuscript, accurate orthography, correct grammar and composition, and purity and clarity of diction.

Books upon the subject can be had at the Oregon state library in Salem or at most other libraries.

FRATERNITY MEN DIG FURTHER FOR 'GRUB'

Students at this University do not shy from such work as doing their own laundry, the survey showed. The average laundry charge was but 32 cents per month per person for the men and 62 cents for women. One co-ed when questioned on this declared girls in her house did all their own laundry, except for cleaning garments that could not be done except by experts. Miscellaneous expenses mount higher for women, who spend an average of $10.21 per month for this item, compared to men who spend an average of $8.56.

Some interesting figures were revealed in the study of the three men's houses averaging the lowest of the group surveyed. The average cost per meal per person was but 16 cents, rent figured at $4.63 per person, miscellaneous only $5.60, and the monthly total per person was $17.51.

These figures do not take into account fraternity dues, nor charges levied for social affairs.

Good College Stuff

"COLLEGE HUMOR," which is the attraction at the Colonial, is a fanciful, rhythmical musical comedy with enough story thrown in to hold the piece together.

Elements in the story are the love between Bing as the college professor, and Mary Carlisle as a co-ed; the romance between Jack Oakie and Mary Kornman; and Dick Arlen's hankering after Mary Carlisle.

Jack Oakie, with the sense of a true showman, makes the most of every dramatic possibility as he always does. Crosby demonstrates that sensible restraint, yet deep sincerity which is rapidly making him one of the box-office favorites of the movies.

Thankfully, this show does not depict the morbid or drunken side of college life, but reveals it in its true proportions. The customary football thrills of a college picture are in this also. Coach Jones of U.S.C. plays the coach in the picture. Very good entertainment.

Homecoming Fare
"College Coach" represents the big football mentor who brings in the crowds and saves the financial structure of the good old university. He works them to death. He hires them and makes arrangements for them to pass their exams.

He's a smart guy, saving all his money against the day on which he might retire with a big wad of dough and move into the country with the little wife.

"He," in this case being Pat O'Brien, and the little wife being Ann Dvorak, reappearing after a trip to Europe with her new husband, Leslie Fenton.

The plot is not new. The big football game is used for a climax. And I can't believe that Dick Powell is football material, nor that he could lick Lyle Talbot, as he does in this piece. Just fair.

"Hell and High Water" has nothing to do with its title. There is the battered wharf background, the tug owned by the hero, and the crash between the tug and a liner. Also fair.

There's a Popeye comic though.

Religious School Has 129 Enrolled; Meets Next Week

Four From University Register; Faculty Expected Larger Representation

The religious education school which opened Wednesday night in the First Baptist church has an enrollment of 129. The faculty expected a much larger attendance and the school is still open for late registration. Meetings are every Wednesday night at 7.

Out of the 129 who have enrolled, four persons are college students. This is a poor representation from the University, since students are particularly urged to attend and the faculty has a number of University people on it.

The registration fee is 15 cents, but anyone who wishes to attend sessions without credit may do so without payment of the fee.

Thirty-one students represent the Central Presbyterian church, 17 the Baptist. The Methodist sends 14, Evangelical and Santa Clara Christian 10 each. Thirteen come from the Springfield Christian and eight from the First Christian.

Congregational has five representatives, Springfield Baptist, three, and Lighthouse Temple and Fairmount Presbyterian each send two.

EUGENE FACULTY HIT IN TALK AT COLLEGE

"And so it will not be necessary for you in the future to worry about my affection and my interest in this institution, and, unfortunately perhaps, I have become during the brief period of my tenure so much incensed at times with the forces with which you must be familiar that I find myself growing resentful which will not be ended until somebody of the University is big enough and brave enough to put an end to a system which apparently has for its aim and end the destruction of an institution and the defeat of the aims of the board and of the people of this state."

Emerald Attacked
After pointing out that the students here and at Eugene should consider themselves members of one big family, Nelson turned his attack on the Emerald. He accused that paper of being carping and critical. "If it wasn't milk it was the Song of the Janitors!"

Several times Nelson remarked how much he enjoyed speaking to the audience. After his experience at the University the same morning he declared he felt his auditors were with him.

Nelson said he believed 95 percent of the faculty and student body at Eugene, once aroused, would and did resent the discour-

U.O. Men Proved Sophisticated by 'Pigger's Guide'

University of Oregon men are more sophisticated than the co-eds of the campus. This startling fact was brought to light yesterday by M. F. McClain, manager of the Co-op, when he reported that nine out of ten women purchasing the student directory ask for a "pigger's guide," while nine out of ten men buying the same book use the proper title, "student directory."

Dr. E. S. Conklin, University professor of psychology, when asked by McClain for a possible psychological explanation for this difference, admitted his inability to explain plausibly the phenomenon.

Shirt." He said that when the chancellor in the interests of efficiency had moved some offices around the Emerald had immediately construed the act as being a malicious act.

"But what about the Barometer?" queried the speaker. He said he had never seen a mean, nasty, or unjust thing in the Barometer, whose attitude he also characterized as being manly and dignified.

Nelson pointed out that it does not take intelligence to tear down, that maggots can do that.

Statement Misinterpreted
When Nelson was elected chairman of the board, he said, he had made a statement of policy, but there had been so much interpretation and exegesis on his speech he was not quite sure what he had said. Now he intended to leave no doubt as to his meaning.

Nelson urged his love for academic freedom, and for faculty participation in University affairs.

He believed a professor of Greek at the University should have a say as to what courses he should teach, and even as to his departmental budget, but he caused laughter by pointing out the absurdity of consulting a professor of Greek as to the proper appropriation for the school of forestry here. That function, he declared, should remain with the chancellor and the board.

Enjoyment Felt
Several times Nelson remarked how much he enjoyed speaking to the audience. After his experience at the University the same morning he declared he felt his auditors were with him.

Nelson said he believed 95 percent of the faculty and student body at Eugene, once aroused, would and did resent the discour-

All-American Girl To Be Announced

The All-American girl of the Oregon campus who is being selected now by an eastern committee will be made known here about the first of December, according to latest reports received here by the Order of the O.

At that time University Magazine, which is sponsoring the contest will publish pictures of the five final nominees for the All-American girl and announce the winner.

Just before this the Order of the O plans to hold a formal presentation of the loving cup to the lucky girl.

HARMONY EMPHASIZED BY CAMPUS SPEAKER

(Continued from Page One) cation meeting will be in Eugene instead of Portland, in order to give the members a chance to become better acquainted with the University.

The efforts of the chancellor in behalf of the building of the infirmary and library were cited by the speaker. He closed with a plea to students and faculty for a loyalty "which does not include sycophancy, but which is essential to the growth of the University and the preservation of its best traditions."

tesv shown the chancellor there. As evidence of this discourtesy, Nelson referred to an editorial by an unnamed editor of a "dilettante journal" in Portland.

Nelson said he had tried to find out what all the "yapping" was about in Eugene. He said he knew that the chancellor was leaning over backward to be fair just as he was sincere and honest; that he had left his friends and home of 25 years to give his services to the state at Eugene.

When Nelson closed his address the audience burst into sustained applause.

Fiji Pays Tri Delt Clan Informal Call Hallowe'en Night

Ghosts probably were wandering in the cemetery Hallowe'en night, but it is very certain that a Fiji wandered very much against his will across the street to the Tri Delt house sometime close to midnight.

Following a long standing custom the playful inmates of the house on the hill selected the first freshman retiring, who happened to be Bob Holt, tied him in his bed, carried him across the street, and very ceremoniously deposited said victim in the Tri Delt front room.

After a much needed cigarette, and doughnuts and cider, the much flustered Fiji recrossed the street without so much ceremony.

Midnight Matinee Slated for Tonight

A special Homecoming feature will be a midnight showing of "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," at the Colonial theater, tonight, sponsored by Alpha Delta Sigma and Gamma Alpha Chi, campus advertising honoraries. The show starts at 11 p. m., and an announcement will be made at the Journalism Jam ten minutes prior to the program, to enable everyone to reach the theater before the beginning of the picture.

The program for which Dean Scherwing has granted special late permission to girls, as a feature of Homecoming, is supplemented by cartoons.

YEARLING GRID TEAMS RESUME TILT TONIGHT

(Continued from Page One) tion of Berry. Caulter may also be used here. Wilson is also included, and Adams may be used. Joe Murray will probably be seen on the field during the game, either at end or tackle. Although Bishop is reported improved in condition, Jacobs or Konopka may be used as fullbacks. Owen may be replaced by Penn. Borden at left half is in good shape and should cause plenty of trouble for the rooks, but Nye, the right half, is another "cripple," and Shininger may get a chance at that position.

The dope from Corvallis centers around whether or not Dick Joslin, fullback, will play. If he is in the lineup the rook backfield will include Woodman, quarter; Brandis and Axelson, halves; Joslin, fullback.

The frosh squad will leave Eugene at 5:30 p. m. by bus. They will return immediately after the game.

Nomination Date May Be Changed By New Measure

Proposed Amendment Would Have Student Nominations Third Thursday in April

A decision to propose an amendment to have the student body nominations the third Thursday in April and elections the following week, with installations before May 15, was passed by the constitutional revision committee at a meeting in Johnson hall yesterday.

This proposed amendment accompanies proposals to have the student body and class elections the same day, and to have a student body quorum of 300 instead of 500 as at present.

The committee is still considering the class identity problem and the optional student body card plan, along with plans to do away with junior certificate requirements and hourly requirements as to voting.

A definite decision will probably be reached at the next meeting, stated Glen Heiber, chairman of the committee, adding that suggestions will be gladly accepted.
