

First Approval Given Medical School Project

Board of Control Passes On Appropriations

LIBRARY IS DELAYED

Tuberculosis Psychopathic Ward One of Five Projects to Total $1,300,000

An appropriation of $600,000 was approved yesterday for a tuberculosis psychopathic hospital at the University of Oregon medical school by the state board of control, according to information received here.

Four other projects in a state building program amounting to $1,300,000 were approved at the same time. These include a $350,000 state library at Salem, a $60,000 dormitory for the state institution for the blind at Salem, and a hospital and improvements at the penitentiary in Salem.

These applications, filed with the public works advisory board of Oregon, will have to be approved by the coming state legislature.

Library Plans Omitted
Final plans for the $350,000 library proposed for the Oregon campus were not presented at the meeting of the state advisory committee in Portland yesterday.

Reasons for the delay could not be assigned by Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of the college of social science and member of the committee. Dr. W. J. Kerr, chancellor of the state system of higher education, declared that no significance could be attached to the delay and that the plans would in all probability be submitted at the meeting of the group next Saturday.

Original plans for the library were prepared and submitted to Governor Meier's committee of public works on August 3, but as a result of the creation of a federal board which took over its duties, the plans had to be completely revised and prepared under the rules of the new committee.

Infirmary Already Submitted
The plans were only recently completely drawn up and approved by the governor and attorney general before being submitted to the committee.

Plans for the $100,000 proposed infirmary here were acted upon last week and are in Washington for final action.

Meeting of Pre-Legal Association Postponed

Postponement of the second regular meeting of the Association of Pre-Legal Students at Oregon hall Thursday was necessitated by the small attendance, being insufficient for a quorum.

Notices were sent to the students previous to the meeting, according to Orval Thomson, president of the pre-legal student body, but other events had evidently exerted prior influence.

Mary Kirkwood Now Studying in Stockholm

Mary Kirkwood, who received her master of fine arts degree here in 1930, is studying in the Royal academy, Stockholm, Sweden, on a special scholarship. From here she went to the University of Idaho in 1930 as an instructor in the art department.

While Miss Kirkwood is on leave of absence Nell G. Best, who received her degree as master of fine arts here in 1930, is taking her place.

Wearers of Rally Ties Have Special Seats on Fifty-yard Line Today

A special section on the 50-yard line will be reserved this afternoon for men students wearing rally ties with white shirts, according to Mickey Vail, yell king.

Other students may find seats on the 10-yard line or elsewhere where the space is not occupied by a rally tie wearer. "In the absence of a clean white shirt, wear a dirty one," says Mickey.

Women's Student Body Cards to Be Traded Monday

Tickets for Oregon-Oregon State Football Contest Will Be Given in Exchange

Women's tickets for the Oregon-Oregon State football game will be exchanged for student body cards at a booth between Oregon and Commerce buildings beginning Monday morning at 8 a. m. Women will not be able to secure O. S. C. tickets at any other place, Tom Stoddard, assistant graduate manager, announced yesterday.

Women students are requested to obtain their tickets early as no more tickets will be issued after Thursday noon. Those desiring to sit together must come to the ticket booth in a group, since tickets will be issued only to the person to whom the student body card belongs.

No more than one ticket will be given to each person, and there will be positively no revisions in seat arrangement, Stoddard said.

Women will be given regular $2.50 reserved tickets in exchange for student body cards. The thirteenth street ticket booth will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Activity Training Beneficial States Woman Speaker

Marygolde Hardison Tells Fresh Orientation Group of Possible Value

The part of extra-curricular activities in an individual's well-balanced campus life was stressed by Marygolde Hardison in her talk before the Freshman Orientation group Thursday. Activities suitable to every type of girl were named and information on each one was given.

Benefits accruing from extra-curricular activities, she said, include: social training, aid in choosing a vocation, development of clear-mindedness with regard to public affairs, development of leadership, moral training, health advantages, and the opening up of fields of interests to fill leisure time.

Disadvantages she considered as: conflict between curricular and extra-curricular activities resulting in neglect of studies, over-emphasis on these interest fields, and lack of time. Budgeting of time was suggested as a remedy, and a wise choice of activities was advised.

Among activities mentioned which are open to freshman women were the Emerald of the air plays and freshman debate. The older debate groups often take performers along to provide entertainment outside the debate itself, and those who sing, play instruments, and give readings are asked to see Asst. Prof. John L. Casteel.

Books which Miss Hardison suggested to help in choosing activities and in determining how much time should be given to them are "Socializing the Pupil," by Deam and Bear, and "Extra-Curricular Activities," by McKown or by Wilds.

Independent Men Must Sign for Photos Today

Plans for getting the club picture in the Oregonana was the main topic for discussion at the Yeomen meeting Thursday night at the Y hut. All independent men who feel that they can afford to have their pictures in the school annual are urged to sign at the Yeomen office at the Y hut Saturday forenoon. The price is $1 and 35 must sign up before the pictures can be taken.

Arrangements were made to contact independent men who had not yet affiliated themselves with the Yeomen. Howard Ohmart and Reinhart Knudsen were appointed to make a report as to the feasibility of publishing a Yeomen bulletin.

Organization Effected For Military Classes

Military science classes were given permanent organization this week to facilitate training and to put grading on a more accurate basis for the remainder of the term.

Each class has been divided into squads, platoons, and companies. Advanced students are directing the work of their respective divisions. Drill is being held two days a week and class study the third day.

Oregon Frosh Lose to Rooks By Count of 6-0

Yearling Series Evened At Corvallis

SCORE BY WOODMAN

Touchdown Made After 51-Yard Dash; Borden Flashes For Ducklings

BELL FIELD, Corvallis, Ore., Nov. 3.—(Special)—The Oregon State rooks evened the score with the Oregon frosh when Ray Woodman, quarterback, galloped 51 yards to a touchdown early in the second quarter to give the Orange yearlings a 6 to 0 victory.

The frosh threatened to score twice in the second half, bringing the ball up within the 5 yard line on two occasions but they lacked the needed punch to put the ball over. The frosh won the first of the two-game series when they defeated the rooks, 7 to 3, several weeks ago.

Elmore Borden, frosh halfback, was the most consistent ground gainer of the game. He was the main Oregon threat until taken out of the game due to an injury in the third quarter. Forest Shinniger, reserve half, went into the fray in the final quarter and proved himself to be a real line plunger when he started a drive which finished on the rook 4-yard stripe.

The first score of the game came after Bishop, frosh fullback, kicked from his own 28-yard line to Woodman, playing safety, who took the ball on his own 40-yard stripe and returned it seven yards. Swanson, rook halfback, gained two through center. On a quarterback sneak Woodman dashed 51 yards to a touchdown. Swanson's try for a point was wild.

The lineups:

Frosh	Pos.	Rooks
Wilson	LER	Tuttle
Fury	LTR	Fisher
Hardesty	LGR	Horlan
Farrar	C	Delano
Estes	RGL	Strack
Bjork	RTL	Deming

Pledges Elected To Scabbard and Blade Honorary

National Founder Talks at Annual Banquet Last Night; Bobbitt, President, Presides

The twenty-eighth anniversary banquet of Scabbard and Blade was held last night at 6 at the Lee Duke cafe.

Victor Griggs of Salem, one of the national founders of the organization, was the principal speaker on the evening program. He gave a history of the honorary group showing its methods and purposes.

Other speakers during the meeting were William Lazarus, captain of the Oregon State college Scabbard and Blade, Col. F. Barker, administrative head of the R. O. T. C. on the campus, and Major Charles Corlett, who is in charge of the Civilian Conservation corps for this area.

Howard Bobbitt, captain of the campus Scabbard and Blade organization, presided over the meeting as toastmaster. The group elected Lynn McCready, Major Corlett and Dr. W. E. Moxley to honorary membership.

The following men were also formally pledged as members: Gardner Frye, Erwin Nilsson, Keith Powers, Robert Zurcher, Max Keith Wilson, Malcolm Bauer, William George, Charles Van Dine, Joseph Renner, Don Black, Jim Wells, and Burke Tongue.

Faculty Members Meet in Corvallis

Faculty men who attended the meeting of Sigma Xi in Corvallis Thursday night are W. D. Smith, L. S. Cressman, L. F. Henderson, Howard R. Taylor, Robert H. Seashore, and Ralph Huestis.

Dr. Ira Manville of the University of Oregon medical school and Prof. C. E. Thomas of Oregon State college gave illustrated lectures.

The interchange of visits by campuses is a custom of some 10 years standing. The three groups, consisting of the medical school, the University, and the college, hold meetings each year to which the other groups are invited. Usually at one meeting each year the visiting groups present the program.

Extension Secretary Seeks Books for CCC

Miss Mozell Hair, of the extension division, reports that no books for use of C.C.C. men have been turned in.

A list of books required by the men was printed in Thursday's Emerald and students were asked to look for books in the various living organizations. Books may be either loaned or given to the department.

Webfoots, Utes To Struggle on Hayward Field

Football Game Will Start Today at 2 P. M.

INJURIES HIT TEAMS

Oregon Minus Services of Temple and Parke in Homecoming Week-end Contest

Handicapped by injuries to Bobby Parke, quarterback, and Captain Mark Temple, fleet-footed halfback, Prink Callison will send his undefeated Oregon team on Hayward field this afternoon at 2 o'clock against the strong University of Utah eleven in the annual Homecoming football game. Until injuries overtook the Webfoots, they were heavy favorites, but with Webfoot injuries numerous, the game is a tossup.

Injuries have hit the Utah team also. Two of Coach Ike Armstrong's star linemen will be out of the tilt. Windy Croft, 221-pound giant guard, injured his knee last week in the game against the Utah Aggies, and the Indian mentor will not allow him to don a suit. Fred Reeves, 205-pound guard, is out with a bad leg and may see little action.

Weights Even
The powerful Utah line will average 183 pounds, and if Coach Callison starts the same Oregon line that he started against UCLA last week the Duck forward wall will average approximately 186 pounds. Both backfields will average about the same at 177 pounds.

Nine of the members of the Redskin squad who have made the journey to Eugene were members of the 1931 squad that played Oregon State on rain-soaked Multnomah field. The Utes were beaten out in a tough 12-to-0 battle in which lack of reserve strength spelled defeat. This year Armstrong has a heavier, more experienced team than the 1931 edition, and seeks to break into the win column against a coast conference team. The Utes have lost five games against coast competition.

Fullback Big Threat

Newly Organized Independent Club Party Next Week

Event to Be Monday at Gerlinger; Unaffiliated Women Invited To Entertainment

The newly organized University of Oregon Independent Women, under the leadership of Margery Thayer, president, will hold its first social "get together" Monday, November 6, from 7:30 to 9 p. m. in the dance room of Gerlinger.

All independent women, whether they have attended previous meetings or not, are invited to attend in order to meet their approximate 160 fellow independents.

There will be dancing, special features for entertainment and refreshments. Shadows of the past will be brought to light, and grandma's tales of the good old days will become real when the Paul Jones and Virginia Reel will be danced before the group, and possibly by the group.

Members of the committee arranging the affair include Vivian Williams, room and refreshments; Janet Hughes, program; and Helen Nickachiou, music.

Campus Calendar

Independent women meet in the dance room, Gerlinger, Monday night from 7:30 to 9 for social meeting. Everybody out.

Phi Delta Kappa will meet at the Marigold tea shop, 1356 Emerald, for dinner Monday at 6:15 p. m.

Phi Lambda Theta will meet Monday evening at 7:30 in women's lounge of Gerlinger.

Beta Lambda will meet Tuesday at 7:30 in 103 Deady.

Westminster Guild will meet Monday evening from 8 until 9 o'clock.

FRIARS WILL PLEDGE

Trophies to Be Presented Tonight For Alumni Representation And Winning Floats

A collegiate motif will hold sway at the annual Homecoming dance at McArthur court tonight, with football scenes and thousands of pennants from many colleges in the country adorning the Igloo. Music is being furnished by Sherwood Burr's orchestra. The dance will start at 9 o'clock.

Features of tonight's affair will be the presentation of the A. S. U. O. trophy to the living organization having the largest number of alumni back and present at the alumni meeting to be held in Johnson hall at 10:30 this morning.

Mrs. Walter Cook, honorary president of the University of Oregon Mother's club, will present the trophies and prizes to last night's winning rally parade float teams.

Sharply at 10:30 o'clock, Friars, most coveted of campus honorary groups, will march on the Homecoming dance floor garbed in their long black robes and will bid several prominent seniors to fall in the "march of the Friars." Membership in Friars is made up of the outstanding senior men, chosen on the basis of leadership and ability.

Patrons and patronesses for this evening's Homecoming affair include Governor and Mrs. Julius L. Meier, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe C. Nelson, Chancellor and Mrs. W. J. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Brown Barker, Dean and Mrs. Wayne L. Morse, Dean and Mrs. James H. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Angell, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gooding, Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Two Philomelete Groups Convene; Speakers Heard

Miss Starr Discusses 'Fashions'; Miss Tingle Talks on Traveling

Two Philomelete groups held bi-weekly meetings Thursday, the charm school at 4 o'clock and travel group at 5. The A. W. S. room was the locale of the gatherings.

Miss Mary E. Starr, home economics instructor at the University, spoke to the charm school on "Fashions." Basing her talk on her experiences in the east and abroad, she discussed Parisian methods of modeling, display, and sales; she also told of shops in New York and Paris. "Etiquette" will be the subject of the next meeting.

Travel in England, especially in London, was the subject of a talk by Miss Lillian Tingle, formerly a professor of home economics here, at the meeting of travel group. Miss Tingle is a native of central England, and has attended school there, in Scotland, and in Munich, Germany. Since coming to this country, she has returned to England several times for short stays.

Travel group is conducting an imaginary tour of the British Isles this term. The practical side of traveling—costs, places to stay, interesting sights, and so forth, are being included in the study.

S. Stephenson Smith, associate professor of English, will talk to the group November 16 on "Oxford University." Professor Smith was a Rhodes scholar to Oxford.

Morse to Reply To Attack Made On University

Law School Dean to Talk At Luncheon

BARKER WILL SPEAK

Other Events on Today's Program Include Mass Meeting, Game, and Dance

Answering the "unwarranted attack made on the University" by Roscoe C. Nelson at the Thursday student body assembly, Wayne L. Morse, dean of the law school will discuss "A Challenge to the Faculty" at the alumni luncheon today at the John Straub Memorial building. Yesterday he would make no further comment on the subject matter of his speech.

Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University, will deliver the principal address, "Where Is the University Headed?" after Dean Morse's talk.

Today's homecoming program will get under way at 10:30 this morning with a mass alumni meeting to be held in Johnson hall. Presentation of a new constitution for consideration and nomination of officers for the coming year will constitute the alumni's official business.

Committees Named
The following committees have been functioning in preparation for the event: nominations, Fred Fisk, Virgil D. Earl, and Mrs. Lawrence T. Harris; resolutions, Karl W. Onthank, R. S. Smith, and Mrs. R. S. Bryson; constitution, Carlton E. Spencer, James H. Gilbert, and Robert K. Allen.

Other speakers at the luncheon will be Tom Tongue, president of the Associated Students; Earle Wellington, president of the University of Oregon Federation; and Tom Stoddard, assistant graduate manager. They will supplement the theme of Burt Brown Barker's talk, "Where is the University Headed?" Homer Angell, president of the University of Oregon alumni association will preside as toastmaster.

Game Feature
The University of Utah and the University of Oregon football clash at 2 p. m. will be the featured entertainment for visiting alumni this afternoon.

Entertainment between halves of the game today will consist of card stunts by the rooting section, selections by the University band, and a freshman-sophomore "bag rush." The three prize winning rally floats, announced by Jack Cate, homecoming chairman, at the football game.

Old Oregon Spirit Reappears In Homecoming Rally Parade

With a burst of spirit not seen at Oregon for some time, the parade and rally last night opened Homecoming with a literal "bang." People ten miles away had trouble with their sleep due to bombs, steam hammers, whistles, sirens, circular saws, and the speakers could hardly get two words together between yells of the enthusiastic crowd.

Attractive co-eds very much in evidence and depicting Oregon, represented by a football player, climbing stairs knocking off the competition as it comes, Pi Kappa Alpha and Chi Omega won first prize in the float contest of the rally parade last night. Very unlife-like prostrate figures represented the teams which have been defeated and imposing giants represented Utah, O. S. C. and U. S. C., which remain to be defeated.

An efficient cleaning and pressing plant through which Utah Indians were being thrust was the novel float which won second place for the Alpha Phi-Kappa Sigma combination. Kappa Kappa Gamma and Sherry Ross hall carried off third prize with a huge duck swallowing a redskin. Phi Gamma Delta and Pi Beta Phi took honorable mention by showing Fiji Islanders making a show of the big bad Utes.

Tom Tongue, president of the A. S. U. O., welcomed signs of the return of the old Oregon spirit, and demanded whole-hearted support of the game.

Awarding of prizes for floats will take place in the Igloo tonight at the Homecoming dance. Mrs. Harry Gordon, Ray Jones, and Mr. Morse, all of Eugene, were the judges.
